FIVE POWERS SIGN NAVAL TREATY TODAY; EUROPEAN NATIONS TO CONTINUE TALKS; STIMSON CALLS PACT STEP TO BANISH WAR

STIMSON WILL SIGN FIRST

PACT IS DIVIDED IN 5 PARTS

Limitation Provisions Apply Only to America, Britain and Japan.

ALL AGREE TO REMAINDER

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 21.—The London naval treaty will be signed at a plenary session at St. James's Palace tomorrow morning. The ceremony will begin at 10:30 A. M. (4:30 A. M. New York Time), and there will be addresses by the heads of the five delegations, as well as by representatives of the British Dominions. These speeches, with the translations, will require about two and a half hours for delivery, so the actual signing will not occur before 1 P. M. at the earliest.

Secretary Stimson will be the first to set his name to the document. He will be followed by Ambassador Dawes, Secretary Adams, Senator Robinson, Senator Reed, Ambassador Gibson and Ambassador Morrow. Foreign Minister Briand and his colleagues of France, the next nation in alphabetical order, will come after them.

The representatives of the British Empire will follow, headed by Prime Minister MacDonald. Foreign Minister Grandi, who is ill in Rome, will not be present and Admiral Sirianni will lead the Italians, the next to sign, and the Japanese, headed by Reijiro Wakatsuki, will be last.

European Talks to Go On.

In addition to the treaty, the delegates will adopt a resolution providing for the continuance of negotiations by Britain, France and Italy, and also a letter which Prime Minister MacDonald, as president of the conference, will send to the Secretary General of the League of Nations, notifying him of the London treaty.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow morning copies of the treaty will be distributed at St. James's by the secretariat of the conference to be released for publication after the actual signing, which will be about 7 A. M., New York Time.

The treaty fills thirty-four printed pages, printed in parallel columns of English and French. It runs about 10,000 words, two-thirds of which is the treaty proper and the rest annexes. It contains nothing surprising. All its provisions have been published in these dispatches. It contains a preamble and twenty-six articles, divided into five parts.

In form it is a five-power treaty among America, Britain, Japan, France and Italy. Its naval limitation provisions apply only to the United States, Great Britain and Japan. The parts which are binding also on France and Italy include the capital ship holiday and submarine humanization.

The preamble, which is short and simple, contains reference neither to the Kellogg pact nor the League of Nations, since America opposed mentioning the League and the other powers would not name the anti-war pact without giving credit also to the League. It says the nations desire to prevent danger and to reduce the burdens of competitive armament and desire to carry forward the work begun by the Washington naval conference and to facilitate the progressive realization of general limitation and reduction of armaments.

Provisions Outlined.

Part I contains the first five articles. Article 1 provides for a capital ship holiday until 1936, permitting France and Italy to build the battleships they had a right under the Washington treaty to lay down in 1927 and 1929.

Article 2 lays down how England, America and Japan shall bring down their number of battleships in 1931 to fifteen, fifteen and nine, respectively. The United States is to scrap the Florida, the Utah and the Arkansas or the Wyoming; England is to scrap the Benbow, the Iron Duke, the Marlborough, the Emperor of India and the Tiger; Japan is to scrap the Hiyei. Of these ships the United States may retain for training purposes the Arkansas or

Says France Plans to Build 27,000-Ton Cruiser at Once

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 21.—On the eve of the signing of the naval treaty it is reported here that France intends to proceed immediately with the construction of a cruiser of about 27,000 tons displacement, carrying twelve eight-inch guns.

This vessel, according to The Daily Telegraph, will be incomparably superior in every respect to the Ersatz Preussen, Germany's "pocket battleship," and practically equal in fighting power to any battle-cruiser now afloat with the single exception of the British battle-cruiser Hood.

The French decision to build the vessel is said to result from the recent action of the German Reichsrat in restoring the naval estimates vote for a second vessel of the Ersatz Preussen type. The cost of the proposed French ship is estimated at $20,000,000, and it will take three years to complete.

FIGHT ON M'DONALD VOTED BY LEFT WING

Independent Laborites Call for Ousting of Government as Reactionary.

FOR SOCIALIZING INDUSTRY

Birmingham Conference Plans Separate Party Action for Radical Changes.

By CHARLES A. SELDEN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BIRMINGHAM, April 21.—When Parliament reconvenes next week the thirty members of the House of Commons who were elected a year ago as candidates of the Independent Labor party will come back as avowed opponents of the MacDonald Government. That situation was clinched at the sessions today of the Independents' conference in this city.

While these thirty men and women under the leadership of James Maxton have already voted of their own volition against the Parliamentary Labor party on various government measures before the Commons, they now have their party's endorsement of their action and, moreover, definite instructions to continue.

This means that Prime Minister MacDonald's assured strength within the Labor party in the House of Commons is cut from 289 to 259 in the total Parliament membership of 615. But this loss no doubt will be more than made up by the support of practically all of the fifty-nine Liberal members. That Premier MacDonald and the members of his Cabinet do not fear a disastrous result is indicated by the fact they have defied the Independents to do their worst.

The Birmingham conference further undertook to undermine the Parliamentary Labor party not only in the Commons but generally with the electorate and to work for new leadership of the party, reorganized on a basis of much more extreme socialism than the present government contemplates.

Resolutions were adopted holding the MacDonald Government responsible for the present disturbances in India and demanding complete independence both for that country and Egypt. The Independents declared that complete solidarity existed between them and the Indians.

J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal in the MacDonald Government, was accused of doing more for the capitalists in the last ten months than the Conservatives had been able to do in five years. In that connection a resolution was adopted demanding a complete reorganization of industry through the socialization of land, banking, the export and import trade, transportation and all other key industries.

Complete Break Is Expected.

BIRMINGHAM, April 21 (AP).—There were storms of protest at the conference of the Independent Labor party here when the right of "Left-Wingers" in Parliament to vote against the Labor government was again upheld. There was much criticism of the government, particularly in regard to its unemployment policy, but a motion of censure was defeated.

From several delegates came suggestions that the outcome would be a left-wing party distinct from the Parliamentary Labor party. One delegate, indeed, urged the Independents to prepare by getting into contact with workers in shop and factory.

SECRETARY TALKS ON RADIO

URGES US TO LEAD IN PEACE

Naval Limitation, He Says, Is Best Approach—Sees Gain for Methods of Diplomacy.

HOOVER GREETS MEETING

Asserts The Associated Press Aided in Accord 'Fruitful of So Many Blessings.'

Speaking over the radio from London yesterday, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson told nearly 1,000 members of The Associated Press, at the annual luncheon in the Hotel Commodore that the fruits of the naval parley would be potent in outlawing war. He said that the success of the conference was the outcome of greater confidence among the nations which had been inspired by the Kellogg-Briand compact.

"The past fourteen weeks," said Colonel Stimson, "have given me more confidence in my belief that the peaceful methods of diplomacy can eventually take the place of war than anything I have witnessed since the last war drew to a close."

Before the secretary spoke, Frank B. Noyes, publisher of The Washington Star and president of the news agency, read a message from President Hoover, praising The Associated Press for the reliability and impartiality of its news. After Colonel Stimson's address, Kent Cooper, marking his fifth year as general manager of The Associated Press, discussed the changes he had made and told of his aspirations for the future. He paid tribute to the late Melville E. Stone, his predecessor.

Stimson Is Heard Clearly.

The voice of the Secretary of State came through clearly during the fifteen-minute period of his speech, spanning 3,000 miles of ocean with virtually no static. Colonel Stimson had promised months ago to attend the luncheon and deliver his address in person. This being impossible, he stood before the microphone at London's dinner hour and was heard as distinctly as if he had been standing in the Commodore ballroom. The transmission, handled in England by the British Broadcasting Company and here by the National Broadcasting network, was the first fully successful bringing by radio of a speaker's voice from one side of the Atlantic to an assemblage he was addressing on the other side.

Declaring that limitation and reduction of naval armaments was the surest way in which to make realities of the pledges of the Kellogg-Briand compact signatories, Colonel Stimson said that the United States should lead the way. The position of this nation, strategically, made this mandatory. He added that this country should "refrain from criticizing others less fortunately placed."

"The message which I should like to make clear to you all today is that the success of the London naval conference is necessarily related to the success of the Kellogg-Briand pact," he said. "The good resolutions of that pact cannot stand alone. They must be followed by national effort, prompt, constant, unremitting effort to make them good, and no line of effort offers a better earnest of its success than the line of naval armament. In selecting that line President Hoover laid his finger upon the best method of insuring that our solemn promise of two years ago should be fulfilled."

Sees Two Naval Problems.

The naval conference's work, as viewed by the head of the American delegation, dealt with two distinct naval problems. The first was that of the relations between the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan. The second concerned the navy strength to be maintained between Great Britain, France and Italy.

The first problem has been solved, he said, "and this is a great achievement in itself." The second problem was more complex and any discussion of naval quotas, he said, involved the political questions controlling the relations of Italy, France and Great Britain. The United States at the conference had not gone into the political phases, but the delegates, as observers on the sidelines at the meetings to discuss the Italian, French and British ratios, had seen many issues clarified.

"This came not only by clarifying the results of their discussion," said

SPLIT WITH WHALEN SEEN

NAMES WALSH BOARD HEAD

Lawyer and Four Others to Make a Thorough Survey of Taxicab Industry.

Mayor Walker vetoed last night the taxicab rate ordinance passed by the Board of Aldermen on April 8 fixing a minimum fare of 15 cents for an initial quarter-mile and 5 cents for each additional quarter mile and increasing the waiting time charge from $1.50 to $2.40 an hour. His veto message, signed at 7:15 P. M., announced also his appointment of a five-man commission, headed by Frank P. Walsh, former co-chairman of the War Labor Board, to make a survey of the taxicab situation and report to him its findings and recommendations.

Besides Mr. Walsh, the commission will comprise Daniel L. Reardon, executive vice president of the United States Trucking Corporation; an engineer to be suggested by Day & Zimmermann, Inc., who recently completed a comprehensive traffic survey of the city; a member to be named by the Merchants Association, and one to be named by the State Chamber of Commerce.

Believes Measure Unconstitutional.

Mayor Walker's veto was based mainly upon his conviction that the City Government had no power to deprive the public of the benefit of any lower taxicab fare to be obtained from a competitive system. Although the message did not specifically declare his belief that the ordinance was unconstitutional, it is known that he has held that view since the measure was first introduced in the Board of Aldermen by Dennis J. Mahon, majority leader.

Mayor Walker's formal veto will be placed before the Board of Aldermen at its meeting today. Although the board has the power to override it by a two-thirds vote, it is a foregone conclusion that no such action will be taken. It is also unlikely, in view of the appointment of a survey commission, that Alderman Murray Stand will introduce his proposed bill to establish a "standard" or fixed taxicab fare.

The veto decision followed a three-hour conference at which Mayor Walker discussed the ordinance with Mr. Walsh, Alderman Mahon, Public Works Commissioner Joseph Johnson and Bill Drafting Commissioner Cahill. The veto message was signed after Mayor Walker had studied and considered an eight-page memorandum urging its approval submitted last week by Police Commissioner Whalen.

Mayor Walker's veto message characterized the taxicab industry as one without system or standardization and described the ordinance as an "earnest effort to improve these conditions," made at the request of the Police Department and citizens. Expressing sympathy with Mr. Whalen's argument that the ordinance would cut down taxicab accidents, improve service, relieve traffic

Reds Get Police Permit for May Day Parade, But Must Wait Till Veterans Leave Union Sq.

The Communists will parade under police escort on May Day and will meet in Union Square as the result of an agreement made by them yesterday with Police Commissioner Whalen. The commissioner granted a permit for the meeting and parade on condition that the march be diverted away from the congested centre of the east side and that the meeting be held from 3 to 4:45 P. M.

To avoid a clash between Communists and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who received a permit yesterday to hold their meeting from noon to 2 P. M., Commissioner Whalen fixed 3 o'clock as the starting hour for the Communists' demonstration.

Announcement that a permit would be granted today to the Communists was made last night by Commissioner Whalen after a talk at Police Headquarters with Herbert Benjamin, head of the United May Day Conference. Benjamin agreed to have the Communist parade from Rutgers Square to Union Square traverse the route prescribed by Mr. Whalen, from Rutgers Square east to Pitt Street, to Avenue C, to Seventeenth Street and to Union Square. The Police Commissioner said that if the Communists pursued a peaceful policy in the future they would be accorded every possible courtesy and consideration by the Police Department.

Benjamin went to Police Headquarters late yesterday afternoon when he learned that Commissioner Whalen wished to talk with him concerning the application for a permit made to the police. The application, said by Mr. Whalen to be the first time that the Communists have asked permission of the police to parade, declared that "the working class will not give up its right to demonstrate for its demands and for international solidarity in the struggle against capitalism in Union Square on May 1."

"The right of the workers to Union Square has been established," the letter continued. "We intend to maintain that right."

Earlier in the day Commissioner Whalen granted a permit to Henry B. Fairbanks, retired colonel, for a parade and meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in which, it was said, about 10,000 soldiers will participate.

The veterans will assemble at 9:30 at Fifth Avenue and Twenty-fourth Street and will parade to Union Square. The police arrangements in the Square will be similar to those in effect on March 6. Mr. Whalen will direct his command from the garden house at the north end of the square.

311 Bodies in Prison Yard; 24 Others Lying in Basement

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Tuesday, April 22.—A count of the dead in the Ohio penitentiary fire disaster, completed early today, indicated that the fatality list would run well above 300.

Hospital attaches said that 311 were counted in the prison yard and twenty-four dead were in the hospital basement. Of the 150 injured, they feared that many would succumb.

No effort was being made by prison heads to get an official death count until all the bodies had been removed to the temporary morgue.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21.—The Ohio State Penitentiary, housing 4,300 prisoners in accommodations designed for 1,500, was transformed into a human pyre tonight when fire swept through four cell blocks and wiped out the lives of more than 300 men in the brief space of about an hour.

Late tonight it was feared that the death toll would mount to more serious proportions, with more than 100 other victims suffering from the effects of smoke.

Just before midnight regular army soldiers and militiamen had got under control the 2,000 prisoners who were loose and threatening violence in the prison yards.

Originating at about 6 P. M. as a seemingly trifling blaze and developing with rapidity into a major disaster, the fire was believed to be the work of incendiary inmates, who hoped in the ensuing excitement to make a successful dash for liberty.

Just before midnight, after hours of destruction and disorder, floodlights in the prison yard revealed the grisly results of the incendiaries' handiwork.

Hundreds of Bodies on Grass.

Several hundred bodies lay about on the damp grass. Nurses and doctors were administering first aid to those suffering from smoke. Towering over the dead and suffering were the fire-swept cell blocks. And as a background to the night's grim festival of death and destruction uniformed soldiers of the regular army, Ohio National Guardsmen, all available city police and prison guards were patrolling in and around the prison, victors in a struggle to restore order among the thousands of helpless, milling convicts.

As Warden Preston E. Thomas began a conference late tonight with State officials it was agreed, in practically all official quarters, that the first fire, as well as others that followed, had been the work of prisoners.

The first fire alarm was sounded at 5:50 P. M., when all the prisoners had been locked in their cells for the night. The fire was discovered in the northwest section of the prison, in the roof of G and H cell blocks, which are under reconstruction. Speedily it ate its way along the roof southward to the southwestern corner and then took an eastward course, threatening the administration section of the exposed southern wing.

New Fires Are Started.

About 8 o'clock the fire fighters considered that they had the original blaze under control. By that time the list of known dead had mounted to more than 250. Then, about half an hour later, new fires broke out, this time in the cotton and woolen mills, about 900 feet away from the scene of the first blaze, which had been set alight by oil-soaked cloth. The Catholic chapel was also set on fire.

Tense scenes were enacted in the cell blocks and in the prison yard

Foster and Three Aides Get Maximum Terms After Denouncing Judges as Prejudiced.

REBUKED FOR OUTBURST

After delivering court room orations of vilification, four of the five Communist leaders convicted of unlawful assembly for the riot in Union Square March 6 received indeterminate penitentiary sentences yesterday in the court of Special Sessions. The fifth, who held his tongue, escaped with a thirty-day sentence to the workhouse.

William Z. Foster, Robert Minor and Israel Amter, national leaders of the revolutionary party, and Harry Raymond, who joined the others in criticising their conviction as an "outrageous example of capitalist justice," received maximum sentences from Justices Max Salomon, James J. McInerney and Daniel F. Murphy. Joseph Leston, who alone waived his right to address the court before sentence was imposed, was called "an instrument" in the hands of the "prime instigators and leaders" of the riot and got the lighter punishment. Leston appeared on the court record as Joseph Lester.

Indictments charging each of the five prisoners with felonious assault still are pending. April 30 has been set for a hearing. If convicted of this charge the Communist agitators

'Star-Spangled Banner' Bill, Thrice Beaten, Passed in House

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The House voted today to adopt the "Star-Spangled Banner" as the national anthem, after turning down Representative Linthicum's bill three times at the present session.

Representative Collins of Mississippi, who has objected every time the bill was brought up, opposed it today, but Representative Snell of New York, acting speaker, refused to entertain the objection.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

COMMITTEE, 10 TO 6, REJECTS PARKER

Vote for Adverse Report on Nomination Follows Refusal, 10 to 4, to Call Judge.

SWIFT AND UNEXPECTED

Action on High Court Nominee Taken Without Debate—Hoover Firm in Face of Senate Fight.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Senate Judiciary Committee voted 10 to 6 today to report adversely on the nomination of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina to be associate justice of the United States Supreme Court.

Previously, by a vote of 10 to 4, the committee had rejected Senator Overman's motion to invite Judge Parker to explain his labor decision and alleged utterances regarding Negroes. This motion occasioned long debate, and, when it ended, Chairman Norris perfunctorily asked the committee whether the nomination should be reported favorably or adversely.

Without debate the vote was taken for an adverse report. The action was unexpected, the fight of many weeks, backed by organized labor and Negro associations, taking a sudden turn that surprised even the opposition Senators.

The opposition declared tonight that the decision of the committee would strengthen its fight on the Senate floor and that Judge Parker would finally be rejected.

Hoover Stands by Nominee.

It is generally understood, however, that President Hoover will not withdraw Judge Parker's nomination and that he feels that the Senate has no justifiable grounds for rejecting him.

There is some talk that Judge Parker may request that his nomination be withdrawn, but unless he does so the President will not act.

The White House will do nothing to influence the long fight expected on the floor. Friends of Judge Parker probably will move to recommit the adverse report to the committee when the Senate receives it and takes it up in open executive session this week.

If the nomination should recommitted and action in the Senate post-

WHALEN DUE TO QUIT AT DINNER ON MAY 6

Walker Is Said to Have Told Police Head He Need Not Continue Salary Sacrifice.

CONSIDERING A SUCCESSOR

Inspector O'Brien and Patterson Suggested—Commissioner to Return to Store Post.

Grover A. Whalen is expected to announce his resignation as Police Commissioner at the dinner to be given for him on May 6 by a committee of prominent citizens, it was learned yesterday on excellent authority. The resignation, it was said, will take effect the following day and Mr. Whalen will return to the place as general manager of Wanamaker's which he left on leave of absence to become the head of the Police Department.

Information to this effect is believed to have been conveyed to Mayor Walker, who will be one of the principal speakers at the dinner. The Mayor is said to have informed Mr. Whalen some time ago that he was prepared to name his successor and that Mr. Whalen need not continue to make a financial sacrifice by remaining in office any longer than he desired.

The Mayor, however, did not indicate to Mr. Whalen whom he had in mind for his successor and it is probable that he has not decided on a selection. The latest speculation favored the appointment of Richard C. Patterson Jr., Commissioner of Correction, unless the Mayor decided to take a man from the uniformed force, possibly Chief Inspector John O'Brien. Mr. Patterson has made an excellent record as Commissioner of Correction, and his appointment or that of Chief Inspector O'Brien would be accepted as being made without regard to partisan politics.

No Move for Higher Salary.

Members of the Whalen dinner have informed Mayor Walker that the published report that the dinner would be made the occasion of an attempt to get the salary of the Police Commissioner raised from $10,000 to $25,000 or $35,000 a year for the purpose of getting Mr. Whalen to remain were without foundation. It was learned that this project, which originated with Stewart Browne, president of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, one of the organizations participating in the dinner, never received any substantial support.

Mr. Browne approached Mayor Walker on the matter, it was said, but received no encouragement. He then suggested it to sponsors of the dinner, who declined to have anything to do with such an attempt. It also was learned that Mr. Whalen's decision to resign as Police Commissioner was final, and, so far as could be learned, no further attempt has been made to push the salary increase project with a view to retaining Mr. Whalen as commissioner, although there has been a general agreement among those

3 HOURS OF ORATORY LIKELY AT INQUIRY

Naval Treaty Ceremonies Will Not Be Elaborate Otherwise —200 to Be Present.

REPORT GOES TO LEAGUE

Premier MacDonald Is Instructed to Inform Geneva of Results and Hopes for Future.

By L. C. SPEERS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 21.—The ceremonial at the signing of the naval arms treaty here tomorrow morning will not be on the elaborate scale marking the opening of the conference on Jan. 21, when King George was the centre of the picture. Promptly at 10:30 A. M. the delegates will take their places about the great table in Queen Anne's drawing room at St. James's Palace, and the ticketholders, of whom there are not more than 200, will file to the seats reserved for them.

Premier MacDonald, as chairman of the conference, will make the opening speech, in the course of which he will review the work accomplished in the ninety-one days the conference will have lasted when the treaty is signed.

The United States will be the first nation to sign, with Secretary Stimson leading off, followed by Senators Robinson and Reed, Secretary of the Navy Adams and Ambassadors Dawes, Morrow and Gibson. France will follow with Foreign Minister Briand, veteran of more conferences than any other living man, thereby pledging France to those parts of the treaty outside of the three-power agreement of the United States, Great Britain and Japan. Mr. MacDonald and the other British delegates will follow France, the representatives of the dominions signing immediately after the delegates of the motherland. Italy signs fourth and last will be Japan.

Antique Ink Wells Brought Out.

For the occasion silver inkstands dating back to Queen Anne's time, from the office of the Privy Council, were taken to St. James's this afternoon. The treaty, which has been rewritten several times in the past seven days, was finally approved by the heads of delegations this morning and now is in the hands of the government printers, who expect to have the first completed copies ready by midnight.

The drafting committee, under Ambassador Morrow, held its last session at St. James's Palace this morning. Minor corrections in the text were made, after which it was submitted to the heads of the delegations, who were waiting at St. James's to receive the completed document.

The meeting of the heads lasted more than an hour, and as it was not a formal affair nothing of special interest was anticipated. Instead, the League of Nations issue cropped up again, and, while the League fails to get a mention in the treaty, it has succeeded in getting into the record. It was agreed that Premier MacDonald, as representing all delegations, should send to Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary General of the League at Geneva, all reports of the conference and all minutes of the plenary sessions, and call his attention to that part of the first report of the first committee, which shows Britain and France to have reached an agreement on the matter of the global tonnage problem.

Because of numerous reservations, especially on the part of Italy, Sir Eric will be informed that the conference could not adopt but only note this report. Mr. MacDonald will express on behalf of all five powers, including Italy, the hope that this report will, none the less, facilitate the work of the League's preparatory disarmament commission, which probably will meet next Fall.

At the last minute Japan proposed that the contingency clause of the treaty, providing for the signatories of the three-power part of the treaty to accelerate their construction in event of increased building programs of nations outside the three-power agreement, should provide that in such an emergency that nation desiring to increase construction shall first advise and consult with the other two signatories. Finally it was decided that the clause should stand as written, that is, without the advisory provision desired by Japan.

The meeting of the heads of delegations adjourned at 12:30 this afternoon with a general shaking of hands and congratulations all around and expressions of hope by American, British and Japanese delegates that France and Italy soon would compose their differences, making possible a general all-around treaty between all nations represented at the London conference.

Grandi Will be Absent.

Foreign Minister Grandi, head of the Italian delegation, will not be present tomorrow and Admiral Sirianni, the Italian Minister of Marine, will sign first for Italy. Signor Grandi is ill in Rome and his doctors have advised against a return to London.

M. Briand arrived from Paris this afternoon. He was all smiles, and if France is disappointed at inability to devise a five-power treaty she would sign there is no indication that such is the case as far as the veteran statesman is concerned. M. Briand will speak for France and may take advantage of the opportunity to give more details of France's side of the armament controversy to the world.

There may be a happy omen in the fact that Admiral Sirianni will speak for Italy in French instead of Italian.

It probably will be afternoon before the treaty is signed, due to the fact that not only the heads of delegations but also the representatives of the British Dominions will speak. The program as it stands tonight forecasts the possibility of three hours of oratory.

Our Delegates Off Tomorrow; Reed to Visit Week in Europe

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 21.—The American delegates and advisers were busy tonight saying farewell to British friends. They will leave London on a special train for Southampton at 8:20 tomorrow night, arriving in time to board the Leviathan at 10 o'clock. The Leviathan will sail at dawn Wednesday. Senator Reed will be the only delegate not to return on the Leviathan. He will go to the Continent for a week and sail on the Olympic on April 30. Senator Reed had planned a month's vacation in Europe, but, owing to the expectation that the treaty will go to the Senate soon after the return of the delegation, he changed his plans so as to be in Washington when the pact is put before the Senate for ratification.

At 8:40 tomorrow night Mr. MacDonald will broadcast to Great Britain a review of the work of the conference.

WOULD GAIN PARITY IN MERCHANT FLEET

Moffett, Back From London, Urges New Ships Convertible Into Aircraft Carriers.

CALLS PROHIBITION FUTILE

Admiral Cites Personal Liberty and Lack of Graft Abroad—Deplores Mixing Church and State Affairs.

A merchant fleet of "potential men-of-war," of merchant ships readily convertible into plane carriers, was urged yesterday by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, as America's surest means of attaining parity on the sea, as he returned from the London naval conference on the United States liner George Washington with other experts who had acted in advisory capacities with the American delegation.

Admiral Moffett predicted naval parity with Britain by 1936 but advocated parity "in fact as well as in name," and declared that the next thing America must do is to "get a merchant marine inferior to none."

On the arrival of the George Washington at her Hoboken pier, Admiral Moffett declined at first to issue a statement pending his arrival at Washington, but later discussed the conference and the noticeable effect of the absence of "impracticable prohibition" abroad.

Arriving with Admiral Moffett on the George Washington were Rear Admirals J. R. P. Pringle and Harry Yarnell.

Admiral Moffett flew to Washington shortly before noon in a tri-motored navy Ford accompanied by his aide, Lieutenant A. R. Mead, and Lieutenants J. J. Clark and A. P. Storrs and Lieut. Commander H. V. Vaughn. Several others were in the plane, which was piloted by Lieutenant George Clark.

Moffett Issues Statement.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Admiral Moffett arrived at the naval air station at Anacostia, D. C., early this afternoon in a navy transport plane from New York and gave out the following statement:

"In general our progress in aviation, naval, military, commercial and civil, compares most favorably with that in England and France. While the Schneider Cup races have given the nations taking part in them an edge in certain types of experimental high-speed planes and motors, the United States is unexcelled in all types in actual service and in production. Our air mail has nothing that surpasses it in Europe, especially in night flying.

"In lighter-than-air craft the United States will soon again be in the lead that it held when we had the Shenandoah operating in the Pacific and the Los Angeles in the Atlantic, the only airships in the world at that time.

"The recent formation in America of two airship companies—the Pacific Zeppelin Transport and the International Zeppelin Transport—is a long step in advance. It shows the confidence of able business men in our country in the practicability of rigid airships for commercial transportation and means that we will have dirigibles operating in both the Atlantic and Pacific within the next few years. The development carried on by the navy has made this possible and nothing should be left undone to retain our lead in this new merchant marine of the air.

"The navy's first of two 6,500,000 cubic feet airships, now building at Akron, Ohio, will be completed and flying in about a year.

Deplores Poor Mail Service.

"I was impressed with the poor mail service between Europe and America—infrequent voyages and seven to ten days in transit. Airships within a few years will remedy the situation by furnishing forty-eight to seventy-two hour mail service between America and Europe and correspondingly to Asia. It can be made a daily service when desired and warranted.

"The personal liberty enjoyed in non-prohibition countries and the absence of graft in connection with liquor was noticeable as compared with conditions in the United States. Prices are high—three or four times more than they were before the war. This may be the solution of the liquor question for us: High internal revenue taxes on liquor and low taxes on light wines and beer, bringing in a revenue to the government that would largely support it and greatly reduce the income and other taxes, and eliminate graft, bootlegging and other evils inherent in impracticable prohibition.

"I hope there will be a three-power treaty. It will be a godsend to our country and to the world. If we have the national pride we boast of, we will have parity in fact as well as in name. We have the population and resources to be first, and ought to be content with nothing less.

"It was noticeable that church organizations prayed for the success of the conference and did not interfere with it. It is to be regretted that well-meaning persons, ignorant of questions involving national defense, spread propaganda confusing matters of State and religion, which I believe, if continued, not only will adversely affect the Church but will endanger the security of our country.

"Only a few years ago our people had no thought of having naval parity. They have recently demanded it, and there is every indication that we will have it by 1936. It is necessary in order to retain our self-respect.

"The next thing we must do is to get a merchant marine inferior to none: parity, at least, in merchant marine. A merchant marine is a large part of sea power. A navy is only a part of it. As long as we have a merchant marine inferior to any other nation we will not have parity in sea power. We can gain it by building merchant ships just as we build cruisers. However, instead of the government maintaining them as it does cruisers, the government should build and turn the completed merchant ships over to commercial firms to operate. Each merchant ship can be changed into an aircraft carrier. Thus aviation will make merchant ships potential men-of-war. They can, when converted into aircraft carriers, carry bombing planes having a radius of 300 miles.

Wants It Inferior to None.

"Before the advent of aviation, merchant ships could only carry approximately small guns having only a few miles radius. Aviation has enormously increased the relative value of a merchant marine, and in getting parity in navies we must realize that we have still a long way to go to have parity in sea power. Think this over and see that we get a merchant marine inferior to none. It will not only be a most powerful and essential factor of national defense but of enormous value and of far-reaching importance to our commerce and national prosperity in time of peace. It would assist greatly in solving farm, labor and unemployment problems.

"Referring to the recent Newark Airport disaster, we deplore the loss of a veteran and brave pilot and the lives of his passengers. But as long as planes are flown at the wrong time, when weather conditions, low ceilings, fog, and so forth, make it inadvisable to fly, we will continue to have disasters that shake the confidence of the public in the safety of aviation. More accidents are caused by flying at the wrong time than in any other way.

"Landing should not be left to the descretion of the pilot alone. The ground control by radio should have the authority to order a plane down when weather conditions ahead warrant it."

White House Egg Rolling Attracts 48,000; Mrs. Hoover Watches Scene From Window

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A small boy raced across the south lawn of the White House grounds this afternoon. Clasped in his right hand was an egg, gaily painted with modern art designs in purple and yellow. The chap was in wonderful spirits and his chubby legs worked like pistons as they drove into the green turf. He laughed in hilarious glee.

All at once he stumbled and fell face foremost, the egg underneath him. There was something unusual about this egg. The Easter rabbit ordinarily provides only hard-boiled eggs, but this one gave forth a familiar cracking sound as its shell broke. The small boy clambered to his feet. His china-blue rompers were smeared with dismal yellow stains, and portions of his yellow hair were gummed and sticky. His voice lifted to the skies in a piercing yell.

"Gregory!" his mother exclaimed, as she wiped him off. "Gregory, be brave! The President is looking at you!"

The President wasn't looking at all, but the admonition had the desired effect. As a matter of fact, Mr. Hoover was then working at his desk, but earlier in the day he had wandered out into the south grounds to wave to the thousands of children and their parents who thronged the grass at the traditional egg-rolling ceremony.

White House policemen, mechanical counters in their hands, said that 48,567 children and grown-ups passed into the gates during the day, approximately 1,500 more than the egg-rolling crowd of 1929.

From 9 A. M. until 3 P. M. all adults had to be accompanied by children, who gorged eggs and watched girl reserves of the Young Women's Christian Association disport themselves in Maypole and other dances. Dancers from Friendship House and Neighborhood House also danced, and a part of the entertainment was a very fascinating fairy story.

The dancers and maypoles were a new feature, instituted by Mrs. Hoover.

FIVE POWERS SIGN NAVAL PACT TODAY

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Article 3 gives a new definition for aircraft carriers as being any surface vessel of war designed for the specific purpose of carrying aircraft and from which aircraft may be launched. Placing of a landing or taking-off platform on a capital ship, cruiser or destroyer, provided such a vessel is not exclusively for aircraft use, shall not cause that vessel to be charged against the category of aircraft carriers. However, no existing capital ship may be fitted with an aircraft platform.

Article 4 limits the armament of aircraft carriers of 10,000 tons or less to 6.1-inch calibre, while Article 5 repeats the provisions of Articles 9 and 10 of the Washington treaty limiting the armament of airplane carriers.

Technical Characteristics Set.

Then comes Part II including Articles 6 to 13, providing the technical characteristics of the various forms of vessels.

Article 6 says all surface vessels shall be measured as provided in Chapter II, Part 4 of the Washington treaty, and for submarines lays down a new method of measurement, as follows—the standard displacement of a submarine shall be the surface displacement of the vessel complete, exclusive of the water in the non-water-tight compartments, fully manned, engined and equipped for duty, but not counting fuel or ballast water.

Article 7 limits the size of submarines to 2,000 tons and the guns to 5.1-inch calibre. However, each of the five powers may have three undersea boats of 2,800 tons with maximum guns of 6.1 inches, except that France may keep one submarine she has of 2,880 tons with 8-inch guns. Submarines now carrying guns of more than 5.1 inches may be retained, but henceforth no new submarines are to have bigger than 5.1-inch guns.

Article 8 deals with vessels exempt from limitation. Ships of 600 tons or less are exempt, as well as vessels of more than 600 tons but not exceeding 2,000 tons, provided they do not carry guns bigger than 6.1 inches and do not have more than four guns of more than 3 inches, cannot launch torpedoes or go faster than twenty knots. Furthermore, ships not built as fighting craft but used on fleet duties or as transports are exempt from limitation if they do not have guns more than 6.1 inches, do not mount more than four guns above 3 inches, cannot go more than twenty knots, cannot receive airplanes on board or contain more than two catapults for launching airplanes.

Notification Specified.

Article 9 stipulates technical provisions for replacements of craft less than 10,000 tons.

Article 10 provides for publicity of construction. Each contracting party must notify the others of the date of laying down of a keel and full particulars on the classification of each vessel, while Article 11 deals with the rules for scrapping vessels of more than 10,000 tons.

Article 12 sets forth that exempt vessels as listed in the annex to the treaty may be retained without being counted in the tonnage subject to limitation. Japan gets special provisions for the replacement of two mine layers and four smaller cruisers, which exception was made to permit Japan to keep certain dock yards in commission.

Under Article 13, ships in use as stationary training ships may be retained.

At the end of Part II come the annexes. These are technical in nature and set forth rules for the scrapping of war vessels. Then are given the lists of special exempt ships, which show that the United States has of these vessels a total of 91,496 tons, France 28,644 tons, Britain 49,561 tons, Italy 11,960 tons and Japan 61,430 tons.

Limitation Agreement.

Part III contains the limitation agreement among America, Britain and Japan.

Article 14 says that all ships of the three nations, except capital ships and aircraft carriers already limited by the Washington treaty and vessels exempt from limitation, shall be limited as provided.

In Article 15 cruisers are defined as surface vessels of war other than capital ships or airplane carriers whose displacement exceeds 1,850 tons and whose guns are more than 5.1-inch calibre. Then cruisers are divided into two classes—first, cruisers carrying guns larger than 6.1 inches and ships carrying guns not larger than that calibre. Destroyers are limited to 1,850 tons and 5.1-inch guns.

Article 16 sets out figures for limitation of cruisers, destroyers and submarines for the three powers. In the maximum-sized cruisers the United States is assigned 180,000 tons, Britain 146,800 tons and Japan 185,400 tons. In smaller cruisers, the United States is allowed 143,500 tons, Britain 192,200 tons and Japan 100,450 tons. In destroyers, the United States gets 150,000 tons, Britain 150,000 tons and Japan 105,500 tons. In submarines the United States, Britain and Japan were assigned 52,700 tons each. It is specified that these figures are not to be exceeded on Dec. 31, 1936.

Vessels to Be Disposed Of.

It is provided that vessels in any category which cause these tonnages to be exceeded shall be disposed of before 1936. It is set forth that the maximum of large cruisers in number shall be: United States eighteen, Britain fifteen and Japan twelve.

It is set forth that in the destroyer category not more than 16 per cent shall be put into vessels of more than 1,500 tons. Not more than 25 per cent of the cruiser category shall be fitted with landing decks for airplanes.

The result of the long Japanese fight may be found in Article 17, which says that transfer of 10 per cent of the tonnage of a category into which the transfer is made shall be permitted between small cruisers and destroyers.

Under Article 18 it is said that the United States contemplates the construction of fifteen large cruisers by 1935, and that for each of the other three cruisers allowed by that time America may build smaller cruisers under her right to duplicate the British fleet, and that in this case she would be entitled to 15,166 tons of smaller cruisers for each 10,000 tons of large cruisers not built. If she builds the full eighteen 10,000-tonners, the sixteenth will not be completed before 1936, the seventeenth not before 1937 and the eighteenth not before 1938. Article 19 contains technical provisions for replacements, as does Article 20, which contains the interesting provision that England's total cruiser replacements up to 1936 shall not exceed 91,000 tons.

Safeguarding Clause.

Article 21 forms the much-discussed safeguarding clause inserted at the British insistence to protect their naval standing against building by France and Italy. It is, of course, general in nature and applies to all three powers. It says:

"If during the term of the present treaty the requirements of national security of any high contracting party in respect to vessels of war limited by Part III of the present treaty are, in the opinion of that party, materially affected by new construction of any power other than these who have joined in Part III of this treaty, that high contracting party will notify the other parties to Part III as to the increase required to be made in its own tonnages within one or more of the categories of such vessels of war, specifying particularly the proposed increases and the reasons therefor, and shall be entitled to make such increase. Thereupon the other parties to Part III of this treaty shall be entitled to make proportionate increases in the category or categories specified, and said other parties shall promptly advise with each other through diplomatic channels as to the situation thus presented."

Part IV, made up of Article 22, contains provisions for the humanization of submarines. This text says in Paragraph 1 that submarines shall conform to the same rules of international law as govern surface vessels; and in Paragraph 2 that, except in case of persistent refusal to halt or of active resistance, a submarine, as is the case with a surface vessel, may not sink a ship without rescuing the crew and passengers.

Duration of Treaty Set.

Part V contains the ordinary clauses relating to the validity of the treaty. In principle it shall remain in force until Dec. 31, 1936. Part IV, governing the use of submarines, shall remain in force indefinitely. Certain provisions regarding airplane carriers shall run concurrently with the Washington treaty.

Then it is provided that unless it is decided to the contrary the parties shall meet in 1935 to frame a new treaty to replace and continue the present one, it being understood that none of the provisions of the London treaty shall prejudice the position any power might wish to assume in 1935. That is in Article 23, whereas Article 24 says that the parties shall deposit ratifications with the British Government.

As soon as America, England and Japan ratify it, the treaty comes into effect for them. Parts I, II, IV and V come into effect for France and Italy when their ratifications have been deposited.

Then provision is made for France and Italy adhering at a later date to Part III. Under Article 25 the British Government would invite all the governments to adhere to humanization of the submarine.

The final article, No. 26, provides for the deposit of the treaty in the archives of his Majesty's government.

In addition to the treaty, there will be adopted tomorrow a resolution providing for continuance of negotiations among England, France and Italy and also a letter which Prime Minister MacDonald, as president of the conference, will send to the Secretary General of the League of Nations, notifying him of the treaty.

ment to continue its own program to solve unemployment. Left-wing members of Parliament objected to the motion on the ground that it would shackle their freedom. They were prepared to work within the main Labor party if they could, but they objected to limitation.

P. J. Dollan, a Glasgow magistrate, who was imprisoned once for opposing conscription, again led the conference minority and asked how the I. L. P. group had any chance of getting its policies adopted except through the main Labor party. He ironically described the Left-Wingers as "divinely chosen persons who thought they could bring about a complete change in society without the help of ordinary human beings—a new kind of Plymouth brethren of the working-class movement; self-chosen people for carrying out socialism in our time."

The resolutions of policy adopted by the conference remind the government that work or adequate maintenance is still the "paper policy" of the Labor party.

STAYS WALSH BOARD ON ZONE INVASION

Court Forbids Reopening an Application to Use West 75th St. Building for Business.

FINDS FACTS UNCHANGED

Contention That the Standards Body Cannot Reconsider Plea It Once Denied Is Upheld.

Supreme Court Justice Frankenthaler handed down a decision yesterday granting an application of Miss Ella Heyman of 129 West Seventy-fifth Street for a writ to prevent Chairman William E. Walsh, Henry L. Connell, James P. Holland, John Guilfoyle and Fire Chief John Kenlon, members of the Board of Standards and Appeals, from reopening an application by the Wheelwright Corporation for permission to devote its building at 162 West Seventy-fifth Street to business purposes, although half the property is in a residential zone.

Although Compton & Delaney, attorneys, appeared for Miss Heyman as sole petitioner, it was said yesterday that other residents of the exclusive residential block were interested in the application, including Supreme Court Justice Bijur, who lives next door at 160 West Seventy-fifth Street, and District Attorney Crain, whose home it at 121 West Seventy-fifth Street. The attorneys contended that the board had no authority to reopen the case after having once denied the Wheelwright company's petition.

Justice Frankenthaler said in his opinion that the original decision was based on a finding that "the applicant (the Wheelwright Corporation) was not entitled to relief." The court stated:

"Nevertheless, application was made for 'reopening' of the matter on the very same theory and on the identical facts, with the single exception that the original proposal to extend the building three feet at the front was withdrawn. The suggestion that the application to vary be granted on condition that the front remain unaltered had, however, been considered by the board at the hearing. It chose not to permit the variation, even with that condition imposed.

"Under the circumstances the board was without jurisdiction to reopen the case and entertain what was, in effect, an application that it set aside and rescind its former decision. The reopening was a void and authorized act and, it seems to me, therefore, that the motion for peremptory order of mandamus to compel the board to rescind its reopening of the application should be granted."

Justice Frankenthaler said that while it was true that the petitioner could have waited until the board reversed its former determination and then sued to set it aside, this would impose an unneecssary expense upon the petitioner. The court ruled that while the Board of Standards and Appeals was a quasi-judicial body, that fact is not a bar to an application to compel it to perform a mere ministerial act such as striking a case from its calendar.

SEES LIMITED HOPE OF WIDE DISARMING

Swiss Delegate to League Believes the Difficulties Are Insuperable.

The London naval conference was praised for achieving limitation of armaments by Dr. William E. Rappard of the University of Geneva, a member of the permanent mandates commission of the League of Nations and Swiss delegate to the League Assembly, at the seventh annual dinner of the Greater New York Branch of the League of Nations Association last night at the Astor.

He held, however, that the political and technical conditions under which the naval agreement was reached do not allow it to be regarded as a promising precedent for general world disarmament.

"It does not follow," he continued, "because three powers have been able to agree on a limitation of their naval armaments at London that all the States represented at Geneva will be able to agree on a limitation of all armaments. Indeed, the political and technical difficulties which confront those engaged in the pursuit of this much more ambitious goal would seem insuperable. No ratio of relative needs and possibilities, such as that which the United States, Great Britain and Japan agreed upon at London, can be devised in Geneva to satisfy the conflicting views of European powers."

Charles C. Bauer, vice chairman of the association's advisory council, awarded a $25 prize to Frank J. Berberich of 86-01 Eighty-ninth Street, Woodhaven, L. I., for the best essay written by a high school pupil in Greater New York on the League of Nations.

Berberich is a senior at Richmond Hill High School.

Frederic R. Coudert was elected chairman of the association, to succeed Mrs. Frank Day Tuttle, who presided. Miss Amy Ferris was named chairman of the executive board.

JAIL BREAKS FOILED IN TWO PLOTS HERE

NEW ALARM SYSTEM IN USE

All Telephones in 18 Institutions Now Flash Signals at Police Headquarters.

Through the detection of two plots for jail deliveries in the past five months, Commissioner of Correction Richard Patterson Jr. said yesterday that New York had been spared outbreaks similar to the attempt last week at the Rhode Island prison.

Mr. Patterson said the first attempt was to have been made last December at the Raymond Street jail in Brooklyn. Two men were to come there late at night with a fake bail bond. When the door was opened to release the prisoner they were to hold up the keeper, admit confederates and release several prisoners. After information of the plans reached the Department of Correction precautions were taken and the plot was abandoned.

Three weeks ago a break was planned at the West Side prison in West Fifty-third Street. Mr. Patterson learned that several men were to represent themselves as visitors coming to see certain prisoners. They were to hold up the keepers in the office and compel them to release the prisoners.

"We had thought of these possibilities before we knew such plots were planned, and we took precautions," Mr. Patterson said. "At the Raymond Street jail we installed a window at the side of the entrance, where keepers could see who was at the gate after dark. We had two policemen placed on day-and-night duty, one guarding the front entrance and the other the rear entrance.

"We placed a high-powered lamp over the outside of the entrance. We also installed a siren, and in a recent test it brought three policemen to the scene within a few moments.

"One of the most effective precautions we have taken," he continued, "was to install in all prisons an emergency alarm connected with the Police Headquarters switchboard. The instant a receiver is lifted off the hook in any of the eighteen institutions a red light flashes on the board.

"In a recent test at the Tombs, police arrived in less than a minute after the alarm was sent. Precautions also have been taken against the possible hold-up of prison vans."

THREE HELD IN SLAYING IN RHODE ISLAND PRISON

New Jersey Gunmen Are Identified by Convict Guards as Their Assailants.

Special to The New York Times.

CRANSTON, R. I., April 21.—Three New Jersey gunmen alleged to have caused the riot at the State prison here in which two convicts were killed, two others injured and a prison guard was critically wounded, were arraigned in the district court today charged with murder and were held without bail until April 30 after pleading not guilty.

The men held are John Condelmo, 25, of Liberty Street, North Bergen, N. J.; Ernest Condelmo, 26, of Park Avenue, New York, a brother, and John Calaurso, 26, of Seventh Avenue, North Bergen. The Condelmo brothers have been identified as members of the gang whose appearance at the prison Saturday precipitated the outbreak.

Harry McVay, wounded guard, identified John Condelmo as the man who shot him. John Condelmo has served twenty-five months of a four-year sentence for breaking and entering and was paroled.

Ernest Condelmo was identified as the man who shot at Warden Charles E. Linscott as the men were running out of the prison.

CAPT. M'KINLEY BEGINS WORK ON POLAR MAP

Captain Ashley C. McKinley, aerial surveyor of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, began yesterday the intricate work of composing a map of about 170,000 square miles of snowy plains and mountains which he photographed from the air on the trip over the South Pole and other little-known areas at the bottom of the world. The 2,000 pictures which he took with an aerial camera have been developed by army aviation photographers at Mitchel Field.

The final coordinating of the work will have to await the return of Admiral Byrd and others of the party in June. Then Captain McKinley will set to work with the Admiral and with Lawrence Gould, geologist, and Dr. Francis D. Coman.

Captain McKinley, who returned on Sunday and is stopping with Mrs. McKinley at the Biltmore, explained yesterday that camera angles and other data had been noted at the time the photographs were taken, making possible the accurate determination of distances and elevations. It is the biggest mapping job of its nature ever undertaken, he said.

BYRD BARK 378 MILES OUT.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ON BOARD THE BARK CITY OF NEW YORK, at Sea, April 21.—The City of New York at noon today was 378 miles out from Tahiti on her way with Byrd Antarctic Expedition members to Panama and New York.

Her position was Lat. 15:05 degrees S., Long. 143:33 degrees W.

The run for the preceding twenty-four hours was 123 miles. This is less than the City of New York usually makes, her day's progress often being better than 180 miles.

TARDIEU NOT TO SIGN PACT.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 21.—Premier Tardieu will not be a signer of the London naval treaty.

In a letter which he wrote yesterday to Premier MacDonald, he expressed his regret that he could not go to London on account of his Parliamentary engagements. He asked M. Briand to convey a special personal message when the latter left today with the Minister of Marine, J. L. Dumesnil, for tomorrow's final act of the conference.

FOUND CONDITIONS BAD AT OHIO PRISON

Investigation in 1928 Told of Overcrowding of Plant and Convicts' Idleness.

O. HENRY ONCE HELD THERE

The Ohio State Penitentiary, which was established in 1815 and was moved to its present site in 1830, was condemned as one of the worst in the country, due to conditions of overcrowding, in a report in The Handbook of American Prisons and Reformatories of 1929. The penitentiary is now entirely surrounded by the city of Columbus.

The report, compiled by the National Society of Penal Information, says:

"The ancient plant at the State Penitentiary in Columbus, one of the largest prisons in the country, suffers from overcrowding worse than that in any other large prison. The need of another institution in the Ohio penal system has been apparent for many years. * * *

"Not only can Columbus not care for an increased population, but it is already too large a prison to be operated on any other lines than those of a blanket treatment. The present situation should not be tolerated."

"Ohio, like many other States," the report continues, "has allowed its prison population to get far ahead of its building program, and socially minded citizens should demand legislative and Executive action without delay. When overcrowding is coupled with the amount of unemployment found here, the state of affairs becomes increasingly critical."

The report criticizes the low salaries of attendants. It refers to a scandal caused by an escape by bribing a guard, and adds:

"A second occurrence which received widespread publicity was the fire which destroyed a wooden building used as a dormitory for prisoners at the brick plant. The shocking loss of life which took place, when prisoners were unable to free themselves from the burning building, called attention to a condition which is paralleled in many other States where prisoners, especially on the farms, in road camps and on other outlying details, are quartered in buildings that are firetraps, with inadequate provision for their immediate release in case of fire."

The report concludes:

"It would require a thorough survey of this prison, made with entire freedom from restriction, to determine to what extent Ohio is reaping the fruits that may reasonably be expected from conditions of grave overcrowding and idleness, and restricted space in an institution which has not grown away from the old ideas of penology to the degree that institutions have in many other States."

William Sydney Porter—O. Henry to most persons—served three years and three months of a five-year sentence for embezzlement at the Ohio State Prison at Columbus and during his term there collected the material for some of his most famous stories.

Professor C. Alphonso Smith of the University of Virginia in a biography of O. Henry says that it was through his prison experiences that he made the step from journalism to literature.

O. Henry entered the prison in April, 1898, and was released in July, 1901.

Built to House Only 1,500.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21 (AP).—Ohio Penitentiary was built in 1890 and was designed to house only 1,500 men. A roll-call this morning showed the total enrolment today was 4,300.

The prison covers about five acres, within a stone's throw of downtown Columbus. Within the walls are a score of buildings, including eight cell blocks, a hospital, mills, a chapel, dining halls and other structures.

Preston E. Thomas has been warden for about fifteen years. He is noted as an expert. Under his rule there have been no major riots, but there have been many deliveries and escapes, including one when thirteen convicts of Company K, the "bad gang," got loose.

STATE NEGLECT CHARGED.

Ohio State Journal Editorial Denounces Prison Fire Hazard.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21.—In an editorial The Ohio State Journal tomorrow morning will say:

"Ohio has supplied one of the most frightful disasters in the history of American prisons.

"More than 300 human beings, locked in steel cells at the Ohio Penitentiary, were burned to death. * * *

"They were prisoners doing time for violation of the law, but they were human beings, each with a soul, each with a love of life, each entitled to fair play from the great State that imprisoned them. * * *

"It is a bitter and terrible reproach that in any great State a prison should be fireswept. These buildings should be fireproof; there should be adequate fire-fighting equipment. These safeguards should have been increased as the population was becoming congested during recent years.

"Men in Columbus have pleaded many times with the Legislature for betterment of prison plants and conditions, but their pleas fell on deaf ears. The tax spenders and professional politicians always had other uses for the taxpayers' money and the pleas to protect the lives of prisoners and the good name of the State were thrust aside."

Warden's Daughter Directs Fight From Office, Calling Help for Him as He Battles Amid Flames

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21.—With Warden Thomas inside the prison walls during tonight's death-dealing fire in the Ohio Penitentiary, the situation in the prison outer office was handled by Miss Amanda Thomas, his daughter.

This young woman ordered guards to their posts, issued machine guns and ammunition, called doctors and nurses, summoned troops and performed many other duties.

She was calm and collected until the fire threatened her home in the penitentiary main building. Then she turned her attention to the house, ordering her valuables removed.

Big Jim Morton, a notorious Cleveland bank robber, was a hero of the fire. Big Jim, loose in the yard when the fire started, rescued a score of men from K cell block.

He continued working at top speed until he was overcome by smoke. He was unconscious for a time, but was revived and suffered little ill effects.

335 CONVICTS DIE IN OHIO PRISON FIRE

before a semblance of order was finally restored by the soldiers and guards, scenes of suffering, swift tragedy, human endurance and heroism. Some of the locked-in convicts were burned to a crisp. Smoke suffocated many.

If the words of some prisoners could be taken the lives of many of the victims could have been saved if their cells had been unlocked when the fire started and when there was still time.

In one case, the survivors said, a guard had told the convicts that he had no authority to release them from their cells, explaining that he had to wait for the command from his superiors. However, as the flames gained headway the prisoners in the cells that were threatened were released.

The most tragic scenes took place in the fifth and sixth upper tiers from the middle of the western sections of G and H blocks southward and along the section of the prison with the southern exposure.

Here, amid the cries of the dying, deeds of heroism were enacted. One guard, a man named Baldwin, worked with feverish haste, exposing himself to the fate of the others, to release the helpless convicts.

In some instances keys to the cells could not be found quickly and men perished as the flames shot along the roof, burning them and sending flaming débris showering down their bodies. Streams of water, shot from the fire hoses in the yard below, seemed utterly inadequate to give relief.

Start of the Disaster.

The catastrophe began with a sudden burst of fire and a dense cloud of smoke. The flames first shot out of the cell block where a new structure inside the prison walls was under construction, and inside forty minutes had reached the southwest corner. Aided by a brisk wind they reared a furnace in and around the cell blocks.

In a short time utter disorder reigned. Prison guards, National Guardsmen, regular army troops and reserve guards fought heroically to rescue the trapped men and maintain order.

Above the cracking of the flames and the shrieks of the prison siren could be heard the screams of the panic-stricken prisoners, some held fast in locked cells, others being burned alive.

At the first outbreak all telephones in the institution were rendered useless, a circumstance which strengthened the suspicion that the fire was an attempt at a wholesale prison break. News of what was happening ran through the city like magic and crowds began to gather outside the prison walls even before the arrival of the two Fire Department units.

As the fire gained headway, hurried calls for aid brought more fire apparatus, an extra force of reserve guards, National Guard units and regular army infantrymen. More appeals brought upward of 100 nurses from all of the city hospitals, but Warden Thomas at first refused to admit them because of the danger inside the walls.

Radio appeals also brought doctors and nurses from as far away as 300 miles, but long before their arrival there were so many at work that they could not be used.

Scores of doctors and nurses worked at top speed as inert body after body was placed before them. Around the fire engines milled excited prisoners, many adding to the confusion even in their attempts to rescue their fellows, and the troops had trouble in controlling them. Firemen later reported to the prison Warden that some convicts had tried to cut the fire hose and set fire to the firemen's gasoline wagon.

Steadily the prison yard was being strewed with the dead or dying and those less seriously stricken, while the growing crowd of prisoners in the yard became more and more unmanageable. With the doctors and nurses, many wearing their white hospital uniforms, the yard resembled a besieged fortress.

From first to last, all precautions were taken to avert a wholesale dash for liberty. Police and National Guardsmen were posted on the walls of the prison, augmenting the regular prison guards, with orders to keep their machine guns ready for instant action.

The first indication that the original fire was of incendiary origin came from State Fire Marshal Ray Gill. He expressed the belief that it was set in several places simultaneously in the I and K cell blocks. He asserted that the later fires in the cotton mill also were incendiary.

A number of investigations are expected to start tomorrow, with Governor Myers Y. Cooper directing one of them.

John J. Chester, Prosecuting Attorney of Franklin County, gathered data for his investigation at first hand tonight. He was inside the prison grounds while the bodies of the victims were still being carried away. The State Fire Marshal's Department is to conduct an inquiry also.

Governor Cooper was notified of the fire at White Sulphur Springs, Va., where he had been enjoying a rest from his official duties. He started for home at once, and is expected here at 7:30 A. M. tomorrow.

The most difficult problems facing the investigators are to discover the cause of the fires and decide the truth of the reported delay in the release of the prisoners from their cells.

William Wade, Warren, a big Negro prisoner, broke down a cell door with a sledge hammer and released twenty-five men. He was driven away by the heat. He was confined in another part of the prison and was released at the second alarm. Like others, he was bitter in his denunciation of the officials. "They could have saved these men," he said. "They let human beings burn to death."

George Johnson, a Cleveland Negro, said he seized the keys from the hand of a guard, went to the higher cell tiers and released many prisoners. Leo Matlock of Columbus, who is serving a life sentence for murder, got possession of keys and released prisoners.

"Prisoners worked in the flames, smothered and suffocated," said one convict. "Nearly all the prisoners behaved themselves. There was not an attempt to escape. Women were in the yard working. No one was insulted."

One story was simply told. It was a note written by a prisoner before he died of suffocation. It read: "Gus Socka. Notify John Dee, 93 Armory Avenue, Cincinnati."

Charles Greene, a Cleveland prisoner, said he helped carry out forty-two dead men, fighting his way through hot steel corridors and blinding smoke.

Roy Tyler, a Cleveland convict, who was due for liberty under a recent Supreme Court decision for "good time," was a victim.

Liston G. Schooley, a former Cleveland Councilman, who is serving a sentence in connection with land fraud cases, is credited with sounding the first alarm.

Says 100 Could Have Been Saved.

Glenn Pierce, one of the prisoners, declared that the lives of 100 men would have been saved had the guards consented to open the cells and release the men inside. Pierce was one of the first to be released and he with others immediately began to batter down doors still locked with an iron bar. Virtually every man on 5H, he said, knew that death was inevitable because all efforts of the rescue party could not take them beyond the 3-H range.

Convicts asserted a guard in the new cell block ran to the office of the penitentiary when the fire was discovered, after refusing to unlock the cells. Another guard raced to the office, they said, obtained the keys to the upper two tiers and turned them over to a convict with instructions to unlock the cells.

When the order for a general unlocking of cells was given the upper tirers had become red hot and many of their occupants had perished.

The old cell blocks were of six ranges, seventeen cells to a range, with four men in each cell. The fifth and sixth ranges at the top suffered most heavily. There more than 200 men died.

Men in the fifth and sixth tiers of the west cell blocks begged to be shot as they watched the flames aproching them.

Even after men had reached the lower floor during the first part of the blaze there was reluctance to allow them to get to the yard, it is said.

Holward Jones, who had been released after a twelve-year term and was resentenced for theft, proved himself a hero. He seized a sledge hammer and single handed released 136 convicts by hammering the locks off their cell doors.

Lying on a blanket gasping for his breath was another convict who had saved twelve lives.

"I was tending my station when the fire broke out," said the operator of a filling station located near the southwest corner of the penitentiary. "When I saw the flames and heard the cries, I ran to the gate. It seemed like a thousand men were yelling and beating on the bars. I could hear one voice that was very shrill, screaming, 'For God's sake let me out, I'm burning—I'm burning!' It was too much for me and I ran away from the building. When I came back fifteen minutes later, most of the cries had stopped."

Guard Thomas F. Little was commended by the prisoners, who said he went down a dormitory with his keys unlocking cell doors until he was overcome by smoke. Then he handed his keys to Paul Gibbons, a prisoner, and told him to carry on. Gibbons was one of the last men to leave the cell block alive.

Kenneth Scott, a prisoner in third G, saw a group hovering around a dying convict and found the victim was his brother Edward.

General Escape Was Feared.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21.—With the breaking out of the fire in the Ohio penitentiary tonight it was feared a general prison delivery was planned.

Outside the walls grim-faced guards trained their guns on the walls, inside a score of guards kept an eye on the loose convicts, fearing there would be a break. But when it was learned that men were prisoners in the blazing cell blocks, guards and convicts forgot their positions and joined hands in the common effort to save the men who were trapped. The screams of the dying and those who had been seared by the flames were heard above the din.

Convicts handled ropes, axes, hammers and other rescue equipment, which, in other days, would have been kept from them. There ran a Negro convict, with a piece of white cloth over his nose. He carried a rope and a hook, and he made valiant efforts to throw the hook into a barred window. Finally he succeeded, and soon he was shinning up the rope in an effort to gain entrance to the burning section. Here another convict carried a sledge hammer and hammered on a locked door.

The flames continued to blaze near the west gate at 7:20 P. M., Eastern Standard Time. Firemen drove them back a little, but a stiff westerly wind fanned the flames and drove them through G and H blocks, where some sixty men were trapped. Convicts, guards and firemen made valiant efforts to get into these blocks.

A company of regular army soldiers reached the scene and were assigned to duty on the main gate. Prison officials said this heavy guard was placed on the gate because they feared some of the convicts loose in the prison yard would be driven insane by the excitement and might make a break for liberty.

Warden's Family in Panic.

All was confusion in the inner prison office. Here guards handed out ammunition to reserve guards. Door guards had a difficult time identifying doctors and others who were permitted to go into the prison yard. Women members of Warden Thomas's family, all panic-stricken, were standing within the door of their home watching guards and volunteers removing their belongings, the warden's residence being in the path of the fire.

An extra force of guards was rushed to the west wall where it was reported the prisoners were threatening to try to escape through a gate opened to allow ambulances to enter.

Machine Guns Posted.

Outside the streets on four sides of the prison resembled an armed camp. On the outside lawns guards armed with machine guns had their weapons trained on the prison windows. On the pavements National Guardsmen stood rigid, facing the prison walls. At the main gate the regular army troops stood with bayonets affixed to their rifles. In the streets for several blocks Columbus policemen were on duty. The crowds of spectators, attracted by the clouds of dense smoke, high shooting flames and fire sirens, were held back by the police.

For a time the electric power failed. This regulated the locking of some of the cell tiers and there was no way of releasing prisoners locked in the cells except by battering down the doors or drilling the locks with acetylene torches. Such torches were utilized by the firemen as soon as they could be obtained.

Later the electric power came back and the lights were turned on, making it easier to aid the stricken prisoners and release many of those in cells.

Key to Cells Misplaced.

At the height of the fire some one shouted that the flames were spreading toward other cell blocks in which some 500 men, including condemned prisoners, were housed. Then it was discovered that the key to these cells had been misplaced. The chief deputy warden took command of the situation and ordered guards in with axes and sledge hammers to open the cells if the fire spread further.

Chief Ijams of the Columbus Fire Department was among the first outsiders to get into the blazing cell blocks. He said the fire spread so rapidly that guards on duty there had little or no opportunity to unlock the cell doors. Warden Thomas rushed four guards into the blocks with cell keys, but before they could get to work on the doors they were overcome by the dense smoke and carried out by convicts. The fire chief said there was no electric wiring in the block and he felt confident the blaze was of incendiary origin.

Among the convicts who were suffocated was Oren Hill, a former prison guard. Hill was sentenced to serve three years to life for aiding John Whitfield to escape. Whitfield was a notorious convict and later was shot to death.

Death took Garland Runyan of Lawrence County a few hours after he entered the prison. Runyan was admitted to the penitentiary today to serve a term for abandoning his children in Ironton. He was assigned to the fatal K cell block.

The great toll of life was not reflected in the estimate of damage done by the fire. Prison officials and Fire Department heads said the damage would be about $11,000.

CONVICT BROADCASTS STORY OF THE DISASTER

An old Negro convict, known to radio audiences in the neighborhood of Columbus as The Deacon, gave a graphic account of the fire in the State penetentiary from the prisoners' viewpoint over a nationwide hook-up of the Columbia Broadcasting system last night at 11:15 o'clock. He spoke from the prison, which is wired to WARU, the Columbus station of the system, to permit broadcasts of the prison band.

"The campus of the prison is covered with men who have passed on," said the deacon, who, on this occasion, was introduced only as convict The situation is well under control 46,812. "The morale of the men was excellent. Not one tried to escape. and the assistant warden can be seen in the yard directing the work.

"This is a sight I shall never forget and after watching my fellow-prisoners during the height of the horrors I am glad to call them brothers. The dead are all lying in the yard and the newspaper photographers are now taking flashlights. Steaming hot coffee and meat sandwiches are being served."

An announcer added that the death list was at that time estimated at 365. It was explained that the broadcast was from the Protestant Chapel in the prison, from which earlier in the evening there had been broadcast an appeal for doctors, nurses and drugs.

A list of the identified dead was also broadcast.

MRS. SABIN MEETS DRY RIVAL IN DEBATE

Law Undermines Temperance and Violates Spirit of the Constitution, She Asserts.

MRS. COLVIN SCORES POLLS

State W. C. T. U. Head Also Charges Evidence Gathered by Wets Is Inaccurate and Biased.

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, and Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, president of the New York State W. C. T. U., debated prohibition yesterday before several hundred women attending a meeting of the Harlem-New York Council of Women at the Hotel Astor.

Mrs. Colvin, upholding the Eighteenth Amendment and its enforcement acts, asserted that opponents of prohibition had failed to present any constructive program and charged improper propaganda to wet organizations.

Mrs. Sabin, assailing prohibition as an unsuccessful experiment, declared that it should never have been placed in the Constitution. She said her organization would offer a constructive program of liquor regulation at its forthcoming convention in Cleveland.

Calls Polls Inaccurate.

Mrs. Colvin pointed out that the original contention of the wets that the amendment and the enabling acts were unconstitutional had been invalidated by fifty decisions of the Supreme Court upholding the legality of the amendment and the enforcement acts.

She criticized as inaccurate straw votes on prohibition, referring particularly to The Literary Digest poll, which to-date has shown a majority against prohibition. She contended that elections were the only true test of sentiment. While such polls as that conducted by the magazine might correctly interpret the sentiment on an election, she said, they could not be relied upon to give the view of the people on a controversial question, because in an election persons allied on both sides would vote in the poll, whereas when a controversial issue was under consideration this was not true.

"The money for the wet organizations comes from a few wealthy persons. It is not the sacrificial offering of a large number of people," she declared. "We know from the hearings at Washington how they have worked their propaganda. They have retained the best cartoonists and feature writers and experts and they have sent them abroad to study. Now that is all right. But when a person is hired by a wet organization and then comes back and gives a wet report and then is presented as an unprejudiced witness, I don't think the wet organizations are being quite fair to the public. The corruption of the liquor traffic brought prohibition to America, and the same people who backed the organizations in the old days are now with the wet organizations, although there are some sincere persons in these organizations, too."

Sees Temperance Hurt.

Mrs. Sabin charged that prohibition had stopped the growing movement for genuine temperance in this country and had greatly increased the drinking of hard liquor. Formerly 93 per cent of the liquor consumed was beer and wine.

She cited figures to show the increase in deaths from alcoholism since prohibition and said:

"Prohibition may have been a noble experiment but it does not belong in the Constitution. It comes down to this, and every one knows it; the Federal Government is saying—and is spending many millions to try and enforce its statement—to the people of this country: 'You can't have a drink,' and at the same time hundreds of thousands of people, many of them highly respected in their communities, are doing their very best to get one.

"I have personally seen members of Congress, members of State Legislatures, Cabinet officers, judges and attorneys violate the law."

Prohibition, she said, was unenforceable because it was contrary to the spirit of the Constitution, an unwarranted infringement upon personal liberty and because it encouraged disrespect for law and promoted the largest organized criminal class in the history of the nation.

ONE OF 13 CITIES DRY IN THE DIGEST POLL

Greeley, Col., for Enforcement in First Returns—54.5 Per Cent. in Chicago for Repeal.

One city, of the thirteen from which new or second reports were issued yesterday in The Literary Digest prohibition poll, cast a majority in favor of continuance and enforcement of the present prohibition laws. In the others enforcement was outweighed by the combined modification and repeal votes, although one gave an enforcement plurality. In Chicago, tabulated for the second time, a gain in the repeal proportion was noted over the previous poll, and enforcement received less than one vote in seven.

The Chicago total of 114,925 votes was about 30,000 more than the previous tally. Repeal polled 54.5 per cent of the total, or 62,647 ballots. For modification 36,413 were cast, and for enforcement 15,865.

The one bone-dry city was Greeley, Col., tabulated for the first time. Of 1,288 votes, 713 were registered for enforcement, 328 for modification and 247 for repeal.

Richmond, Ind., also newly reported, polled a plurality for enforcement. Of the other new cities, Shreveport, La., and Watertown, N. Y., cast pluralities for modification. Repeal led in Boise, Idaho; Bay City, Mich.; Billings, Mont.; Morristown, N. J., and Amsterdam, N. Y.

Richmond, Va., listed for the second time, gave 52.3 per cent of its votes for repeal, with enforcement in third place. Los Angeles, Cal., cast a plurality for repeal, while Seattle, Wash., gave modification a plurality over repeal, with enforcement third. The figures follow:

Half-Ton Iron Dog Is Moved To Yale Campus, a Mile Away

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 21.—A large iron dog, weighing nearly half a ton, was removed from the lawn of Mrs. Jennie E. Hubinger, widow of Nick Hubinger, turfman and starch manufacturer, last night and taken to Yale War Memorial Square, where it was placed just outside the office of President Angell.

From the size of the dog, it was certain that several persons had a part in the removal, but no one has been found who will admit witnessing its transportation about a mile to the Yale campus.

Several undergraduates said today that they have felt that the war memorial lacked a certain richness of architectural detail, which they believed the iron dog would remedy.

BROOKHART ASSAILS 'WALL STREET' WETS

SAYS OFFICIALS GIVE AID

He Urges the Drys to Be Non-Partisan in Their Voting in Fall Election.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Wet leaders in "non-partisan Wall Street" are picking candidates to run on anti-prohibition tickets and prohibitionists accordingly should be on guard in the Fall elections, Senator Brookhart told the Senate today.

Mr. Brookhart began by praising the Senate lobby committee for its "exposure" of the operations of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment through its examination of John J. Raskob, a director, and Henry H. Curran of New York, president of the association.

Mr. Brookhart said the "Curran-Raskob-Mellon combination" was active in fighting the dry law, and gave notice that he would support the prohibitionists in this year's election, whether Democrats or Republicans.

"The combination I have named is non-partisan on this question, and I intend to be," he exclaimed.

On his appearance before the lobby committee Mr. Curran said his association would be happy to acquire the services of Senator Brookhart "because every time he makes a prohibition speech he turns thousands against prohibition."

Mr. Brookhart asserted today that A. J. Galen of Montana, Republican candidate for the Senate, who is reported to be wet, had been "drafted" to make the race against Senator Walsh by influences in New York. He also charged that a meeting was held recently in Washington at which it was decided to support Mr. Galen. He said Joseph M. Dixon, former Senator from Montana, and now Assistant Secretary of the Interior, had attended the meeting.

"I am sure Mr. Hoover, who is a dry," said Senator Robinson, "will not approve of his appointees endorsing wet candidates and trying to elect them to come to Washington to fight him on an issue that had as much to do with his election as anything else.

"I am sure he will not relish it particularly where there is a dry Republican running who is and has been his friend. It might be interesting to know if the money of John Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is going to be poured into Montana to help elect a wet Republican."

Senator Brookhart questioned the statement by Mr. Curran before the Lobby Committee that five States in revolt against prohibition, and that sentiment against it is spreading rapidly throughout the country.

Senator Nye interrupted to remark that Mr. Galen would meet opposition from Montana drys.

The Senate Judiciary Committee decided today to take up on Thursday the Williamson bill, already passed by the House, providing for transfer of the prohibition bureau from the Treasury to the Justice Department. A subcommittee report favored the measure in substantially the form in which it was passed by the House.

The bill gives the Attorney General veto power over the issuance of permits for use of industrial alcohol, and lodges in him full control over punitive phases of national prohibition. Indications are that the Judiciary Committee will report the bill favorably.

M'CUNN'S LIQUOR ORDERED RETURNED

Court Holds Seizure in Raid on Lamp Company's Office Last February Was Illegal.

The government's chances of successfully prosecuting James M. McCunn, business associate of Charles W. Culkin, former Sheriff, on an indictment charging that he and two others conspired to violate the prohibition laws—a charge that resulted last June in a mistrial when it was discovered that a juror was a relative of McCunn—was believed to have been greatly lessened yesterday when Federal Judge William Bondy ruled that more than 1,000 bottles of whisky, gin, wine and liqueurs had been illegally seized by Federal prohibition agents Feb. 14, 1929, in a raid at 314 West Fourteenth Street, where McCunn had an office.

McCunn is secretary of the Monroe Lamp and Equipment Company at that address, of which Mr. Culkin is president.

Judge Bondy's decision, made on a motion of Michael Edelstein, McCunn's counsel, filed last January, follows the handing down of a similar decision last December by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard, who ruled that 3,646 bottles of liquor seized the same day by agents who raided The International Postal Supply Company, Prospect Place, Brooklyn, of which McCunn is president, could not be used as evidence.

The combined seizures have been valued at $500,000 by Federal Attorney Tuttle, who charged, following the raids, that McCunn did a business of $1,000,000 a year among wealthy and prominent customers who paid from $55 to $90 a case for liquor on delivery to homes or private offices.

CUTS OUT CLAUSE ON NATIONAL ORIGINS

Senate by 39 to 34 Amends Immigration Quota Plan as Sought by Hoover.

IN DEBATE ON HARRIS BILL

Measure Itself, Restricting Entry From Latin-American Countries, Faces Probable Defeat.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Senate today voted by 39 to 34 to repeal the national origins plan for restriction of immigration, which went into effect last July over the protest of President Hoover and through the activity of Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, supported by many Eastern Republicans. The vote was on an amendment by Senator Norbeck, Republican, of South Dakota, to the Harris bill proposing to apply quota restrictions to immigration from Central and South America.

Action was taken during the absence of half a dozen Senate supporters of the national origins plan, and, according to Senator Harris, Democrat, of George, was merely a "gesture." Mr. Harris later voted for a motion by Senator Glass, Democrat, of Virginia, to recommit his bill to the Immigration Committee, because, Mr. Harris said, the adoption of the amendment destroyed the vital provision of his measure.

The motion to recommit was defeated by vote of 38 to 34, as was also an amendment offered by Senator Bingham, Republican, of Connecticut, providing that restriction should be applied only to Mexico. The Bingham amendment was defeated by a vote of 55 to 11, after Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, had argued that it was discriminatory.

Under the Norbeck amendment annual immigration from European countries would be reduced from 150,000 to 120,000, but the old quota basis, which allowed Germany and Scandinavian countries a larger quota, would be restored.

President Hoover is represented as opposed to the Harris bill, which would greatly reduce immigration from Latin America and probably cause ill feeling, in the opinion of administration advisers. The probability is that the Senate will not pass the bill, and if it does the opposition in the House is so overwhelming as to prevent passage in that body.

The vote on the Norbeck motion was:

Then he added to the list the name of Senator Moses of New Hampshire.

DENIES BYNG HAS RESIGNED

Home Secretary Discounts Report About London's Police Head.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 21.—The report published here that Viscount Byng of Vimy had resigned as Commissioner of London's Metropolitan Police was denied by the Home Secretary, J. R. Clynes, today.

Mr. Clynes said that no resignation had been received and that everything that had been heard from Lord Byng since he went to South Africa for his health had suggested that he would resume his duties when he was well enough to return.

"The last letter I had regarding Lord Byng was to the effect that his health was improving," Mr. Clynes added.

SAYS CANADA PLAN REDUCES DRINKING

Ontario Control Board Asserts Dominion Has Cut Consumption 42 Per Cent.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., April 21.—The Liquor Control Board of Ontario, in its annual report issued today, argues that it is impossible to enforce a prohibitory liquor statute in the present state of the public mind, and declares that the per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages in the Dominion has decreased 42 per cent as compared with prohibition days and 62 per cent as compared with the period of the open bar.

The board insists that it is providing a distinct social service, that it mends broken homes and cures anti-social conditions revealed in the ordinary course of business.

"Evils resulting from the abuse of liquor have been ever present," the report says, "the sin of drunkenness still is with us and probably will remain with the host of other sins and crimes that scourge humanity just as long as human nature is what it is and until that utopian day arrives when police, prisons and criminal codes have no justification for existence.

"On the other hand, while government control already had transferred the great profits of illegal business to public uses and has eliminated that great source of corruption and lawlessness—the big bootlegger—full success will be attained only when all illegal practices and abuses resulting from the traffic are reduced to the fullest extent possible. The bootlegger today ought to be regarded by all as a public enemy."

Appealing to churches and temperance societies for cooperation, the report continues:

"Permit supervision means much more than the taking of steps looking to the cancellation of permits. It often involves a sympathetic study of the individual and the family. Mere cancellation of permits in some cases does no good, but only adds to the market of the illegal operator, and sometimes leads to the use of dangerous substitutes.

whom Mr. Browne approached that the present salary of $10,000 is inadequate.

The dinner for Mr. Whalen was proposed originally by William H. Woodin, president of the American Car and Foundry Company. It was proposed at first to make it a "farewell dinner" to the Police Commissioner, but for some reason, never fully explained to all members of the dinner committee, it was changed to a "testimonial dinner."

All the plans for the dinner are understood to have been arranged on the theory that Mr. Whalen will cease to be Police Commissioner almost immediately after it is held.

A handsome souvenir program, which will bear a portrait of Mr. Whalen, is being prepared. Considerable significance was seen yesterday in the Latin motto which will be printed on the program. This motto, it was learned, will be "Fortuna Bona," in English "Good Luck." This motto in its English form is a common expression of good wishes for a person changing his position or undertaking a new enterprise. It was said that no such motto would have been chosen if the sponsors of the dinner were not certain that Mr. Whalen's resignation would not be forthcoming by the time of the dinner.

A large audience, including many of the most prominent business and professional men in the city, already is indicated. Several tables have been reserved for executives at Wanamaker's, it was said, further indicating that Mr. Whalen is soon to return to his former post there.

WET LEAGUE TO GET ITS CHARTER TODAY

"Temperance" Group Will Seek to Consolidate All Bodies Now Fighting Prohibition.

The National Temperance League of America, with a program aiming at eventual repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, yet for the time being asking only that the sale of "bootleg liquor" be made illegal and that the government be allowed to sell alcohol, is to receive a charter tomorrow as a Delaware corporation, according to its organizers, Leonard Mason, accountant, and Philip Frager and Nathan Goldman, attorneys, all of Brooklyn.

The league is being organized as a connecting link for all the existing organizations seeking repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment, and will be incorporated with a membership of about 5,000, most of them residents of Greater New York, according to the organizers.

The plan for the organization's work was drawn up by Mr. Mason, and if the league succeeds in unifying the other bodies working toward the same end it is proposed that seven boards be appointed to carry on the work. The incorporation body favors William Cabell Bruce, former United States Senator from Maryland, as chairman of the joint temperance legislative board, and Edward A. Alexander of New York, author of the Edwards resolution for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, as chairman of the joint temperance constitutional board. According to the league's sponsors, these men have tentatively agreed to serve in such a capacity when the organization of the movement is completed.

The league will offer its program at a joint meeting of organizations working against the Eighteenth Amendment in Washington on May 9.

LAMONT SPEEDS UP EMPLOYMENT STUDY

Red Tape Will Be Cut by Special Section as Census Figures Are Brought In.

BUILDING SURVEY ADVANCES

Secretary Reports Good Progress in Hoover's $7,000,000,000 Construction Program.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Results of a study begun more than a year ago to determine how far public building can be controlled so as to "even up the peaks and valleys" of industrial activity will be made public soon, Secretary of Commerce Lamont announced today.

This survey had not been advanced sufficiently last Autumn at the time of the stock market slump to be of value in the present situation, but Secretary Lamont characterized it as the most careful investigation of this subject so far attempted, and believed it would be of value.

Mr. Lamont pointed out, however, that there is considerable difficulty in quickly applying a building program to an industrial or commercial emergency. He said that certain arrangements would have to be made well in advance of the starting of construction work. He pointed to the selections of sites, preparations of plans and specifications by architects and arrangement for funds through bond issues or otherwise.

Unless that is done well in advance, building cannot be brought quickly into progress to relieve a given situation, according to the Secretary.

In discussing the control of building, especially of State and municipal work, Mr. Lamont also said that most administrations desire to see projects begun by them completed within their terms of office.

Progress Gratifies Lamont.

Secretary Lamont expressed the opinion that the progress made in building work so far this year indicates that there is little doubt of the accomplishment of the $7,000,000,000 program outlined after the series of conferences held by President Hoover with public utility men, and correspondence with Governors of the various States. Mr. Lamont appeared to be gratified at the speed with which the construction work is getting under way.

The Secretary also went into a general discussion of the unemployment survey, the results of which will be announced as promptly as possible. He called attention to the complex nature of the schedules which must be analyzed.

In order to expedite publication of the actual number of unemployed, Mr. Lamont said that a special section was being organized in the Census Bureau and that it was planned to eliminate some of the red tape that is involved in the tabulation of census returns.

There will be shown from ten to twelve different classes of unemployment, according to Mr. Lamont.

Later Census to Show Trend.

The first figures to be issued will be the "number of men out of work, able to work and who are looking for work." These were characterized as fundamental or primary figures, which later will be amplified with an outline of unemployment by sections of the country, by industries and other classifications.

After the fundamental figures are issued it is planned to take two sample census surveys, one within six months and the other within a year of the first, to show the trend of unemployment in the 600 districts into which the country has been subdivided for census-taking purposes.

By these sample census surveys the government will be able to get an up-to-date view of the situation throughout the country and to make comprehensive plans for solution of the difficulties.

Mr. Lamont apparently believed that the first step in any real drive against unemployment would be to get accurate information regarding its extent and its various characteristics.

HOLMES OFFERS PLAN TO CUT UNEMPLOYMENT

Pastor Would Speed Up Public Works and Draft Emergency Program.

John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Community Church, and several associates called at the City Hall yesterday and left with Charles Hand, Mayor Walker's secretary, a letter to the Mayor with four suggestions for remedying the unemployment situation. Copies of the letter were sent yesterday to more than 900 churches, synagogues, settlements and church organizations.

Among plans recommended in the letter were the following:

"1. The speeding up of all authorized public work.

"2. The prompt release of all possible appropriations for repairs, renovations and other improvements of city property.

"3. Immediate presentation to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of such emergency measures for creating work as you may find legal and practicable.

"4. The removal of litter on our city streets and refuse on vacant lots in the outlying boroughs will provide useful employment for thousands of men."

The Mayor was asked to find legal means to provide the necessary funds for the emergency work.

The letter was signed by the Social Justice Committee, of which Jerome Count is chairman; Jerome Alexander for the Community Service, the members of the Community Service Committee and Mr. Holmes.

In the covering letter sent to the church organizations Joseph E. McAfee, director of Community Service, said: "We believe our community can do more than has been done in meeting this situation. We further believe that if the religious organizations of the community express their desires plainly and promptly, the city administration will be moved to more aggressive effort in this behalf."

DUCHESS OF BEDFORD OFF.

Starts Return Flight From Cape Town to England.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAPE TOWN, April 21.—The Duchess of Bedford left the Maitland airdrome at dawn today on her return flight to London, expecting to land at Croydon on April 29.

The Duchess, who is 64, left Lympne eleven days ago to fly the 18,000 miles to Cape Town and return. She arrived here in her monoplane, piloted by Captain Barnard, on Saturday night and hopes to do the return journey via Aleppo and Sofia even quicker than the nine and a half days outward trip.

The South African press is particularly enthusiastic about the flight, indicating the probability that a return flight to and from England will soon be made in ten days.

PRESIDENT WARNS AGAIN ON SPENDING

In Letters to Congress Leaders He Urges Restrictions on Further Appropriations.

FEARFUL OF 1931 DEFICIT

Economy Communications Go to Jones of Senate and Wood of House Committees.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—President Hoover has again voiced a warning that any substantial increase in appropriations beyond the budget estimates may result in a treasury deficit in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In identical letters sent to Senator Jones, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and Representative Wood, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, the President is understood to have said that if expenditures authorized by Congress at this session exceeded the budget estimate the treasury would in all probability close its books on June 30, 1931, in the red. He urged that no excessive appropriation measures be drawn in the remainder of this session.

Mr. Wood said tonight that he had received the letter from the President and would probably make it public tomorrow. It is known that a like communication was received by Senator Jones.

Mr. Wood said that the President was not uneasy over increased appropriations in the regular supply bills, but was fearful that extraordinary expenditures might be authorized in a number of miscellaneous measures that are now under way.

The budget estimates call for appropriations of $3,830,445,231.76 in the fiscal year 1931, which is $143,696,000 less than the amount made available for the current fiscal year.

Mr. Wood said that the supply bills already passed called for expenditure of $850,000,000, in addition to money to take care of the fixed charges on the government. The $850,000,000 he regarded as well within the budget estimates.

All of the supply bills with the exception of that for the naval establishment have been passed by the House. The naval bill has been held up pending the conclusion of the London conference. It will not exceed the budget estimates, House leaders say.

On April 4 President Hoover issued a formal statement expressing gratification over income tax collections but asserting that the legislative and executive branches would have to cooperate in an economy program if a deficit was to be avoided during the next fiscal year.

ARMORED CAR THIEF GETS 5 TO 10 YEARS

Raymond A. Gallagher, 31 years old, formerly of 154 East 125th Street, an armored car driver, who stole $65,000 last October, was sentenced yesterday to five to ten years in Sing Sing before Judge Levine in General Sessions. He had pleaded guilty.

Gallagher with two other guards employed by the Brinks Express Corporation, 149 Broadway, drove to the Chemical Bank and Trust Company, 165 Broadway, last Oct. 17 to obtain money for payrolls. Gallagher was left to guard the $65,000 in the car while the other guards went into the bank.

HOOVER CONDEMNS SPECIAL COINAGE

In First Formal Veto He Returns House Bill for Gadsden Purchase 50-Cent Pieces.

HOLDS ISSUE UNLAWFUL

Monetary System Should Not Be Diverted to Commemorative or Other Uses, He Tells Congress.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Disapproval of the practice of issuing special coins from Federal mints to commemorate historic events was expressed by President Hoover in a message to the House today, vetoing a bill to authorize the coining of 10,000 fifty-cent pieces to commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Gadsden purchase. It was his first veto since he assumed office.

The message, dated today, reads as follows:

"Herewith is returned, without approval, H. R. 2029, 'an act to authorize the coinage of silver fifty-cent pieces in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Gadsen purchase.'

"This bill provides that in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the acquisition by the United States of the territory known as the Gadsden purchase there shall be coined in the mints of the United States fifty-cent pieces to the number of 10,000, to be of a design fixed by the director of the mint and approved by the Secretary of the Treasury. The coins are to be legal tender and are to be issued only upon the request of the Gadsden Purchase Coin Committee, in such numbers and at such times as they shall request.

Sound Coinage Jeopardized.

"The matter is not perhaps one of large importance in itself, were it not for the fact of the great number of other similar proposals by the aggregate of which the principles of sound coinage are being jeopardized. Moreover, the multiplicity of these demands have largely destroyed their interest and value for the purpose intended.

"During the past ten years fifteen such special coins have been issued, an average of one each eight months, an aggregate of over 13,000,000 such coins having been authorized. There are now pending before Congress five other bills for such coinage, and before the Treasury Department several other requests for support to proposals of the same character.

"The monetary system of the country is created and exists for certain well-defined and essential purposes. Sound practice demands that it should not be diverted to other uses, if we are best to serve the needs of trade and commerce, satisfy the convenience of the people and protect the integrity of our coins.

"Experience has demonstrated that the necessities and convenience of the people can best be served and the integrity of our coins can only be protected from counterfeiting by limiting the number of designs with which in the course of time the public can become thoroughly familiar.

"Indeed, the Congress itself has recognized the soundness of this principle by providing that 'no change in the design or die of any coin shall be made oftener than once in twenty-five years from and including the year of the first adoption of the design, model, die or hub from the same coin.'

Counterfeiting Danger Increased.

"The growing practice of issuing commemorative coins, incidentally to be sold at a profit and provide funds for projects or celebrations, appears to me to run counter to this principle and by their multiplicity to have become a misuse of our coinage system. These coins do not serve for circulating medium which is the real function of coins. They introduce an element of confusion and lack of uniformity. The danger of counterfeit coins being successfully passed is unquestionably increased by a multiplicity of designs, with which the public cannot become thoroughly familiar. Furthermore, the very premiums at which these coins are sold stimulate counterfeiting of them.

"There are a great many historical events which it is not only highly proper but desirable to commemorate in a suitable way, but the longer use of our coins for this purpose is unsuitable and unwise.

"This would seem to be clear from the very number of events to be commemorated, and past experience indicates how difficult it is to draw the line and how such a practice, once it is recognized, tends constantly to grow. If this bill is to become law, it is not apparent on what grounds similar measures, no matter how numerous, may be rejected. Yet their enactment in such numbers must bring further confusion to our monetary system. The government would be glad to assist such celebrations in the creation of appropriate medals which do not have coinage functions."

'DEAD' HUSBAND HEARS HE OWES BIG ALIMONY

He Appears at Wife's Separation Suit Against C. D. Gibbons, Lawyer, and Adds to Tangle.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 21.—Frank Selleck of Astoria, Queens, appeared as a witness in the separation action of Mrs. Adelaide K. Ward Gibbons before Supreme Court Justice Morschauser here today and was informed by counsel for Mrs. Gibbons that he owed her $29,524 in back alimony. She had believed Selleck dead when she was married to Charles D. Gibbons, New York lawyer, in 1917, according to her affidavits. Both husbands testified today.

The appearance of Selleck and the announcement that he owed Mrs. Gibbons the back alimony were new developments in the marital tangle involving Mrs. Gibbons, whose $500,000 alienation of affections award, granted about a month ago by a Sheriff's jury, was held up by Justice Morschauser.

The defendant in the alienation suit was Mrs. Blanche F. Powell of Croton. Mrs. Gibbons, a White Plains resident, charged the Croton woman with stealing the affections of Gibbons. Justice Morschauser set April 28 as the date for the trial of Mrs. Gibbons's separation action against her second husband.

INQUIRIES ORDERED ON CAMPAIGN FUNDS

JERSEY WILL BE VISITED

Searching Examination of All Primaries and Elections Is Promised by Chairman Nye.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Senate campaign fund investigating committee today decided to send special investigators into Illinois and Pennsylvania to inquire into complaints of excessive expenditures and alleged wrongdoing.

If these experts find any of the complaints justified, the committee will start hearings without delay and not only go into these two States but into others—Nebraska, New Jersey and probably Montana.

Senator Nye, the committee's chairman, said it had originally intended to conduct hearings during the primaries and after in many States, but only after the complaints had shown to be warranted. Now the investigation will be made without waiting for complaints.

Senator Deneen, defeated for renomination by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormack, and Senator Grundy have demanded that they be heard by the committee without delay.

"The committee is going to engage without further delay as many special agents as necessary and send them into these districts from which complaints and charges have been received," Senator Nye said.

"As soon as reports are received that would warrant the committee's acting, public hearings will be held. The committee will go into many States, perhaps five, before the primaries and continue its inquiry after the November election.

"I very much regret that the wrong impression went out that the committee would not hold hearings before the campaign. On the contrary, a thorough and searching investigation will be made into all campaigns, and the committee will seek to determine how elections have been conducted, and the money used, whether complaints have been made or not."

Senator Nye said the committee would not consider Senator Brookhart's charges that a conspiracy existed among "wets" and Secretary Mellon to defeat Senator Walsh of Montana. He thought, however, that the committee would hold hearings in that State.

The committee on Friday will send to all Senators seeking re-election a request that they furnish statements of their expenditures and receipts, with the names of contributors.

Boston Accent Betrays Boys Who Ran Away to Be Aviators

Two schoolboys, who ran away from their homes in Everett, Mass., hoping to emulate Colonel Lindbergh, were in the custody of the Children's Society yesterday because their Boston accent attracted the attention of a patrolman.

The boys, Edward McClung, 14 years old, and Anthony Tester, 13, were picked up by Patrolman Elmer Duckett at Fiftieth Street and Eighth Avenue yesterday morning after they had asked him where to find a telegraph office. Duckett, once an infielder for the Boston Braves, recognized the accent of the pair and questioned them.

"We came from Boston last night on a bus," the boys explained. "We want jobs as telegraph messenger boys for a while so we can earn money to get to Roosevelt Field and learn to fly and become famous like Lindbergh. We got tired of Everett. It was too small."

LETS MORE CONTRACTS IN HOUSING PROJECT

Miller Says Demolition in Chrystie-Forsyth Street Program Will Start Soon.

Borough President Julius Miller of Manhattan said yesterday that he had awarded three additional contracts for demolition of existing buildings in the Chrystie-Forsyth Street model housing improvement affecting eight blocks of the lower east side, thus getting the entire project under way with the exception of the block bounded by Chrystie, Forsyth, Rivington and Stanton Streets, in which the low bidder defaulted.

S. Kaufman made the low bid of $24,000 for the work and obtained a contract for demolishing the block last week. Mr. Miller said yesterday that because of his default the contract would be readvertised next Monday. The M. Rosen Housewrecking Company received yesterday the contract for the block bounded by Grand, Chrystie, Forsyth and Hester Streets with a low bid of $44,000. There were ten bidders on this contract, and the highest bid received, $82,400, came from Morris Pollack.

The Rosen company also obtained the contract for the block bounded by Hester, Canal, Chrystie and Forsyth Streets with a low bid of $41,000. The Realty Development and Sales Corporation was the highest of thirteen bidders on this work, estimating it at $92,100. The Schumer Wrecking Corporation received the contract for the block bounded by Forsyth, Division and Eldredge Streets, East Broadway and some odd parcels, for which it bid $4,000. The Byron W. Green Jr. Company was the highest of fourteen bidders on this work, bidding $15,500. Mr. Miller said that actual demolition would begin within a few weeks.

Hughes Gets $30,000 for Work In Lake Diversion Dispute

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A fee of $30,000 was awarded today to Chief Justice Hughes by the Supreme Court, for his services as special master in the Chicago lake water diversion case.

The court also gave Mr. Hughes an allowance of $2,775 for expenses.

Mr. Hughes made two reports in the case, both of them bulky volumes. His final report was the basis of the decree handed down by the court last Monday.

OFFER PLAZA PLAN FOR RESERVOIR SITE

A PROMENADE IS URGED

Inter-Museum Walk Opposed by Herrick Included in New Draft Submitted to City.

Plans for the restoration of the lower reservoir area as part of the landscape of Central Park were submitted to Park Commissioner Walter R. Herrick last night by the New York chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects at a meeting at the Architectural League, 115 East Fortieth Street. The plans provide a plaza flanked by two playgrounds for children south of the Eighty-sixth Street transverse road and on grade, below that a sunken meadow 1,300 feet long and 800 feet wide, and in the extreme southern part of the reservoir site a small lake. They are the result of weeks of work by six committees of the society.

The final draft of the plan was not made until after Jules V. Burgevin, landscape architect of the park board, had opportunity to study its details.

Herrick Praises Plan.

After listening to an explanation of the plans Commissioner Herrick said that he had been told by Mr. Burgekin that the plan was an excellent one. In view of all the demands for new wading pools and playgrounds, however, he said that he would like the possibility of including some of these to be considered. He was told that wading pools were not included in the original plan because they are considered unsanitary unless very carefully supervised, but that if he considered that proper supervision could be obtained the pools could be included.

Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn again appealed for a connecting esplanade between the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Roosevelt Memorial, which was included in the architects' plans.

Dr. George F. Kunz of the American Scenic and Historical Preservation Society commended the plan and warned that great care should be taken against encroachment on the public property by private interests.

J. Monroe Hewlett, president of the Municipal Art Society, opposed the incorporation of playground facilities in the plan as detrimental to esthetic values.

Little Filling Required.

The landscape architects' plan calls for radical changes in the methods being used to reclaim the site. Under it very little filling is required. At the present time 400 trucks have already filled an area of more than 12,000 square feet. In return for this dumping privilege the contractor doing the work has agreed to raze the retaining wall free of charge, saving the city about $90,000. The demolition of this wall might become a major problem if the dumping permit were revoked, Mr. Herrick suggested, adding that this was only one of many questions he would have to decide before passing on the proposal.

"The plan represents the composite expression of the best judgment of the members of this organization," read the report of the committee that worked out the plan for the society. A. F. Brinckerhoff is chairman of the committee whose plans were approved by Alfred Gieffert Jr., president of the New York Chapter of the society. Other members of the committee are Gilmore D. Clarke, director of design; Clarence Fowler, John R. Brinley, Armistead Fitzhugh and Mr. Gieffert.

"The problem was not an easy one," continued the report, "but it was our purpose to so design the area that it would be reasonably economical of execution, in harmony with the surrounding park design, readily accessible to pedestrians and passengers from motor vehicles and of use to persons of all ages and interests, although primarily a recreation area for the young. The essential feature is an oval meadow, slightly depressed, approximately 1,300 feet long and 800 feet wide.

"It is approached from the north by a bridge over Tranverse Road 3, directly from and on the same level as the trail surrounding the northerly reservoir and opening out adjacent to the new treatment in the form of a plaza. From this site a very impressive view should be afforded of the entire area.

"At either side of the plaza play areas of about 300 feet in diameter are provided for small children. These are entirely enclosed with foliage so that they need not detract from the parklike aspect of the remainder of the treatment. Beneath the plaza ample spaces are afforded under cover for comfort and administrative facilities.

"At the southerly and lowest end of the oval a small lake is proposed against the rugged and imposing outcropping ledge now existing at this point. This can be made a very impressive ornamental feature and might be used in Winter for ice skating.

"It can be readily understood that by keeping the general area depressed a minimum amount of fill and topsoil will be required, at the same time affording a unique and impressive effect.

Park Promenade Favored.

"It has been our purpose, as can be seen from the plan, to disturb as little as possible the areas outside of the present reservoir. We fully recognize, however, the necessity for acknowledging two dominant factors affecting the problem—namely, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, east of the mid-section of the reservoir, and the Natural History Museum, opposite the southwesterly corner, and we propose for immediate installation a walk affording direct communication between the two museums as part of the design."

"We realize, however, that a more substantial approach from the park to the new wing of the Natural History Museum might be appropriate. Also, should the Metropolitan Museum of Art Building be improved architecturally or extended on its westerly side, it should become an essential part of the park treatment proposed herewith. In view of these probabilities, we have endeavored to so design the intermediate area that it will readily lend itself to supplementary treatment in accord with these two structures.

"Several schemes have been prepared for the treatment of the site and have been presented to this organization for criticism and comment. We could not consistently approve any of them and the question was quite properly asked as to what we would propose for the ideal treatment. We then offered to prepare a plan through the joint efforts of our members at our own expense and to present it to the Park Department as an example of what should in our opinion be followed in the development of this area.

"The method adopted in organizing this undertaking was to call for volunteers among our members, with the suggestion that each one prepare a preliminary study expressing his own ideas as to how the area should be treated. These were all presented for the inspection and discussion of the membership and a program for further efforts prepared. Six teams, or committees, were organized and each group left free to prepare a plan in accordance with the program. As a result of the submission of these six plans a definite scheme of design was decided upon and the responsibility for the preparation of the final plan as submitted herewith was assigned to a committee.

"It can thus be understood that the plan represents a composite expression in graphic form of the best judgment of the members of this organization.

"The committee wishes to point out that while this study has taken considerable time it has been a matter of intense interest to all of us, and that our organization makes this contribution out of sympathy and loyalty to the purpose of the Park Department in behalf of the public welfare."

"Mr. Burgevin was consulted a month ago, before the final draft of the plan was made. According to members, the society informed Mr. Burgevin that it was ready to prepare plans, and he advised the society that he would be glad to have that organization submit plans.

MANY TO AID PARENTS' DAY

Schools and Civic Organizations Will Attend Celebration.

Sixty-five public schools of New York City, many with delegations of 1,000 pupils, as well as partiotic, civic and other organizations will be represented in the Parents' Day Celebration to be held on the Mall in Central Park Sunday afternoon, May 11, according to acceptances received up to yesterday by Uncle Robert and His Radio Pals, who will be one of the features of the celebration. The Parents' Day Celebration, in line with views expressed by President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt, is designed to eliminate much of the commercialism that has characterized celebrations of Mothers' Day.

Mayor Walker, Dr. George J. Ryan, President of the Board of Education; Dr. William J. O'Shea, City Superintendent of Schools, and Assemblyman Jules S. Berg are to speak, and the exercises will be broadcast by the Municipal Broadcasting Station, WNYC. More than 40,000 school children and others are expected to attend.

HIBBEN DENIES LIFTING BAN ON BUCHMANISM

Princeton Head Says Presence of Founder of Cult at Wedding Will Be Purely Personal.

John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton University, denied last night that Buchmanism, a religious cult sponsoring public confession of sins, would again be allowed in the university as a result of a wedding next Saturday at the university chapel, at which Dr. Hibben and the Rev. Frank N. D. Buchman, founder of the cult, are to officiate. In 1924 Buchmanism was outlawed at Princeton when Dr. Hibben asked Mr. Buchman to leave the campus in the interests of academic peace.

The wedding in the Princeton chapel will mark the first official occasion, so far as is known, that Mr. Buchman has set foot on the university grounds since his teachings, which are described as appealing to the religious nature through an exaggerated emotional excitement, were banned there.

President Hibben explained last night that the Rev. Samuel Moore Shoemaker Jr., rector of Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church at Fourth Avenue and Twentieth Street, who is to be married to Miss Helen Dominick Smith, was a personal friend both of Mr. Buchman and of himself.

AIRMAIL BILL PASSED; CALLED AVIATION AID

House Approves Watres Measure Eliminating Poundage as the Sole Basis for Rates.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Watres bill proposing a change in compensation for airmail carriage from a poundage to a space, weight and mileage basis, was passed by the House today without record vote.

As passed today the bill was urged as an aid to air-passenger carriers in that it would permit mail to be carried on the same planes with passengers at an allowance of not more than 40 cents for each cubic foot of mail, nine pounds being equivalent to a cubic foot. For exclusive mail carriers the maximum allowance would be $1.25 per mile.

Sponsors of the bill admitted that the proposed rates would be in a large measure a subsidy to the air carriers.

ONCE upon a time there was a smart young thing who had a buxom aunt. One day she observed Auntie looking more buxom than ever, with each curve glistening in satin-clad rotundity. "Try crepe, auntie", suggested our heroine,—"high-lights are out of season."

Whereupon, the young thing looked at her own shiny legs, and remarked,—"What's sauce for the goose," etc. So she turned her stockings dull-side-out, and went out into the world. Soon it came to the ear of Best's that young things were wearing their hose inside out. "This will never do," said Best's,—"think of the seam and things." So they adopted the inside-out stocking and called it

ROME CELEBRATES 2,653D BIRTHDAY

New Schools, Dwellings, Gardens and Other Improvements Are Gifts of the Day.

LABOR COUNCIL INSTITUTED

Will Settle All Disputes Between Employers and Workers—Il Duce Admits Hard Times.

By ARNALDO CORTESI.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, April 21.—New schools, new workmen's dwellings, new gardens, new archaeological excavations and new modern improvements of various sorts were provided today for the city of Rome on its 2,653d birthday, which was celebrated according to a custom inaugurated by the Fascisti requiring that the celebration take the form of instituting works for the improvement and beautification of the city.

The most important works in the archaeological field include the restoration of the Theatre of Marcellus, demolition of numerous houses round the Temple of Vesta, the site of which is being transformed into a public garden, and the demolition of the last houses standing between the Forum of Augustus and the Trajan Forum, which thus becomes a single archaeological zone of great beauty and interest.

The modern improvements provided include the repaving of several streets and a new system of traffic control by means of colored light signals, similar to those with which New Yorkers have been familiar for many years but which up to now have been completely unknown in Rome.

Today also was the Fascist Labor Day, which since the advent of Fascismo has been celebrated on Rome's birthday instead of on May 1.

In this connection Premier Mussolini inaugurated sessions in the Capitol of the new National Fascist Council of Corporations, which is destined to become one of the most important organs of the Fascist State.

It is a kind of little Parliament in which both labor and capital are represented and which dedicates its activities exclusively to labor problems, although it has only advisory, not legislative, functions. In his inaugural speech Il Duce spoke of the great importance of the council, which must pass on all labor problems and disputes in order to render Italy permanently free from strikes, which have been banned during the last seven years.

As regards the Italian situation he said the times are not particularly good, but were better than in other countries, and he cites figures to show that unemployment was very much higher proportionately in England and America than in Italy.

EGYPT LOCUST WAR WANES.

Lacking Adequate Equipment, Army Fails to Destroy Billions of Eggs.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAIRO, April 21.—Despite the official assurances that the danger of a locust invasion is practically over, your correspondent is in a position to state, as a result of his visit to the Sinai peninsula, that the danger is still great. Much magnificent work is being done by a force composed of Egyptian soldiers, Arab police and the camel corps, but their operations are handicapped by the inadequacy of the number of flame-guns they have to fight the billions of young locusts sweeping through the country.

The greatest danger lies in their failure to cope with the eggs, which in a short time will yield billions more of locusts. The authorities here apparently are not fully alive to the serious danger, hence the lack of support of the two British officials who are gallantly carrying on the campaign in the peninsula.

Spinks Pasha, the British head of the Egyptian Army, who visited the scene of the operations last week, narowly escaped death from the bite of a dangerous snake that had been awakened by the flames.

THREE DEAD IN LEIPZIG IN FIGHT WITH REDS

Little Hope Is Held for Another Policeman After Clash With Reich's Young Communists.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LEIPZIG, Saxony, April 21.—Two police officers and one young Communist were killed and nine seriously injured, including four police, during street fighting arising from the "Red Youth Day" celebration here Easter Sunday and today, in which between 15,000 and 20,000 young Communists from all sections of the Reich took part.

The meeting, which was the fifth annual gathering, was composed of representatives of the Proletariat Youth, most of whom had traveled to Leipzig in large motor trucks to demonstrate against the Young plan, the bourgeois government, the Social Democrats, capitalism and numerous other institutions.

The feature of the assembly, a mammoth parade with banners and music, went off successfully and it was not until last evening, when the milling thousands congregated in the Augustusplatz in the centre of the city that trouble began. When the Communists overturned an automobile which was seeking to squeeze through the crowd the police interfered to protect the driver and fighting flamed forth spontaneously.

According to a police statement, only gummi knuepels (rubber clubs) were used against the yelling mob until shooting became unavoidable. Two of the police were so seriously beaten with flag standards and other sticks that they died of their wounds, while small hope is held out for the life of a third officer.

As a result of the set-to further meetings and paradings have been prohibited and the bulk of the delegates has left by truck for home.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 21.—The Reich's criminal police throughout the country are halting the trucks conveying the young Communists homeward and arresting all found carrying arms, lacking identification papers or wounded, the latter on the theory that they must have taken part in the fighting at Leipzig.

It is anticipated that most of them will be released again as soon as they establish their identity, with a comparatively small number held for an investigation into the death of the two officers.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH MARKS 4TH BIRTHDAY

British Throng Cheers Duke of York's Daughter at the Changing of the Guard.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 21.—England's four-day holiday ended tonight with such comment as "frost to the bitter end" and "ice age Easter." To complete the bad record of one of the most doleful holidays, London had its first Eastertide frost since 1917, with freezing temperatures even in Southern England. Snow fell again in Scotland.

One person who did not mind the unseasonable weather was little Princess Elizabeth, who celebrated her fourth birthday with her grandparents, the King and Queen, at Windsor Castle today.

There were scenes of tremendous enthusiasm when the holiday crowds waiting outside the gates saw the little figure in primrose yellow appear at watch the changing of the palace guard. As she walked across the quadrangle the crowd cheered wildly and rushed the police on duty. So great was the crush that both the Norman and St. George's gates had to be closed. The Princess acknowledged the greeting by shyly waving her hand, while the crowd waved and cheered back.

This afternoon the Queen and the Duchess of York gave a birthday tea party, at which all the members of the royal family and other guests received a portion of the Princess's cake, especially made by the royal chef, with the name Elizabeth inscribed on it in pink icing.

The royal household was astir early, with the Princess too excited to eat much breakfast. Immediately after breakfast she received her presents, especially delighting in a Noah's ark, the Queen's gift, and a Shetland pony from the King. A mysterious parcel also arrived from her uncle, the Prince of Wales, all the way from Africa.

ROYAL PAIR LEAVES JAPAN ON YEAR TRIP

Prince Takamatsu, 2d Brother of Emperor, and His Bride Sail on World Voyage.

WILL SEE EUROPE FIRST

Return to Be Through the United States and Canada—Duke of Gloucester's Visit to Be Repaid.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TOKIO, April 21.—Prince Takamatsu, second brother of the Emperor, and Princess Takamatsu, the former Miss Tokugawa, descendant of the last Shogun of Japan, who were married early in February, sailed from Yokohama today on the steamer Kashima Maru on a trip which will take them to twenty countries in Europe. They will return to Japan next year by way of the United States and Canada.

The primary purpose of the Prince's trip is to repay in England the visit of the Duke of Gloucester, who came to Japan last year to present to the Emperor the Order of the Garter. The Prince will also make an official visit in Spain, where he will decorate King Alfonso with the Grand Order of the Chrysanthemum, Japan's highest decoration.

The visits to the other European countries and to the United States and Canada will be unofficial. The Prince and Princess expect to arrive in America the latter part of May next year and spend about ten days in the United States and Canada, sailing for Japan from San Francisco early in June.

The Kashima Maru will proceed to Marseilles via Suez, with the usual stops in China, Indo-China and India. From Marseilles the imperial couple is expected to go to Switzerland for a short visit and then proceed to Paris, arriving in London on June 26, when their official visit there is scheduled.

Prince Takamatsu and his wife left their palace in Tokio shortly before noon today to take a train at 1 o'clock for the half hour's ride to Yokohama, a large number of officials of the court, Cabinet officers and members of the diplomatic corps accompanying the couple to the port.

More than 5,000 persons had gathered at the dock at Yokohama to see the Prince and Princess off, including 3,000 school children carrying the national flag. As the vessel cast away from the dock promptly at 3 o'clock, cheers went up from the assembled throng, while a dirigible and airplanes droned overhead.

The royal suite aboard was a mass of flowers, including sixteen varieties sent by the Empress from the imperial gardens in Tokio. The Kashima Maru is due at Marseilles on June 2.

FORTUNE IN WEDDING GIFTS.

Mussolini's Daughter Is Recipient of Many Presents.

ROME, April 21 (AP).—A veritable fortune in wedding presents is pouring in for Signorina Edda Mussolini, who will be married on Thursday to Galeazzo Ciano, son of the Minister of Communications.

Although it was understood that Il Duce had forbidden cities, communes and provinces to give official presents, this prohibition did not extend to indviduals. The Premier's personal present to his daughter is a valuable bedspread of old Venetian lace which required many years to make.

Other presents include an automobile, a huge black pearl from a Russian Princess, a rare necklace from a group of friends in Milan, a silver service for forty-eight persons, eighty old silver plates and a number of pieces of antique furniture.

Signorina Mussolini, however, intends to begin housekeeping on a small scale. She and her fiancé have purchased an apartment near the Via Salaria and will face a problem as to where to put all the presents.

COUNCIL ELECTS ROY PRESIDENT OF HAITI

Acts in Accordance With Plan of Hoover Board in Choosing Him as Temporary Head.

HE TAKES OFFICE IN MAY

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, April 21 (AP).—The Council of State today chose Eugene Roy as temporary President of Haiti, thereby following the recommendations of the Hoover investigating commission.

He will take office next month at the expiration of the term of President Borno, and will serve until regular elections are held in the Fall.

M. Roy received all twenty-one votes of the Council on the first ballot, although the names of Joseph Justin, Manuel Thezan and Andre Chevallier also were before the body.

The proceedings were witnessed by Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, American High Commissioner; members of the Haitian Cabinet, and foreign diplomatic and consular officials. A crowd of about 1,500 persons assembled in orderly manner outside the building, and the streets were thronged because a holiday had been declared by Presidential proclamation.

The selection of M. Roy by the Hoover commission met wide approval, for he has never held office before and is known as a non-partisan. President Borno agreed that M. Roy should succeed him.

Eugene Roy is former president of the Government Clearing House and is widely known in financial circles.

The Council of State was to have acted on his election a week ago, but its meeting was suddenly postponed by President Borno, and rumors spread of a possible hitch due to opposition within the Council to the selection of M. Roy.

President Borno last week made changes in the personnel of the Council and it was announced that this had been done in order to make certain M. Roy's election and fulfillment of the program outlined by the Hoover commission.

FRENCH FLOOD RELIEF IN DIFFICULT TANGLE

Government Seeks to Reorganize Work as Sufferers Threaten Over Poor Distribution.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 21.—An effort is being made by the government to straighten out the confusion and end the irritation resulting from the distribution of relief funds in Southwestern France to persons who were impoverished by the recent floods. Upward of $2,000,000 was raised by private subscription for immediate relief, in addition to $400,000,000 appropriated by Parliament for reconstruction.

But it has been found that of $2,000,000 in private subscriptions only $340,000 has been distributed in actual relief by the Red Cross organization, although the floods occurred fifty days ago. Instead of about $100 per family, the distribution has worked out at about $1.

The feeling in the districts affected has become very excited. Posters have been placed in the streets of Montauban calling attention to the situation and public demonstrations have been threatened. Local politics and bad administration are blamed in the situation. Marcel Héraud, Under-Secretary of the Interior, has gone to the district to try to reorganize the distribution of relief.

INDIAN RAID LEADER DISGUISED AS BRITON

Wore an Adjutant's Uniform and Had His Face Powdered, Chittagong Sergeant Says.

SENTRIES VICTIMS OF RUSE

Slain While Saluting Supposed Officer, Witness Reports—Pursuers Fail to Overtake Rebels.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CALCUTTA, April 21.—The raid on the armories at Chittagong, in which nine were killed, was led by an Indian wearing the uniform of a British adjutant and with his face powdered to appear white, according to Sergeant Taylor, a railway employe who escaped with his life.

"A stream of cars flashed up to the entrance of the armories," he says, "and the sentries, believing the man who alighted to be an adjutant, saluted, but immediately they were shot dead by the men in the leader's automobile.

"Hearing the firing, Sergeant Major Farrell rushed from his bungalow, met a fusilade of pistol shots and was killed instantly. His wife ran on to the verandah, screaming, with her little child. The raiders covered her, ordering silence.

"Meanwhile, the occupants of another automobile tied a tow rope to the handle of the armory door and wrenched the door from its hinges. The raiders then flocked in, looting the arms, but were unable to find ammunition.

"About 11 o'clock five of us crept forward to Sergeant Farrell's bungalow and rescued Mrs. Farrell. The raiders were watching the burning armory from automobiles in the light of their headlights. Near the armory was lying the body of Sergeant Walker."

The recruiting of special constables at Calcutta continues briskly. Within a few days all physically fit Europeans will be enrolled in a special force which will supersede the Civil Guard, whose reorganization was suggested earlier.

Gandhi Holds to His Course.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOMBAY, April 21.—Evidence is accumulating that Mahatma Gandhi's campaign of non-violent civil disobedience is passing more and more into the hands of his violent brethren. The Indian press is employing military terms in describing the events. War councils meet in the villages, Commanders-in-Chief issue orders, wounded soldiers (otherwise congress volunteers) are carried from the battles around the salt pans.

Accounts of these "battles," in which, for instance, it is recorded "a gallant volunteer sustained a severe wound on his thumb nail and also suffered an irreparable tear in his dhoti," would make amusing reading if it were not for the passions they are arousing. The rapidity with which the ordinance reviving the expiring sections of the Bengal criminal law followed the first news of the Chittagong outrage has given widespread satisfaction. It is accepted as proof, both by the enemies and by the friends of the government, that it is watching events closely from its far-away headquarters in Simla in the Himalayas and is ready to strike quickly.

Mr. Gandhi issued a characteristic statement tonight. He said there could be no suspension of the fight, however serious the situation became. "There can be no retiring," he said. "I observe the Viceroy answered the Chittagong disturbance with an exercise of extraordinary powers. That was only to be expected. So long as the British people are determined to impose their rule on an unwilling people, so long must they rule in reality without law.

"We in India easily delude ourselves that we have duly constituted Legislatures. Presently there will be no one remaining under any such delusions."

Mr. Gandhi ended with an appeal to his volunteers to fight a double battle against the violence of the government and the violence of those in India who "do not believe in non-violent methods."

Fail to Overtake Raiders.

CALCUTTA, April 21 (AP).—Government activities in the Indian situation today still centred on pursuit of the insurgent group which raided the police arsenal of Chittagong Saturday. Troops and auxiliaries are searching for the raiders, but as yet have not captured them. The following official report from the Police Inspector General for Bengal, who went to Chittagong after the raid, was made public today:

"April 20—Just returned from an eight-hour march in the hills north of Chittagong. Operations are extremely difficult on account of the hilly country and dense jungle, and we failed to get into touch with the insurgents, but obtained unmistakable evidence of their recent presence in the shape of paper coverings of police cartridges, badges, bandages, &c.

"We now believe all the gang to be in the hills and are resuming operations tomorrow morning. All information received confirms the original conclusion that the outrage was the work of a terrorist revolutionary party. The night passed quietly, and no information of the whereabouts of the gang has yet been received."

Reports from Bombay, Madras and Karachi indicated an atmosphere of tension pervaded those cities, but only in Karachi was any large-scale demonstration staged. It caused no trouble, several hundred women merely marching through the streets carrying pots of contraband salt on their heads.

The authorities today feared tension prevailing throughout Bengal Province portended serious developments. There were arrests of the civil disobedience campaign leaders all over the province as a preventive measure.

About 1,000 rifles, 20 revolvers and 55 muskets were missing from the police arsenal after the raid by the Indians, who are believed revolutionaries, but with their direct connection with the All-India National Congress and the civil disobedience campaign as yet unestablished.

Two Bank Employes Slain.

SIMLA, India, April 21 (AP).—Two European employes of the Imperial Bank of India, Dunsmore and Hutchinson by name, were shot dead by a native non-commissioned officer at an outpost near Khyber Pass.

A native soldier also was shot dead by the same man, who was promptly shot and killed by a guard. Medical examination showed that the man was suffering from meningitis.

Moslems Disavow Gandhi.

BOMBAY, April 21 (AP).—Strong denunciation of the Gandhi civil disobedience movement was made today by Baulvi Mohamed Yakub, Deputy President of the Legislative Assembly, speaking at the All-India Moslem conference.

He said the civil disobedience movement was intended to establish the domination of the majority over the minorities of India and that the Mahatma apparently had the idea that swaraj (independence) was obtainable without the cooperation of the Moslems.

"Under these circumstances," he declared, "we cannot consistently with our self respect join in or sympathize with the lawless movement, which recently came to birth in Bombay Presidency.

"The Indian Moslems are not behind any other community in their desire for freedom of their motherland, but they must be guaranteed adequate safeguards of their religious and political rights."

WILL REDUCE MARINES IN NICARAGUA BY HALF

Two Ships Will Take Almost 500—Gen. Williams at Balboa Sees Conditions Best Yet.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BALBOA, C. Z., April 21.—That conditions in Nicaragua are better now than at any time since the Marines landed there three years ago and constantly improving was the opinion expressed by Brigadier General Dion Williams, commanding the forces there, when he arrived here in the steamer Saramacca today from Corinto on leave.

"There have been a few outbreaks of bandits," he said, "but Nicaragua has always had trouble of that kind. We have 200 commissioned and non-commissioned Marine officers commanding and training the Nicaraguan national guard, and excellent progress is being made." General Williams believed more time might be required to complete the training of the Nicaraguan officers who will take command of the guard when the Marines are finally withdrawn. The reduction of the present Marine force is continuing, with 350 ready to sail from Corinto this month and the flagship Rochester of the special service squadron scheduled to take 112 more from the east coast when she sails for the United States next month. This will reduce the present force of 1,000 to about 500.

General Williams and his wife are the guests of Rear Admiral Campbell, commander of the special service squadron, and expect to sail for the United States. The general does not know whether he will return to Nicaragua.

SUPREME COURT ACTS TO HEAR RUSSIAN PLEA

Admits Appeal on War-Time Seizure of Ships—Plans to End Sittings Next Month.

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP).—In a brief session the Supreme Court today refused to pass upon twenty-five cases brought up for review, consented to take up four suits and handed down a number of orders, including its decree carrying into effect the decision in the Chicago lake diversion case.

The court consented to decide whether a Russian corporation has the right to sue the United States. An appeal was granted the Russian Volunteer Fleet Corporation of Petrograd (now Leningrad) to recover compensation for contracts for ships requisitioned by the United States in 1917. The Russian Corporation had contracts with the Standard Shipbuilding Corporation of New York. The Court of Claims dismissed the suit.

The Supreme Court also consented to entertain the appeals of the Vermont Loan and Trust Company and the New York World Life Insurance Company, both of Spokane, Wash., challenging the validity of an Idaho statute which taxes all corporations and other moneyed capital doing business in the State in competition with banks in substantially the same manner as States are permitted to tax the shares of national banks.

The court refused an appeal which sought to overthrow the contention of the Federal Government that treasury war certificates, after the death of the holder, can be cashed only by the beneficiaries named on the face of the certificates. The question arose in settling the estate of James V. Wiggins of Bexar County, Texas.

The court announced it would hear no oral arguments at this term after May 2; that it would recess from May 5 to May 19, and that no motions except for admission to the bar would be accepted after May 26.

ARGENTINE OIL BILL OPPOSED IN SENATE

Investigating Committee Favors National Ownership but Not Sale and Operation.

NEW MEASURE PROPOSED

President Irigoyen Had Asked for Passage as Adopted by Chamber Two Years Ago.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, April 21.—Members of the Senate's special petroleum committee who have just returned from visiting for several weeks government and private oil fields in the province of Salta indicate that the Senate will not pass a bill which has been before it for two years designed to nationalize all petroleum workings and give the central government a monopoly on the exploitation and production of petroleum and its products.

The Chamber of Deputies passed the bill two years ago. The last act of the Senate before the expiration of last year's regular session was a refusal to be stampeded into passing this measure, which had been warmly supported by President Irigoyen. The Senate appointed a special committee composed of one member of each standing committee to study the petroleum problem thoroughly and recommend legislation.

This is the committee that has just returned to Buenos Aires. Its members express themselves as favoring nationalization of petroleum lands but oppose national operation of the fields or expropriation of private fields or monopolization of sale.

President Irigoyen included the petroleum legislation in his call for a special session of Congress and has addressed two notes to the Senate urging it to expedite the passage of the measure exactly as passed by the Deputies. The project has been loudly and insistently supported by anti-American organizations which pretend to see in the American petroleum companies agents of American imperialism bent on gobbling up Argentina's natural resources.

The Senate committee expects to introduce a substitute measure next month, interviews of its members indicate. The new project would give the national government strict supervisory powers over foreign petroleum companies, but other features of the Chamber's bill would not be included.

The Senators who oppose national exploitation of the oil lands cite what they call the failure of the government administration of present Federal holdings. Whereas in the United States production increased 17 per cent in 1927, Venezuela's production increased 50 and Peru's 30 per cent, Argentine production increased only 9 per cent.

Argentina's petroleum administration estimated that it would produce 800,000,000 cubic meters of petroleum in 1925, but actually produced 600,000; it estimated 1,300,000 for 1926 and produced 700,000; it estimated 2,000,000 for 1927 and produced 800,000.

While the monopolization project offers an opportunity for active anti-American propaganda and the creation of considerable ill-feeling toward Americans, it does not appear to offer a serious threat to American holdings, because the Argentine Senate is composed of representatives of the provincial governments and every time a measure comes up for consideration it will be vigorously opposed by the provinces on the ground that it deprives them of their natural resources and of their inherent right to control the granting of concessions.

HEALING SERVICE STIRS THRONGS IN LONDON

Ailing From All Europe and the British Isles Are Roused to Frenzied Emotion.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 21.—London witnessed revival meetings today, attended by more than 10,000 persons, which would have done credit to an Aimee MacPherson or a Billy Sunday.

There was not room even in the vast auditorium of Albert Hall for all those eager to attend the "healing" services conducted by Principal George Jeffreys, founder and leader of the Four-Square Gospel Alliance, with which Aimee MacPherson is connected. Special trains and boats brought people from all over Europe, while the vicinity of Albert Hall was jammed with motor coaches which had conveyed hundreds from all parts of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

Cripples and other ailing persons, the lame, the halt and the blind, were wheeled or escorted into the hall by their families or friends. Their enthusiasm and fervor were unbounded when Principal Jeffreys asked those who had been healed at other services to stand up. Brandishing their hymn sheets, at least half the audience arose with loud cries of "Hallelujah!" which were drowned out by an outburst of singing and shouts of praise from the whole congregation.

Mr. Jeffreys then asked how many cripples had been healed through the services, and twenty-six stood up, followed by fourteen others, including a boy of 7, who testified he had been cured of blindness. Several said that they had been cured of sleeping sickness. The testimony of each was greeted with a chorus of "Hallelujahs!" while all joined in revival hymns, accompanied by an orchestra and organ.

Those who wished to be healed were asked by Principal Jeffreys to kneel, the men on one side and the women on the other. He then descended from the platform and laid his hands on the heads of the sick and ailing, which he anointed with oil, and prayed with them.

It was then that the greatest emotion was displayed. Bodies shook and heaved convulsively, moans were heard from all parts of the congreation and one woman was carried out in a dead faint. Many afterward testified that they had felt the touch of healing upon them. The enthusiasm was so great that many went straight out to join the already large waiting lines for later services.

Laborite Government's Action Astonishes English Football Circles.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—South Wales labor circles are astonished at the refusal of the MacDonald Government to grant visas to a Soviet football team, for whom games had been arranged by the British Workers' Sports Federation to be played in South Wales, Yorkshire, Tyneside and Glasgow.

Ovation to Baggiore in Rome.

ROME, April 21 (AP).—The Chicago tenor, Attilio Baggiore, received one of the greatest ovations ever accorded an American-born singer in Italy at yesterday's performance of "La Traviata" at the Rome Royal Opera. There were twenty curtain calls, four after each act.

NEW JERSEY NAMES SIX FOR PORT TUNNEL

Senate Confirms Appointments by Larson for Building Weehawken Tube.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., April 21.—The Senate confirmed in special session here tonight Governor Larson's nominations to the reorganized Port of New York Authority which is to supervise the construction of the proposed vehicular tunnel between Weehawken and Thirty-eighth Street. The Senate adjourned after approving the nominations.

The three men now representing New Jersey on the Port Authority were renamed. They are Schuyler N. Rice of New Brunswick, who is to serve until July, 1932; General William C. Heppenheimer of Jersey City, to serve until July, 1933, and Frank C. Ferguson of East Orange, to serve until July, 1936.

The three new members are Ira R. Crouse of Perth Amboy, to serve until July, 1931; George de Benneville Keim of Edgewater Park, to serve until July, 1935, and James Wright of Paterson, to serve until 1934. Mr. Wright is the only member of the Holland Tunnel Commission named to serve on the reorganized Port Authority. None of the appointees receives pay for service. Governor Roosevelt will recommend the New York members.

Five bills were passed by the 1930 Legislature here and by the New York Legislature, consolidating the Holland Tunnel Commission and the Port of New York Authority to bring the supervision of the proposed new vehicular tunnel under the control of a single unit. The bills also increased the membership of the Port Authority from six members to twelve, six representing each State. Before reorganization the total membership was six, three from each State.

The reorganized Port Authority will have complete control over the building of the new tunnel, which may cost from $60,000,000 to $100,000,000. Under proposed plans the tunnel, when completed, will connect the midtown New York end with the proposed tunnel to Queens, and on the New Jersey side of the river will probably bore through Bergen Hill to connect with the new State highways leading to central New Jersey.

ENVOY FLIES FROM CUBA.

Guggenheim on Way to Washington to Confer With State Department.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, April 21.—The United States Ambassador, Harry F. Guggenheim, left Havana this afternoon in a private plane en route to Washington to confer with the State Department. Lieutenant Melville, the aviation attaché of the United States Embassy, accompanied the Ambassador, taking turns at the controls. They expected to make the 261 miles to Jacksonville, Fla., today, stopping over night and taking off for Washington early Tuesday.

The Ambassador stated he will use the plane hereafter in making frequent trips to Washington and in inspection trips through Cuba.

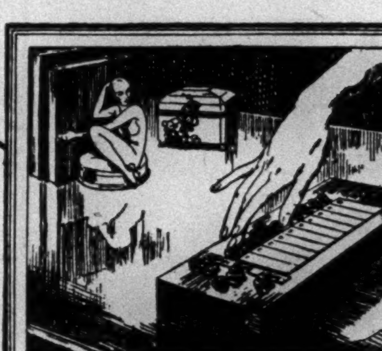
From a Comfortable Chair, Any Distance from Your Duo-Art Piano You May Control an Evening's Musical Program Without Going Near the Instrument

A handsome cabinet holds the recordings which the Duo-Art is playing. It may be placed in another room, or in some other part of the house if desired.



The control tablet may be moved about and placed in any convenient position in any room in the house.

SIMPLY TOUCH THE BUTTON beside the title of the selection you wish to hear, and magically the piano plays the music; or you may set it to play the whole program, and have it repeated as many times as you wish ...without going near the piano...without moving from your chair!...Paderewski, Hofmann, Bauer...sparkling dance tunes...the latest songs...any combination of music you desire... Your Duo-Art Piano may be in the next room, yet you produce and control your musical program with the Concertola Control Tablet near you. Should any one choose to play the piano in between the numbers of your selected program, they will find its action perfect, for the Duo-Art has always been, first of all, a delightful piano for hand playing.

EVERYONE WHO ENTERTAINS WITH MUSIC WILL BE INTERESTED IN THE DUO-ART CONCERTOLA. Nothing can take the place of piano music played in your own home, on your own piano, by the world's greatest pianists. The music lover will never be satisfied with piano music that is even slightly distorted through transmission. The Duo-Art has no rival in its perfect reproduction of the playing of famous pianists. To hear them on the Duo-Art is to hear them as they play in public, at their best. Those who prefer selected music for their own enjoyment, and carefully chosen programs for their guests—who want to hear the music they like when they want it—should see the Duo-Art with the new Concertola.

The Last Word in Reproducing Pianos

With the Duo-Art, as always, comes the best traditions—the latest developments—and the future possibilities of the Reproducing Piano. It is backed by an organization that has not only been a pioneer in this field, but is today the recognized leader. The owner of a Duo-Art is assured of being at all times in close touch with every advancement that comes along these lines.

JEWS FILE PROTEST ON AWARDS IN RIOTS

Palestine Government Pays $57 to Hebron Family Claiming $15,000 for Loss of Home.

REFUSE TO SIGN WAIVERS

Claimants Say Sums Offered Reflect "Shameful Treatment"—Funds Insufficient.

By JOSEPH M. LEVY.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

JERUSALEM, April 21.—"This meeting strongly protests against the shameful attitude of the Palestine Government toward the riot victims" was the resolution adopted by hundreds of Jews meeting last night at Safed to discuss the government's compensation payments to the Jewish sufferers in the disturbances last August. Amid stormy scenes of protest, the leading speakers declared the authorities had paid the riot victims only 35 per cent of the government's assessment of damages on an evaluation already representing a considerable reduction of the original claims. In most cases the government paid less than the 5 per cent minimum on claims which the sufferers made, and in some cases paid as little as 1 per cent.

The refugees at Hebron, where the Jews suffered most with sixty-four killed within the course of two hours, including eight American-Jewish youths, received the smallest payments. The Rabbi Hasson family, which is the wealthiest in Hebron, demanded $15,000 for their house, which was destroyed, and for jewelry, valuables and furniture of which they were robbed. They received $57. The Hebron Jewish community, claiming $10,000 for the destruction of the synagogue, the communal offices and the Jewish shelter, received $270.

Another Hebron Jew submitted a minimum claim of $500 for a burned house and received a check for $3.75. A woman whose baby was killed in her arms and who was herself stabbed received $50. A Jewish doctor who fled from Hebron, leaving a valuable clinical outfit, besides his own furniture and clothes, claimed $2,000 and received $300. This doctor told your correspondent: "I asked as little as possible, because I knew the government would try to reduce the claim to a minimum. When I claimed the value of a gold watch which was stolen, a government official told me, "You mustn't exaggerate like that, because Palestine doctors are too poor to own gold watches.'"

In order to obtain the government's compensation, the sufferers must sign a document to the effect that they are satisfied with the amount awarded, definitely waiving all further claim against the government. Also, if the government discovers any looted property, this is to be returned and the owners must refund its value from the compensation received.

The Jewish sufferers are as bitter against the Jewish national institutions as against the government, asserting the Jewish official bodies ought to have taken more effective measures to induce the government to meet their claims reasonably.

The latest government action has destroyed the last hope of the Jewish victims of ever obtaining adequate compensation for their losses, the majority remaining, as a result of the riots, in a state of almost complete destitution and despairing of ever re-establishing themselves because even the Palestine relief fund, to which the Jews of America and England contributed more than $200,000,000, is hardly sufficient to compensate them.

CLERKS ON TRIAL THURSDAY

Three County Workers Alleged to Have Appropriated Fees.

Three clerks in the county clerk's office will be placed on trial before Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions next Thursday on forgery indictments growing out of alleged shortages of $25,000 to $100,000. The alleged thefts were said to extend back several years, and the money was received, it was charged, in payment of minor fees in the filing papers.

District Attorney Crain said he had assigned Assistant District Attorney Richard H. Gibbs to prosecute the defendants, who are Alexander F. Doyle, 36 years old, of 354 East Nineteenth Street; George F. Planson, 39, of 560 West 151st Street, and Arthur F. Callanan, 31, of 1,972 Cedar Avenue, the Bronx. All have pleaded not guilty.

A memorial window to Mary Shaw, actress and feminist leader, who died on May 18, 1929, will be unveiled at the vesper services on Sunday afternoon at the Little Church Around the Corner, 1 East Twenty-ninth Street. The memorial is the gift of the Gamut Club, a professional women's organization founded by Miss Shaw.

Edwin Milton Royle, Acting Shepherd of The Lambs, will deliver the dedication address. The Rev. Dr. Randolph Ray, rector, will officiate at the services. The memorial will be unveiled at 4 o'clock by Mrs. Adelaide Shaw-Shaw of Boston, a sister of the actress.

PUBLIX THEATRE DEAL.

New York Concern Gets Half Interest in 35 New England Houses.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 21.—Advices from New York that papers have been signed organizing the Publix-Netoco Theatre Corporation to take over the New England Theatres Operating Corporation's chain of thirty-five or forty motion picture theatres were confirmed here today. The deal involves several million dollars.

By the agreement Publix acquires a half interest in the new corporation and Netoco retains a half. Samuel Pinansky, president of Netoco, who is in New York, and Jacob Lourie, Netoco treasurer and general manager, are expected to join the Publix-Netoco staff, thus assuring practically the same management of the New England theatres.

ISABEL VERNON ILL.

Her Role in "Uncle Vanya" Hurriedly Taken by Nedda Harrigan.

Nedda Harrigan, wife of Walter Connolly, who is appearing in the title rôle of "Uncle Vanya" at the Cort Theatre, substituted for Isabel Vernon in the cast of that play on short notice yesterday afternoon when Miss Vernon suddenly became ill. The curtain was held for several minutes until Miss Harrigan arrived at the theatre for the matinee. Information concerning Miss Vernon's condition was refused last night at her apartment in the Hotel Langwell.

PRINCE OF WALES OFF ON SEA VOYAGE HOME

Sails for Marseilles From Port Said—New Country House Being Prepared for Him.

PORT SAID, Egypt, April 21 (AP).—The Prince of Wales sailed for Marseilles at midnight aboard the steamer Rawalpindi. He arrived earlier in the evening from Cairo, which had marked the end of his air journey from Khartum and his trip up the eastern coast of Africa from Cape Town.

Despite the lateness of the hour the liner's deck was crowded with passengers anxious to get a glimpse of the royal hunter, who is going back to England after about a four months' absence.

LONDON, April 21 (AP).—An open air swimming pool is one of the many features of the Prince of Wales's new country residence, Fort Belvedere, at Sunningdale, which is now being put in readiness for his return from Africa.

In the centre of the house is an old guard-room built by the Duke of Cumberland in 1745. This has been converted into a lounge hall. Other rooms, including the Prince's bedroom, open directly upon this hall.

Garage accommodation has been provided and special chauffeurs' quarters have been fitted up. Bungalows are being erected for the household servants.

In one respect Fort Belvedere will be the most up-to-date house in England, for from the front door a private road is being built to the private royal airdrome at Smith's Lawn, Windsor Great Park.

British Gunboat Beached in Yangtse

SHANGHAI, April 21 (AP).—The British river gunboat Peterel struck a rock and has been beached in the Yangtse, near Changshow, while en route from Ichang to Chungking. Two members of the British Consular Service who were aboard were transferred to a steamer and continued to their destination.

CONFEREES ACCEPT EASING OF BOOK BAN

DROP CONSUMERS' COUNSEL

Speeding Administrative Clauses, Committee May Be Ready to Report by End of Week.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21. — The Senate tariff bill amendment for appeal to the Federal courts instead of customs officers as to whether imported books and pictures are of a seditious or obscene character, and hence banned by law, was agreed to today by the conference committee.

The conferees rejected another Senate provision for a consumers' counsel with power to initiate and participate in actions before the Tariff Commission for rate changes. A score of other admistrative provisions on which the Senate and House disagreed were also adjusted.

The Senate's debenture and legislative flexible tariff amendments were passed over, with the explanation that formal disagreements would be reported and the Senate and House asked to give instructions as to their respective wishes on these two propositions.

One hundred and forty-one amendments were in dispute in the administrative section of the bill. Such progress was made, however, that committee members indicated that the report might be ready by the end of the week or the beginning of next week.

Action on Obscene Books Clause.

As the bill passed the House it provided that seditious or obscene Literature should be barred by customs officers, who were clothed with powers of censorship. The Senate amendment provided that forfeiture, confiscation and destruction of books or other matter challenged should be determined by the Federal court in the district where such matter was seized.

The amendment as approved by the conferees provides that, despite the prohibitions, the Secretary of the Treasury may admit "the so-called classics or books of recognized and established literary or scientific merit," when such literature is imported for non-commercial purposes. Any government official found guilty of knowingly aiding or abetting the importation of banned material may be punished under the bill by imprisonment at hard labor for not more than ten years, or by fine of not more than $5,000, or both.

Agreement was reached on Section 340 of the bill, as passed by the Senate, authorizing the Tariff Commission to ascertain rates based upon domestic valuation which would impose the same rates of duty named in the bill which are based upon foreign value. The commission is directed to make a report upon this conversion of rates not later than Jan. 1, 1932, as a guide to Congress in deciding whether it shall substitute domestic values for foreign values in the appraisment of imports.

The House group accepted a Senate amendment imposing penalties for interference with the work of the Tariff Commission or efforts to influence the commission or its officers or employes.

The Senate amendment empowering the Tariff Commission to collect statistics on the relative cost of crude petroleum from Venezuela and from American fields to refiners on the Atlantic Coast was agreed to.

Another Senate revision, providing exemption from "country of origin" label requirements when such marking is not feasible, was approved.

A Senate amendment authorizing the Porto Rican Legislature to levy tariff duties upon coffee imported into the island, including coffee grown in a foreign country entering Porto Rico from the United States, was adopted with minor modifications.

The conferees accepted a Senate amendment providing that thirty days, instead of five days, as proposed by the House, shall be allowed for refund of duties on imports not conforming to sample and exported on that account. The Senate group accepted a House amendment which makes the decision of the President conclusive in the matter of an import barred from entry.

A Senate amendment adopted would permit the free importation under bond of articles imported by photographers and illustrators for use as models in their own establishments. Amendments relating to imported goods made by convicts and indentured labor were passed over.

Section 320, embodying regulations as proposed by the Senate with respect to reciprocal agreements with foreign countries regarding advertising matter was adopted.

The House conferees accepted a Senate amendment providing that shipowners shall compensate customs employes assigned to duty at night, on Sundays or holidays in connection with the clearance or entering of vessels. The Senate members agreed to the delegation of an amendment providing that the government shall bear expenses of inspection of goods in freight cars brought in from a foreign country. The conferees adopted a Senate amendment exempting from duty repairs to vessels made abroad.

Harrison Assails Counsel Action.

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP).—The action of the Senate conferees in allowing the consumers' counsel amendment to be stricken from the bill brought a protest from Senator Harrison of Mississippi, one of the Democratic conferees.

"The Senate conferees today dealt a death blow to the consumers," the Mississippian said, "when the only provision in the whole bill mentioning the word consumer and holding out the slightest hope to him was stricken out."

The amendment, of which Senator George of Georgia was sponsor, provided a $10,000 salary for the consumers' counsel.

Miss Hurst Aids Pacifists.

Miss Fannie Hurst, novelist, added her endorsement yesterday to an already long list of men and women who have approved the Griffin bill, which would admit to this country aliens who have conscientious scruples against taking part in war, it was announced yesterday by the Griffin Bill Committee, 112 East Nineteenth Street.

WALKER VETOES BILL RAISING TAXI FARE

and improve better working conditions for drivers, Mayor Walker declared he did not believe it represented the best method to attain the desired results.

"My sympathies are with the taxicab driver; my desire is for improvement in service," he declared, "but my chief concern must be with the public that pays the fare."

Walker's Veto Message.

The veto message read as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Aldermen, City Hall, New York City.

Sirs:

The subject matter of this ordinance, transmitted to the Mayor by the Board of Aldermen on the eleventh of this month, has long been a matter of deep concern to him because of its necessary importance as a part of our transportation system.

The serious nature of the problem to the people of the city of New York is conclusively demonstrated. The city of New York since the inception of the taxicab has offered a field of free and unlimited competition until the taxicab business has grown into a great public utility with 29,000 taxicabs upon our streets, to which the people pay $450,000 a day for transportation.

Unfortunately, this vast industry is conducted today without system, coordination or standardization. This ordinance was passed by the Board of Aldermen upon the request of the Police Department and citizens after public hearings, in an earnest effort to improve these conditions.

The Police Department submitted that with the adoption of this ordinance there would be in its opinion a decrease in accidents involving taxicabs, a higher standard of service to the public, improved working conditions for the drivers and a relief to the present burdensome traffic congestion.

I appreciate and sympathize with these motives, but I cannot agree that this is the best method of accomplishing those results. My sympathies are with the taxicab driver, my desire is for improvement in service, but my chief concern must be with the public that pays the fare.

An Economic Problem.

This, after all, is an economic problem and must be settled by economic processes. New York City should have the best in service; its people and its conditions demand it. However, as long as the operation of taxicabs is on a competitive basis and the public can fairly get the benefit of a lower fare I recognize no power in the City Government, and certainly no disposition on the part of the Mayor, to deprive them of it.

While I cannot approve this ordinance, I am not in disagreement with the general purposes of the Board of Aldermen to improve transportation conditions.

In my opinion the complexity of the issues involved and the necessity for a durable and scientific solution of the problem demand a further and comprehensive study.

I am therefore appointing a committee of five citizens, who will give the benefit of their knowledge and experience in a survey of the entire situation, which I am confident will result in scientific and beneficial recommendations for the alleviation of the difficulties which we all must recognize.

On that committee I have the pleasure of announcing Mr. Frank P. Walsh, who served as chairman of the United States Commission on Industrial Relations during its existence and as joint chairman with ex-President Taft of the War Labor Board, and member of the State Commission to Revise the Public Utility Laws of the State of New York by appointment of the Governor; Daniel L. Reardon, executive vice president of the United States Trucking Corporation; an engineer, to be suggested by Day & Zimmerman, Inc., who recently completed a comprehensive traffic survey of the city; a member to be named by the Merchants Association of the City of New York and another to be named by the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York.

I, therefore, disapprove the ordinance. Respectfully,

JAMES J. WALKER,
Mayor.

Walker-Whalen Rift Seen.

In certain quarters the veto was viewed as confirmation of the current report that there was a growing rift between Mayor Walker and his popular and aggressive Police Commissioner. It was noted that the veto message described the ordinance as one passed by the Board of Aldermen "at the request of the Police Department and citizens," and then turned the measure down in the face of Mr. Whalen's urgent recommendation that it be passed. Mr. Whalen appeared before the Board of Aldermen's committee on public welfare, when the ordinance was up for hearing, and urged its passage, forcibly and at considerable length.

The veto and the appointment of a survey commission was regarded in other quarters as preliminary to another drive to establish a system of franchises for taxicab operation. Mayor Walker declared yesterday that the commission would receive an absolutely free hand and would be left to make its own findings regardless of his personal views on the taxicab franchise issue. He said, however, that he still believed that franchise control would be a valuable means of regulation, bringing $10,000,000 a year into the city's treasury for the use of its streets. Mayor Walker advanced the franchise idea at a Board of Estimate meeting on Jan. 7. In March a taxicab franchise bill was introduced at Albany, but died in committee.

The ordinance vetoed by Mayor Walker yesterday was introduced in the Board of Aldermen by Mr. Mahon on Feb. 18. Before that date the regulation of taxicab rates and conditions of operation had been subjected to survey by the citizens' street traffic committee of the New York Board of Trade, and Mr. Whalen had held a public hearing on the application of independent taxicab operators for a flat fifteen-cent-a-mile rate. Introduction of the ordinance drew from leaders of independent groups the charge that Tammany Hall was attempting to pay political obligations by favoring large manufacturers of taxicabs and the operators of large cab fleets.

On April 8, after two protracted and turbulent hearings, the Board of Aldermen passed the measure by a vote of 51 to 4, Aldermanic President Joseph V. McKee voting against the measure with the three Republican members of the board. Six Democratic Aldermen joined the Republicans in a vain effort to eliminate the provision increasing the rate for waiting time.

"A Wise Move," Says Donella.

Michael J. Donella, vice president of the Amalgamated Taxi Association, representing 1,800 independent operators who bitterly opposed the ordinance, declared last night that he considered the veto "a wise move." He declared that any impartial investigation of the industry would sustain the many charges made by the independents against the manufacturers and fleet operators. The manufacturers and large operators, although admittedly disappointed at Mayor Walker's decision, were likewise confident that an investigation would uphold their contention that a lower rate would be disastrous for the industry.

Mr. Whalen's refusal to license a properly qualified cab with a flat fifteen-cent-a-mile meter, in the case of Eugene Piantoni, an Amalgamated member, is now before the State courts on appeal. Supreme Court Justice Ford ruled recently that Mr. Whalen has no power to bar low-rate cabs. With the ordinance out of the way, it is expected that another move will be promptly made to get a low-rate cab onto the city streets.

FINDS BIG INDUSTRIES VIRTUALLY BAR ALIENS

Director of Citizenship League Says Only 5 Per Cent of Jobs Are Available to Them.

A survey of 2,000,000 positions inquired about regarding employment needs of the larger industries in the United States by the National League for American Citizenship has revealed that only 100,000 are available to aliens, it was said yesterday at a luncheon of the directors of that organization at the City Club, 55 West Forty-fourth Street.

Harold Fields, executive director of the league, explained the survey briefly. Of the jobs for which aliens would be accepted, he said, only a small percentage were for work which required skill. "With the exception to some extent of New York City, aliens are barred from getting jobs, and the jobs they do get are only those which require no skill or intelligence," he declared. "The result of this is a vicious cycle which makes it impossible for them to earn enough money to become citizens."

Reviewing the league's activities during the past six months, the director said naturalization has fallen off considerably. This was due, he said, to the recent increase for first and second naturalization papers from the previous fee of $5 to between $20 and $35.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith has accepted membership on the advisory board of the league, it was announced. So that the general public might know the scope of its work, it was decided to include the word national in the title of the league. Nathaniel Phillips was chairman.

IF this headline could be read into a report of assets and liabilities, many an office in Gotham would change its appearance over night! For today there are thousands of executive offices in which the furniture is a liability to the career of the men and of the businesses it serves.

The value of a modern office is based on three factors. Efficiency, of course. Comfort, too. And, third, beauty—an item of rapidly growing importance. For good taste has proved a definite asset to business.

Flint & Horner are specialists in the designing and executing of the newer offices. They are responsible for a large number of the modern suites that you see about town.

The entire eighth floor of their great shop is dedicated to a series of model offices where you may see the individual effect of various periods of fine furniture. They employ a staff of experts competent to advise you on all problems of office arrangement and decoration.

The office shown above is that of Mr. George S. Johnston, Sales Manager of the Champion Coated Paper Co., New York. Furniture by Flint & Horner.

Whether you are interested in selecting a single chair or planning an entire office suite Flint & Horner will be glad to assist you. If you wish, they will prepare sketches and specifications upon any particular problem of office arrangement or decoration. For this service there is absolutely no obligation on your part. Yes, But How About Labor Itself–On Wheels?

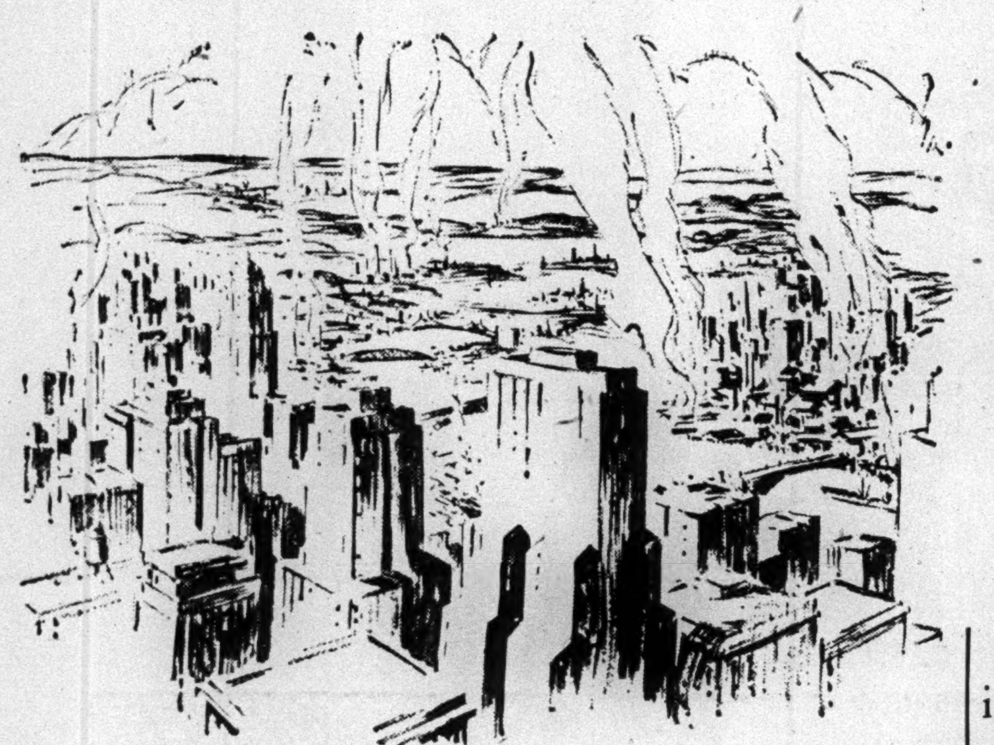
IN the last page we showed what had happened to the factory as the result of labor taking to wheels. Labor on wheels had moved away from the factory. And the very architecture of the factory itself had changed. All of the protective mechanism had gone, because labor no longer lived in hovels close to the factory and threatened the property within.



Now we take up what has happened to labor itself as the result of the literally millions of automobiles it has acquired.

Economically, of course, the answer is very simple.

Labor on wheels is now helping to solve the greatest problem that labor has, which is the problem of unemployment. A problem which no manufacturer had any possible means of solving for it.

Today when a wage earner gets out of a job, he jumps into his car and drives ten, twenty, thirty miles away, scouring the factories of the surrounding territory for another job. And, since all industries are neither down nor up in production at the same time, he usually gets it.

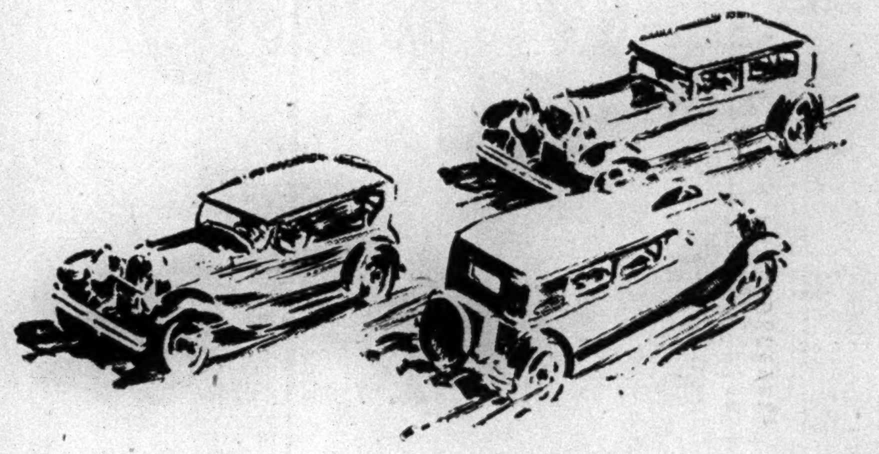
Labor, now mobile and fluid, and moving about under its own power, no longer stands sullenly in the yard of a shut-down factory waiting to see what is going to happen. The moment a man is out of a job, he is up and away and after another job. And the Lord usually helps those who help themselves.

* * * *

Sociologically, however, the case is somewhat different. And not quite so easy of classification or solution.

But here we can resort again to our case histories. And at least we can get some semblance of analysis out of them.

When we take these case histories that come from the field together with the personal letters that pour into True Story Magazine, and parallel them with the stories themselves, we find one situation that presents itself with the regularity of clockwork. And that situation is the "breakdown" of distance, due to the automobile, and what this is doing to the whole social set-up of wage-earning America.



The wage earner not only goes to and from work in his automobile, but with his greater leisure of shorter hours and half-Saturdays off and summer Sundays he is up and away again and again on distances of hundreds of miles.

* * * *

Now, distances do strange things to people. To begin with, they break down fear. We are no longer afraid of that which we have seen and with which we have had contact. A road once traveled is familiar. A city once seen is friendly. People in Detroit look about the same as they do in Canton, Ohio. Their houses look the same. And they have the same kind of automobiles.

"Yes," you say, "but that's delightful. That's living at a higher speed, a greater intensity. That man is getting more life to the minute now than he got in a month before."

* * * *

All true; but it doesn't lessen the problem.

And the problem is that with the breakdown of distance invariably there comes a tug at the old order of the home.

It isn't so bad with the older folks in relation to themselves. But for the older ones in relation to the children it is devastating. The boy growing up in Albany now gets married and gets a job in New York because he has been to New York. The girl from Peoria likes Chicago. She has been there and she probably will marry a Chicago boy. The exodus is no longer merely for those who are brave of spirit but descends now to those who are merely familiar with the road. The parents shake their heads and try to hold on to the old order of things. But they themselves have been touched with the power of motor-power. And the breakdown of the fear of distances has come with their own travels.

So they themselves "pull up stakes" and move to join the boy or girl.

* * * *

And once again, new problems are involved. For the wife of that man, who used to run out of her house and say, "Hello, Mrs. Brown – Hello, Mrs. Smith. Is Willie all right again? My! but Mollie's looking pretty!" . . . now finds herself in a three or four-room flat without knowing even the people next door, to say nothing of any of the families on the street.

And so the wheels have created wheels within wheels, problems without end.

* * * *

Do you wonder that these people turn to True Story Magazine for parallels of their own experiences? For similar problems for which some solution has been found? For some yardstick to measure by in this changing order of a world that is never at rest?

And above all, do you wonder that there is the constant effort to re-affirm the virtue of the old order of things while all of this new order is getting under way?

* * * *

Here at True Story we seem to be at the receiving end of all of this material. We have not tried to be the self-constituted spokesman for the wage-earning class. But every story in True Story Magazine that strikes home on one of these fundamental problems, brings in its wake a mass of personal letters that cannot be ignored. And always the refrain of these letters is the same: "How can we hold fast to the tenets of the past while the wheels of our new progress are running so easily?"

GOVERNOR VETOES 16 ACCEPTS 32 BILLS

Four Labor Measures Are Approved as Is Option for Metropolitan Hospital Site.

REJECTS GARNISHEE CHANGE

Executive Signs Bill for Holding a Referendum on Sunday Movies in Peekskill.

By W. A. WARN.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 21.—In an effort to clear his desk by the end of the week of all thirty-day bills, Governor Roosevelt today approved thirty-two and vetoed sixteen. Two of those rejected were advocated by the New York Republican County Committee and the Citizens Union, and would have provided for changes in the election law which Tammany opposed.

One, which would have applied only to New York City, would have taken the custody of the registration books from the election inspectors during registration and between registration and election and placed it with the police.

The other would have provided that any candidate, as a matter of right, should be entitled to an examination of the ballots of voting machines upon which his name appeared.

While approving the Hewitt bill providing $25,000 for obtaining options on a site for a new hospital in the metropolitan area, the Governor vetoed the Hickey bill, which would have created a temporary commission with an appropriation of $25,000 to select a site for a new State hospital for mental defectives in the western part of the State. The Governor stated he had been advised by the Department of Mental Hygiene that there was no urgent need at present for such an institution in Western New York.

Four Labor Bills Approved.

Among labor bills approved by the Governor were those designed to give workers in the demolition of buildings the same safeguards provided for those constructing buildings, that the minimum payments under the workmen's compensation law for the loss of both eyes shall be $15 a week; that window cleaners must be equipped with safety belts and that seats be provided for operators of passenger elevators.

Under the Kirkland bill, also approved by the Governor, courts of Special Sessions are empowered to accept pleas of guilty and pronounce sentences in such cases on Sunday. The Westall bill, authorizing the Westchester Board of Supervisors to create the office of commissioner of budgets and accounts, was accepted, as was the measure authorizing the trustees of the village of Peekskill to submit a referendum to the voters on Sunday movies.

Among the bills rejected by the Governor was one which would have prohibited charging tolls on the approaches to the Bear Mountain Bridge. Saying that authorization for a Catskill-Hudson bridge raised the question as to whether or not it would be advisable for the State to create a bridge authority to operate all bridges over the Hudson River north of New York City, with tolls and charges for the use of the bridges maintained on an equal scale, the Governor stated this policy would involve the purchase of the Bear Mountain Bridge under the existing statute. For that reason, he did not believe any changes should be made until the whole matter was presented to the next Legislature.

A veto met the Cornaire bill, which would have limited the right of garnishee to judgments recovered only for necessaries or wages; increased the minimum amount of income to be garnished from $12 to $18 and provided for personal notice of garnishee applications to the judgment debtor.

Sees Injustice to Wage Earners.

"The bill will prevent banks and other legitimate organizations from lending money to wage earners at legitimate rates of interest," the Governor declared, "and will drive small borrowers to usurers. It will greatly increase litigation because of the necessity of proving or disproving the fact that certain purchases were of necessaries before proceedings to garnishee can be taken. It will make the poor man, who is compelled to buy necessaries on credit, subject to the statute, whereas the very wealthy man, on a salary, who can afford to pay cash for his necessaries, will not be subject to garnishee proceedings for the purchases he makes on credit or the money he borrows."

He vetoed the Wallace bill, which would have paved the way for reducing the size of villages in Nassau County, and a measure amending the education law by making the admission of children between 4 and 6 years of age to kindergartens permissive rather than mandatory.

Acquisition by the State of land in Sackett's Harbor, where a battle between the English and American forces was fought in 1813, the Governor deemed needless, saying it was being cared for by the local historical society.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 21 (AP).—Governor Roosevelt today announced his veto of a bill designed to permit designation of banks or trust companies as depositaries of school district funds, although school trustees might be stockholders or officers of the financial institution.

The bill of Assemblyman Bentley requiring the use of humane game traps has been signed by Governor Roosevelt. The new law will prohibit the use of traps of the leg-gripping type having teeth in the jaws or a spread of jaws greater than six inches.

M'ADOO REPRIMANDS POLICE IN AUTO CASE

Issues Subpoena for Officer Not in Court for Trial of Driver in Accident.

The Easter holidays produced a police harvest of ten alleged drunken drivers in Traffic Court, at 301 Mott Street, yesterday. Nine of the cases were adjourned and the tenth was heard by Chief Magistrate McAdoo, who reprimanded the police for what he termed "gross negligence" in handling the case.

George Riley, 31 years old, of 1 East 134th Street, a Negro truck driver, was accused by Mrs. Georgetta Schwartz and the Misses Anne and Frieda Goldman, sisters, of 165 East 113th Street. The women charged that Riley, while intoxicated, hit them with his touring car while they were waiting for a street car at Lexington Avenue and 116th Street on Friday night.

Riley pleaded not guilty. He asserted he had not been drinking and said the sisters ran in front of his car, which he stopped. One of them, he said, slipped and fell against the fender. Miss Anne Goldman was injured in the foot and treated at Beth David Hospital.

Riley asserted that the police lieutenant at the East 126th Street station had admitted Riley was not intoxicated. Chief Magistrate McAdoo called for the lieutenant's testimony but the officer was not in court.

The chief magistrate issued a subpoena for Sergeant Horrigan, acting lieutenant at the station, to be present at 2 P. M. today, to which time he adjourned the case. The magistrate reduced Riley's bail from $1,000 to $500.

After the case was adjourned the sisters said they would be satisfied if the driver received a suspended sentence.

WESTCHESTER ACTS ON SEWER PROGRAM

Early Building of System to Cost $9,900,000 Is Assured to County.

WILL SERVE WIDE AREA

Plan Will Aid Home Owners From Yonkers to Pleasantville and Cut Hudson Pollution.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 21.—An early start on the work of constructing three sewer systems and a sterilization plant to cost $9,900,000 which will relieve the Hudson River at Yonkers of much sewage pollution and provide sanitary facilities to thousands of home owners from Yonkers to Pleasantville, was assured today when the Board of Supervisors referred to the Committee on Budget and Appropriations the sanitary sewer districts planned by the Westchester Sanitary Commission in connection with the construction of the Saw Mill River Valley, North Yonkers, and Central Yonkers projects. This action ended a controversy of nearly two years.

Indications are that the committee will report favorably to the board next Monday.

Representatives from the chambers of commerce of municipalities which will benefit by the projects were present at the board's meeting.

The estimated cost of the Saw Mill River trunk line sewer is $6,200,000. This sewer will drain the Saw Mill River Valley from New Castle to Yonkers. In addition to serving Pleasantville, Elmsford and Ardsley, it will benefit the easterly slopes of Hudson River villages, such as Irvington, Tarrytown and Hastings. It will drain an area of approximately twenty-seven square miles, having an assessed valuation of $92,000,000 and an estimated population of 60,000 in 1928.

The North Yonkers project will cost about $2,400,000, according to estimates. It includes a drainage area of four square miles with an assessed valuation of about $83,000,000 and a population of about 19,000.

The Central Yonkers project is estimated to cost $1,300,000. It will consist of a sterilization plant serving both Saw Mill and North Yonkers trunk lines.

It was over the location of this sterilization plant that the most recent controversy on the sewer question was based. It had been practically decided that the plant would be built at Trevor Point in Yonkers. Taxpayers in the Trevor Park residential section objected and within the past few weeks a compromise location at Saunder's Dock was agreed upon. The effecting of this agreement made possible the introduction of the sewer measures today.

It is expected that an appropriation of $750,000 for the construction of the upper Bronx Valley sewer will be made also by the board next Monday. This sewer project has already been authorized and the district approved.

The board authorized the issuance of $19,775,000 in county bonds, taking up an accumulation of certificates of indebtedness which become due June 5. It is expected the bonds will be offered for sale early next month.

GRAND JURY TO HEAR CANFIELD TOMORROW

Former Dry Chief Tells Tuttle He Will Waive Immunity in Beer Permit Bribe Inquiry.

Palmer Canfield, legal supervisor of the prohibition bureau for the Northeastern States, appeared before United States Attorney Tuttle yesterday after denying that he attended a conference in the Hotel Roosevelt with three brewery promoters Dec. 16, 1928, when $10,000 or $20,000 is alleged to have disappeared from a table, volunteered to waive immunity and appear tomorrow before a Federal grand jury.

The grand jury will investigate the story of this conference told last week by Joseph F. Walsh, a Republican leader of Newburgh, in the trial of twenty officials and employes of the Columbia County Cereal Beverage Company of Hudson, N. Y. Walsh pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy and violation of the prohibition law.

Mr. Canfield told Mr. Tuttle that he would answer all questions after the grand jury hears Walsh's further testimony in the afternoon. He also volunteered to hold himself in readiness for questioning at any future date. Mr. Canfield, who insisted that he had not been suspended from the prohibition unit, but had merely obtained a leave of absence to "clear up this case," said that he had sought to apply to the court in the brewery case for an opportunity to testify, but had learned that the case could not be reopened.

"Prohibition is a success"

We honest drinkers must stick together!

A LOT OF PEOPLE we wouldn't care to know socially are trying to make life a burden for honest folk the country over.

We don't care to drink with them, play bridge with them, or have them in our foursomes; yet they insist on peeking through our keyholes, censoring our morals and snatching the cocktail from our very lips.

They want us to be content with a dry loaf without the traditional jug of wine beneath the bough.

What would Omar say to that?

Corey Ford, no relative of Henry's, has a lot to say in the May issue of Vanity Fair, out today

In his article, Mr. Ford calls a spade a spade and openly accuses these people of corrupting public morals and driving the flower of our youth to the "speakeasy."

While expressing no interest in the private lives of Senators Brookhart, Borah or Jones, he states that these gentlemen together with Messrs. F. Scott McBride, Clarence True Wilson and Andrew Volstead are trying to make life as doleful as possible merely because they prefer Moxie to Amontillado.

He points to the Anti-Saloon League, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, The Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals and the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement as clubbing together against our common weal.

Corey Ford does not object to their sewing circles or their harmless little dry debates, but when they start shooting up honest bootleggers, he says it's time to call a halt.

For all such people as are not "joiners" by nature and to whom wearing badges is simply bad taste, Corey Ford is forming a new kind of club that asks no initiation fee and has no button.

You must read about the whole amazing idea in the May issue of Vanity Fair, now on the news-stands.

If you appreciate the difference between a speakeasy Martini and the real article; if twenty-five dollars the quart for carbonated cider at a night club seems a trifle steep, when you can buy Pommery for a hundred francs at Ciro's; if you prefer Pilsner at the Adlon to "needle beer" at the Dutchman's—put down your highball and rush out for a copy of Vanity Fair for May. It has a kick in it. Or, better still, pin a dollar bill to the coupon on the right and get the May issue and the next four issues mailed right to your home.

Six men with six problems came to us

One was beginning his business life . . . one completing it . . . one was active . . . one retired . . . one had a will to make . . . one was starting a new corporation. Each of the six had his own specific financial problem. Read how America's oldest Trust Company, through 6 distinct types of Trust Service, solved each of their widely differing problems . . . Read how it is solving similar financial problems for people in every walk of life.

THE world moves fast . . . governments rise and fall . . . stocks jump and slump . . . huge mergers are consummated overnight.

How can a busy man follow these changes . . . how can he realize their financial significance . . . how can he make money . . . and manage it, too?

Most men can't.

That is why . . . though many fortunes are made . . . few are kept.

In the turmoil of modern life, individuals . . . families . . . corporations . . . need expert and constant financial guidance.

That is a service which City Bank Farmers Trust Company has successfully rendered to many of the country's largest estates, many of its most notable fortunes, for over a hundred years.

This same skilled financial guidance is available to all. Through six distinct types of service we are able to offer you the help you may need.

From the day you save your first $5,000 . . . this Trust Company can offer you the financial guidance you need . . . can help you safeguard your capital . . . help you manage it wisely.

Your own financial problems, your own responsibilities, undoubtedly closely parallel one of the six cases given on the opposite page. Why not come in and discuss the subject freely. There is, of course, no obligation of any kind on your part.

Which of these Six Trust Services do you need?

1 UNIFORM TRUSTS

He'd saved his first $5,000

YOUNG, alert, ambitious he came to us.

He had saved his first $5,000. He realized that, financially, it was a critical place in his life, a turning point.

He was too sensible to risk his savings in speculation. Yet he wanted to place his money somewhere where it would give him a fair return . . . where it would have a reasonable chance of growth.

We explained to him the Uniform Trusts . . . told him how he could create such a trust making his wife and himself the beneficiaries.

We showed him how his money, mingled with hundreds of other Uniform Trusts, could be widely diversified for the purpose of safety . . . for a reasonable income . . . for capital increase.

We showed how we could give his $5,000 five-million-dollar attention. . . . under the daily supervision of senior officers of this Company.

He agreed that the Uniform Trust was exactly the investment service he needed.

He created a Uniform Trust . . . and, we believe, another young man is headed toward independence.

2 INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT AND COUNSEL

Rich . . . he wanted to travel

THIS gentleman was retired and wealthy.

He had few family ties . . . few responsibilities . . . and an impelling urge to travel.

But he was worried about his capital. Where would his investments be safe . . . if fluctuations in their value came in his absence, who would re-invest his holdings wisely . . . where could he be certain that his property would get the constant vigilance of skilled investment counsels?

He came to us with his problem.

We suggested our Investment Management and Counsel. It was what he wanted. He found that his money would be watched and conserved and invested more wisely than he could possibly do it himself.

You may not have the urge to travel . . . but you may wish to be relieved of the investment responsibility of your estate. The service is particularly valuable to the man engaged in his own business who does not have the time to give his personal financial affairs the time they deserve. Why not come in and discuss it with us?

3 CUSTODIAN SERVICE

An active man, a shrewd investor

THIS man's name you have heard many times. He has amassed a fortune . . . and each year he increases it.

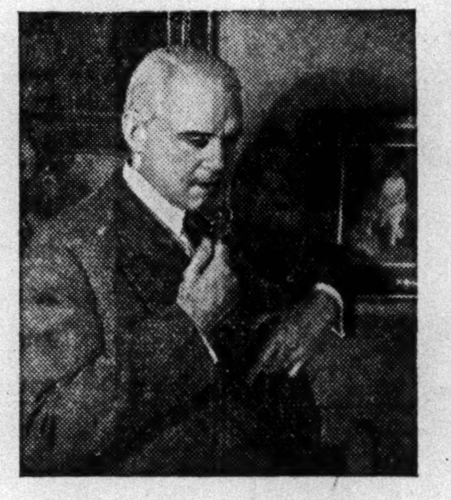
Obviously such a man needs little investment counsel. He knows securities and uses rare discrimination in purchasing them. But he is busy . . . tremendously busy . . . too busy to attend to the clerical details of handling his investments.

He came to us with his problem.

"I want to hold the reins," he told us. "I want to be responsible for all my investments. But I should like to get rid of all coupon-clipping, all bookkeeping, all detail. What can you do for me?"

We suggested a Custodian Account. This service gave him all the protection of a Safe Deposit Box—plus all the advantages of a highly trained financial secretary. Through this service, rights to subscribe to new securities and called bonds were brought to his attention; his instructions to purchase, sell, exchange, or deliver securities were carried out without worry to him; all income was collected and credited to his checking account.

4 LIVING, TESTAMENTARY AND INSURANCE TRUSTS



A family to think of

HE HAD been successful . . . had made money . . . had retired at 55.

He thought of his family . . . his wife . . . a son at preparatory school . . . another son at college . . . a daughter about to make her debut.

How could he take care of these people whom he loved . . . during his lifetime . . . and after?

He came to us with his problem.

Carefully we analyzed his estate . . . and reviewed his investments. Then he created with us Living and Insurance Trusts, and in his will provided Testamentary Trusts to assure his family appropriate and lasting financial help during the years to come.

We were able to offer him the unique advantages of City Farmers Fund (C) Inc. This entirely new type of Trust Service originated with this Company. Only for those who specifically request it. Trust funds, small or large, may now for the first time enjoy the advantages of participating in a large mingled fund which will give them an opportunity for capital increase and, for the purpose of safety, a broad diversification, hitherto available only to the largest private fortunes.

5 EXECUTORSHIPS

He had a will to make

HE had begun to acquire property. He had a family of three . . . his wife . . . two children . . . He thought of the future.

"Who will carry on when my life ends? To whom may I safely entrust the administration of my estate, financial care of my wife and children, their proper maintenance and education?

"In short . . . where may they look for the wise counsel and stability which I no longer will be able to furnish?" . . . Wisely he decided to draw up his will . . . decided that delay was dangerous.

He called in his lawyer . . . explained to him his decision . . . discussed with him the disposal of his property . . . Then came the question of whom to name as executors of his will.

Finally he named the City Bank Farmers Trust Company. For, his lawyer explained to him the advantages of Trust Service. Pointed out that this organization is the oldest Trust Company in America. Pointed out its permanency, financial stability, intelligent and interested service, its 108 years of successful Estate and Trust Administration.

6 CORPORATE TRUSTS

The worried President of a new corporation

HE WAS organizing a new corporation.

Already he was bewildered by a mass of detail . . . legal and financial.

What should he do, if one of his partners died? Should he have the corporation take out insurance on the lives of the principals? What should he do about the transfer of stock?

These and a hundred other technical questions bothered him.

He came to us with his problem.

We explained to him the service of our Corporation Trust Department. We pointed out how this service could immediately relieve him of many of his worries.

It may be the service you need in your own business. As part of this service this Trust Company is fully equipped to act in the following capacities:

Trustee under Mortgages; Paying Agent for Stocks and Bonds; Depository under Reorganization and Syndicate Agreements; Transfer Agent; Registrar; Depository in Escrow.

Why not talk it over?

Speaking of the correct hang of trousers, there's no doubt that hanging is too good for many of the examples one sees.

It takes at least three kinds of experts to make trousers right—expert designers, expert cutters and expert tailors.

Few people realize what a difference it makes whether you wear a belt or suspenders, or have cuffs or plain bottoms on your trousers. But such individual preferences don't lose us any sleep.

In our clothing shops there is no one who's not a topnotcher in each line of work, and naturally the suits and topcoats that come out of the shops are the finest that can be made.

Not only do trousers hang correctly, but vests and coats fit as they should, and we offer the further service of all the correct accessories to go with the clothes.

WIFE HEARS CLASH OVER LONGWORTH

BASED ON LAME DUCK ISSUE

Norris Charges House Delay to "Tyranny" of "Machine" and Draws the Fire of Fess.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—While Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth sat in the Senate gallery today she heard her husband criticized for "arbitrary action" as Speaker of the House and heard Vice President Curtis rule that such criticism was not barred in the Senate.

It was a situation which drew the attention of other gallery occupants because the tiffs between Speaker Longworth and Vice President Curtis over the social precedence to be accorded themselves, Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, the Vice President's sister, are still topics of conversation in Washington.

Senator Norris, Republican insurgent, of Nebraska, author of the "lame duck" resolution which the Senate has passed five times and which the House has killed just as many times, denounced the House leadership for delaying action on the last of these resolutions, passed by the Senate on June 7, 1929.

"Here is the Senate joint resolution, lying on the Speaker's desk," he said, "kept there by the arbitrary action of the presiding officer of the House, and here on the 4th day of April comes a joint resolution introduced in the House by Mr. Gifford proposing an amendment to the Constitution in exactly the same way but in different words. The Speaker promptly referred it to the committee."

Fess Questions Propriety.

Senator Fess, Republican, of Ohio, raised the question "whether the Senator ought to use the term 'arbitrary action' of the Speaker," and whether it was "in accordance with the rules of the Senate."

"The Senator recognizes that the rules of the Senate do not permit a Senator on the floor to criticize what a member of the House has said on the floor of the House or the action of the House," Senator Fess explained.

Senator Norris said he knew of no such rule as Senator Fess outlined and demanded that the Ohioan read the rule. Senator Fess was unable to find it. The Vice President was asked for a ruling.

The Vice President held that Senators could use their discretion in criticizing decisions of the House.

"That's no rule," Senator Fess protested.

"I'll make it a rule," the Vice President replied. Then, declaring that Senator Norris was in order, he directed the Senator to proceed.

Norris Charges "Tyranny."

"This lame duck resolution is the most important piece of legislation in twenty-five years," Senator Norris resumed. "If we pass it and a Constitutional amendment ending lame duck sessions is ratified, that little machine controlling the great body of Representatives will be shorn of its power.

"But here we have the Speaker, holding the Senate's resolution on his deck for ten months. If that kind of legislative inaction is to be approved, democracy is gone. This is tyranny, holding up the legislation of 120,000,000 people."

Charging that the "political machine" wanted the resolution killed, Senator Norris suggested that the Senate appoint a committee to "wait upon the Speaker" and learn why the House had taken no action on the "lame duck" resolution.

The "lame duck" resolution would submit to the State Legislatures as a constitutional amendment the proposal to have members of the House elected in November to take office in the following January instead of in December of the following year.

"Lame ducks" are those members of Congress who are defeated in November but remain in office for thirteen months after their defeat unless a special session is held.

HARBORS BILL GIVES $2,970,000 TO PORT

Measure, Reported to House, Provides $610,000 for the Rockaway Channel.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Waterway improvements costing about $111,000,000 are recommended by the omnibus rivers and harbors bill reported favorably to the House today.

While the measure was trimmed down by $40,000,000 from earlier estimates at the behest of President Hoover, two principal projects which the administration was urged to oppose appeared in the reported bill, the taking over by the Federal Government of the Erie and Oswego Canal in New York at an estimated cost of $2,500,000 a year for three years, and authorization for completion by the government of the Illinois waterway at an outlay of $7,500,000.

The biggest single authorization in the bill is for the system connecting waterways along the Great Lakes at an expenditure of $29,000,000.

This is the first rivers and harbors bill reported for action in the House since 1927 and carries more than double the amount authorized by its predecessor. A bill carrying appropriations of around $86,000,000 was attempted last year but failed.

In addition to the Erie and Oswego Canals, New York projects included an authorization of $1,180,000 for New York Harbor, $720,000 for the Hudson River channel, $460,000 for the anchorage channel and $610,000 for the East Rockaway Inlet.

New York State projects include:

Port Chester Harbor	$445,000
Manhasset Bay	63,000
Port Jefferson Harbor	99,000
Hay (West) Harbor	12,500
Hudson River, below Hudson	169,000
Buffalo Harbor	77,000
Niagara River	743,600
Great Sodus Bay Harbor	20,000
St. Lawrence River between Ogdensburgh and Lake Ontario	180,000

Gen. Ely's Daughter Wins Egg Hunt

Miss Judy Ely, 3-year-old daughter of Major Gen. Hanson E. Ely, won first prize yesterday in the junior army children's Easter egg hunt at Governors Island. Miss Ely found twenty-four eggs. General and Mrs. Ely were spectators. About 200 children from Forts Jay and Wood participated.

BORAH CRITICIZES PERTINAX AND STEED

Declares the Visiting Journalists Were "Unfair" in Speeches on Our Foreign Policy.

HELD AT ODDS ON ADVICE

Senator Intends to Discuss the "Unselfish and Self-Effacing" Counsel Later.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Senator Borah, speaking in the Senate today, said that the addresses of André Geraud, the "Pertinax" of The Echo de Paris, and H. Wickham Steed of London before the American Society of newspaper editors here Saturday night on some aspects of American foreign policy were "utterly unfair," and that the advice of one made the "other absurd."

As chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Borah said, he had read excerpts of their speeches with surprise. On another occasion, he added, perhaps when the London naval treaty or the World Court issue is before the Senate, he would discuss this "unselfish and self-effacing advice from the standpoint of facts and truth."

The Senate had expected a vehement attack upon the French and British journalists as Senator Borah read brief excerpts from their speeches, after which he surprised his hearers by mildly condemning the thoughts expressed and promised a detailed analysis later.

"We have as visitors in this country at the present time," said Senator Borah, "a distinguished journalist who writes under the name of 'Pertinax,' and also Mr. Wickham Steed, former editor of The London Times, now editor of the English Review of Reviews.

"These gentlemen addressed a party of newspaper editors in the city of Washington a few nights ago. I desire to read some excerpts from their speeches made in the presence of President Hoover."

Senator Borah quoted "Pertinax" as saying:

"The European problem cannot be solved as long as the attitude of America remains an unknown factor. Your nation must take a position, either positive or negative. The present situation is unexampled.

"You decline to assist in enforcing international law, which is largely American law. In the end you will be forced to make a choice.

"You have been told that the League is rich with promise and is bound to succeed. Do not believe a word of it. The League of Nations is little more than a conference of nations, and like all conferences it is subject to deadlock and failure."

Mr. Steed was quoted as saying in part:

"You have achieved parity, but you have not achieved full parity. You have asked and obtained only parity of strength. You have not sought parity of responsibility. And may I say that when you claim parity of that character there will be no voice in the world to say you nay."

79,111 WOMEN HOUSED IN Y. W. C. A. IN YEAR

9,866 More Referred to Registered Rooms—Educational Classes Attended by 10,088.

The Young Women's Christian Association here last year provided residential quarters for 79,111 young business women and industrial workers, art students and nurses, and referred an additional 9,866 to registered rooms, handled 19,589 applications for employment and maintained educational classes for 10,088, it was reported yesterday evening at the association's annual meeting and tea in its headquarters building, 135 East Fifty-second Street. A local membership of 28,002, representing forty-six foreign countries, also was reported.

Miss Margaret Webster, general secretary, said the attendance in gymnasiums and swimming pools in 1929 was 219,901 and that club activities for young girls and business and industrial girls were participated in by 75,371. A total of 1,432,848 meals were served in the year. Camp vacations and week-end parties were furnished for 4,011 women and girls. Seven foreign workers, speaking thirteen languages, made 4,027 visits to women immigrants. The estimated attendance at religious services was 43,000.

Three new Y. W. C. A. centres were opened last year—Tatham House Annex, a twelve-story addition given to Tatham House, 138 East Thirty-eighth Street, by John D. Rockefeller Jr.; the Chinese Centre at 18 Doyers Street and the East Harlem Girls' Club, 335 East 116th Street.

A recreation-dining hall and dormitory was built at Quannacut Junior Camp, the camp for grade school girls at Pine Bush, N. Y., as a gift from Mr. and Mrs. William Sloane Coffin and Henry Sloane.

Italy's Population 41,508,000.

ROME, April 21 (AP).—The government's statistical bureau today announced Italy's population as of Dec. 31, 1929, was 41,508,000. The increase over 1928 was 335,000, but was 55,000 less than the 1928 increase, owing to fewer births and more deaths.

Now- is a good time to bring your heating system up to date!

ROOMS that are hard to heat—coal bills that seem bigger than they reasonably should be—these are symptoms of a heating system which is either inadequate or obsolescent. To continue to put up with it is a very real extravagance. It takes its toll in so many ways—in health—in comfort—in convenience—in fuel costs—in depreciation of the re-sale or rental value of your property.

A small outlay will put an up-to-date PIERCE SYSTEM in your home on Easy Payments

For a really insignificant investment—compared with the total value of your home—you can equip with the very latest type of radiator heating plant, including a super-efficient Pierce boiler in the cellar and graceful, decorative Pierce radiators in every room upstairs. Money can't buy anything more dependable.

Even this modest investment need not be made all at once. By taking advantage of the Pierce Easy Payment Plan, you can spread the payments over 12 to 24 months. In fact, that is the modern way to pay for improvements of this kind. You get the benefits and comforts of a real, efficient heating system right away, but you pay for it gradually out of income.

A heating contractor in your community will be glad to go over your house and suggest what is needed to modernize your heating plant. Why not call him in now and have the necessary improvements made during the late Spring? Then you will be ready to enjoy your new comforts from the very first day of the Fall heating season!

GRAND JURY TO SIFT PROBATION BUREAU

Crain Is Said to Have Received New Evidence in Case of Cooley's Sister.

SHE HAD 3 JOBS, IS REPORT

Others on Payroll With Two Positions, According to Rumor—Hearings On Tomorrow.

District Attorney Crain said yesterday that because of important information he had received in the last few days he would open a grand jury investigation tomorrow on the employment last year of Mrs. Marguerite F. Lawler under her brother, Edwin J. Cooley, in the General Sessions Probation Bureau at the same time that she was a teacher in a Buffalo public school.

"The grand jury investigation also will be in the nature of a general inquiry into the Probation Bureau under Mr. Cooley," Mr. Crain said. "The investigation will be thorough, and if the evidence indicates that indictments should be found, this testimony will be segregated and placed before the additional grand jury for consideration.

"Mrs. Lawler possibly will be called as a witness before the grand jury if she signs a waiver of immunity," Mr. Crain continued. "Mr. Cooley also will be permitted to testify before the grand jury if he will do so under a waiver of immunity.

Sifts Report She Had Three Jobs.

"My decision to place the matter before the grand jury for a general investigation of the Probation Bureau was the outcome of a talk I had today with Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings, who last week conducted an inquiry into Mrs. Lawler's employment in the bureau from April 5 to Oct. 27 of last year as provisional chief clerk, drawing altogether $1,077, when it was found she had been employed in the Buffalo public school system at the same time.

"I have heard a report that while Mrs. Lawler was holding positions as school teacher and chief clerk of the Probation Bureau she also had a third job in this city. The report is being investigated."

The report was to the effect that Mrs. Lawler was garbed as a trained nurse in giving demonstrations in a window of an ice cream corporation.

Mr. Crain admitted that new information transcending in importance anything previously offered in his investigation had been placed in his hands in connection with the functioning of the Probation Bureau.

Others Had Two Jobs, Is Report.

There was an uncorroborated report that he had been informed that other minor county employes had been carried on the payrolls of the Probation Bureau as temporary employes while drawing pay for their other jobs.

Asked why he had so suddenly terminated Mr. Hastings's investigation and placed the matter before the grand jury, Mr. Crain said:

"I am convinced that because there are so many different angles in the proposition, and because there has been such difficulty in obtaining frank, truthful statements from witnesses, there is only one thing to do—bring all the witnesses before the grand jury, where they can be examined under oath. It may be necessary to call everybody on the bureau's payroll."

The District Attorney, it developed, desired that the general investigation of the bureau be opened before the regular grand jury this morning, but Mr. Hastings found that he would be unable to conclude another investigation before that body until tomorrow morning, and then the matter was put off.

PENSACOLA LEAVES BALBOA

Cruiser on Shakedown Trip to Cross Equator for First Time.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BALBOA, April 21.—The United States cruiser Pensacola sailed at 9 A. M. today on the second leg of her shake-down cruise, which will include South American ports as far south as Valparaiso, Chile, before her return here in June en route to the Atlantic coast of the United States.

The cruiser will cross the equator for the first time Wednesday and elaborate preparations are being made for the traditional ceremony.

A special throne has been erected for Neptunus Rex and his court, and a high powered bouncing board has been made to toss the candidates across the equator into a pool of water.

The ship's Pacific cruise will be at the rate of 28 knots, although she can make 35 and has done more than 31 on her present cruise. Captain A. G. Howe is in command.

KNIGHT'S INJURIES DELAY CONFERENCE

Governor Postpones Parley With Him and McGinnies on New Commission Members.

SENATE LEADER IMPROVES

Doctors Expect Complete Recovery From Hurts He Suffered in Up-State Car Crash.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 21.—With Senator John Knight in a Buffalo hospital in a condition which his physician characterizes as "serious," as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Saturday evening, an important conference between him, Governor Roosevelt and Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies of the Assembly, scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed.

The conference was concerned with appointments on seven temporary commissions created by the Legislature at its recent session, on which some members are to be named by the Governor, some by the temporary President of the Senate and some by Speaker McGinnies.

Governor Roosevelt did not learn of the serious condition of Senator Knight until his return to the Capitol last night from Hyde Park, where he had spent Easter. He showed the utmost concern and expressed regret and hope for the Senate leader's early recovery.

The Governor will leave Albany on Saturday and dispose of the final batch of thirty-day bills in New York on Monday and Tuesday before departing for Warm Springs, Ga., Wednesday of next week. It is expected that Speaker McGinnies will confer with him in New York, possibly stopping off at Buffalo on his way from his home in Chautauqua County to New York City for a preliminary talk with Mr. Knight.

Governor Roosevelt expects to name the five members of his special commission to survey the engineering and financial problems in connection with the proposed St. Lawrence River water power development before starting on his Southern trip.

Knight's Recovery Expected.

BUFFALO, April 21 (AP).—With his iron constitution and general good health fighting in his favor, Senator John Knight, seriously injured in an automobile accident Saturday, tonight was accorded an excellent chance for complete recovery by his attending surgeons.

Reports from the hospital were to the effect that the Senator's condition showed improvement and that grave fears of internal injuries which might have resulted fatally have been removed. With the improvement in his general condition, the attending surgeons, Drs. W. Ward Plummer and Nelson J. Russell, tonight were concentrating their attention on efforts to save the Senator's right arm, which it was at first feared would require amputation.

The arm was fractured above and below the elbow, with a third, compound fracture at the joint itself and although it had been set, surgeons feared that the severe laceration of the tissues would prevent circulation throughout the arm.

Efforts to restore circulation to the fingers of the right hand were continued throughout the day, and the surgeons were inclined to be optimistic tonight, although they would not say that all danger of amputation was past.

An Acknowledgment.

THE NEW YORK TIMES acknowledges receipt of a contribution of $1 from "Canadian" and $2 from "M. E." for Mary Lee, for whom an appeal was made by the Brooklyn Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. 3 DEATHS IN FAMILY TANGLE THE ESTATE

Husband, Wife and Daughter Killed in Rail Accident—Two Holdings Grouped.

HEIRS TO SHARE EQUALLY

Mrs. Julia Davis Carlie, who was drowned with her husband, George R. Carlie, expert in bakery construction, and her daughter, Julia Frances Carlie, on July 18, when a Rock Island train on which they were passengers fell through a weakened bridge into a swollen stream near Stratton, Col., left an estate appraised yesterday at $34,586 gross and $28,317 net. Her will gave the estate to her daughter, but because of the latter's death at the same time, it went to Amos Davis, father of Mrs. Carlie, of 49 East Seventy-third Street, who died on Nov. 2.

The appraisal showed that the death of the Carlies and their daughter at the same time made the distribution of their estates difficult because of inability of determining which had died first. Mr. Carlie left children by a former wife, who were entitled to part of his property. When a safe deposit box in their name was opened it was found to contain securities, some of which could not be identified as to ownership. An agreement was then made between all interested parties that the securities were to be divided equally among the heirs of Mr. Carlie and those of his wife.

One of the expenses of administration, which totaled $5,341 as half the share borne by Mrs. Carlie's estate, was $500 advertised as a reward for the finding of the daughter's body, which was not recovered until several days after those of her parents were found. The Rock Island Railroad paid $1,200 as part of the funeral expenses. The daughter left no property, while the estate of Mr. Carlie has not been appraised.

Gail Hamilton's Estate $51,597.

Gail Hamilton, employment agency owner who, with Mrs. Montell Mansfield, was found dead near Poughkeepsie on August 14, from bullet wounds as the result of a supposed suicide pact, left an estate appraised yesterday at $56,241 gross and $51,597 net, which went to his wife, Elsie Hamilton, of 325 Riverside Drive. The bulk of the estate consisted of stock in the Gail Hamilton Employment Agency, valued at $41,847.

J. A. Hetherington Left $573,581.

James A. Hetherington, who died on Aug. 24, left an estate appraised yesterday by Deputy Tax Commissioner Stephenson at $629,936 gross and $573,581 net, of which $402,198 was in cash, including $395,686 deposited with the Stock Exchange firm of DeCoppet & Doremus. He owned $227,567 in securities, of which more than $200,000 was in New York State World War Bonus and Park System bonds and New York City bonds. He gave the entire estate to his wife, Minnie Irene Hetherington, 995 Fifth Avenue.

Mr. Hetherington was the proprietor of a drug store at Vanderbilt Avenue and Forty-second Street for more than fifty years, retiring shortly before his death. His son, Arthur, is a member of DeCoppet & Doremus.

O. E. Dryfoos Property $308,502.

The estate of Otto E. Dryfoos, for many years head of Otto E. Dryfoos & Sons, wholesale jobbers in underwear and hosiery, was appraised yesterday at $390,046 gross and $308,502 net. He gave a life interest in $260,502 to his wife, Millie S. Dryfoos, in addition to which he made gifts of stocks and cash aggregating $200,000 to her during the three years before his death. The assets included $207,349 in cash, and $182,647 in securities, including $151,000 in Liberty bonds.

RED LEADERS JAILED 6 MONTHS TO 3 YEARS

would be liable to prison terms up to six years.

The sentences meted out to Foster, Minor, Amster and Raymond by the court—the same bench which tried and convicted all five—may run from six months to three years. Under the code of criminal procedure the justices of Special Sessions imposing a penitentiary sentence must leave its length beyond the six months period to the State Parole Commission.

As soon as the sentencing was over, Robert H. Elder, former Assistant District Attorney in Brooklyn, began legal steps to have the convicted men admitted to bail pending a review of their cases by higher courts. Some day this week, he said, he would make application in Supreme Court for a certificate of reasonable doubt.

A demonstration by Communist sympathizers had been anticipated but none developed. Strong details of policemen under Captain George L. Sullivan were on duty in the corridors of the Criminal Courts Building and outside it to prevent crowds from gathering. The corridors were cleared of all loiterers before the prisoners, in handcuffs, were whisked through them to the Tombs to await transportation to the penitentiary.

When Police Commissioner Whalen, who caused the arrest of the Communist leaders and who was bitterly attacked by the prisoners in court, together with District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain, heard the sentences that had been imposed, he expressed satisfaction. The punishment, he said, undoubtedly would have a salutary effect upon the future conduct of Red leaders, who are busily engaged in promoting an even larger demonstration for May Day than the one which resulted in their conviction.

The court room proceedings were enlivened by angry gavel-rapping and by bitter exchanges among the justices and the defendants. After several outbursts by Foster and his fellow-prisoners had been quelled by orders from the court to "sit down," Mr. Elder challenged the right of the justices to interrupt, saying:

"Your honors, you lose your jurisdiction to impose sentence if you fail to give these defendants the right to say what they will in their own defense. May I very respectfully point that out to your honors?"

Justice McInerney rose to his feet. "We don't intend to listen to a vilification of this court," he snapped.

Later when Minor, editor of The Daily Worker, a Communist daily, charged that he and his co-defendants had been prejudged by the court Justice McInerney arose again and said:

"I for one am not going to sit here and be insulted. The court is not a soapbox from which to make a speech."

Justice Murphy broke in:

"This is far enough," and Justice Salomon ordered Minor to sit down.

"That's just another example of capitalistic justice," said Minor as a court attendant pushed him into his seat.

"You're getting more justice here than you'd get anywhere else in the world," retorted Justice McInerney.

"But the indulgence of this court has ceased," said Justice Murphy angrily.

"All through now?" inquired Justice Salomon, after ordering Raymond to sit down when the latter compared his own conviction to that of "our Massachusetts comrades, Sacco and Vanzetti." Mr. Elder took an exception to the refusal of the court to listen further and nodded assent.

Justice Salomon then pronounced sentence.

"The evidence in this case," he read, "satisfies this court beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendants assembled with thousands of others on March 6 and that they instigated and aided this multitude to acts intended and designed to commit a breach of the peace in violation of Section 2029 of the penal law.

"Much has been said by counsel and defendants of the violation of their constitutional rights. Much has been said of the freedom of speech and the right to peaceful assembly. Freedom of speech and lawful assembly are not and will not be discouraged. They are guaranteed the people in our Constitution. They make for betterment in government. In this case, however, the assemblage was not peaceful. It was unlawful and it was a menace to the community. The punishment must be such as to fit the crime.

"Foster, Minor, Amter and Raymond, we believe, were the instigators, the prime movers and the leaders in the crime of which you have been found guilty. It is the sentence of this court, having found you guilty, that you be delivered to the penitentiary, there to be dealth with according to the law.

"The defendant Leston we believe to be only an implement, a tool, a young man to be dealt with in an entirely different manner. We therefore sentence him to the workhouse for thirty days."

A little of the bravado that had marked the demeanor of the four men while they were delivering their speeches seemed to leave them as police officers slipped on handcuffs and started moving them toward the door.

The speeches of the four men were almost identical in substance. They were being martyred, they said, by the "capitalist class" to still the protests of the unemployed workers. It was all part of a plot participated in by "a Police Commissioner appointed to cover up the Rothstein case and a District Attorney whom all New York knows as the representative of the most corrupt graft machine in the world."

They were arrested at City Hall, they said, while trying to present their program for the relief of unemployment to Mayor Walker. They were held on "trumped-up charges," denied their constitutional right to bail and trial by jury, all in order that the "real facts might be kept from the public." They were even denied the right to present their side of the case in court, they charged.

In addition Minor declared that the court had its mind made up and was ready to impose sentence before the trial was over. He declared that he had heard Assistant District Attorney Unger make a remark "which showed that we were convicted by prearrangement," and charged that Justice Salomon rendered the decision of the court without "consultation with the other justices."

Foster declared that sending him to jail would not stop "the organization of the unemployed under Communist leadership.

"They are not going to starve," he said, waving his arm over his head. "They are going to fight. They will understand why we have been sent to jail."

Regular court routine was interrupted for the sentencing, which took about thirty-five minutes.

NAMED TO ATTEND EXCHANGE PARLEY

Kennedy, Trade Commissioner at London, Will Advise Geneva Conference May 13.

LAW UNIFICATION SOUGHT

Several Similar Conferences for Revising Codes Covering Notes and Checks Have Been Held.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Martin H. Kennedy, Trade Commissioner at London, was designated today to participate, in an expert and advisory capacity, in the conference for the unification of laws on bills of exchange, promissory notes and checks, which will meet at Geneva May 13 under the auspices of the League of Nations.

Conferences have met on several occasions to consider this subject since 1885, when a conference was convened at Antwerp by the Belgian Government. At The Hague conference in 1912 a convention and a uniform regulation were drawn up and signed by twenty-seven governments, although not subsequently ratified.

As a result of the Brussels conference of 1920 this matter was studied by the League of Nations and resulted in a report, accompanied by proposals drawn up by a committee of experts which met in 1926, 1927 and 1928.

This report will form the basis of the conference on May 13. Primary attention is to be paid to the question of attempting to bring closer into line the laws of countries following the Continental system.

The attitude of the United States on this question is well established. The American expert at a meeting of the committee of experts in 1926 stated that while, for reasons stated at The Hague in 1910 and 1912, there was no possibility of amalgamating the Anglo-Saxon system with that of the proposed uniform regulation, he would be only too ready to assist the committee with information and explanations relating to procedure in his own country.

SEES INDUSTRY ATTACKED.

Booklet of Electric Light Group Lays Criticism to Socialists.

The National Electric Light Association of 420 Lexington Avenue has issued a ninety-six-page book on "The Radical Campaign Against American Industry." The book contains a brief and exhibits offered as evidence refused by the Federal Trade Commission in its investigation of public utilities.

In the foreword it is charged that for many years "the basic industries of the country have been subjected to attacks by groups and individuals intent upon bringing American business into disrepute" and "this has been done as the first step toward the 'gradual socialization of industry.'"

"With certain obvious exceptions, practically all the criticism leveled at such industries as railroads and electric utilities, banks and insurance companies, &c., can be traced to the direction and inspiration of men who have been prominent in the councils of the Socialist movement," the foreword continues.

"These men can see nothing good in any industry which is not the property of the State. They disagree with the whole scheme of American life."

The book is filled with copies of letters or publicity material on public utilities issued by various organizations, including the League for Industrial Democracy, the Committee on Coal and Giant Power, the Public Ownership League and the People's Legislative Service.

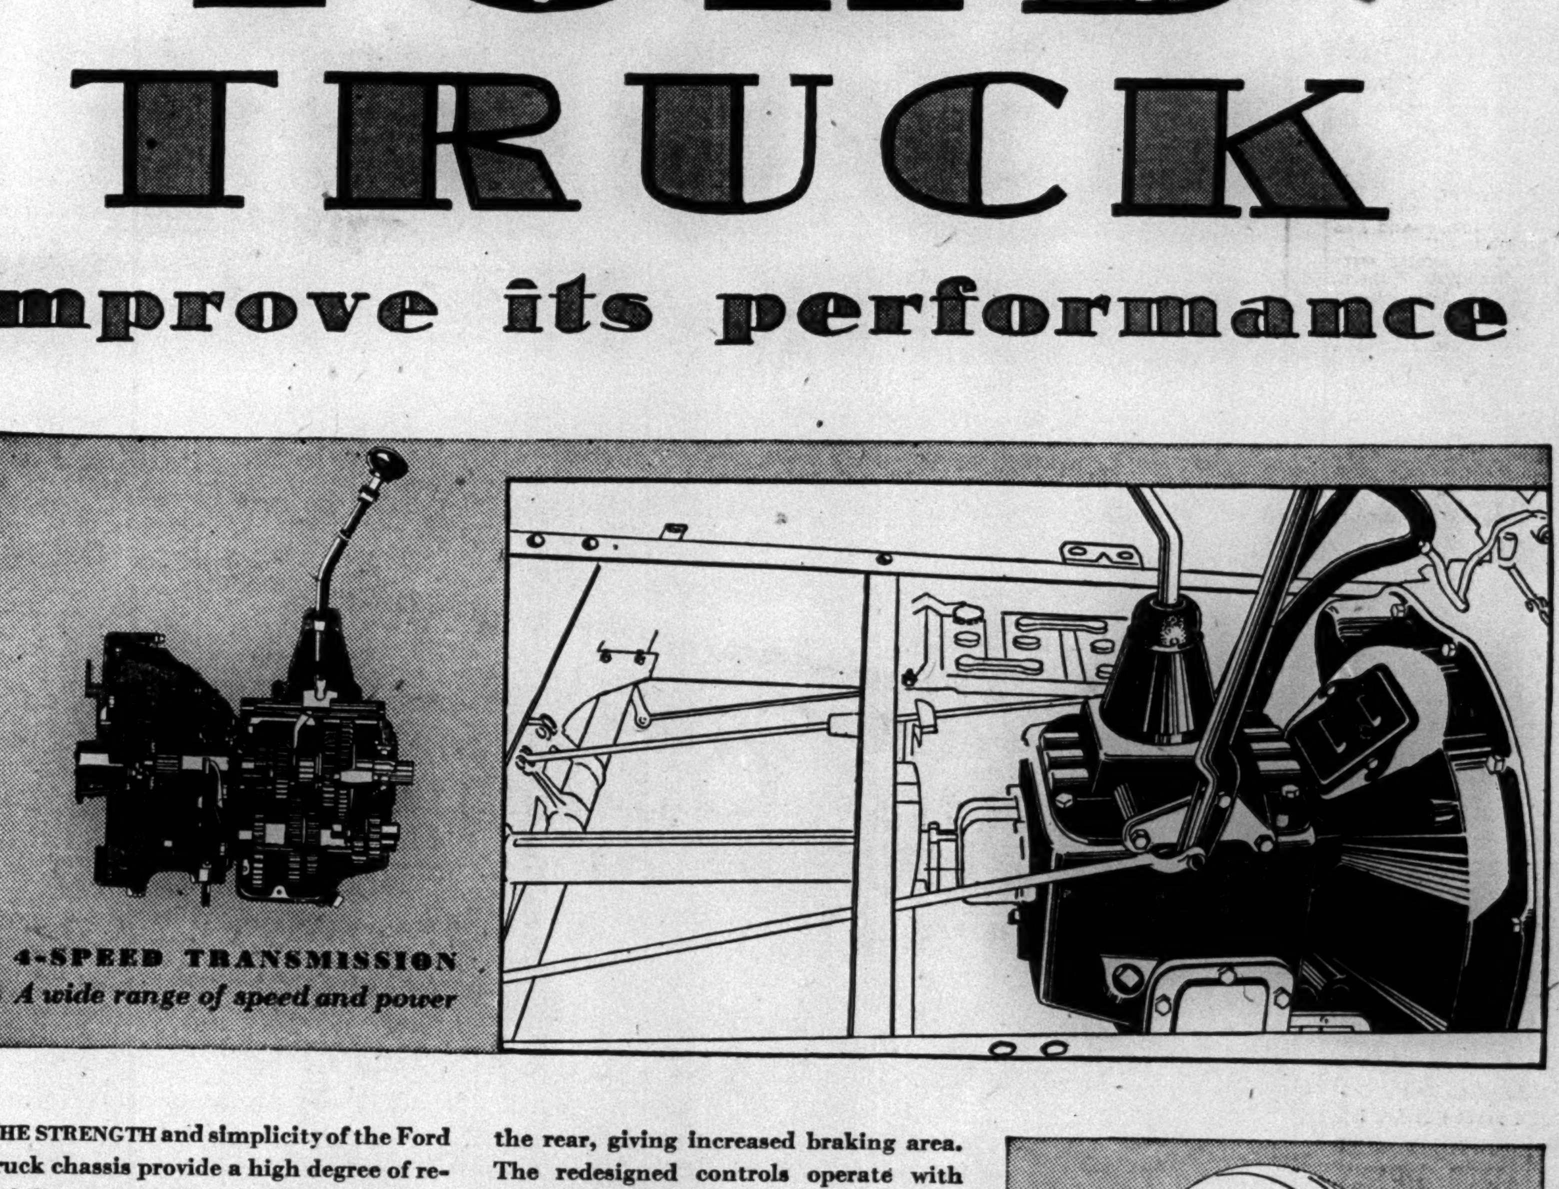
New features of the FORD TRUCK improve its performance



4-SPEED TRANSMISSION
A wide range of speed and power

THE STRENGTH and simplicity of the Ford truck chassis provide a high degree of reliability, insuring long, satisfactory service, with marked economy. Of equal importance is the ability of the truck to do hard work easily, quickly and safely.

Many features of the Ford truck add to its capable performance. Among them is the 4-speed transmission, which gives a wide, flexible range of speed and power. This is of special value for pulling heavy loads out of pits, and for economical operation when greater speed is desirable.

An unusual degree of safety is provided by the brakes. They are of the mechanical type, internal expanding, and all are fully enclosed.

Brakes on the front wheels have been enlarged to the same size as those on the rear, giving increased braking area. The redesigned controls operate with greater efficiency.

Other features which you will find of exceptional value are the new rear axle, which has a spiral bevel gear of special design, with straddle-mounted pinion; the large-sized opening provided in the transmission for power take-off mounting, for use with hoists and other equipment; and the dual rear wheels which can be installed at small additional cost.

Balloon tires of one size are used throughout with the dual equipment, so that all six steel disc wheels and tires are interchangeable all around. Only one spare need be carried.

BISHOP MAXON SEES HIS SON IN PRISON

Says He Believes Youth Innocent in Killing After 15 Minutes' Talk With Him.

PRISONER VISIBLY MOVED

Funeral Held for Victim of Brawl—Head of Pressmen's Union Links Slaying to Prohibition.

The Right Rev. James Mathew Maxon, Episcopal Bishop Coadjutor of Tennessee, went to the west side jail yesterday and talked with his son, James Jr., confined there without bail on a homicide charge growing out of a liquor-incited brawl in a rooming house.

The Bishop talked with his son for fifteen minutes, and the 21-year-old student, visibly moved when he entered the Warden's office for the chat, asked affectionately for his mother and seemed cheered when he was led back to his cell. The Bishop on his departure avowed his certainty in his son's innocence and remarked that "any man is a fool who will drink this liquor nowadays."

Meanwhile the victim of the brawl, David Paynter, 73 years old, whom the youth is accused of having beaten to death with a chair in the rooming house at 550 West End Avenue, was buried after funeral services attended by forty members of the New York Printing Pressmen's Union. James J. Conway, the president of the organization of which Paynter was once a member, took the opportunity to link prohibition conditions with the killing.

Bishop Maxon arrived at the jail late in the day after the son had awaited his visit anxiously throughout the regular visiting hours in the morning only to be disappointed. Accompanying the Bishop to the jail was Myles Walsh, associate of Martin W. Littleton, counsel for the youth. It was the first meeting of the father and son since the student's arrest.

The son was called from his cell on the second tier and openly displayed his emotion as he came down the stairway to find his father waiting. They embraced and the first question the youth asked was, "How is mother?" He appeared to brighten almost at once as his father assured him she was bearing up well.

The Bishop and the youth were escorted to the warden's office, where they talked. Mr. Walsh also was present. After Maxon had been taken back to his cell the Bishop greeted several newspaper men and thanked them for what he said was the fair treatment accorded him and his son. He said he had once been a newspaper man himself for a short time. He declined, however, to discuss the conversation in the warden's office, asserting that it concerned only himself, his son and his attorney.

"The boy will tell the truth," he said. "That is something that was instilled in him in childhood. I am certain my boy is innocent. I will say this: Any man is a fool who will drink this liquor nowadays—and I'm not preaching prohibition."

Funeral services for Paynter were conducted in the Lexington Funeral House, at 301 East Twenty-ninth Street, by the Rev. Dr. David Bowen, Episcopal chaplain of Bellevue Hospital, and burial was in St. Michael's Cemetery, Astoria.

Mr. Conway and five other members of the pressmen's union acted as pallbearers. He praised Paynter and denied that Paynter had been intoxicated on the night of his death. Maxon has said that every one was drinking in the rooming house and that there had been a general mêlée and that he could not remember striking Paynter. Mr. Conway said:

"This is another direct result of the 'noble experiment.' This was a most brutal murder. Mr. Paynter was a sober, industrious and very quiet man. There have been rumors going around that he was in a drinking party. The union will spare nothing to see that his reputation is not smirched."

Maxon will be arraigned in the homicide court tomorrow.

Jewish Drive Leaders Named.

James B. Rosenberg, chairman of the campaign committee to raise $2,500,000 here toward the $6,000,000 national fund of the Allied Jewish Campaign, announced yesterday that James Marshall, Nathan Straus Jr. and Paul Felix Warburg had been chosen Manhattan chairmen. He announced also that Abraham Liebowitz would be associate treasurer and that Isidore D. Morrison had been selected chairman of the advisory board.

TO EXTOL ARBITRATION.

Arthur Hopkins and Others Will Tell of Good Results in Stagedom.

Arthur Hopkins, Frank Gillmore, Robert E. Sherwood and Lucius R. Eastman will speak at the supper to be given at 11 o'clock on Tuesday night, April 29, at the Hotel Astor in honor of the American Arbitration Association. The occasion, which is being arranged by the Actors' Equity Association, the Dramatists' Guild, the Managers' Protective Association and the independent managers, will recognize the service of the arbitration association in settling theatrical disputes out of court during the last five years.

Among those announced for the entertainment program are Mme. Schumann-Heink, Gertrude Lawrence, Will Mahoney, William Gaxton, Genevieve Tobin, Grace DuFaye, Amos n' Andy and James Wolfe. Daniel Frohman will preside and DeWolf Hopper will be master of ceremonies.

MISS FORT RESIGNS AS D. A. R. MEMBER

Wisconsin Woman Also Quits Because of World Court and Disarmament Policies.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., April 21.—Miss Margretta Fort of Llewellyn Park, West Orange, telegraphed her resignation as a member of the D. A. R. last night to Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, President General, in Washington, she said today. The organization's recent stand on disarmament and the World Court was given by Miss Fort as her reason.

Miss Fort, former Assemblywoman, is the second member of the Essex Chapter to leave the organization. Mrs. William Thayer Brown, also of Llewellyn Park, resigned last week for the same reasons. Miss Fort is a sister of Representative Franklin W. Fort, and is a daughter of the late Governor Fort of New Jersey.

Miss Fort declared she had been out of sympathy with the policies of the organization for some time.

In her telegram she voiced protest against the organization's "restriction of free speech and encouragement of war."

MADISON, Wis., April 21.—Mrs. Lois Kimball Mathews Rosenberry, wife of Chief Justice Rosenberry of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, withdrew today from the Daughters of the American Revolution. In a letter to the Madison Chapter she wrote:

"I can not with self-respect continue my affiliation with the D. A. R. It was in keeping with the dominant element in the oragnization that meeting in the Capitol of the nation, in Holy Week it should there adopt resolutions which are a slap in the face of President Hoover, the greatest advocate of the greatest project for world peace yet brought forward."

OPEN THEATRE CONTEST.

Three Groups Give One-Act Plays in Westchester Tournament.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 21.—Three plays were presented at the Westchester County Centre tonight in the opening performance of the annual Westchester County Little Theatre tournament. Fourteen groups will compete in the tournament, which ends Saturday night with performances by the three best groups. A silver trophy will be awarded to the winner on Saturday.

"'Op o' Me Thumb," by Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce was presented tonight by the Dramatic Society of Mount Vernon High School. "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," by Sir James M. Barrie, was the offering of the New Rochelle Woman's Club. The Fireside Players of this city presented "Sauce for the Emperor," by John Chapin Mosher. Plays will be presented each night except Friday.

The performances mark the first use for plays of the Little Theatre in the new county centre erected on the Bronx River Parkway at a cost of $1,000,000.

$500,000 TO JOHNS HOPKINS

General Education Adds to Fund to Complete Clinics.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, April 21.—A gift of $500,000 by the General Education Board of New York to Johns Hopkins Hospital and Medical School, to be used for completion of the William Osler medical clinic and the Stewart Halstead surgical clinic, was announced today.

The gift raises to a total of $1,750,000 the funds given by the board for completion of the two buildings.

A year ago an anonymous donor gave $3,000,000 for the endowment of 165 beds, which will be added to the city's hospital facilities.

ARNOLD LOSES ON DIVORCE.

'Round-the-World Flier's Decree Is Invalid, Appeal Court Rules.

ATLANTA, April 21 (AP).—The Georgia Supreme Court today upheld a decision of the Fulton County Superior Court, which set aside the divorce granted to Lieutenant Leslie P. Arnold, who participated in the army around-the-world flight, from Mrs. Mildred Avery Arnold of Groton, Conn.

The divorce was granted in Atlanta in 1926 while Lieutenant Arnold was stationed at Fort McPherson, Ga. Over two years later the flier married Priscilla Dean, motion-picture actress, in Mexico.

The first Mrs. Arnold came to Atlanta last June from her home in Connecticut and petitioned the superior court to set the divorce aside on the ground it had been fraudulently obtained. Mrs. Arnold alleged she had not been notified of the action.

Two days after the divorce from Mrs. Mildred Avery Arnold was set aside the flier and Miss Dean announced that they would live apart until he could obtain a valid decree, after which they planned to remarry.

Lieutenand Arnold was first married in 1917, after what he described as a childhood romance. He said he and his first wife separated on their wedding day.

GETS COMMUNICATIONS BILL

Senate Committee Receives Tentative Draft From Congress.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Senator Couzens of Michigan today placed before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, of which he is chairman, a tentative draft of the bill "to provide for the regulation of communications by wire or radio, and for other purposes," to be known as the Communications act of 1930.

The voluminous bill, which is divided into four general titles, consists of 114 sections. Title 1 takes up general provision; Title 2, radio; Title 3, common carriers, and Title 4, administrative provisions.

It is expected that the committee will work over the bill for some time before it is reported to the Senate.

From coast to coast in 14 hours 45 minutes 32 seconds. Made April 20, 1930 by Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh

At 11 minutes and 52 seconds past eleven p. m. a speeding Lockheed Sirius ship, powered with a Pratt & Whitney Wasp Motor, piloted by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh with Mrs. Lindbergh acting as co-pilot, appeared over Roosevelt Field, Long Island, circled the field three times, touched the ground in a perfect three point landing — and another transcontinental record had been made with Richfield—California's famous gasoline.

Colonel Lindbergh, technical advisor to the T. A. T. Maddux Lines, made this flight to test the possibilities of using higher altitudes for air transport.

Such evidence as this cannot be ignored! It is proof positive that the scientist is right when he says, "Just as the best lubricating oil is made from the better grades of Pennsylvania crude, so the world's finest gasoline is made from selected California naphthenic base crudes."

As a motorist, you too should look to California for the best fuel to power your engine. Try one tankful of Richfield and know for yourself the added speed and power — the increase in miles per gallon and miles per hour you get when you say, "Fill it up with Richfield." Follow the choice of champions. Look for the cream and blue Richfield pump. It pays.

Richfield holds more world's records than all other gasolines combined.

STIMSON CALLS PACT STEP TO END WAR

Colonel Stimson, "but by the patience and good temper in which those discussions were carried on. This has been a good augury for the prospects of their final success. They are separating now full of determination to grapple with these problems as they now stand revealed and to finally solve them."

Hoover Sends Greetings.

The message from President Hoover was as follows:

Frank B. Noyes,
President, Associated Press.

I would appreciate it greatly if you would extend my greetings to the annual meeting of The Associated Press. It is a great institution which daily renders intellectual service to the American people with that fine impartiality and reliability that have given it high distinction.

It is a marvelous advancement of science that enables you to listen to an address from London by Secretary Stimson. The work of Secretary Stimson and his colleagues at the conference has been carefully and fully transmitted over the wires of The Associated Press day by day for the past four months and thereby the American people have gained an appreciation of the problems which the conference has undertaken to solve and the difficulties they have met and the success that has resulted.

Sees Great Step Forward.

Their achievement marks another great step in the maintenance of peace. Only the utmost courage and tenacity of the eminent men comprising all the delegations at London could have brought to so difficult a problem a solution fruitful of so many blessings.

The Associated Press and other press representatives have contributed materially, for such negotiation in these times is not alone the work of the delegation, it must be responsive to national instinct and national aspiration. Peace is fundamentally a state of mind and a resolve of will of the whole people. Therefore the fidelity of the press representatives in reporting the course of the conference has played a large part in its success by giving all of our people an instant and comprehensive knowledge of the facts, and thus enabling the nation itself to share in these negotiations.

I wish to compliment The Associated Press on the service it has rendered.

HERBERT HOOVER.

In the brief interval during which the transatlantic radio connection was being made and before he invited the diners to "tune in on London," Mr. Noyes spoke of The Associated Press. He said those at the luncheon represented nearly 1,300 newspapers and declared that the sole function of The Associated Press, a cooperative, non-profit organization, was the collection and dissemination of truthful and non-biased news.

Mr. Noyes in introducing Mr. Cooper said that his five years at the helm of the organization had been successful ones. He mentioned the changes Mr. Cooper had initiated, such as the feature news and photographic services, and said that he had "humanized" the news report.

Address by Mr. Cooper.

Mr. Cooper spoke as follows:

When it was suggested that I address you I demurred, because I knew that what I would say would add nothing to the sum of your happiness. Upon reflection, however, I decided that if I could let you understand some of the complexities of the work; some of the innumerable points where criticism arises because we cannot always please everybody or because, being human, we cannot always function to perfection, and some of the reasons why The Associated Press news report is taking the trend that it is—if I could make you understand these things, it would bring both relief and contentment to me. And that's worth my trying for.

I now have for five years been entrusted with the responsibility of providing one of the most important elements that goes into the columns of your newspapers.

If you will imagine the discouragements to be met by a single reporter who has to get the news the instant it occurs, get it right, get it first, write it so that it would not have to be copyread, and fully satisfy 1,300 city editors, each with more or less different ideas as to what really is news and how it ought to be written, and all of them fully convinced that they know much better than the reporter might ever hope to know how it should be done—you will understand just one of the complexities that confront the general manager of The Associated Press.

Points to By-Laws.

There are other things that make it complex. You have set down an intricate set of rules—by-laws we call them—which you promulgated thirty years ago. They say what can and what cannot be done. They govern every conceivable contingency that would be expected to arise in your mutual relationships in this cooperative organization, your relationship with the management and your relationship to your newspaper. Indeed, it sometimes seems to me that every relationship is covered except your relationship to your immediate family.

I have not only to follow this labyrinth of precept, but when the board of directors is not in session you ask me to guide you and save you from the wrath of the board.

Then there are the relations with the thirty great news agencies of other countries with which we are more or less allied. Few of their directors write or speak our language. There are conflicts and changes that must be negotiated. Thus the intercourse necessitates ability at least to read what they write in their own language, or some language, perhaps foreign to them and to me, by which each of us can comprehend. Their customs and the proper manner of approach also are difficulties to be hurdled, and call for an effort at diplomacy.

Then there is the necessity of aggression in meeting competition. It is not the easiest thing in the world to line up a cooperative organization to meet a competitor in just the manner each of its 1,300 members thinks you should. Each of our competitors has a single controlling owner answerable to no one but himself. Whatever he does is his own business. He is subject to no criticism but his own. What the management of The Associated Press does is your business and is subject to your criticism.

Then there is the obligation of trying to satisfy the biggest newspapers in the land as well as some of the smallest. Each of them occasionally feels that his interests conflict and each calls upon the management for redress.

Then there are the relations with the wire companies, from whom we must get the best wire service.

Then there are relations with the personnel of your newspapers, whose cooperation is essential to success.

Then there are the relations with the personnel of The Associated Press staff. Without a fine esprit de corps we would get nowhere.

Then, and not the easiest of all, is the relationship to the public. You all know that many readers of your newspapers are convinced that they could edit your newspapers better than you can. Well, all of this class in every community combined feel individually and collectively that they could manage The Associated Press better than I can. Some do not hesitate to write me about it. Others write letters to the newspapers. Some say it in the magazines. The only comfort I find is that each has a selfish complex. In reality, what they want is for The Associated Press to exclude everything except that which is compatible with their own mental composure or which furthers their own selfish interests.

Free From Partisanship.

Men consumed with the passion of partisanship can never believe that an institution which deals so intimately with human conflicts can remain free from intentional bias. That's why The Associated Press is alternately and with equal force charged by partisans with being liberal, conservative, wet, dry, Catholic, Protestant, Republican, Democratic, pro-labor, capitalistic, &c.

As a matter of fact it is none of those things. Nor has it the slightest concern as respects any of them except that it seeks the news of each of them. There may be members of the board of directors who as publishers have leanings toward some one of these causes. Entrusted fully with the management of the news report as I am it never occurred to me to make note of their partisan interests. I do know that they would not try to impose their partisan views upon my administration of the news report. Nor have they; nor could they.

Moreover, as intimate as I am with the staff of The Associated Press no member of that staff has ever, by word or action, had from me an indication of any partisan view of my own—if I have any.

Thus patience with partisans of both sides of a question whose declarations expose their intolerance of The Associated Press for carrying views and news of their opponents is one of the virtues that the general manager of The Associated Press must develop.

Discusses News Report.

Those are some of the complexities confronted. Others need not be outlined. I have gone as far as I have, not to gain your pity or voice complaint, but to show you that the task in all its ramifications could never be undertaken by any one except by virtue of your infinite patience and your sympathetic understanding that the job of pleasing everybody at one and the same time presents some difficulties.

The news report of The Associated Press is the justification of the existence of The Associated Press. It must be so comprehensive in its news coverage that it will, with news of interest to every class, aid you in forever extending your newspaper circulation.

That goal is at once commendable as a means to serve the public and attractive to the publisher for the financial reward its attainment brings. Just how to do that best is the problem.

If each community could support as many separate newspapers as there are interests and intellectual appetites, and if each newspaper could have an individual world news service to collect the news that interests it alone, there would be fewer difficulties. Each class could thus obtain exclusively just what it wanted to read and no one would be affronted by a type of news story not to his liking.

Tells Aims of Newspapers.

But this is not wholly possible anywhere, and since no community is large enough to support countless numbers of different newspaper publications it remains for a few, one or two, perhaps, to do their best measurably to satisfy all. The prime requisite is that each shall print really essential information; news that substantially represents the political and economic trend of the times.

That, above all things, must first be well done. The Associated Press today is delivering to you more of just this type of news than ever before in its history. Second, there must be news that is entertaining, news not of serious import, perhaps, but news that nevertheless portrays the hopes, disappointments, the happiness, the sorrows that attend human existence in every sphere. The Associated Press of today decidedly is not excluding this.

News that falls in the first category needs no advocates to justify its presentation. All classes want it. It is and must be the life blood of the newspaper. It holds the same pre-eminent position in the news report of The Associated Press. But apparently there still must be argument in justification of The Associated Press' carrying and of your printing news that falls in the second category. Objection to it comes from the ultra serious minded. It is distracting to the highly intellectual layman who does not know what it is all about and who, I regret to say, is guilty of some intolerance.

Pleads for Understanding.

I am glad that there are great intelligences in this country, but I wish they were still greater—great enough to stimulate in their souls the element of sympathetic understanding of their fellow-men of all classes. Excessive erudition encourages egotism. And frequently the intellectual who has turned egotist and thus entered the narrow sphere of selfishness does not contribute as much to human progress as he would had he not lost his sense of humor in the rare atmosphere of his self-esteem.

At any rate, not enough Americans have reached that rarified state of intelligence to support in every community the kind of newspaper that alone would please them. Newspapers, therefore, must have a general appeal. They must print matters of merit in both categories. The Asociated Press is endeavoring to furnish just that.

How well this can be done is the problem, and it is a problem worthy of our best efforts. The degree of our success indicates the degree of our contribution toward welding the people into true brotherhood and mutual understanding. It includes enlarging the horizon of the reader, lifting him out of his provincialism that his interests may include matters outside his immediate surroundings, outside his State, outside the nation, and out into the world at large. In all this, The Associated Press is ambitiously trying to fulfill its mission substantially and effectively.

Praises Melville Stone.

To do that means that The Associated Press news report must be far more general in its reader appeal than it was twenty or thirty years ago. The problem that has confronted this management is totally unlike the problem that confronted Melville Stone in 1900. The news report of that day was sufficient unto its time and we can thank our lucky stars that then there was laid a foundation for the production of what is still classic in journalistic effort. There was the opportunity that comes only to the pioneer and in Melville Stone there was the spirit fully to avail of all that the opportunity offered at that time. The elements that composed that foundation—accuracy, absence of bias and reporting the really important news—remain the cardinal principles of the effort this day, thirty years later.

But the change of years has brought in its wake the absolute necessity of enlarging the scope of the coverage by the inclusion of the class of news of secondary importance to which I have referred. In addition, supplementary activities had to be projected, either directly by The Associated Press or by an allied cooperative organization with the same officers, in order to encompass the requirements of newspaper publication of today. The proprietary news agencies are pursuing the same policy, directly or indirectly, or will have to do so if they are to survive.

The management of The Associated Press feels that the organization has thrived upon competition. It could not feel this way had not it been given latitude to broaden the scope of the news report and to undertake directly, for the time being at least, supplementary activities which concededly have strengthened its position as against competition and made more valuable the opportunity that membership in this cooperative endeavor affords.

Finds Pictures Necessary.

It has been demonstrated that a photograph of a news event can tell the news effectively and dramatically. News photos are, therefore, a necessary corollary to the business of presenting the news in words. Moreover, what we call a feature, which is a supplement to the news, if not inherently a part of it, can be delivered efficiently and economically as a corollary to the main endeavor.

State and regional news coverage has been developed far beyond what was thought proper or possible a few years ago. Nothing by way of departure that we have done has brought more value to the membership than this.

Undertaking these activities experimentally has proved the absolute necessity of incorporating them into the organization in some permanent way, either directly or indirectly. Under the present plan they are being made self-sustaining, and let me emphasize the fact that far from interfering, since we have separate staffs for them, they have contributed to the fulfilment of the main task.

Must Meet Members' Needs.

Of course there are expressions of doubt. More than once these expressions have given me deep concern, because usually they come from those devoutly interested in seeing that The Associated Press shall remain the dominant force in journalistic effort. Serious reflection, however, only carries conviction that intensification upon every angle of the present activities alone can maintain that dominance.

Let it not be forgotten that among other things Article 1 of the by-laws says that The Associated Press was formed for "the mutual cooperation, benefit and protection of its members."

It cannot benefit them if it does not meet their needs. It cannot protect them unless it is strong enough to do so. Cooperation cannot succeed where there are varying requirements unless there is a fair endeavor measurably to meet all the requirements that it is practical to fulfill.

It is my desire that the news report of The Associated Press shall be welcome reading in any respectable company, whatever the class. There is a lot in that thing of being welcomed in any circle of good citizens whatever their station in life. I cannot forget an incident in my somewhat close personal contact with my predecessor, Melville Stone.

Tells of Train Ride.

Five years before he gave up the active administration of The Associated Press, Mr. Stone asked me, at the suggestion of President Noyes, to go with him to a meeting of members of the Canadian Press. We left New York one night for Toronto on a New York Central train. Between Utica and Syracuse the train came to a sudden stop. It stood there for some time. Mr. Stone and I were reading in the smoking compartment. After a while he closed his book and suggested that we get out and see what was the trouble.

We climbed down the steps. It was raining and cold. Near by was a flagman's shanty. Mr. Stone suggested we go there and inquire. Inside there were two or three railroad employes sitting around a warm stove. We were apparently intruders. Stone was not abashed. I had never seen him chew tobacco, but on noting that one of the men was indulging in the habit, he promptly asked for a chew. It was rather grudgingly supplied, but in the next ten minutes Stone had the three railroad men and myself in laughter over his humorous anecdotes. We were having so good a time that we would have missed the train had it not been for the railroad men.

And then, climbing aboard, we met a former Canadian Premier.

The next ten minutes were given over to a discussion of matters of political import—the World War and the probability of affairs at its termination. The talk was as different from that in the flagman's shanty as day from night. In each instance Stone was at home with what interested each and talked in a language each could understand.

After the conversation with the former Premier had ended, I said to Mr. Stone that what I had witnessed had a direct bearing upon what he knew was my desire as to what The Associated Press news report should be. I wanted it to be at home and welcome in both such circles as he had been welcomed that night. We talked far into the night.

Says Stone Approved Idea.

I never had the slightest idea then that I would ever have the opportunity to bring about the transition in The Associated Press news report that I advocated. I am sure that such a thought had not occurred to him either. As I said good-night, he concluded:

"Well, if I were a younger man I might try your idea as an experiment."

When I talked with him along similar lines thereafter not once did I detect the slightest note of intolerance. And I had his word for it when the opportunity came to me to take the post he had filled so long and so ably that he was not unhappy to see me cautiously strike out in the direction that he knew I wanted to take.

I can never have the opportunity for the intimacy with each of you that it was my good fortune to have with him. And so, if any of you disagree, we may not have the opportunity of the intimacy that would permit of your convincing me that I am wrong nor of my convincing you that I am right.

I have naturally had more intimacy with members of the board of directors, and if they will let me say it in their presence, they are men of some accomplishment in journalism. Some of them had their doubts. Perhaps they still have. But I have no doubt, and you need have no doubt, nor the public which we serve need have no doubt but that the important constructive news of the world truthfully told, and without bias, remains the paramount task, the ideal toward which The Associated Press staff is and has and I hope always will strive. Anything else we have undertaken is only by way of strengthening the organization so it can sustain the paramount task.

Aware of Responsibility.

Five years is a short time in the life of The Associated Press, but it is a long time in the life of an individual. It seems much longer than that since President Noyes asked me if he might tell the board that I would be receptive to an offer of the general managership. But I remember well my reply—that, if the board thought that zeal and loyalty to the ideals for which the cooperative Associated Press stands could quicken the forward march of members and staff toward the attainment of the goal, I would, with eagerness, accept.

I did not undertake the task in ignorance of its complexities. I knew of your ability to criticize and that you expected a very great deal. I knew that in these days of commercialism this cooperative endeavor would, in order to endure, have to meet and settle new problems that beset it with mathematical progression. I knew that cooperation in news collection as exemplified by The Associated Press was facing ever increasing competition from the proprietary agencies.

I knew the difficulties of bearing in upon the members who are the beneficiaries of this cooperation, the necessity of more liberal support of the material elements that make for success.

With all that I might have faced the task lacking faith in myself. But I knew you, almost all of you, personally. And I had faith in you.

There is one final assurance I can give you: The Associated Press has a loyal staff, as fine a group as ever worked for the success of any institution. Each member of that staff joins in this greeting to you, and if I may I will give them the great encouragement which can come to them by telling them that you cordially reciprocate the greeting.

Those at Speakers' Table.

Members and guests at the speakers' table were:

F. E. MURPHY, Minneapolis Tribune.
FREDERICK I. THOMPSON, Mobile (Ala.) Register.
FRANK L. POLK, former Under Secretary of State.
STUART H. PERRY, Adrian (Mich.) Telegram.
Lieut. Col. U. S. GRANT 3d, U. S. A.
F. P. MacLENNAN, Topeka State Journal.
EMANUEL COHEN, Paramount News.
JACKSON S. ELLIOTT, assistant general manager of The Associated Press.
W. L. McLEAN.
E. LANSING RAY, St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
THEODORE G. MILLER.
CLARK HOWELL, Atlanta Constitution.
JOHN W. DAVIS, former Ambassador to Great Britain, who is general counsel of the association.
FRANK B. NOYES, president of The Associated Press.
KENT COOPER, general manager of The Associated Press.
ADOLPH S. OCHS, THE NEW YORK TIMES.
M. H. AYLESWORTH, president of the National Broadcasting Company.
E. H. BAKER, Cleveland Plain Dealer.
WICKHAM STEED, editor of The Review of Reviews.
BENJAMIN H. ANTHONY, New Bedford (Mass.) Standard.
W. G. CANNON.
ROBERT McLEAN, Philadelphia Bulletin.
JOHN N. WHEELER, Wheeler Syndicate.
J. R. KNOWLAND, Oakland (Cal.) Tribune.
LINCOLN B. PALMER, American Newspaper Publishers' Association.
RICHARD HOOKER, Springfield (Mass.) Republican.
JOHN COWLES, Des Moines Register.

Before and after the luncheon the yearly business meeting of The Associated Press was held. The application of The New Jersey Freie Zeitung for permission to print Associated Press dispatches in English was denied. Harry Gray, publisher of the paper, argued his own case. He was opposed by L. T. Russell Jr., son of the publisher of The Newark Ledger, the only other morning paper in Newark. Paul Block, who publishes The Newark Star Eagle, joined Mr. Russell in opposing the application.

The application of The Morning Sun of Wenatchee, Wash., for membership was denied. Consideration of whether or not to ban the radio broadcasting of Associated Press news was postponed for another year. The same action had been taken last year.

The features service of the association was discussed briefly, and then, when the tellers reported that they had not completed the counting of the ballots on the candidates for five vacancies on the board of directors, an adjournment was taken until 10:30 this morning. The meeting will be in the Associated Press headquarters at 383 Madison Avenue. It was indicated that the only business would be announcement of the result of the election.

The five whose terms in office expire this year and who were nominated for re-election are:

W. H. COWLES, Spokane Spokesman-Review.
FRANK P. MacLENNAN, Topeka State Journal.
E. LANSING RAY, St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
ROBERT R. McCORMICK, Chicago Tribune.
FREDERICK I. THOMPSON, Mobile (Ala.) Register.

The five additional candidates were:

C. C. HAMLIN, Colorado Springs Telegraph.
WALTER M. HARRISON, Oklahoma City Times.
GEORGE S. LONGAN, Kansas City Star.
JOHN L. STEWART, Washington (Pa.) Observer.
E. G. LEIPHEIMER, Butte (Mont.) Standard.

Mr. Leipheimer withdrew.

The annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association will start tomorrow in the Hotel Pennsylvania. The sessions will continue through Friday.

Text of Secretary Stimson's Address

The text of Secretary Stimson's speech over the radio from London to the members of The Associated Press attending the annual luncheon in the Hotel Commodore yesterday, follows:

Mr. Noyes and Gentlemen of The Associated Press:

When I had the pleasure of meeting the directors of The Associated Press last January at the dinner given by Mr. Ochs I warned you that the London Conference would be a prosaic performance. I prophesied that what it lacked in drama it would make up in length. I think you will agree with me that my prophecy has been fulfilled.

Yet because it has involved tedious and necessarily private negotiation it would be a great error to jump to the conclusion that it does not contain dramatic promise for the future. As a matter of fact, the past fourteen weeks have given me more confidence in my belief that the peaceful methods of diplomacy can eventually take the place of war than anything I have witnessed since the last war drew to a close. This confidence is based on the fact that limitation of arms gives us an affirmative plan for promoting good relations. Merely negative opposition to war is not sufficient. Progress in civilization comes only from the affirmative cultivation of habits of good-will.

Nearly two years ago the nations of the world met together at Paris and signed a document containing a good resolution of epoch-making importance. That was the so-called Kellogg-Briand pact in which the nations renounced war as an instrument of national policy, and agreed in future to solve their controversies only by pacific means. That instrument proposed a new era. It laid down a new international policy and it had behind it a general and overwhelming popular support. But such a proposal cannot be made and then left alone to hatch. New eras do not come out of old conditions merely by a new edict or a good resolution.

In order to reach a condition when no nation will resort to war as an instrument of national policy there must be established a larger measure of confidence than now exists in the ability of the different nations of the world to maintain their pacific intentions under all the temptations and circumstances which are sure to confront them. History shows us only too clearly what will happen if we leave the old conditions unchanged. Affirmative constructive steps must be taken to carry out our good resolution and to begin the evolution in mutual confidence and good-will upon which the success of our resolution depends. Otherwise the failure of our good resolutions may produce a condition worse than if they had never been made.

Last Spring President Hoover wisely decided that one of the most important of such constructive steps was a move toward naval limitation.

He realized that if the nations mean the Kellogg pact literally they must now allow conditions to arise that will jeopardize their promise. The first method to that end is an agreement on limitation of armaments. That is a clear and positive test of a national intention to maintain pacific relations under all circumstances. Such an agreement by its very nature precludes the idea of war as an instrument of national policy. For no nation is likely to agree that its neighbors shall have a navy large enough for such a purpose.

Arms Limitation a Barometer.

One of the surest tests, therefore, of the effectiveness of the Kellogg-Briand pact is the progress which is being made in the limitation of armament. Limitation of armament is a barometer or gauge of the development of confidence between nations which will enable them to deal with each other wholly upon an amicable basis. It is for this reason that my experience in the naval conference has given me so much encouragement. This encouragement is not based solely on an appraisal of just how much has been accomplished in the particular treaty which we are signing, but also upon the demonstration which this treaty affords that the process of limitation can be carried further in the future.

The work of the London conference has really comprised two quite separate naval problems—the problem of the relations between the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan on the one hand, and the problem of the relations between the navies of Great Britain, France and Italy on the other.

These are quite distinct problems. The first of these has been solved. This is a great achievement in itself and fruitful of great benefit to the general conditions of the world for the future. But it is a far simpler problem than the other because the naval relation of three countries, separated by such great oceans and wide distances as separate Great Britain, the United States and Japan, are necessarily less complex than the naval relations of the great powers of Europe. The latter are complicated by many conditions from which the former are entirely free. Furthermore America's isolated and advantageous position and the national security which this position affords imposes upon us the duty to lead in the limitation of armaments and to refrain from criticizing others less fortunately placed.

In the second of these problems—the problem of the relations of the navies of Great Britain, France and Italy—valuable discussions have been had and the underlying questions upon which a final solution must rest have been explored and clarified. In much of the discussion, members of the American delegation have been privileged to sit as friendly observers, watching the development and clarification of these underlying questions. The discussion has not merely involved a negotiation about the size of navies or the types of ships. It has been a study and debate concerning the political questions which govern the relations of these three nations of Europe to each other.

Issues Have Been Clarified.

Into these political questions it has not been America's business to enter. But sitting on the sidelines it has been quite evident that the result of the conference has been to clarify issues and make their solution in the future more possible. In this way a long step forward has been made toward ultimate limitation by those nations which have not yet agreed on a complete limitation of their navies.

This came not only by clarifying the results of their discussion but by the patience and good temper in which those discussions were carried on. This has been a good augury for the prospects of their final success. They are separating now full of determination to grapple with these problems as they now stand revealed and to finally solve them.

In summary, the message which I should like to make clear to you all today is that the success of the London naval conference is necessarily related to the success of the Kellogg pact. The good resolutions of that pact cannot stand alone. They must be followed by national effort, prompt, constant, unremitting effort, to make them good and no line of effort offers a better earnest of its success than the line of naval disarmament. In selecting that line, President Hoover laid his finger upon the best method of insuring that our solemn promise of two years ago should be fulfilled.

There are but two possible roads to travel. One is the road of competitive armament and this, whether accompanied or unaccompanied by good intentions, will lead to war. The other is the way of limitation with its constant effort to forestall war by creating such confidence and friendliness between nations as will prevent the seeds of war from growing.

We have now before us not only a definite objective but a concrete method of going at it. There is something to work on, to get our teeth into. The hard work and constant vigilance which will translate good intentions into practical realities can be accomplished and are being accomplished by naval limitation. This, to me, is the significance and encouragement of the conference we have just been through.

SINGS SONGS OF HEBRIDES.

Heloise Russell-Ferguson Accompanies Herself on the Harp.

Héloise Russell-Ferguson, a singer who accompanied herself on the Celtic as well as the modern harp, made her first appearance in New York last night in a program of songs of the Hebrides, which gave lovers of the unusual in folksongs and folklore a delightful evening. Some of the songs brought here by the recitalist included "Shoreless Seas," "Churning Lilt," "Mermaid's Croon," "Coastwise Song," "Or a Bhonnagan," "Eriskay Lullaby," "Deidre's Farewell to Scotland" and the "Leaping Galley." Some of the songs were sung in Gaelic. Willem Durieux played the 'cello obbligati.

Mildred Dilling, assisting artist, played harp solos by Rousseau, Godefroid, Hadyn, Couperin, Grovlez, Debussy and Renié.

'TROVATORE' ON EAST SIDE.

Royal Grand Opera Company Begins Popular Performances.

The Royal Grand Opera Company opened a series of popular operas with "Trovatore" last evening at Gabel's Public Theatre, Second Avenue and Fourth Street. Michael Feveisky was the conductor, well remembered as leader of a Russian opera season in the same quarter a few years ago. José Tortosa sang capably the tenor rôle in a cast of principals including Emilia Vergeri, Elizabeth Hoeppel, Ciro De Ritis and Miguel Santacana. For tonight "Traviata" was announced, with Emily Day, Ugo Martinelli and Vincenzo Pesce, and for tomorrow both "Lucia" and "Gioconda."

Benefit for the Urban League.

The performance of "The Green Pastures" on Tuesday evening, May 6 at the Mansfield, will be for the benefit of the Urban League, a settlement at 202 West 136th Street. The organization is devoted to the educational and industrial betterment of the Negro.

GENESEE SOCIETY HONORS F.E.GANNETT

Owner of Newspaper Chain Is Praised for Public Service at Dinner Here.

LETTER FROM HOOVER READ

Resolution Hails Naval Parley as a Great Contribution to Peace—T. J. Watson Heads Association.

Frank E. Gannett, publisher of The Rochester Times-Union and owner of the Gannett chain of newspapers, was the guest of honor last night at the thirty-first annual dinner of the Society of the Genesee at the Hotel Commodore. Besides the speeches extolling Mr. Gannett, there were letters from public officials, including President Hoover, who congratulated Mr. Gannett for "a high sense of public responsibility in the management of his newspapers."

The society adopted a resolution approving the "successful outcome of the naavl conference at London as a great contribution to the attainment of peace," commended President Hoover for his part and urged "the Senate of the United States to ratify the naval treaties when duly presented to President Hoover." This resolution was offered by Jesse S. Phillips, former New York State Superintendent of Insurance.

Thomas J. Watson, president of the International Business Machines Corporation, was elected president of the society to succeed J. M. Davis, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Company.

Pays Tribute to Gannett.

Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, president of Brown University, a former resident of Rochester, told of Mr. Gannett's arrival in Rochester, "an unknown quantity in our citizenship," and acclaimed the vision and enthusiasm which brought him among the leaders in his community and his profession.

"What are the qualities especially useful and significant in one who is to participate in this vast enterprise of journalism?" Dr. Barbour inquired. "One certainly is the quality of vision. Professor Peabody of Harvard suggests that what gives to any country its stability and strength is not the immediate prosperity which it has gained, but the national ideals which pervade its life.

"America, with vision—the vision of a more and more genuine democracy, an equality of opportunity, an aristocracy of character—may hold the future of civilization in her hands. America, sunk in the worship of Mammon, eaten through and through with the rust of self-indulgence, would certainly abandon her leadership and surrender to social revolution and decay.

"Our country needs nothing so much as it needs men and women who will carry the spirit of vision into every phase of life. In one aspect of life there are two classes of people in the world, drudges and dreamers, and all those who have neither any capacity to dream in the sense of vision, nor any capacity to understand and appreciate the dreams and visions of others, belong in the class of drudges. There are thousands of people in every vocation of life who are as truly machines as if they were bits of the very machinery with which they are working.

"It is good to be able to say in all honesty that this man, your friend and my friend, whom tonight we honor, is one who in significant measure has embodied in his useful life the great qualities of vision and of good-will."

Kent Cooper, general manager of The Associated Press, referred to the symbolic group on the façade of The Times-Union building in Rochester, of which the centre figure is Truth guarding the eternal flame of Enlightenment, supported by other figures symbolic of the arts.

Nicknamed "Can Do."

"Mr. Gannett and I have that in common," he said. "He looks upon his work as I do: namely, truth, enlightenment. He is a newspaper owner because he has retained and developed the primary news instinct which, when a boy, he found he had. 'Once a reporter, always,' is an expression which fits him exactly." Mr. Cooper spoke of Mr. Gannett's "Untiring energy," and told of his nickname "Can Do," because that phrase recurred in instructions to subordinates.

Stephen B. Story, City Manager of Rochester, told of the advances being made by the city under the City Manager form of government, and referred to the power and responsibility of daily newspapers in the conduct of government, saying:

"How well these responsibilities are assumed and the manner in which the power is exercised determines to a nicety the type of newspaper which is being published. From close personal observation over several years it is easily apparent to me that Mr. Gannett accepts this tremendous power toward government with a most excellent and exemplary spirit. At no time have his publications borne the slightest tinge or taint of attempting to affect any government, whether of nation, State or city, for the personal aggrandizement of Mr. Gannett or his newspaper properties."

Mr. Gannett said:

"As you all know, the greatest satisfaction which comes to any one from his life's work is to be able to feel that in it he has made a contribution to the community to which he belongs, whether that contribution be small or large, if he has given the best that is in him. You have been kind enough by this honor which you have done me, and by what has been said here so generously, to make me hope that in some measure at least these ideals which I have cherished for myself have been to some extent realized."

Reads Letter From Hoover.

Louis Wiley, who organized the Genesee Society in 1898, was toastmaster. Besides the letter from President Hoover messages were received from Governor Roosevelt, Jacob Gould Schurman, former Ambassador to Germany; Isaac Adler, Acting Mayor of Rochester; Frank B. Noyes, president of The Associated Press; Karl A. Bickel, president of The United Press; Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell University; Alfred W. Beaven, president of the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School; Jerome D. Barnum, president of the New York State Publishers' Association, and F. B. Miner, president of the New York Press Association.

Besides Mr. Watson the officers elected are:

Vice Presidents—Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, Providence; Stephen B. Story, Rochester; Edwin S. Friendly, George W. Sweeney and Irving E. Burdick.
Secretary—Isaac Joffe.
Treasurer—Charles E. Meek.
Historian—William Mill Butler.

"GYPSY BARON" REVIVED.

Little Theatre Opera Company Applauded at the Heckscher.

Johann Strauss's "Gypsy Baron," from an early romance of Maurus Jokai, produced in Vienna less than a half-century ago and once by Conried at the Metropolitan, was revived by the Little Theatre Opera Company last night at the Heckscher Theatre for its gala farewell visit of the season. Hungarian gypsy airs and Viennese waltzes were greeted by older members of a social audience with warm approval. Youthful voices again brought zest to the songs of other days. A trained ensemble and artistic stage designs gave life to one more of those "lighter classics" which it is this company's aim to keep green for a new generation.

Stage Manager Ernest Otto stepped into costume and character as Szupan, father of the hero's boyhood sweetheart. Madge Cowden sang that proud beauty, while Ruth Altman was the gypsy bride, Saffi, and William Hain was the homeless baron in person. Richard Hochfelder, who did the hero in Brooklyn, was a young gypsy—he has a third rôle later in the week—and Doris Hawes Craven was a gypsy dancer. Helen Ardelle and Arnold Spector, Gretchen Haller and a dozen in all made up the name parts, and William Reddick conducted.

The audience was invited to vote six favorites from a list of forty operettas, out of which will be chosen the productions for the Little Theatre Opera Company's fourth season next Fall.

GOLD MEDAL CONCERT HELD

Music Week Group Sponsors Carnegie Hall Hearing.

The fourth annual gold medal winners' concert sponsored by the New York Music Week Association took place last night at Carnegie Hall. Scores of future soloists, ensemble players and teachers from various parts of the city appeared on the historic platform and gave evidence of their serious guidance, painstaking preparation, high intent, and, in not a few cases, promising talent.

There was a senior orchestra of about half a hundred instrumentalists, a subsenior string ensemble with 'cellos and basses provided by the senior orchestra, and a junior violin ensemble of eighteen players. Included in the ranks were many of the gold medal winners in the piano, violin and 'cello groups, and also a clarinet and oboe.

Hans Lange, assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted the senior group. Henry Burck conducted the subsenior and junior ensembles. The pianoforte ensembles were coached by James Friskin, Carl M. Roeder and Albert von Doenhoff.

Schubert, Bach, Mendelssohn, Mozart, Saint-Saëns, Haydn and Reinicke were the composers whom the young musicians interpreted in a satisfying and promising manner.

A large audience of friends, relatives and music lovers followed the various items presented with keen attention and frequent applause.

STOKOWSKI OVERRULED.

Majority of Subscribers Vote for Right to Applaud.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21 (AP).—The suggestion of Leopold Stokowski, leader of the Philadelphia Orchestra, that audiences refrain from showing appreciation of his music by applause has been voted down. Hand-clapping will remain the vogue, he said today.

Results of a questionnaire sent to 1,000 orchestra subscribers revealed that about 700 were in favor of applauding. Only 200 favored the director's proposed ban.

LIGHT OPERA IN CHICAGO.

Spring Season Opens With "The Bohemian Girl."

CHICAGO, April 21 (AP).—A season of nine weeks of light opera was opened with "The Bohemian Girl," presented this evening by a company sponsored by the Chicago Civic Opera, directed by Frank St. Leger, Civic Opera conductor, and with a cast recruited from Grand Opera ranks. All the resources of the parent opera company, its new home on Wacker Drive, its studios and artists and endowment, have been made available to afford Chicago productions comparable to the Paris Opera Comique.

After the opening fortnight of "The Bohemian Girl" the company will present the "Chimes of Normandy," "The Gondoliers," "The Daughter of Mme. Angot" and "The Yeomen of the Guard."

The light opera brings to Chicago a third regular season of endowed opera: the Winter season of civic opera, the Spring run of opera comique and the Summer season of outdoor opera at the Ravinia Park Pavilion.

RITA ORVILLE SINGS.

Soprano Gives Recital in Four Languages at Town Hall.

Rita Orville, soprano, presented a program of Italian, German, French and English songs last night at the Town Hall.

In six gypsy melodies by Dvorak Miss Orville sang with much understanding of the text and displayed a feeling for both the idiom of Dvorak and the subject matter. While her range is large, some of the notes in the upper register had a tendency toward pointedness, though this was compensated for in the singer's ability to hold to pitch on long-sustained notes. Further, she met the exacting demands of phonetics in four languages well.

Other items on the program were two arias by Mozart, a French group by Fauré, Debussy, Charpentier and Bachelet and English lyrics by H. H. A. Beach and Richard Kountz.

Frank Bibb provided an excellent accompaniment at the piano. There were many flowers and a cordial audience.

ASK RIGHT TO CLOSE BRANCATI ESTATE

Brothers of Missing Physician Request Court to Name Them as Temporary Administrators.

PUT PROPERTY AT $260,000

Assert Realty Values Will Drop and Taxes Will Be Foreclosed Unless Action Is Taken.

Dr. Charles Brancati, physician, realty operator and stock speculator, whose disappearance on Nov. 19, 1928, has remained unsolved by the police of two continents, owned real estate in Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx valued at about $250,000 and personal property worth about $10,000. This was disclosed yesterday when his three brothers, Oreste, Ernesto and Ercole Brancati, filed a petition asking Surrogate O'Brien to name them and the Manufacturers Trust Company temporary administrators of the property until Dr. Brancati is declared legally dead.

In their petition, the brothers asserted that the value of the missing man's realty holdings will depreciate considerably unless they receive immediate attention. Since their brother's absence, they said, many tenants have failed or refused to pay their rents, mortgages have fallen due and the mortgagees have failed or refused to pay the principal and the city of New York has threatened to sell other property, mortgaged by Dr. Brancati, to pay deliquent taxes.

The petitioners also must forestall foreclosures and negotiate with the Federal authorities regarding an income tax of $100,000 for 1928, nonpayment of which has resulted in a fine of an additional $100,000. The brothers said they believed the tax could be reduced and the penalty rescinded. The Federal Government also has placed a lien of about $200,000 on the property, they added, and unless steps are taken this will reduce the estate greatly.

Concerning the fruitless search for their brother, the petitioners said:

"The irresistible conclusion has been forced home to us that he has met with foul play and, in our opinion, has been killed."

Their belief is also held, the Brancati brothers continued, by the police and the District Attorneys of New York and the Bronx.

Accompanying their petition was an affidavit by another brother, Captain Tommaso Brancati of the Italian carabinieri, saying that he had "personally directed a search in Italy, Spain, France and, in fact, over the entire continent of Europe, as well as the Kingdom of Great Britain." Upon his arrival here last November to aid in the search for his brother, Captain Brancati criticized the local police and said such disappearances were uncommon in Italy.

Surrogate O'Brien will hear the application next Tuesday. Alexander A. Doblin, counsel for the brothers, said last night that he does not anticipate any objection to the appointment because Dr. Brancati left very few debts.

Besides the four brothers referred to, the missing man's heirs include six other brothers and sisters and his mother, Mrs. Erminia Brancati, 77 years old, of Agerda, Naples, Italy.

Dr. Brancati made his home in the Gouverneur Morris mansion, in Throgs Neck, the Bronx, overlooking Long Island Sound.

poned two weeks, Republican leaders said that absentee Senators, such as Reed and Robinson, delegates to the London naval conference, and Senator Moses would have returned, and they think these will give enough votes for confirmation.

A poll of the Senate made by a Republican Senator credits forty Senators with the intention to vote for the Parker nomination. Twenty-six are classed as uncertain.

Committee's Vote on Nomination.

In the Judiciary Committee today no motions were made regarding the nomination. Chairman Norris directly asked the members to state whether the nomination should be reported "favorably" or "unfavorably." Six Republicans and four Democrats voted "unfavorably" and four Republicans and two Democrats voted "favorably."

Those voting "unfavorably" were Senators Borah of Idaho, Blaine of Wisconsin, Deneen of Illinois, Norris of Nebraska, Robinson of Indiana and Steiwer of Oregon, Republicans, and Senators Ashburst of Arizona, Caraway of Arkansas, Dill of Washington and Walsh of Montana, Democrats.

Those voting "favorably" were Senators Hastings of Delaware, Hebert of Rhode Island, Gillett of Massachusetts and Waterman of Colorado, Republicans, and Senators Overman of North Carolina and Stephens of Mississippi, Democrats.

Long Debate on Invitation Plan.

Before this vote was taken there was a long discussion as to the advisability of requesting Judge Parker to appear before the committee.

Senator Overman offered the motion to extend an invitation after he had read Judge Parker's telegram to the effect that he would gladly come before the committee if invited.

Senators Borah and Norris took the position that all the information necessary for them to reach a decision covering the judge's ruling in the "yellow-dog contract" case and his alleged utterances on Negroes had been offered in testimony before the committee.

Senator Norris declared that the committee certainly would have been most willing to hear Judge Parker if he had expressed a desire but insisted that there was no reason why the committee should summon him.

Shift of Republican Regulars.

Senator Overman based his motion on information from Senator Watson, the Republican floor leader, that President Hoover and Attorney General Mitchell had requested Senator Watson to suggest inviting Judge Parker.

Senator Steiwer disclosed that Walter Newton, executive secretary of the President, had telephoned him that neither the President nor the Attorney General had made this request, though they were not opposed to such a course.

It is understood that because of this message from the White House Senator Steiwer and three other Republican regulars voted against the Overman motion.

In the vote those favoring the motion were Senators Deneen and Hebert, Republicans; Overman and Stephens, Democrats. Those against it were Senators Borah, Blaine, Gillett, Hastings, Norris, Robinson and Steiwer, Republicans, and Ashurst, Dill and Walsh, Democrats.

On the question of the nomination the votes of Senators Deneen of Illinois, Steiwer of Oregon and Robinson of Indiana were not expected by the opposition because they were said to have given assurance of supporting Judge Parker.

Senator Steiwer said that he had voted for an adverse report with reservations, as he would vote in the Senate for confirmation.

Organized labor is strong in Oregon, while both organized labor and the Negroes are powerful in elections in Indiana and Illinois.

Racial Issue Feared in Senate.

The action of the Judiciary Committee has caused considerable perturbation in the Senate, especially among Southern Senators who feel placed in the position of having it appear, if they vote against confirming Judge Parker's nomination, that any man who holds that Negroes are not yet ready for leadership in political affairs is not entitled to sit on the Supreme bench.

The contention was advanced today that rejection of Judge Parker's nomination would be notice to the President that no Southern man having the prevailing view in the South concerning Negroes must be nominated for the Supreme Court.

Senator Overman is hopeful that the Senate will confirm Judge Parker. He feels that if he should be rejected an undesirable issue would arise in the South and that the Negro question would become acute.

"If Judge Parker is rejected Southern Negroes will accept it as due to their protests and may become unruly," he said.

Southern Students Wire Norris.

Special to The New York Times.

KATONAH, N. Y., April 21.—A telegram protesting the appointment of Judge John J. Parker to the Supreme Court was sent yesterday to Chairman Norris of the Senate Judiciary Committee by nine Brookwood Labor College students here whose homes are in Texas, North Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee. The telegram, which followed a similar one sent to Senator Norris several days ago by Local 189, American Federation of Teachers, which comprises the Brookwood faculty, read:

"We, Southern white and colored students of Brookwood Labor College, protest Parker appointment on ground of his labor record and race prejudice."

The students' telegram was signed by Walter Wilson, Houston, Texas; Dan Elliot, Marion, N. C.; Eula McGowan, Rosemary, N. C.; Nora McManus, Macon, Ga.; Lawrence Bradley, Marion, N. C.; Vivian Garth, Negro, Knoxville, Tenn.; Edgar Trull, Marion, N. C.; Helen Gregory, Knoxville, Tenn., and Joseph Russell, Atlanta, Ga.

Labor Protests Forwarded.

John H. Walker, former president of the Illinois Federation of Labor and vice president of the reorganized miner's union, has sent a letter to Senator Norris urging him to use his influence against the confirmation of Judge Parker.

"We believe that a judge who will uphold the yellow dog contract to prevent working men from organizing to protect and promote their interests as American citizens," the letter stated, "is either in knowledge or capacity, or both, unfitted to act in such an important capacity and deal out justice to working men in the spirit of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the laws of the United States as one American to another."

Benjamin Schlesinger, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, sent the following telegram yesterday to Senators Wagner and Copeland against the confirmation of Judge Parker:

"The International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, representing 70,000 workers in the women's wear industry, most of whom reside in New York, expresses the earnest hope that you will vote against the confirmation of Judge Parker.

"The elevation of a narrow-minded conservative, such as Judge Parker's record proves him to be, would be a calamity to labor and to social progress."

Walter White, acting secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People, on his return from Washington yesterday said that Negroes from all parts of the country were protesting against the Parker nomination and added:

"The Negroes are stirred on this issue and united as they have not been on any single issue since the Civil War."

The association announced receipt of a telegram from Senator Norris asking for a photostatic copy of a newspaper report of a speech made by Judge Parker ten years ago when he was a candidate for Governor, in which he is alleged to have cast aspersions upon Negroes as voters.

MELLON AND HARRISON VISIT RESERVE BOARD

New York Chief Reported to Have Been in Touch With Bank of England Officials.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Considerable comment was caused today by the presence of Secretary Mellon and George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, at the meeting of the Federal Reserve Board.

Officials, however, insisted that there was no significance to their attendance. Mr. Mellon is ex officio chairman of the board.

Mr. Harrison recently returned from Europe, where he visited England and France. It was understood while in London Mr. Harrison was in touch with officials of the Bank of England, which is maintaining a rediscount rate of 3½ per cent, the same as that of the bank of New York.

As a rule the London rate is at least a half per cent lower in order to protect the British gold reserve.

There have been rumors that the Reserve System might adopt a policy of changes in rediscount rates of 1 per cent instead of one-half of 1 per cent. Board members have declined to discuss such a change, still maintaining that rate shifts will depend upon the situation in the various Reserve districts.

No alarm has so far been felt in Reserve circles over the increase in brokers' loans over the last few weeks. This increase in the face of a fairly steady market has been attributed to the fact that possibly certain holders of stock have sold outright to those who borrowed from brokers to make the transactions.

Also it was pointed out that there may be some shifting of borrowings from banks to brokers, which would not mean an actual gain of loans on the market.

There was no official comment on the Glass resolution to investigate the Federal Reserve System. Officials said that the system was ready for any spotlight which might be thrown on it by the Senate.

Old ways seem crude once you know the lasting comfort of Kotex

Kotex absorbent now is used in 85% of our hospitals; this should guide every woman's choice of sanitary protection.

YOU will never go back to old-fashioned methods once you have tried Kotex. There is really nothing like its soft, safe, lasting protection. It gives you a feeling of security and ease that you particularly want at such times.

Kotex softness is not just on the surface. It comes from the unusual substance of which Kotex is made . . . Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding. This is the very same absorbent that is used in 85% of our great hospitals today. It is used by doctors for the most important surgical work. Surely, then, you yourself could use nothing finer.

Kotex is made up of layer on layer of this fine, tissue-like substance known as Cellucotton. It is actually a cellulose product which acts as efficiently as the very softest cotton—with five times greater absorbency. You see, each layer is a quick, complete absorbent in itself.

Real health protection

Doctors consider sanitary protection as real health protection . . . a safeguard for lowered vitality. That is why it is so important to use Kotex, the scientifically designed sanitary pad. Try it. You will see, then, what a difference it makes. It is disposable, you know. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, fleecy softness that lasts for hours.

2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.

3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

4—Disposable, instantly, completely.

BRILLIANT CONCERT IN NATION'S CAPITAL

BY THE U. S. SERVICE BAND

Three Organizations Provide 100 Players—Seven New Works by Latin Americans Given.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A brilliant audience gathered in the marble Hall of the Americas at the Pan American Union Building tonight for a concert of historic importance. It was headed by Vice President Curtis and included Ambassadors and Ministers from thirty-two countries, as well as Chargé d'Affaires or other representatives of twelve additional countries.

Others in the audience of more than 1,000 were two justices of the Supreme Court, Secretary of Labor and Mrs. James J. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Gann and internationally prominent society folk.

Moreover a vast radio audience "listened in." To every American country represented by the twenty-one flags hanging at one end of the hall the program was sent by short wave. Eleven countries rebroadcast it, picking it up from the Schenectady station.

For the first time in history all three service bands united in one United States service orchestra. For three years members of the Army and Navy bands have played together in "all-American programs." On tonight's program they were joined by the Marine Band, known as the President's own. From the 275 men in the three organizations, 100 were chosen. Captain W. J. Stannard of the Army Band, Lieutenant Charles Benter of the Navy Band and Captain Taylor Branson of the Marine Band took turns in leading.

The concert featured seven new compositions, all by Latin-American composers. Three were written especially for this début of the triple orchestra and dedicated to it. They were "Night in the Andes," by Justin Elie of Haiti; "Espiritus Incaicos" (Spirit of the Incas), by Pedro Traversari of Ecuador, and "Corazon Latino" (The Latin Heart), by Alvarado of Mexico. The first was in the form of an evocation, the second was a symphonic lyric legend, and the third a symphonic divertissement.

An unusual selection was featured in the opening group of marimba solos played by Master Sergeant John Bauman of the Army Band. It was a pasillo written by Hernando Rico of Colombia and called "Olaya Herrara," dedicated to the recent Minister from that country to the United States. now President-elect of Colombia, who has just reached New York on his way here. Señor Olaya is a member of the governing board of the Pan-American Union.

Another feature was the first performance anywhere of an indigenous dance, "Danza Salvaje," written by the composer-pianist, Luis Delgadillo of Nicaragua, who conducted the orchestra in it and also played solo numbers.

The other guest soloist was Manuel Salazar, a tenor, who sang songs written by composers of his native Costa Rica, some of them presented for the first time in any language.

Both Señor Delgadillo and Señor Salazar are graduates of the Music Conservatory of Milan, and have made successful tours in Europe. Señor Salazar has previously sung with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

There was also the initial presentation in this country of a fantasy on the opera, "Lo Schiavo," written by Señor Gomes of Brazil, the overture of whose opera, "Il Guarany," is familiar on programs all over the world.

Still another country supplying a "first time performance" was Chile, with a tone poem by Allende, entitled "Voice of the Streets."

Additional numbers on the program were more or less familiar. "The Star-Spangled Banner" was the only number written by a United States composer that was played. Composers of twelve Latin-American countries were represented. Franklin Adams, counsel of the Pan American Union, who with Dr. Leo Rowe, director general, has sponsored these concerts, says that now that the United States Service Orchestra has become truly representative of all three branches of the "service," the programs will include more compositions of American composers.

It is the hope of the Pan American Union that this Service Orchestra will officially represent the high standards of musical progress that is the aim of many organizations in this country today. Last Spring the army band journeyed to Spain at the invitation of the King and gave sixty programs of New World music during the exposition.

PAN-AMERICANS HEARD.

The Pan-American Association of Composers presented a concert of works by composers of Mexico, Cuba and the United States last night in Carnegie Chamber Hall.

The works of what might be termed the extreme right wing of North and Central American musical composition included Carlos Chaves's sonatina for violin and piano and Henry Cowell's solo for violin, with Jerome Goldstein and Imre Weisshaus; Imre Weisshaus's piano suite, played by the composer; Charles Ives's "Indians," "New River" and "Ann Street," with Harry Freistadt, trumpeter and Mr. Weisshaus, pianist; Vivian Fine's solo for oboe, played by D. Desarno; Mr. Weisshaus's six pieces for solo voice and Alejandro Caturla's two Afro-Cuban songs, sung by Radiana Pazmor, contralto; short pieces by Messrs. Rudhyar, Strang, Brant, Weiss and Antheil, played by Mr. Weisshaus at the piano, and "Rat Riddles," for voice, oboe, piano and percussion, with Messrs: Weisshaus and Edward Bredshall at the piano, and Miss Pazmor and Mr. Desarno.

FINDS COLLEGES LAGGING.

Dr. Hutchins Says They Are Far Behind Lower and Higher Schools.

The educational progress made in the United States in the last twenty-five years has been largely at the top and the bottom, and colleges are stagnating compared both with lower schools and with the higher professional schools, Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, 31-year-old president of the University of Chicago, told 250 members of the Chicago Alumni Club here at the Town Hall last night.

"There are colleges giving A. B. degrees in this country that haven't changed their curriculum since the early nineteenth century," President Hutchins said, comparing this with some of the advances in medical schools on one side and nursery schools on the other.

The appointment of Thornton Wilder as an instructor of undergraduates was mentioned by Dr. Hutchins as an example of the parallel attempts to build up a distinctive undergraduate program and to foster creative writing. Among other proposed innovations he listed plans to merge graduate and undergraduate work in the senior college, to give a general examination for work not at the end of a set term of years but when the student is ready, and to make the course for the Ph. D. degree more flexible.

W. Brent Vaughn, chairman of the newly established alumni fund, asked for support. Dr. George E. Vincent, former president of the Rockefeller Foundation and former dean at the University of Chicago, was toastmaster.

BUILDING IN MARCH GAINED 50 PER CENT

TOTAL PUT AT $164,165,206

New England Increase Is 82.2 Per Cent for the Month—All Districts Report a Rise.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—An increase of 50.6 per cent in the estimated expenditures for all building operations for which permits were issued in March, compared with permits in February, was announced by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Department of Labor, today. Reports were received from 292 cities having a population of 25,000 or over.

The estimated cost of all building operations included in March permits was $164,165,206, while the indicated expenditure for February was $109,009,775.

Residential building increased 35.8 per cent and non-residential building increased 68.2 per cent, comparing March with February. There were 11,405 families provided for in the new buildings for which permits were issued in these cities during March, an increase of 32.6 per cent over the 8,599 provided for according to permits issued during February.

Increases were shown in new residential buildings in all of the seven districts. Increases were registered for non-residential buildings for all districts except the East-North Central.

Increases in families provided for and in total building operations were shown in all districts comparing March with February permits.

In the New England division the increase in total building operations was 82.2 per cent; in the Middle Atlantic division, 54.3 per cent; East North Central division, 20.8 per cent; West North Central division, 41.3 per cent; South Atlantic division, 112.7 per cent; South Central division, 47.3 per cent, and in the Mountain and Pacific division, 44.8 per cent.

The estimated cost of new "residential" buildings in the 292 cities having a population of 25,000 or over, by geographic divisions, was given as follows:

Geographic Div.	Feb., 1930.	Mar., 1930.

GIRL LOST AT CIRCUS WALKS MILES HOME

13,863 AT PERFORMANCE

Catherine Neugebauer went to the annual charity performance of the circus yesterday morning. A rather tiny figure in a white dress, she attended as a part of the section taken from Greenpoint by the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities. She liked the circus. She had never seen one before, although a year or so ago there was a clown in a movie she attended. But even movies have been scarce.

After the show was over—early in the afternoon—the children who had come with her assembled in the lobby of Madison Square Garden. Catherine's 11-year-old sister, Cecelia, noticed that she was missing. Representatives of the bureau, the circus and the police looked for her, but there were so many 9-year-old girls in white dresses that she could not be found. The group went back to Greenpoint, while the police of the Missing Persons Bureau continued with the search.

Late yesterday afternoon she had not been found. Charity workers went to her home at 194 Oakland Street to tell her mother about it. They found Mrs. Neugebauer ill and her husband out of work. He has a weak heart and has been unable to get a job for seven months. They also found the family was to be evicted; that had they not appeared Catherine would have had no home to return to. They managed to put off the dispossess proceedings until Monday, and they bought some food

While they were telling Mrs. Neugebauer that everything would be all right there was a tired knock at the door and Catherine came in. Her white dress was dusty and she was limping. She explained that after missing the rest of her party at the Garden she had started to walk. She wandered on foot to the Williamsburg Bridge. There a man gave her a nickel for the ride across. Then she had walked some miles more to Oakland Street. She was tired, but still liked the circus.

After Catherine had been put to bed, Mrs. Neugebauer and the representatives of the bureau held a conference. They do not want their home broken up, but it was decided that the father had better take treatment at the Burke Foundation in White Plains for a time. He will go there this morning. Catherine and Cecelia, both of whom are undernourished, will stay where they are until things straighten themselves out.

Just as Catherine enjoyed the circus, so did almost 14,000 other children from various parts of the city. They filled up every seat in the Garden, and the greater part of them were provided with dimes for peanuts. They applauded the Wallenda Troupe as it crossed the high wire, and the tumblers of five nations hurling through the air. And they laughed at the clowns, at Shorty Flem—who amused them for fifteen minutes preceding the show—and the majestic Felix Adler.

Like Catherine, some got lost. Shortly after the end of the show a lieutenant from the West Forty-seventh Street station found himself with a group of thirty-five who didn't know where they belonged. Some understood the transportation problem well enough to get home after they had received the money on which to do it; and some could be identified only by the small tags with which they had been decorated. Private cars took the smallest ones home and an extra bus delivered the rest.

In addition to the 13,862 tickets that had been distributed, there was at least one gate crasher present. He was 10 years old and a newsboy and had found a friend to sit in at the Brooklyn stand during his morning's absence. He piled into the Garden with a bus load of children and, after being ejected from the better seats, found himself in the last row of the balcony. He had a dime—half of this designed for B. M. T. operating expenses and the rest for peanuts.

Midway along the show, however, is the clowns' exploding automobile. This appeared in the course of events at the same time the balloon man appeared back of the last seat in the balcony. The man waited there as if he knew the small girl in front would cry at the noise. She did. She cried for some time and no one paid very much attention. She did not stop until the boy had made a purchase. The balloon man gave her one with a picture of an elephant.

The purchaser explained on the way out that while he was getting a little old to dodge under subway turnstiles, still there are moments in the lives of men in which it is occasionally necessary.

Shifts WGBS to Old Wave.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Broadcasting station WGBS, at Astoria, Long Island, lost its experimental frequency of 600 kilocycles when the Radio Commission transferred that frequency today to station WICC, at Bridgeport, Conn. The order is effective April 30, when WGBS will go back to its old frequency of 1,180 kilocycles

EDISON RADIO

LIGHT-O-MATIC

FLASH! There's Your Station

Alone among radios, the Edison possesses Light-O-Matic Tuning, which instantly, easily and accurately brings in your favorite stations, announcing each arrival with a flash of crimson light.

One Name—Greater Than Claims

To buy a radio with security you must look to a name that merits your confidence.

Such a name is Thomas A. Edison—pre-eminent in science—and certainly deserving of your confidence on a radio. You will not find the Edison you buy today being sold at "cut prices" in a few months. Just as the Edison is worthy of its great name it is worthy of your investment.

Never have the Edison Laboratories set their standards at less than a perfected radio. Here it is—the Edison Light-O-Matic Radio. Enjoy it—depend upon it—let it live with you through years of beauty, pleasure and pride of possession. Hear it today!

Models of Beauty . . . The model illustrated is the Edison C-4, all-electric radio-phonograph combination. $325, less tubes. Other models from $175, less tubes. Also models for D. C. operation. Convenient terms.

NATALIE POTTER ENGAGED TO WED

Troth of Actress in "Those We Love" to William C. Ladd Is Announced by Her Mother.

SHE IS IN JUNIOR LEAGUE

Her Fiance, Son of Cleveland (Ohio) Physician, Is a Member of the Harvard Club of New York.

Mrs. Nathaniel Bowditch Potter of 36 East Seventy-second Street has announced the engagement of her only daughter, Miss Natalie Potter, to William C. Ladd, elder son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Williams Ladd of Cleveland, Ohio. The engagement is of interest to a large circle of friends in Boston as well as here. Miss Potter is the daughter of the late Dr. Nathaniel Bowditch Potter, who was prominent both here and in Boston. She is a granddaughter of the late Professor Charles Sprague Sargent of Holm Lea, Brookline, Mass., internationally noted as the director of Arnold Arboretum, and who for nearly fifty years was Professor of Arboriculture at Harvard University.

Miss Potter attended Princess Mestchersky's School in Paris and was graduated from Foxcroft School, Virginia. She was introduced to society in November four years ago at a large dinner dance given in Boston by her grandfather, the late Professor Sargent, and the following month at a ball at the Ambassador in this city given by her mother. Since then she has devoted her time to the theatre. She spent a year at the American Laboratory Theatre and appeared in the Max Reinhardt productions. Last year she was a member of the cast of "Let Us Be Gay," a comedy by Rachel Crothers, and at present is appearing in "Those We Love," by George Abbott and S. K. Lauren. She is a member of the Junior League of this city and Boston and of the Vincent Club of the latter city.

Mr. Ladd is a grandson of the late Professor George Trumbull Ladd of Yale University. He is a brother of Miss Cornelia T. Ladd and of Louis W. Ladd Jr. He was graduated from Harvard with the class of '26 and is now with Kean, Taylor & Co., this city. Mr. Ladd is a member of the Delphic, Institute of 1770, D. K. E., Hasty Pudding and Signet and the Harvard Club of New York.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Other Engagements

Parsons—Squire.

Mrs. Edgerton Parsons of 33 East Seventieth Street and Hadlyme, Conn., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Alice Edgerton Parsons, to Allan Taft Squire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Butler Squire of New Haven, Conn. The announcement was made on Sunday at a reception given by Mrs. Parsons at her home here. Miss Parsons was graduated from the Spence School and from Smith College with the class of '28. She was introduced to society in the Winter of 1925 and is a member of the Junior League. Miss Leonora H. Parsons is her sister. Her father died last September.

Mr. Squire prepared at Taft School for Yale, from which he was graduated with the class of '28. He is a member of the Yale Club of New York. He is with the firm of James Gamble Rogers.

Price—Waltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ballinger Price of Glen Ridge, N. J., gave a tea yesterday afternoon at which they announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Cornelia Price, to George H. Waltz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Waltz of 680 Riverside Drive.

Miss Price, who is a portrait painter, attended the Prospect Hill School in Newark, studied with Rose Stokes of that city, and for the last two years has been attending the Cooper Union Art School. She is a charter member of the Junior Auxiliary of the Glen Ridge Women's Club. One of her portraits was hung in the Autumn exhibition of the Montclair Art Museum.

Mr. Waltz is a graduate of the Stevens Institute of Technology and is a member of the Chi Phi fraternity. He is on the editorial staff of the Popular Science Publishing Company and has written articles for the new encyclopedia soon to be published.

Among those assisting the hostess at the tea were Mrs. George W. De Lisser, Mrs. William H. Seely, Mrs. Wallace Klaire and Mrs. Alfred Hurrell.

Roberts—Macdonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roberts of 1,112 Park Avenue have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Brockway Roberts, to Donald Scantlebury Macdonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Macdonald of 260 West Seventy-second Street.

The marriage will take place in June.

MISS GRAHAM WED TO R. C. FREELANDER

Ceremony in St. Bartholomew's Chapel Performed by Rev. Creswick Todd.

BRIDE HAS ONE ATTENDANT

Her Brother-in-Law, Frank Fritts, Gives Her in Marriage—Wedding Trip to Cuba.

The marriage of Miss Martha Graham, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. James H. Graham of Louisville, Ky., to Ronald Cullen Freelander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Freelander of 850 Park Avenue, took place yesterday afternoon in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Creswick Todd of St. Andrew's Church, South Orange, N. J., in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

Due to an illness in the bride's family, her father was not able to come to New York. She was escorted by her brother-in-law, Frank Fritts, who gave her in marriage. She wore a sleeveless frock of beige flat crêpe with a cape coat and a hat of natural straw trimmed with brown felt. She wore a shoulder bouquet of yellow orchids. Miss Mary Barclay was maid of honor and her only attendant. She wore a frock of black-and-white printed silk with elbow-length sleeves, and a large black picture hat with white flowers, and wore a corsage of iris and lilies of the valley.

Rensselaer W. Bartram Jr. was best man for Mr. Freelander. The ushers were Frederic E. Lake and Henry W. Farnum.

There was no reception, the couple leaving immediately by train for Florida en route to Cuba. On their return they will live in Riverside, Conn.

The Rev. Alexander Wohlslager, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Amelia Fitz, as maid of honor and Harry Nelson of Portchester, N. Y., was best man. A reception and wedding supper followed the ceremony at the home of the bride. The couple will sail for Bermuda tomorrow.

BERENGARIA SCENE OF A DINNER DANCE

Benefit on Liner for Toc H Ships' Boys Club Attracts Many in Society.

Many in society were attracted to the liner Berengaria last night for a dinner dance and entertainment in aid of the building fund of the Toc H Ships' Boys Club. This annual event is in the interest of the Toc H movement, a spirit of fellowship developed during the World War which has among its supporters in England the Prince of Wales and in this country many men of prominence.

Dinner was served in the first-class dining salon on D deck, music being furnished by the ship's orchestra. There were several large dinner parties. One was given by Mr. and Mrs. Stuart C. Edmonds for Mr. Edmonds's sister, Miss Hélène Ormonde Edmonds, and Herbert Noble Jr., whose engagement has just been announced. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell Wallace 2d, Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Cammann, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Palmedo, Mr. and Mrs. John J. P. Murphy, Miss Elaine Ulman, Miss Adele Kelley, A. Barclay Ulman, Granville Barclay Ulman and James Todd.

From dinner guests went to the ship's ballroom for dancing. In the smoking lounge on the sun deck a bridge tournament was directed by Mrs. T. Charles Farrelly and Mrs. Lyttleton Fox. Later many of the younger guests took part in a treasure hunt throughout the ship organized by Mr. and Mrs. Jordan L. Mott 3d.

After a buffet supper, served in the lounge, there was an entertainment in the ballroom by theatrical stars. A. E. Mathews was master of ceremonies. The performers included Miss Gertrude Lawrence, Bert Lahr, Miss Bobbé Arnst, Moss and Fontana and Miss Denny Prager.

Miss Mary Hamilton Davis headed the committee of arrangements, which included the Misses Elizabeth Ackermann, Lillian Emerson, Marsha Key Allen, Jean Hawkey, Elizabeth G. Ballard, Marjorie Y. Kane, Jane Porter Breed, Cornelia Prime, Alice and Eleanor Coonley, Elizabeth Roome, Happy Shannon, Gertrude Conklin and Alice Pendleton Stevens.

The floor committee was headed by Lawrence Smith Butler.

Among the patrons, many of whom entertained parties at dinner on the ship, were:

Sir Harry Gloster Armstrong and Lady Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gerry, Mrs. Henry C. Swords, Miss Elizabeth Swords, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Reid, Sir Ashley and Lady Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Burden, Professor and Mrs. Herbert E. Hawkes, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Leffingwell, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clapp Smith, Miss Juliana Cutting, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. COSTUME DANCE HELD IN NEWPORT

Art Association Ball Devoted to "Gay 'Nineties," Elizabethan, Empire and Modern Periods.

ROBESON LEADS COTILLION

First Dance Figures in Many Years Recall Days of Harry Lehr—W. H. Vanderbilts Give Dinner.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., April 21.—The artists' costume ball at the Art Association ushered in the post-Lenten season here this evening.

After weeks of preparation on the part of a large committee of members, the ball proved to be most brilliant. Winter colonists, army and navy leaders, members of the Art Association and their friends to the number of more than 300 were in attendance.

Originally the committeee in charge had planned to restrict the ball to the "gay '90s," but, finding that there was a desire for a wider scope in costumes, the Elizabethan, Colonial, Empire and modern periods were added. Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt, William H. Drury and Miss Anne Henshaw, as judges, selected the winners of eight prizes offered.

The judging of the costumes took place during the cotillion, the first dance of the kind that had been seen in Newport in many years. It recalled the days of the late Elisha Dyer and Harry Symes Lehr. Andrew Robeson, who led the dance this evening, proved a worthy successor to these one-time experts. His partner was Mrs. Donald MacRae.

The entertainment had been arranged by a large committee headed by Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott and including Mrs. Guy F. Baker, Captain William H. Bell, U. S. M. C., Mrs. Paul Fitz Simons, Mrs. Vanderbilt Church, Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt, Herman Milton Hubbard Jr., Lieutenant Andrew R. Mack, Andrew Robeson, Miss Helena Sturtevant, Mrs. George B. Wright, Mrs. J. K. Taussig, Mrs. George H. Laird and Miss Christine Tuck Curtiss.

The guests were received by Mrs. William H. Bell, Mrs. William H. Drury, Mrs. Daniel B. Fearing, Mrs. Bradford Norman, Miss Edith Ballinger Price, Miss Helena Sturtevant and Miss Charlotte Cabell, all in costume.

The first specialty of the evening was an artistic dance by a group of young women dressed in the costumes of art students. Commander Edmund S. R. Brandt of the Naval War College and Mrs. Mack, wife of Lieut. Commander Andrew Mack, both dressed in the fashions of the "gay '90s," gave an exhibition of the old waltz. The cotillon was then given.

Among the patronesses were Mmes. Fred V. S. Chamberlain, Thomas L. Johnson, Joseph R. Defrees, Vanderbilt Church, William H. Vanderbilt, James Stewart Cushman, Richard C. Adams, Walter S. Davidson, Juan de Riano, Marion Eppley, William Fahnestock, Daniel B. Fearing, Paul Fitz Simons, William Grosvenor, Bradford Norman, Reginald Norman, J. K. Taussig, T. Shaw Safe, Frederic P. Sands and Andrew Robeson.

THE NAVAL TREATY.

Nothing like the radio for enabling a public man to keep his engagements! Secretary STIMSON had expected to be present in person at The Associated Press luncheon yesterday, but was delayed in London. Yet he was able to make his speech just the same. In fact, through its clear reproduction here, it is probable that he was better heard than if he had been actually in the room without an amplifier to carry his recognizable voice to all parts of it. It was one more vivid proof of the way in which radio goes on annihilating both space and time.

What the Secretary had to say was characteristically frank and modest. He indulged in no boasting. He did not pretend that the American delegates are coming home with a great and complete diplomatic triumph to give to their countrymen. Mr. STIMSON admitted that the naval conference has been a mixture of success and failure. Some things strongly hoped for—indeed, put into the very forefront of the program—had not been attained. But the spirit of the conference had been excellent, there had been universal agreement on the main principle of limiting naval armament by international treaty, together with a general recognition of the fact that the Briand-Kellogg treaty renouncing war requires to be supplemented and made concrete by definite steps to lessen and finally to destroy altogether the fear of war. In Mr. STIMSON's opinion, these are the great reasons why we should all take courage at the results, limited though they are, which were arrived at in London.

The naval treaty is now in the hands of President HOOVER. Apparently it is his decision not to submit it to the Senate until after Secretary STIMSON returns to Washington, along with the two United States Senators who were delegates, in order to get their verbal report and advice before launching the treaty upon the troubled waters of the Senate. It is already evident that there will be opposition to ratification—at least to speedy ratification—and that a prolonged debate is probable. This will cut down the margin of time available before Congress adjourns, as it is expected to do, early in June. Therefore the country must reconcile itself to the possibility that the naval treaty will not be ratified at the present session, but will be carried over to December. This would not necessarily spell another rebuff to the President, since the Senate will, in the end, almost surely ratify. But it will have the effect, if it occurs, of once more making the United States appear to have lost the initiative, and to have become something of a laggard in the great work of establishing and buttressing the peace of the world.

THE BURNING ISSUE.

Due to the personalities of both candidates and the sex of one of them, this year's Senatorial contest in Illinois has been spoken of as "the most interesting to be determined by American voters in 1930." But the news that DWIGHT W. MORROW's appointment to the Senate and his active participation in the New Jersey Republican primaries for nomination to that office are set for the end of the month, calls attention to another impending and absorbing political struggle. The understanding had been that Mr. MORROW would return for a time to his post in Mexico City before plunging into the New Jersey campaign. Apparently his plans have changed. Mr. MORROW will no sooner be a Senator than he will start campaigning to remain one.

From the date of the Hackensack meeting, the delegate to the London conference will find his life radically changed. Several times he has dealt with public matters. His two inquiries—one into New Jersey prison conditions, the other into the state of the aviation industry—brought him somewhat into contact with politicians, but not annoyingly so. At the Cleveland National Convention of 1924 he was engaged in representing President COOLIDGE, who was to be nominated. But there he met politicians in the rôle of one who has much to give and nothing to ask. Now in New Jersey, due to the direct primary, Mr. MORROW must deal with politics as an active candidate. The great distinction won by him, the warm praise he has had from that most temperate commentator, Mr. COOLIDGE, undoubtedly will have a broad appeal among New Jersey voters. They will be proud to have a Senator of Mr. MORROW's calibre. But it is not the work of the London conference which is filling the minds of the Jersey politicians. No one of them wants to hear how skillfully Ambassador MORROW improved Mexican-American relations. The question Mr. MORROW is expected to answer immediately is: "How Dry are you?" Until that is answered not even his own board of strategy can tell him what chance he will have to succeed himself in the United States Senate.

As the campaign proceeds he will learn many things in electioneering politics. His opponent for the nomination, Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN, will, if defeated, swiftly be replaced by a Democrat who will be even less interested in Mr. MORROW's international career. Thus does the Republic levy a toll on those among its outstanding men who yield to the demand of serious publicists that they go into active political life.

THE DELAWARE RIVER CASE.

The Supreme Court of the United States is soon to decide the respective rights of the States of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania in the watershed of the Delaware. On the outcome of the suit brought by New Jersey against New York, which began yesterday with the taking of testimony before a special master, depends the city's future water supply. It tried its best to get an agreement between the three States. Twice, in 1925 and again in 1927, official commissions united in recommending a tri-State compact, but each time the city failed to secure the necessary legislative sanction. Thereupon New York decided to go ahead and tap that part of the watershed on her side of the border which immediately adjoins the Catskill system. Before proceeding with its plans, the city sought the legal advice of JOHN W. DAVIS and CHARLES E. HUGHES, both of whom assured the Board of Water Supply that it need have little fear that the court would enjoin the carrying out of the project.

New York intends to use only about a quarter of the watershed within the boundaries of the State, only the flood waters from that watershed, and only so much of them—600,000,000 gallons a day—as would have been permitted under the agreement negotiated in 1927. In times of drought, the city agrees to open the gates of its reservoirs and increase the natural flow. It rests its demands on what it considers a reasonable use of these waters under reasonable regulation. It contends that no damage will be done to any interest at any point along the river lower down, or to navigation, or to the fisheries, or to the oyster beds of Delaware Bay. Here is where New Jersey takes sharp issue with the contentions of New York. If in any case actual damage does result, the city agrees to pay compensation in the usual course.

It was only on condition that the city would agree to make such compensation that the State Water Power and Control Commission approved the project. Attorney General WARD points out that this is one respect in which this case differs from the famous Chicago diversion case. The Sanitary District claimed the right to take water from the Great Lakes without compensation to the injured States of the St. Lawrence watershed. New York was one of the States which brought suit in the Supreme Court to restrain that diversion. The shoe is on the other foot now, and the Attorney General even takes comfort in one of the latest findings in the Chicago case held adverse to the contentions of the complaining States. While the court directed the Sanitary District to make a sharp reduction in the diversions from one watershed to another, it did not forbid Chicago to pump water out of Lake Michigan for domestic purposes and return it through the drainage canal into the watershed of the Illinois River.

Here is plainly an issue of paramount importance, not only to this city, but to all States in controversy with their neighbors over the use of interstate waters. New York can only hope that the contentions of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, as well as her own, may be asserted with the utmost vigor and thoroughness, in order that the conclusions of the court may be accepted as fair and just.

AN UNBIASED LEADER.

MEIER STEINBRINK, the new and energetic leader of the resurgent Kings County Republican organization, has an admirably delicate sense of his functions. The true leader must follow. In what is perhaps the primary part of leadership, distribution of the offices or the resolution to create new offices, Mr. STEINBRINK has already shown his ability to interpret the will of his mandators, as Chairman MAIER and other outside meddlers with the privileges of Kings County Republicans know to their cost. To get and make as many offices as possible is to exercise an elemental right of a leader.

In less weighty matters, such as opinion and belief, the leader is but the chairman of the meeting, so to speak. He finds the sense of the house and makes it his own. There he is an agent, not a principal. Prohibition is now the cardinal question in Republican minds. What do the members of the Kings County Executive Committee and Kings County Committee think about it? Is the majority of them for enforcement, modification or repeal? Mr. STEINBRINK will know when the ballots he has mailed to these subleaders are returned and counted. These committee members, all of or close to the rank and file, will tell him the preponderant opinion of that venerated, if always a little mysterious, basic party entity.

That committee opinion he will then regard as official. Quite impersonally and mechanically, he will make it his own. Mr. STEINBRINK's referendum is but one of many evidences among Republicans in these parts that they are sick of being the scapegoats of the more or less doubtfully Dry up-State Republicans. The Republican party hereabout has troubles enough without being tied up by insincerities, ambiguities or silences to a tottering cause. It will be a pleasure to find the Republicans of Kings County, or anywhere else, speaking their minds and showing exactly where they are "at" after ten years of beating about the bush.

It is likely enough that Mr. STEINBRINK has a strong suspicion of what the result of his referendum will be, but he will be strictly neutral till he gets his instructions. His caution and his theory of his representative character prove that he has pondered carefully the scope and limitations of his rôle. Yet many of us must regret that he has sought and consented to abide by the decision. "Personally, I am neither Wet nor Dry," he says, "but, "after all, it is not what I think but "what the people in my party think "about it." As neither Wet nor Dry, he possessed exactly the qualifications which, we were told a few days ago, were thought necessary for a harmonious Republican candidate for Governor.

Should the Kings County committeemen give a Wet majority, would Mr. STEINBRINK, bound to obey their voice and fight to maintain their position, thereby be incapacitated from becoming the Perfect Candidate? He would still be, personally, neither Wet nor Dry. Only in his dissociated official personality would he be Wet. But these distinctions might be too subtile for the Republican State Convention.

COLOMBIA'S ENVOY-PRESIDENT.

The welcome extended to President-elect OLAYA of Colombia on his arrival in this country was of a twofold character. It was for the chosen head of a neighbor country and for an individual who has many friends in the United States as a result of his long residence here as Colombian Minister. Not often have Ambassadors returned to take the highest office within the gift of the homeland. In recent years the former Minister from Holland, Jonkheer DE GRAFF, left Washington to become Governor General of the Dutch East Indies—the most coveted post at the disposal of the Dutch Government with the exception of that of Prime Minister. CLEMENCEAU had lived in the United States as a young man. But Dr. OLAYA has the even more unusual record of having come to reciprocate America's friendship after having, as a younger man, been one of our outspoken critics.

Colombia is to be congratulated that her incoming President is a man of modern ideas, who recognizes the importance of business and economics in national life and who understands the part which science and engineering can play in the development of a new country. Colombia has been suffering from economic depression during the last year or more. This is due in part to the unsatisfactory status of her oil trade, but more to the slump in coffee. At the same time she has suffered from an inadequate transportation system, due largely to her peculiar geographic formation.

Dr. OLAYA's program includes a new foreign loan, the creation of a commission of financial experts to help restore business, the building of roads and railroads, and the use of agricultural experts to give advice in the development of special farm products. Having lived long in this country, he looks here to find some of his technical advisers. This is all the more natural in that the commercial ties between the two countries have long been close. As the second largest producer of coffee in the world, Colombia has exported much to this country, the leading consumer of coffee. The United States takes more than four-fifths of Colombia's exports and furnishes about half of her imports. More than $70,000,000 worth of Colombian securities have been offered in the American market.

President-elect OLAYA's many friends in this country will doubtless be of help to him in obtaining here the aid which he desires. Fortunately he comes here without the illusions of some of the statesmen of other Latin-American republics. He knows that the fear and jealousy of the United States commonly expressed in Latin America are largely the product of misunderstandings. His interests are ours—to see his country efficiently governed while her economic resources are being developed to her own profit.

PENSIONS.

The discussion of pensions by Dr. PRITCHETT in the current bulletin of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching is a real contribution. What it makes clear is that actuarial computation is not the sole factor in providing a permanent system. It is necessary to determine the social philosophy upon which the system is to rest. To use the figure employed by Dr. PRITCHETT, the captain must first designate the port of destination before the navigator, the actuary, can set the course. Is it to be a free pension system or is it to be one in which the beneficiaries are to have a contributory part with contractual rights? There are still other questions, as to freedom of movement, scale of benefits, &c., which have to be settled before the computations begin.

Out of its own unhappy experience, as well as observation, the Carnegie Foundation has arrived at the conclusion that "no pension sys-"tem based on charity to the indi-"vidual can be defended," and that any system which provides an old-age annuity without contribution is "demoralizing to any group of men, however high-minded." This consideration was foremost in bringing about the adoption by the Foundation of a contractual plan in substitution for free pensions as former obligations expired. The freedom of the teacher in moving about or even in leaving the profession is safeguarded without impairment of his security. Moreover, the tendency of this policy is to raise the salary and not depress it, as happened under the free pension system.

The principles learned in seeking to carry into effect Mr. CARNEGIE's generous intent underlie every sound system of pensions, whether in private industry or public service, whether for individuals or groups. The same economic and social philosophy controls. If there is an exception, it would be in the field of the ministry, where vows of poverty are traditional and earthly gain is not a motive. Bishop LAWRENCE's testimony here would have greater weight. The clergy are in a category apart, and it is conceivable that the church treasuries may look after the meager temporalities of their spiritual leaders without any impairment of their moral strength. Yet the position taken by Dr. PRITCHETT with regard to pensions is sound philosophy. Its economic and social cornerstone is the monthly or annual contribution of the beneficiary. In no other way can adequate annuities be accumulated without a cost that is practically prohibitive except to a government of unlimited purse. Some of the statistics about the average distribution of ministerial pensions may be in error, but the principles can hardly be in dispute.

A NEW LINDBERGH RECORD.

"We" takes on a new significance with the record flight of Colonel and Mrs. LINDBERGH from Los Angeles to Roosevelt Field, for the latter acted as navigator. The weather plays more of a part in commercial flying than is generally admitted. "We freely recognize, talking among ourselves," says Aviation, "that we "cannot fly in certain types of bad "weather, and that the attempt to "do so would be fraught with in-"crease of hazard." Yet flights are begun when the weather fifty or a hundred miles away is dubious.

Colonel LINDBERGH, as an adviser of air transport companies, long ago realized that flying in all weathers, short of blizzards and hurricanes, would be necessary. His long flight on Sunday was undertaken to test, as he says, a theory "that great "speed and efficiency can be ob-"tained by taking advantage of bet-"ter weather conditions in the higher "altitudes." While "no exceptional weather" was encountered, areas of cloud and fog were avoided by detours. In spite of them, the LINDBERGHS, with one stop at Wichita, traveled about 2,700 miles in 14 hours 23 minutes and 7 seconds actual flying time. The rate of speed was approximately 180 miles an hour. These figures indicate that an attempt will be made in the long days of Summer to traverse the continent in hours of daylight. The idea must appeal to Captain HAWKS, who previously held the record. Naturally, he puts aside Colonel LINDBERGH's generous disclaimer that because he made a stop at Wichita HAWKS's record still stands.

Colonel LINDBERGH's reputation for sound judgment of what can be done in flying is so high that predictions of air transportation at speeds of 200 miles and over will no longer be regarded as fantastic. No pilot is more particular about the mechanical fitness of his plane, or gives closer attention to it. What may seem hazardous to others is often entirely practicable to him. More experiments will have to be made in high flying over long distances, and they must be associated with careful meteorological studies.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS.

Looking over the details of Miss PERKINS's report on industrial fatalities for March in this State, one is impressed again by the avoidability of many of them. It seems likely that in not a few instances, compensatable under the law, the injury or death of the worker might have been prevented if he had known what chances he was running. Of course there are many absolutely unpredictable accidents, but such an extensive educational program has been carried on among employers by accident-prevention workers that known hazards are surrounded by every available precaution. When education of this kind has been extended to employes, accidents should be fewer and less likely to result in death.

Workers should know, for example, that strains violent enough to cause hernia are likely to have serious after-effects. Miss PERKINS says that month after month cases of pneumonia are reported after hernia operations, and every month some of them are fatal. In March a laundry worker and a steamfitter died of pneumonia after such strains. Their employers did not require them to lift articles too heavy for their strength. The laundress was injured by lifting a basket of clothes, and after an operation she died of pneumonia. The man had no operation, but developed the disease as a direct result of the strain. The exercise of better judgment while at work and greater care after the injury was received might have prevented death.

In ten cases death followed an infection due to improper attention to cuts or other open wounds. Workers should be instructed to obtain proper dressing at once for even the slightest of abrasions. Too many small cuts are neglected until gangrene or blood poisoning sets in. Prompt care of these cases would in all probability have saved much suffering as well as the lives of the victims.

It is encouraging to note that fatal accidents in factories are being kept down to the average or below it. Also deaths from falls, which are likely to increase when Spring building begins, are fewer than usual. Less than half of this class of fatal accidents was due to falls from scaffolds, ladders, stairs, windows and other heights common to construction operations. Falling objects caused an unusually large proportion of deaths, but in most of them the workers could have done nothing to avoid the accident.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

In the Path of the Whirlwind. No matter how often repeated, the violence of the typhoons that sweep the Philippine Islands and the coastal waters off China never ceases to cause astonishment. With the change in the monsoons the typhoon season is again at hand—as witness the report of the destruction caused last week-end in the central part of the Philippine archipelago.

Painstaking study of typhoons by the scientists of the Jesuit observatories in the Philippines and China over a period of more than a quarter century has shown that most of these devastating storms have their origin somewhat west of the island of Guam, in the Western Pacific, and head with increasing speed toward the Philippines. There they usually follow one of two courses: touching the northern part of Luzon, they swing northward into the China Sea and spend themselves in China or in the waters near Japan; or, passing over the southern part of Luzon, they create havoc in Samar, Leyte, Panay and the other thickly settled islands of the Central Philippines.

As a rule, the worst typhoons do not appear until July and August, but even those at the beginning of the season have the demoniacal fury which JOSEPH CONRAD so vividly described in his book "Typhoon."

Well On to the Third Thousand. A 2,683d birthday is an anniversary not to be overlooked, even if the holiday is staged in that Mediterranean basin which has seen so many millennia pass over man and his works. The celebrant yesterday was the city of Rome. The event commemorated is the traditional exploit of those early regional planners, Romulus and Remus, and the principal sponsor, as for some years past, was the Fascist régime.

A sure instinct has guided Il Duce in fostering the cult of Roma Immortalis; or perhaps it was an inevitable choice. Regularly a nationalist movement will seek to restore a glorious past or to throw a chain of sentiment to such a past across the gulf of years. In the case of Rome there was no need to trace relationship or span a gap in time. Life has been continuous on the Seven Hills overlooking the Tiber ever since the first settlement on the Capitoline, whether by the sons of the she-wolf or a 100 per cent human aggregation. With life has flowed history. Damascus is much older than Rome. Athens and Marseilles are probably its contemporaries. But in respect to mass and continuity as well as years, the Fascist authorities may well boast that they have in Rome something which fears no competition.

Romance in the Machine Age. Professor PUPIN has written a book which he calls "Romance of the Machine." The romance of his own rise is quite as entertaining as that of the machine concerning which he writes. The Serbian herd boy who came as a penniless immigrant youth was a few years ago chosen president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Now he has been elected president of the University Club.

The story of the intervening years, as told in his book that won the Pulitzer Prize a few years ago, "From Immigrant to Inventor," has been carried beyond the bounds of the English language. It is an American immigrant classic which will be kept with JACOB RIIS's "The Making of an American." It is not merely the incidents of progress from jobs in cracker factory, the iron foundry and the laundry to a professorship in Columbia University that invite interest. A poet shares the tent of his sturdy body with the scientist and has interpreted with great charm in human terms what the physicist has observed and discovered.

In defense of the machine he says that it "is the visible evidence of the close union between man and the spirit of the eternal truth which guides the subtle hand of nature." He is himself "inspired" by that spirit as were the patient students who laid the foundation of the machine civilization: GALILEO, NEWTON and FARADAY. It is gratifying that he has been able to write two such romances in American life.

A Bored Tiger. Is there really nothing to the human certainty that wild animals are dangerous? Or is our correspondent with the Kanchenjunga expedition one of the bravest men on earth? Sitting by home firesides, iconoclasts will be inclined to disparage the whole tradition of the ferocity of animals in their native woods. But iconoclasts who were on the trail with Mr. SMYTHE when he saw the tiger would probably shift to a belief in his courage.

As related in a letter, Mr. SMYTHE, forced to dismount from the pillion of a motorcycle because of a puncture, was walking up a foothill road alone—> when I was greeted with a most unpleasant snarl and saw in the undergrowth a large tiger crouching not five yards away. I was quite unarmed and none of the trees was climbable.

Well, there are persons who would have climbed those trees, anyhow. Others would have run; some would have swooned; many might have jumped off the cliff. Not so Mr. SMYTHE:

> It appeared bad policy to run, so I went on walking as quietly as possible, the brute following me. Then it seemed to get bored, and slouched off.

If this had been a young and enthusiastic tiger, still clinging to his illusions, and boredom had not overtaken him, what then? Fortunately Mr. SMYTHE was not called upon to decide.

PROBATION AND PAROLE.

Lewisohn Committee Suggestions Are Commended as Sound.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

My criticism in the past of the unscientific and unsound penological theories underlying some of the earlier Baumes laws prompts me to commend the correspondingly scientific and sound theories and plans which are set forth in the recent report of the special committee on the parole problem, under the chairmanship of Samuel Lewisohn. The modifications of the plan of the Lewisohn committee adopted by the Baumes committee do not appear to invalidate the essential soundness of their main proposal. A bill for the creation of a parole board under the Executive department has now passed both houses of the Legislature and will undoubtedly have the Governor's support because of his desire to modernize the entire prison policy of the State.

The new parole board will fill a need long felt in this State and will provide machinery to take care, adequately, of the man who is on parole. In point of fact, without adequate machinery to carry out this form of conditional release, much of the reformatory value of parole is lost.

Probation and parole stand as the most distinct advances made in the last twenty years in the individualization of treatment of criminals. The records of successful readjustment of delinquents on both parole and probation have been relatively high. The provisions for administering probation in this State have been on the whole more adequately provided for than parole. This new legislation will achieve something like parity between the two important forms of treatment.

It should be added that if this new parole machinery can be made to function effectively, it should be possible to greatly reduce the numbers confined in the prisons of this State and thus reduce overcrowding and its attendant evils.

THE HAPPY TRIPPER.

Blithely she trips along the street,
Knowing that she will surely meet
Adventure such as others crave
But cannot find, who are not brave
As she, who goes on dancing feet.

She finds that there is something sweet
In chaff as well as in the wheat.
On through the crowd of gay and grave
Blithely she trips.

For her there is no word "retreat";
To call for help would be to cheat;
So when she finds she cannot save
Herself from some unlikely knave
Who has her downfall planned complete
Blithely she trips.

PARK INVASION.

Nathan Straus Jr. Discusses It and the Roosevelt Memorial.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The interesting letters from Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, published by you under the titles "The Roosevelt Memorial" and "The Inter-Museum Plan," impel me to reply to Dr. Osborn's assumption that the Legislature, in designating a new wing of the Museum of Natural History as the Roosevelt Memorial, thereby endorsed an inter-museum highway as an approach to the Roosevelt Memorial. I do not believe that Dr. Osborn is correct in that assumption.

The plan to erect a permanent memorial to Theodore Roosevelt in the form of a new wing of the Museum of Natural History, which would contain the hunting trophies of this great naturalist and great statesman, was embodied in Senate Bill Int. No. 1018, Senate Print No. 1112. That bill was introduced by me on March 3, 1924. It was piloted through both houses of the Legislature after a long and somewhat unusually difficult struggle, with the close cooperation of Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson, representing the Roosevelt family. The difficulty in obtaining the passage of the bill lay in the fact that a large number of people in the northern part of the State believed that the memorial should properly be placed in Albany. However, the wishes of the Roosevelt family, as represented by the President's living descendants, finally prevailed.

During the many debates, discussions and informal conferences incidental to the enactment of this bill, which became Chapter 615 of the Laws of 1924, I do not recall mention of a proposal to build a highway through Central Park connecting the two museums.

Dr. Osborn points out that no less than thirteen plans have been drawn for the use and misuse of the tract in Central Park which has so long been occupied by the old reservoir. Dr. Osborn also points out quite correctly that the late Thomas Hastings prepared in the year 1921 a Mitchel memorial plan for the southern reservoir embodying "a superb fountain with a quadriga of horses." Fortunately for the people of New York, the Parks and Playgrounds Association and other vigilant bodies of citizens prevented the erection of this memorial pile in Central Park. The same fate has attended every attempt to invade Central Park with memorials, highways or what Dr. Osborn calls "colonnades." Let us hope that a similarly vigilant and alert public opinion will insure a similar fate for invasions of the present and future.

Few men in this city have served it so well as Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn. He has not only built up a museum which is a model throughout the entire world, but he has so organized the collections of this museum as to make them a medium of instruction to thousands who visit the museum itself and to many more thousands who do not have that opportunity.

Park invasion and the diversion of park property to other and improper uses should be resisted by us quite as firmly when the object to be achieved is a worthy one, and the proponents themselves sincere. Friends of the parks who are at the same time friends of Dr. Osborn and the great museum which he has built up hope that he will desist in his effort to make the park an approach to his museum. Every such attempt is doomed to certain and deserved defeat.

MISCONCEIVED PATRIOTISM.

D. A. R. Attitude on World Court Issue Is Condemned.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The President's recent address to the D. A. R. and the subsequent pronouncements of that organization with reference to our foreign policy have started renewed discussion of the World Court issue and the questions arising in connection with our entry into the Court.

Until recent years I have looked upon the D. A. R. as an organization of cultured and intelligent women having for their purpose the maintenance of American ideals and traditions and the rendering of patriotic service to their country. I am still of the opinion that a vast number of the rank and file of the D. A. R. answer this description, but the important national and international questions and the recent exposure of their blacklist would seem to indicate that, to say the least, the policies of the D. A. R. are dictated and controlled by a group of woefully misguided leaders.

Of course, every American citizen has the right to oppose American support of the only practicable international tribunal so far devised for the peaceable adjudication of international disputes, but it seems almost criminal to base such opposition on patriotic grounds. Such an attitude might be expected of the most ignorant, narrow-minded, bigoted, 100-per-cent-American type; but to hear such arguments advanced by a supposedly patriotic society cannot but make the judicious grieve. It is just such a false conception of patriotism as this that has fed the fires of practically every war that has cursed mankind.

If any members of the D. A. R. are not in accord with the policies so vigorously promulgated by their leaders, I hope they will not hesitate to give vocal expression to their views.

Frances Dana Walcott Memorial.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I call to your attention errors in an article in THE TIMES April 14?

The Frances Dana Walcott Memorial was established in 1892 by John Archbold in memory of his daughter. On Monday the old kindergarten was changed into the most modern of child centres for the pre-school child of 2 and 3 years. It was made an all-day school, with medical and psychiatric facilities, for younger children.

Miss Jennie N. Haxton, whose name was given erroneously, is supervisor of the fifteen kindergartens of the association. The teachers who are actually in charge are Miss Wilcox and Miss Bossidy.

GIRLS FROM JAPAN WELCOMED BY CITY

Good-Will Visitors Are Officially Greeted by McKee at Start of Busy Day.

THEY DELIVER TWO LETTERS

Mayor of Tokio and Head of the Reconstruction Bureau Extend Gratitude for Earthquake Aid.

The five Japanese girls who were sent to the United States by the Tokio newspaper Jiji-Shimpo to express the gratitude of Japan for aid given to their country by the United States after the earthquake of 1923 called at the City Hall yesterday morning and were welcomed by Aldermanic President McKee, representing Mayor Walker.

They expressed through him to the people of New York the thanks of the Japanese people and presented two letters, one from the Director of the Japanese Bureau of Reconstruction, Nozomu Nakagawa, and the other from Mayor Horikiri of Tokio.

The letter from the former says the burden of reconstruction was "wonderfully lightened" by help extended by the American people in a time of need and in carrying out a task of reconstruction "rare in the history of the world."

"During the tremendous difficulties that we encountered in this task," the letter continued, "we have been constantly heartened by the many facilities that have been ungrudgingly afforded us by the American Government and people.

"As Director of the Bureau of Reconstruction, I wish to express the profoundest feelings of gratitude to the government and people of America for their generous aid, recollection of which will always be fresh in our memories."

Tokio Mayor Voices Gratitude.

Mayor Horikiri's letter was as follows:

> TOKIO MUNICIPAL OFFICE.
> Tokio, March 18, 1930.
> On behalf of the city of Tokio and its people, I have the honor to ask the good-will mission, sent to America under the auspices of the Jiji-Shimpo, one of the leading newspapers in the city, to tender you, and through you to the American people, our grateful appreciation for the overwhelming generosity and prompt assistance shown us on the occasion of the terrible catastrophe six and a half years ago.
> Now at the completion of the reconstruction work of Tokio the Jiji-Shimpo gave me the opportunity to which I have been looking forward for many years to express our heartfelt thanks and report the completion of the reconstruction work of the capital. As to the reconstruction work, unprecedented in its scope and extent in the history of city planning, you are cordially requested to refer to the booklet entitled "Tokio Reconstruction Work," which has been asked to be presented to you by the mission.
> It is my earnest hope that the paper, being best qualified for representing our profound sentiments, will successfully discharge its responsibility through the work of the good-will mission.
> Let me thank you once again for all you have done and are doing and will do for us and hope the friendship between the two nations may become ever deeper and more intimate and that for the cause of civilization and humanity they may always be found in the closest cooperation.
> Very sincerely yours,
> Z. HORIKIRI,
> Mayor of Tokio.

Photographed at City Hall.

After being photographed on the steps of the City Hall, the good-will delegates went to the offices of the Rockefeller Foundation at 26 Broadway and were received by John D. Rockefeller Jr. and his son, John D. Rockefeller 3d. The former showed the girls a model of the Rockefeller Library at Tokio and expressed his regret that they would be unable, due to lack of time, to visit Pocantico Hills.

A luncheon was given for the delegation by the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York at 65 Liberty Street, where Leonor F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson Company and of the chamber, made an address of welcome. Setuzo Sawada, Consul General of Japan in New York, and Miss Kimi Ashino replied.

After the luncheon the group called at the offices of the New York Chapter of the American Red Cross, 598 Madison Avenue, where they were received by the secretary of the chapter, Mrs. Austin R. Baldwin, and the board of directors, consisting of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. Henry P. Davison, Mrs. August Belmont, Miss Mary Parsons, Mrs. Bruce Clark, Mrs. Louis A. Baker, Mrs. William D. Cole, Mrs. Edward J. Cornelius, Mrs. Lillian Ellis, Mrs. William G. Green and Edward D. Redmond, executive director of the chapter.

The Japanese Consul General and Mrs. Sawada gave a reception for the group in the afternoon at their residence, 983 Park Avenue. Among the guests invited were:

Mrs. Charles McVeagh, Lady Armstrong, Mrs. Burnett Walker, Mrs. Charles C. Burlingham, Mrs. George W. Davison, Mrs. John G. Harbord, Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, Mrs. James H. Farrell, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. Henry Taft, Mrs. George W. Wickersham, Mrs. Mortimer Schiff, Mrs. Thomas W. Lamont, Mrs. Gerard Swope, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. Darwin P. Kingsley, Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, Mrs. Grover Whalen, Mrs. H. R. Ely, Mrs. James T. Shotwell, Mrs. Robert Hoguet.

Today's program includes visits to Cardinal Hayes and Commander Evangeline Booth, luncheon at the Hotel Astor by the Japan Society of New York and the American Asiatic Association and a reception in the afternoon by the American Association of University Women.

HUGHES GREETS THACHER.

New Solicitor General Is Introduced to the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP).—Former Judge Thomas D. Thacher of New York City today was introduced to the Supreme Court as the new Solicitor General of the United States.

Attorney General Mitchell introduced him and Chief Justice Hughes welcomed him, expressing the belief that the new Solicitor General would maintain "the long tradition of efficient service which happily has been associated with the office."

POET LAUREATE DIES AT 85 IN ENGLAND

Dr. Robert S. Bridges Succumbs After Short Illness, of Which Few Were Aware.

RECENTLY PUBLISHED WORK

He Turned From Medicine to Poetry and Succeeded Alfred Austin in 1913 as Official Lyrist.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 21.—Dr. Robert Seymour Bridges, O. M., poet laureate of England since 1913, died today at the age of 85 at his home, Chilswell, Boar's Hill, Oxford, after a short illness of which only a few persons had been aware and within six months of the publication of his "The Testament of Beauty."

The London Times will say in an editorial tomorrow:

"The public has hardly had time to digest 'The Testament of Beauty,' but it is safe to say that it will occupy readers and critics for generations to come by reason of its excellence. There is a well-known passage in Greek literature in which 'The Odyssey' as a work of old age is compared with the bright setting sun, as clear as ever but diminished in strength; Mr. Bridges's genius, paradoxically, if the metaphor can be sustained, burned even more powerfully in its brilliant late evening than ever before.

"With the deliverance of the Testament Bridges had finished his life's work, whatever prolongation his days might have had in store."

Probably no Poet Laureate has been so much criticized, not for his utterances but for his long silences. In one of the most significant of these silences history may hold that Dr. Bridges was amply justified. In 1919 he was pressed, begged and implored to write an "Ode to Peace" and refused.

His reticence was the subject of sarcastic references in Parliament, and when interviewed regarding these criticisms, he said, "I don't care a damn," thereby creating a new record for Poets Laureate.

He achieved notoriety at Oxford by being the only man who ever refused an invitation to be stroke for the Oxford crew. He said he could not spare the time from his medical studies.

Forsook Medicine for Poetry.

Born on the Isle of Thanet, Oct. 25, 1844, the son of the late I. T. Bridges, Robert Seymour Bridges was educated at Eton and Corpus Christi College, Oxford. After leaving college he traveled for a time on the Continent, then returned and studied medicine at St. Bartholomew's, London. Subsequently he became casualty physician there and consulting physician at the Children's Hospital in Great Ormonde Street.

But in 1882, when he was 32 years old, he gave up medicine and turned his attention to poetry. He retired to his home in Oxford and, the following year, published "Prometheus, the Fire-Giver." This poem appealed to few but scholars. Yet it ranks among his finest works.

In 1885 Dr. Bridges published "Nero," a historical tragedy, and in 1890 four plays—"Achilles in Scyros," "Palicio," "The Return of Ulysses" and "The Christian Captives." He also published other essays, including "The Feast of Bacchus," partly translated from the "Heauton - Timouroumenos"; "The Humours of the Court," a comedy, and "Demeter," a mask, written for the undergraduates at Oxford and acted by them in 1904.

Few English poets have been more interested in prosody than Dr. Bridges. He was constantly experimenting with new measures. While many regarded his experiments as almost radical, he continued to defend them, nevertheless, and the excellence of his work won him the support of the highest critics. W. B. Yeats, the Irish poet, who won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1923, called Dr. Bridges "the greatest of living poets" and other notable authorities hailed him as "England's one classical poet."

The death of the Poet Laureate, Alfred Austin, in 1913, gave rise to a quest for a worthy successor, not so much to Austin as to Lord Tennyson, who had preceded him as Poet Laureate. Kipling, who had been warmly suggested in the years from 1892 to 1896, had lost much of his prestige. Swinburne was dead. Austin Dobson and William Watson, Newbolt, Noyes, Yeats, Masefield and Stephen Philips all were regarded as candidates. One of the great figures of the day, Thomas Hardy, who died in 1928, was a poet as well as a novelist, but his poetry was not regarded as consonant with the laureate mood.

Named Poet Laureate.

Six weeks after the death of Mr. Austin Mr. Asquith appointed Dr. Bridges Poet Laureate. The appointment caused general amazement on both sides of the Atlantic, for Dr. Bridges was not numbered among the "popular poets," even though a collection of his shorter poems, published in 1890, had run through numerous editions.

The first work published by Dr. Bridges after his appointment was "Fly Catchers," a peculiar inaugural utterance, but one which demonstrated his absolute freedom.

During the World War the Poet Laureate produced several fine poems, including "The West Front," "Thou Careless Awake," "England Awake," and sonnets on the death of Lord Kitchener and in celebration of the entry of the United States into the war.

Since the war Dr. Bridges had written only a few poems. In 1920 he aroused a storm of criticism when he joined a number of Oxford professors in appealing to professors and learned societies in Germany and Austria for the re-establishment of the friendly intercourse which had existed among intellectual groups in all countries in the pre-war days. In September, 1923, he accepted the invitation of Dr. Burton, president of the University of Michigan, to come to the United States in an arrangement for exchanging professors and lecturers between universities in the United States and England.

Dr. Bridges was married Sept. 3, 1884, to Monica Waterhouse, a daughter of Alfred Waterhouse of the Royal Academy. They have one son and a daughter.

Dr. Bridges was the sixteenth Poet Laureate of England. That title has been held, among others by Ben Johnson, Dryden, Wordsworth, Southey and Tennyson.

CHARLES A. VAN KEUREN DEAD IN 79TH YEAR

Chief Engineer of Streets in Jersey City for More Than Three Decades.

Charles Augustus Van Keuren, chief engineer of the Department of Streets and Public Improvements of Jersey City, died yesterday at 133 Halstead Street, East Orange, N. J., where he had been living temporarily in the hope of benefiting his health. He was in his seventy-ninth year. Funeral services will be held on Thursday at 2:30 P. M. in the Old Bergen Church, Jersey City. Burial will be in New York Bay Cemetery.

Mr. Van Keuren was born in New York City in 1852 and at the age of 21 became a surveyor for the city in Jersey City. The next year he was a rodman for the New Jersey & New York Railroad, and in 1875 joined the transportation department of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

After service as clerk to the chief engineer of Jersey City, he became an assistant engineer of the West Shore Railroad and later assisted in the preliminary survey for the line between Buffalo and the Genessee River. Subsequently he became an assistant engineer of the Erie Railroad and in 1898 succeeded Louis D. Fowler as chief engineer of the Department of Streets and Public Improvements in Jersey City, which position he held until his death.

Mr. Van Keuren's health began to fail about eighteen months ago, so he moved from his home at the Fairmount Hotel in Jersey City to East Orange upon the advice of his physician. He was a Mason and an Elk, and a trustee of the New York Bay Cemetery. A widow and a son, Clarence E. Van Keuren, survive.

SIR G. GUGGISBERG, ADMINISTRATOR, DIES

Canadian-Born Brigadier General Was Governor of British Guiana and of Gold Coast.

LONDON, April 21 (Canadian Press).—Brig. Gen. Sir [Frederick] Gordon Guggisberg, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of British Guiana, died here today. He was born in Toronto on July 20, 1869.

Sir Gordon had a distinguished military career in the World War. He served with distinction in the administration of the colonies.

Sir Gordon was a graduate of the Royal Military College at Woolwich.

Sir Gordon served at Singapore from 1893 to 1896, going out to the East at 24. At 28 he was named instructor in fortifications at the Royal Military College and his captaincy came in 1900. He was sent on a survey of the Gold Coast of Africa and Ashanti in 1902 and after holding various other posts was made Surveyor-General of Nigeria, which was but poorly charted in 1910. His military title was then major.

He came from Nigeria at the outbreak of war to take command of the 94th Field Company of the Royal Engineers. In 1917 he was a Brigadier at the head of the 170th Infantry Brigade and in 1918 was Inspector-General of Training, General Headquarters, France. He was mentioned in dispatches five times.

Sir Gordon was named Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Gold Coast in 1919 and remained there until 1927, having received a knighthood in 1922. He was later transferred to British Guiana. Sir Gordon was a writer and deeply interested in the problem of the so-called backward peoples.

Sir Gordon married in 1905 Miss Decima Moore, prominent woman of letters and the stage, with whom he collaborated in writing several successful plays. One of these, "A Black Mark," had a long run in London. He also wrote, with his wife, the account of their experiences in Africa, entitled "We Two in West Africa."

As a colonial administrator, Sir Gordon arranged a loan of $40,000,000 for public improvements on the Gold Coast and conducted that colony so successfully that it became one of noted prosperity. The story is told that when he was transferred from the army to the colonial service he inquired about pension rates for duty in the Gold Coast Colony and was told that no one had ever lived long enough to receive one. His career there lasted for twenty-five years.

He was transferred to British Guiana in 1928 and was forced to retire from the latter post in January because of ill health. In 1927 he made an extended tour through Canada and several cities of the United States.

JAMES T. BEW DEAD.

Ex-Mayor of Ventnor, N. J., Stricken Suddenly at 72.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 21.—James T. Bew, pioneer business man of Atlantic City and former Mayor of Ventnor, died suddenly of heart disease this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Roberts, in Absecon. He was 72 years old. Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Bew was born in Philadelphia on Sept. 15, 1857. He came here forty-five years ago and built bath houses on the beach front above Virginia Avenue. Later, with his brother George, he conducted the Berkeley Hotel on the Boardwalk at Illinois Avenue until it was destroyed in the big fire of 1902. From that time he devoted his attention to building up Ventnor, where he was Mayor from 1911 to 1915. He was a founder and vice president of the Ventnor City National Bank.

JUSTICE W. A. SLOANE.

Head of California District Appeal Court Dies at 75.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—Presiding Justice W. A. Sloane of the new Fourth District Court of Appeal died here suddenly tonight in a sanitarium to which he had been taken after being stricken ill in Fresno, where the court was sitting. His age was 75.

Justice Sloane, whose home was in San Diego, had been on the appellate bench only since September. He was born in Rockford, Ill., on Oct. 10, 1854, educated in the public schools and at Iowa College in Grinnell and admitted to the Bar in Missouri. He had practiced law in San Diego from 1887 until Governor Young appointed him a judge last Fall.

When the Lincoln-Roosevelt League was in existence, he was chairman of the San Diego County executive committee.

Funeral services were held last night at the Fairchild Chapel, 86 Lefferts Place. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Mr. Welch was born in Hempstead, L. I. He was a Mason.

W. C. BOWERS 2D DIES ON AUSTRALIAN TRIP

Former Assistant District Attorney of New York Was a Captain in World War.

RETIRED SOME YEARS AGO

Harvard and Columbia Graduate Was 43—Burial Will Be at Cooperstown, N. Y.

William Crain Bowers 2d, retired lawyer of this city and former Assistant District Attorney, died suddenly on Sunday in Sydney, Australia, according to word received here yesterday by his sister, Mrs. Mary S. Coppell of 817 Fifth Avenue. He was in his forty-third year, and was on an extended trip to Australia and New Zealand. The body will be returned to this country for burial at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Mr. Bowers was born in this city on July 5, 1887, son of the late John M. Bowers and Mrs. Bowers. He was graduated from Harvard in the class of 1910, and later attended Columbia Law School, from which he received his degree in 1912. After admittance to the bar he practiced law in this city and served in the District Attorney's office.

Upon the entrance of the United States into the World War Mr. Bowers enlisted in the regular army as a private, and went overseas with one of the first divisions. He saw active service in the front line and rose to the rank of Captain, later being detailed as an instructor of troops in trench warfare in France.

Mr. Bowers retired from the practice of law several years ago and had been living for the last few years on the Isle of Wight in the English Channel. He was a member of the University and Harvard Clubs, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Sons of the Revolution. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Martha D. Bowers of Santa Barbara, Cal., and Mrs. Coppell, and two brothers, Spotswood D. Bowers of this city and Henry M. Bowers of England.

Every Member of the Family Finds All the News in The Times

The New York Times:

I congratulate you on what seems to be an extraordinary increase in the circulation of The New York Times. Perhaps I can explain it in part. I used to subscribe to one Times every morning and now I take three. The reason I subscribe to more papers is obvious; it is because every member of the family wants to read the paper at the same time and that is the only paper in which they find all the news that interests them.

AMITY OF FAITHS URGED UPON JEWS

Temple Sisterhood Meeting Hears Pleas for Good-Will and Better Understanding.

"GESTURES" CALLED FUTILE

Fellowship Must Be Real, Rabbi Schwartz Says—Mrs. A. J. May Asks Study of Christianity.

A plea for better understanding and good-will between Jews and non-Jews marked a symposium on Judaism and its relation to other faiths at yesterday's session of the second biennial convention of the New York State Federation of Temple Sisterhoods in the assembly hall of Temple Emanu-El. The convention opened Sunday evening and will end today. About 150 delegates from all parts of the State are attending.

Discussing "The Jew and Judaism," Mrs. Albert J. May, second vice president of the federation, said a study of Judaism brought the realization that "the Jew and Judaism are synonomous." Judaism, she said, was the Jew's "reason for an existence alone and unafraid." The theology of Judaism, she believed, was lost in "the maze of its endearing simplicity," and she urged that Jews study the principles of Christianity to understand Christians better and promote good-will among the faiths.

"Understanding and true fellowship between Jews and non-Jews," Rabbi William B. Schwartz of Temple Israel, Far Rockaway, said, "cannot be established by giving up our loyalties and convictions as Jews, or anything that is vital and fundamental in the life and faith of the Jew. We are part and parcel of the non-Jewish world and we are here to stay as Jews. Understanding cannot be established by the mechanics of good-will meetings. It must be more than verbal. Good-will should be a reality and not a gesture."

Dr. Alexander Lyons, rabbi of Temple Beth Elohim, Brooklyn, saw an attitude of liberalism through all Judaism, saying there was no such thing as "a monopoly of divine wisdom, and you've got to be a liberal to be a Jew."

The Rev. Jonah B. Wise, rabbi of the Central Synagogue, urged the women to prepare themselves as teachers, contending that a great part of religious education of children should be in the home.

Mrs. David E. Goldfarb, president of the federation, presided. In her annual report she noted that the federation now numbers thirty-eight sisterhoods, an increase of four over last year. She commended the response of affiliated sisterhoods in the work of fostering the spirit of Judaism.

More than 600 attended the federation's annual dinner last night in the Isaac M. Wise Memorial Hall of Temple Emmanu-El. Mrs. Goldfarb presided and the speakers included Meier Steinbrink, Adolph S. Ochs and Rabbi Nathan Krass.

Mr. Steinbrink made a plea for world peace and traced this movement to the Jewish race and "the prophet idea." He quoted statistics showing that every year $4,300,000,000 is spent in the world for war purposes. He said that peace conferences are nothing compared with "the prophet idea" and said that the Federation of Temple Sisterhoods can dedicate itself to no better task than that of world peace.

Mr. Ochs spoke on religion, saying it is not a word but a concrete thing and has spirit, emotion, love and conscience. He said its birth is in the home, where is should be nourished and stimulated. He said it is in the home that religion is going to be preserved and where the children will go for their loftiest ideals.

Rabbi Krass said reformed Judaism has a right to remain as a distinct group in the world, and that the world today needs not so much intellect nor logic and delvings into the human mind, but above everything else the world needs "the human heart that would make war impossible and prejudice a thing of the past."

LINDBERGH SPENDS DAY IN CONFERENCE

Fresh From Record Flight, He Takes Up Business Affairs at Pan American Offices.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who with Mrs. Lindbergh spent Easter Sunday establishing a transcontinental speed record, flying from Los Angeles to New York in 14 hours 45 minutes, threw himself with characteristic energy into his business affairs yesterday.

In the afternoon he visited the offices of the Pan American Airways in the Chanin Building in East Forty-second Street, where he conferred with Juan T. Trippe president of the company, and other officials. The nature of their conference was not made public. Colonel Lindbergh is technical adviser to Pan American, and such matters as new routes through the Latin Americas, schedules and the purchase of new equipment are within the province of his work.

Last Fall with Mrs. Lindbergh the Colonel made the first flight of the new air mail and passenger line from Miami through the West Indies, across the Caribbean to Pernambuco, Dutch Guiana, on the east coast of South America.

Pan American and its affiliated company, Pan American-Grace Airways, recently announced plans for a new seven-day mail service to Buenos Aires from the United States. New high-speed equipment must be purchased and tested for this service, and it is certain that Colonel Lindbergh's advice on this equipment will be sought. Officials of the company would not say whether the plans for this new mail schedule were discussed in yesterday's conference. They declared, however, that there might be some sort of announcement made later in the week.

At Roosevelt Field, where the Lindberghs' new record-breaking plane was housed last night, mechanics said that no orders had been received for preparing the plane for any new long flight. The flier expects to be in New York for some time, although, as usual, he set no definite date for another flight.

His trip across the continent, for the most part at an altitude well over two miles, further stimulated his interest in the possibility of high altitude transport flying. He expects to make other long flights before he has arrived at definite conclusions on altitude flying. It is his theory, however, that the mail planes first and then the passenger transports will eventually cruise at great speeds high above the earth.

"High altitudes mean high speeds," he said.

MERGER PLAN READY FOR CHICAGO TRANSIT

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 21.—The proposed indeterminate franchise to a new local transportation company, which will merge the surface and elevated lines, operate city-owned subways in the central business district, feeder buses in the outlying territory, and extend service to all Illinois suburbs within thirty miles of Chicago, has been completed and printed.

It will be presented by the subcommittee to the city council local transportation committee in special session tomorrow morning. Within ten years the company pledges $200,000,000 in extensions and betterments, and the city a minimum of $85,000,000 in subway construction.

Newark Ad Men Visit The Times.

Thirty-five members of the Advertising Club of Newark, N. J., were luncheon guests of THE NEW YORK TIMES at The Times Annex restaurant yesterday, after which they were conducted through the plant. Among those who attended were John Betts, Harry Balch, Maurice Zinoeder, E. W. Farrell Jr., E. M. Shumlein, Douglas Colyer and J. Douglas Gessford, secretary of the club.

merely to draw attention to a merchandise page.

They're words carefully chosen with an all-absorbing idea of leaving in the reader's mind something to think about and lay away in the alabaster box of memory. Long study of men and women and wide observation justify the statement that the majority of people are not fully awake. We live superficially, half-heartedly.

Many of us fail to rub the eyes of our souls open to get thoroughly awakened.

There are a few who could not build a temple of happiness and use it for their families and friends, if they cared to do so, with even a small part of their good sense and lost energy.

This is written for home consumption as well as for outdoors.

OPPOSES WIDENING CHURCH DIVORCE LAW

Presbyterian Commission, in Report, Also Attacks Companionate Marriage.

CIVIL CONTRACT SUGGESTED

SEX EDUCATION FAVORED

Pre-Nuptial Instruction in Primary Schools and Colleges Is Strongly Urged.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Liberalization of the grounds for divorce, recognized by the Presbyterian Church, is opposed in the report issued today by a special commission, appointed at the last General Assembly, to study the whole problem of marriage and divorce.

The commission, headed by the Rev. Ralph Marshall Davis of Erie, Pa., urged future consideration of the desirability of two marriage ceremonies, one civil and one religious, with the latter ceremony optional.

It also recommended the elision from the Confession of Faith of the stricture against marriage with "infidels, Papists and other idolaters," as being merely offensive and adding nothing to the marriage advice contained in the confession.

The report condemned laxity of divorce, especially divorce for the purpose of remarrying. It professed to see a connection between birth control and divorce, and, while conceding the advisability of contraception in some cases, attacked "the widespread use of contraceptives for the total prevention of children."

Companionate marriage was assailed, the report asserting that "faith in God would seemingly be the first and most immediate ground for the wise foundation of a home."

The commission strongly recommended education in primary and secondary schools in sex problems, particularly in their relation to marriage.

In opposing liberalizing the grounds for divorce the report said:

"Beyond the fact that the marriage relation is terminated by death is the further fact that it may be destroyed by either party to the agreement proving unfaithful to the vows taken. That unfaithfulness may be found in the act of infidelity or irremediable desertion. Anything that kills love and deals with the spirit of the union is infidelity.

"Our standards now allow two grounds for divorce, namely, adultery and irremediable desertion. Your committee would recommend that this position should remain as it is."

In its conclusion, in reference to marriages between Presbyterians and others the report says:

"We recommend as consonant with the religious temper of our day that there be stricken from our Confession of Faith Chapter 24, Section 3, the following words:

"'And, therefore, such as profess the true reformed religion should not marry with infidels, papists and other idolaters; neither such as are godly be unequally yoked by marrying with such as are notoriously wicked in their life or maintain damnable heresies.'"

"In I Corinthians, vii, 39, the Apostle Paul urges that believers should only be married 'in the Lord.' Experience justifies this teaching as wise and right.

"Many Roman Catholics are sincere and intelligent believers in our Lord Jesus Christ, and marriages with them may be 'in the Lord,' even though such marriages may be beset with dangers.

Earlier Caution Quoted.

"The commission feels that caution enough is given candidates for matrimony in the first sentence of the section, 'It is lawful for all sorts of people to marry who are able with judgment to give their consent, yet it is the duty of Christians to marry only in the Lord,' without adding the second sentence, which we recommend for elision and which we believe adds no weight to the caution but does add a means of offense."

Continuing, the report says:

"We recommend for consideration by the Church at large the following definition of marriage:

"Marriage is an institution ordained of God for the honor and happiness of mankind, in which one man and one woman enter into a bodily and spiritual union, pledging each to the other mutual love, honor, fidelity, forbearance and comradeship such as should assure an unbroken continuance of their wedlock so long as both shall live.

"This institution finds its primary justification in the establishment and maintenance of the Christian home, in which children shall be born and nurtured in the Christian faith. On the side of civil government, the Church recognizes marriage as a legal contract, involving the moral obligations of Christian citizenship."

The commission asks that the attitude of the General Assembly members, of the ministers and the laity toward this definition be expressed in writing to the Rev. Dr. Johnston, who headed the subcommittee responsible for it.

Arranged Divorces Deplored.

"In discussing divorce and remarriage," says a subcommittee report, "it is incumbent upon the Church to deplore most earnestly the laxity of divorce which prevails today, and especially to condemn the deliberate steps taken by married people to secure divorces in order to remarry, especially when such plans betray the fact that unholy relations between those who are married have occasioned the destruction of the existing relations between husbands and wives who were happy together before such seductions were exercised in sinful desires.

"Pre-nuptial courses" conducted by the public schools, by the Church or other local agencies, the commission contends would go far to anticipate difficulties which might arise later.

"A complete rewriting of education, especially for young women, will probably have to be made. Colleges will be forced to give more attention to the science of home-making," the report continues.

"The widespread use of contraceptives for the total prevention rather than for the reduction of the number of children certainly produces distinct losses of personality.

"Easy divorce proceedings and easy means of preventing conception have an intimate connection. That there may be a place for the contraceptive under medical advice, there is no doubt. But it still remains that a baby in the home now and then is a splendid diversion for those suffering from an uneventful married life."

"Perhaps at some future time some recommendation may come favoring two ceremonies, one a civil and the other a religious ceremony," says the report. "The latter will be purely optional but it will represent positive convictions of the couple seeking marriage. We commend for consideration the possible severing of a relation with the State which is anything but a happy one."

Touching on companionate marmiage, the report continues:

"The Christian religion holds that the basis of marriage is the mutual love of a man and a woman. Faith in God would seemingly be the first and most immediate ground for the wise foundation of a home.

"Companionate marriage arrangements that assume less than this are fraught with peril. To base it on the insecure foundation proposed by certain of our sophisticates—namely, that of sex desire, and subsidized at that, condemns the whole enterprise to speculation. For, with the coming of children, larger and different responsibilities develop."

John Sloan's Wife Wins Prize For Her Definition of Art

Mrs. John Sloan, wife of the well-known artist who is president of the Society of Independent Artists, has won the $100 prize for the best definition of art offered by the Halton Endowment for Girls, Inc., in connection with its annual "Carnival of Imagination."

"Art is that beauty which the imagination has created and which awakes in the observer an emotion of pleasure similar to that of the creator," according to Mrs. Sloan's definition. John Sloan himself expressed the opinion that "Art is the creative urge of life's consciousness."

Gifford Beal, artist, summed up his idea of art as "Art is that which cannot be taught." Boardman Robinson, artist, wrote "Art is the interpretation of some universal order." Joseph Pollet, also an artist, declared that "Art is the liqueur of joy, distilled from the mash of life."

The judges were Irvin S. Cobb, Mary Fanton Roberts and Randall Davey.

BONDING COMPANY HELD IN CONTEMPT

Fined $250 and Its Counsel Is Sentenced to Eight Days in Jail for Violating Court Order.

The United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, a bonding concern, and its general counsel, William J. McArthur, were held in contempt of court yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Strong in Brooklyn for violating an order signed by Justice Strong last December. The company was fined $250 and the attorney was sentenced to jail for eight days.

The order required that a bond of $11,000 be posted for Frank Landau of 250 Wilson Place, Brooklyn, as committee for the estate of his incompetent brother, William Landau, a war veteran. The order specifically directed that the bond be posted by a company other than the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company.

"The United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company has had considerable controversy over the practice of making so-called legal charges against the estates of incompetents who are veterans, where this company has bonded the committees of such estates," the court said in a memorandum. "Aside from the impropriety of making such charges, the Veterans' Bureau does this work without charge to the veteran or his estate.

"Although repeatedly warned by the Presiding Justice of this department and the Presiding Justice of the First Department and by referees who act as examiners of the accounts of committees, it continues to make these improper charges and persuades the committees to employ them without informing the committees that the Veterans' Bureau does the same work free of charge. By thus usurping the work of attorneys, they are able as a bonding company to minimize their liability at the expense of the estate. It has all the securities of the estate in its possession. It controls the investments and payments of the committee, and the committee has to go to them to approve each check or payment. Many committees are the relations of the incompetent, some not being able to read or write, and thus are made an easy prey to a systematic fattening of the assets of the bonding company and its employes at the expense of the World War veterans.'

NEGROES PLAN TO KEEP WHITE PLAINS HOMES

Counsel for Doctor and Dentist Say They Intend to Remain There Permanently.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 21.—Dr. Errold D. Collymore, Negro dentist who recently bought the house at 461 South Lexington Avenue, this city, declared today he would not move from his new residence and did not intend to sell.

Dr. A. M. Williams, Negro physician living at 22 De Kalb Avenue in a house formerly occupied by State Senator Walter Westall, declared he would not explain his position and referred inquiries to his attorney, John A. Ross of New York. Mr. Ross issued a statement for Drs. Collymore and Williams, whose residence in exclusive neighborhoods of this city has been objected to by portions of the white population. The attorney said his clients had decided to remain permanently in their present homes.

James R. Stevenson, president of the Y. M. C. A. here, heads a committee which will report back to the board of directors regarding the association's action in the case of S. R. Morsell, Negro secretary for the association, who lives with Dr. Collymore.

CLASH ON CITY PLAN TO TAP DELAWARE

New Jersey Attorney Assails Hilly's Plea That Water Supply Will Last Only 5 Years.

NOTABLES ATTEND HEARING

Legal Array Represents 3 States—Project to Harness Stream Declared Beneficial.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., April 21.—Arthur J. W. Hilly, Corporation Counsel of New York City, opened today a ninety-day hearing on the disputed right of water diversion from the Delaware River by declaring that the city's present water supply would suffice for only five years more.

Delay in settling the controversy, he said, would "imperil" the welfare of the city's population. By 1935 present supplies would fall behind growing needs, he asserted.

Mr. Hilly's warning came in a preliminary statement addressed to Charles N. Burch, special master appointed by the United States Supreme Court to take testimony in the litigation which involves New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York, as well as the city of New York. New Jersey and Pennsylvania are allied against the city's plan, which is sustained by its parent State, for building reservoirs about the tributary headwaters of the Delaware and diverting up to 600,000,000 gallons a day.

States Clash at Start.

The case is acknowledged to be of the highest importance in establishing definite water rights on interstate rivers. It brought to the State House, where the first hearing was held today, an array of distinguished lawyers, including Attorney General William A. Stevens of New Jersey, Cyrus E. Wood of Pennsylvania and Hamilton Ward of New York. Among Pennsylvania's associated counsel was Owen J. Roberts, special United States Government prosecutor in the oil scandals.

The States clashed at the very opening of the proceedings in their contrasting preliminary remarks. Assistant Attorney General Duane E. Minard declared that New York's plan would interfere with commerce on the lower reaches of the Delaware, injure the oyster industry and prevent proper dilution of sewage and industrial waste.

He denied that a limit to the available water supplies of New York City was in sight and suggested that present resources were being wasted. In any event, there are other waters in New York State available for all the city's needs for a half century or more, he declared.

Arguing on the fairness of the proposed plan Mr. Hilly said that it was based on compacts unanimously agreed upon by tri-State commissions in 1925 and 1927 although lacking approval by the Legislatures of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The flow of the Delaware would be modified in only two particulars, he said. It would be increased and made more uniform during dry seasons and it would slightly reduce flood stages.

"The effect of this plan on the flow in the Delaware will be so small and of such slight effect that no one living along or owning property on that river could, without positive advice as to the operation of the plan, physically know or sense that the city was in fact using any part of its waters," he said.

Sees River Stage Aided.

"As an important part of the operation of its plans the city will, during the dry Summer months of each year, always release from its reservoirs a large flow which will keep up the low stages of the river all along its length and insure that never in the future will the river fall as low as it would had the plan not been in operation."

Mr. Hilly pointed out that the average daily flow of the Delaware is 12,000,000,000 gallons, or enough to supply all the population of the United States. New York was seeking to use only 5 per cent "by conserving the flood flows which now run needlessly to waste and turning them to use without damage or injury to any State or individual," he added.

The special master will sit for thirty days in New Jersey and then spend a like time taking testimony in New York and Pennsylvania. The suit was started by New Jersey, which sought to restrain New York. Pennsylvania is an intervenor in the litigation, refraining to charge that its interests will be harmed, but asking to be assured that any division of Delaware waters be fair.

NAPOLEON GEM SALE GOES TO GRAND JURY

A grand jury investigation was started yesterday of the circumstances under which Charles F. Townsend, who represented himself as a former Colonel in the British Secret Service in Egypt, sold last February the $400,000 Napoleon necklace, belonging to Archduchess Marie Therese of Austria, to D. M. Michel, a jeweler, at 2 West Forty-seventh Street, for $60,000.

The Baroness Anna Eisenmenger, representing the Archduchess in the complaint which had been made to District Attorney Crain about the transaction, and Sidney Struble, a lawyer, who represented the missing Townsend in the sale, were questioned before the grand jurors by Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings, but of even more interest to the body, it was reported, was the presence of the necklace.

The necklace, which was given by Napoleon I to Empress Marie Louise, his second wife, in 1811, was brought into the grand jury room in the large velvet-covered box in which, with its official Austrian documents, it was sent to Townsend by Archduchess Marie Therese several months before the sale. Townsend had received a power of attorney from the Archduchess to sell the necklace, which, the Baroness Eisenmenger contended, had been revoked by Marie Therese a few weeks before the sale, when word had reached her that Townsend was offering the necklace for far less than the Archduchess expected to receive for it.

Denizens of Bronx Zoo Perform on Radio; Bashful Hippo Turns Back on Microphone

The Bronx Zoo went on the air for half an hour yesterday afternoon. Tigers roared into the microphone and sea lions barked of their love for flounders. Birds sang of painted cages and Tiny, the small elephant, bemoaned a lack of hay. Only the baritone voice of Peter the Great, was silent. Peter was in the bath; he signified by a wink that he didn't want to be disturbed.

The affair was put on by the National Broadcasting Company, and the resultant medley was delivered to radio possessors through WEAF and a series of stations extending as far West as St. Louis. The interlocutor was Dr. Claude W. Leister, curator of the educational activities at the zoo, and there were five or six child actors. A mob of about 200 small boys who were attracted by the microphone and portable shortwave set provided a chorus that was hardly Greek.

The bird house was the first stop. Several European jays faced the wall and declined to perform, and a greenish bird near by turned up a tremendous bill only to sneer. But other birds carried on. After visiting the birds the party wandered on to the sea lions. These hadn't been fed, and when a keeper threw them flounder they chanted in unison.

In the Primate House the large black chimpanzee awoke from a sound sleep, dashed up and down on his trapeze and crossbars and then executed a clog dance on the top of his home. His racket sounded like a herd of elephants jumping hurdles on a tin roof. Small monkeys, seated side by side, hid their faces from view and chattered.

At the Lion House the Bengal tiger was much annoyed. He growled; there could be no question of that. A small lion roared at the invaders with evident pleasure, but the large, old lion was not disturbed. When it was obvious that he couldn't be moved a keeper went to the bars and softly stroked his head. The lion purred, but it wasn't audible to the Far West. Tiny, the small elephant, did a little better, but Peter—the hissopotamus from whom great things had been expected—proved a failure.

The last stop was made near the hill containing wolves and similar fauna. Dr. Leister explained that the only way to make them bark was for the zoo to blow its large steam whistle. This was blown, but before the wolves could get going there came a far-away whistle from the East. The zoo tried again, and after a loud blast there was a series of mournful barks.

MRS. PRATT TO RUN ON ANTI-DRY ISSUE

Reiterates, in Opening Campaign, That She Would Vote for Repeal and Modification.

OPPOSED TO NULLIFICATION

Tells 1,500 at Dinner in Her Honor That Some Substitute for Existing Law Must Be Found.

Mrs. Ruth Pratt started her campaign for re-election as Representative in Congress last night by reiterating her opposition to the prohibition law and declared that if given opportunity she would vote both for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and modification of the Volstead act.

Mrs. Pratt, a leading member of the so-called Hoover group in New York, made this declaration at a dinner given for her by the Republican organizations of the Seventeenth Congressional District in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor. About 1,500 men and women were present.

"Two years ago I made a statement that I favored repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and a change in the prohibition laws which would end corruption and disregard for law and make for true temperance," Mrs. Pratt said. "Nothing has happened during the last two years to change my mind.

"If opportunity comes to me I shall vote for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and for an amendment or change in the present law. I feel that in doing so I would represent the wishes of the majority of voters in my district. This is not a matter of partisan politics but of individual opinion. I believe that every Representative in Congress should vote to represent the wishes of his constituents instead of by party.

"The thought of nullification as a solution of the problem is repellent to me. This is a matter involving too much the heart and soul of our people to be left in that way. It is for us to work out a substitute for the existing law. To return to the days of the saloon is unthinkable. We must work to make temperance a living actuality in this country."

Mrs. Pratt's declaration of her position brought sustained applause. The other speakers, among whom were Under-Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, State Chairman William J. Maier, State Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter, Mrs. F. Louis Slade and Herbert N. Straus, praised Mrs. Pratt for her service in Congress, on the Board of Aldermen and as a party leader and worker. Emory R. Buckner, who presided as toastmaster, was introduced by former Justice Robert McC. Marsh, chairman of the dinner committee. Many other prominent Republicans and a sprinkling of Democrats were present.

QUICK TAMMANY ELECTION.

In a twenty-minute election last night the Society of Tammany, or Columbian Order, elected officers for the ensuing year. There was no opposition to the slate reported by the nominating committee. The following were re-elected:

SECRETARY—Willis Holly.
TREASURER—Edwin H. Sohmer.
SAGAMORE—George F. Kreykembohm.
WISKINKIE—Hubert Kelly.

Hubert Kelly was elected wiskinkie, to succeed William J. Duffy, who became secretary of Tammany Hall last Summer. It was a special meeting and all the sachems and officers with the exception of Sachems Haffen, Ryan and Smith were present. More than 200 votes were cast in the twenty minutes the polls were open. Before the election thirty-one members of the staff of the Commissioner of Records Surrogate's Court, headed by Commissioner David Lazarus, presented a loving cup to former Commissioner of Records John F. Curry, now Tammany chieftain.

SEEKS $1,000,000 IN HOSPITAL SUIT

WORK HINDERED, IS CHARGE

Attorney Declares Architect Put Obstacles in Way of Clients Who Spent $75,000 on Job.

Charges that hindrances were put in the way of the Maxwell Gibbs Corporation by the city's architect on the new Kings County Hospital building work as a "scheme to throw this contractor off the job" will be contained in a $1,000,000 suit against the city to be filed today in Supreme Court, according to M. Carl Levine, attorney for the contracting firm.

Early in February notice of cancellation of the Gibbs contract was signed by J. G. William Greeff as Commissioner of Hospitals, and since that time the bonding companies from which the Gibbs company had received a completion bond of $1,500,000 have let a contract with Kenny Brothers, Inc., to finish the work.

Award was made on Oct. 30, 1929, to the Maxwell Gibbs Corporation for constructing the main building of the hospital for $3,869,000, the price to include work of demolishing several old buildings on the site. The Kenny firm was second low bidder at $3,959,000.

"The ceremony of breaking ground took place on the Friday before election day," Mr. Levine stated yesterday. "The contract is dated Nov. 6. Some of the wording in the advertisements for bids appeared ambiguous and discretionary power was left with the architect, Leroy P. Ward, as to the manner in which some parts of the work was carried out. The action is for $1,000,000 for breach of contract.

The suit will charge that the contractors spent between $75,000 and $100,000 chiefly on demolition work and excavation, and that they had let subcontracts for a large part of the construction jobs, for which they will be held liable.

Contract called for completion of the main building by Feb. 28, 1931, and it was canceled when it became evident that the work was not proceeding as rapidly as was expected, Dr. Greeff said last night. Under the Kenny firm the job is "progressing splendidly," he asserted.

EMBEZZLER WINS MERCY AFTER 15 YEARS

Judge Tells Cornelius, Ex-Cashier Found on Poor Farm, He Has Suffered Enough.

Abram Cornelius Jr., who was found by Federal agents on April 3 in a poor farm at Cheyenne, fifteen years after he had embezzled $11,000 from the Citizens' National Bank of Englewood, N. J., received a suspended sentence from Judge Guy L. Fake in Federal court, Newark, and was placed on probation for two years in custody of his son-in-law, Arthur B. Reeves, of 410 Liberty Road, Englewood.

Cornelius, who is 61 years old, wept as Judge Fake told him he felt he had been punished sufficiently. He had pleaded guilty a week before and had been held since then at the Bergen County jail in Hackensack.

The alleged embezzlement was committed when Cornelius fled from Englewood in 1915 with his stenographer, Loretta Adelgais, who was married to him early this year, and who is now in an asylum.

More Time for Champlain Bridge.

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP).—President Hoover today signed a bill extending the time for commencing and completing construction on a bridge across Lake Champlain near Rouses Point, N. Y., and near Alburgh, Vt.

CALL FOX FINANCING 'FRAUD' IN LAWSUIT

ASK FOR AN INJUNCTION

General Theatres Equipment Announces $30,000,000 Offering of 6% Debentures.

Coincident with the announcement yesterday of the initial public financing by which General Theatres Equipment, Inc., is to acquire control of the Fox Film and Fox Theatres companies a suit was filed in the Supreme Court by minority stockholders of one of the Fox concerns to halt the refinancing. Stanley M. Lazarus, attorney for the Class A Stockholders Protective Association of the Fox Film Corporation, filed an action in behalf of Arthur G. Meyer, Allen I. Cole and Julius Toff to prevent carrying out of the plan announced recently by Harley L. Clarke, who bought control from William Fox. An order to show cause why an injunction should not be issued is returnable tomorrow morning.

Mr. Lazarus said that in his opinion Mr. Clarke's financing plan "clearly constitutes a fraud upon the Class A stockholders and is absolutely illegal in many of its aspects," and that it will "result in a direct violation of the Clayton act."

Financing of the Fox companies to pay off approximately $100,000,000 in obligations included the sale of 660,000 shares of Loew stock, owned by the Theatres Corporation, to the Film Corporation for 1,600,000 shares of Film A stock and $27,000,000 cash, and in turn Film is to sell 1,600,000 shares of A stock to the General Theatres Equipment, Inc., for $48,000,000 and issue $55,000,000 6 per cent notes.

Theatres Equipment announced yesterday a public offering of $30,000,000 ten-year 6 per cent convertible gold debentures of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., underwritten by the Chase Securities Corporation, Pynchon & Co., Halsey, Stuart & Co., West & Co. and W. S. Hammons & Co.

Mr. Lazarus attacked the Loew stock transfer as "nothing but a juggling of bookkeeping entries of the two corporations, now both controlled by Clarke and his associates, to create a fictitious value of $120 a share for the Loew stock and to justify its previous purchase by the Theatres Corporation at $107 a share, while the book value still remains substantially lower than $75 a share, which is the real worth and the only true basis on which this stock may be carried as an asset."

Mr. Lazarus attacks also the transfer of Film stock as "a subterfuge frudulently to take out of the Film company through the medium of the back door 1,600,000 shares of Class A stock," to which he maintained the A stockholders should have been entitled to subscribe.

"The pre-emptive right of Class A stockholders to this stock cannot be denied," Mr. Lazarus said.

Mr. Clarke was out of the city yesterday, and at his office it was said that no one could comment on the suit in his absence. Halsey, Stuart & Co., associated with Mr. Clarke in the financing, are not parties to the action, although vitally interested, since the suit seeks to halt their financing plan. Officials of this concern said that they did not care to comment until after the papers in the case had been studied.

PROSECUTOR SIFTS ACTIVITY OF NOTARIES

An examination of affidavits furnished by the Bronx County Bar Association concerning twenty-four notaries public and commissioners of deeds alleged to have posed as licensed attorneys has disclosed sufficient evidence to warrant prosecution, Chief Assistant District Attorney Israel J. P. Alderman announced yesterday.

In the absence of District Attorney McLaughlin, Mr. Alderman said, no definite action has been planned, but proceedings will undoubtedly be started in a magistrates' court within a few days. Mr. McLaughlin has been out of town and is expected to return today.

Owen S. M. Tierney, an Assistant United States Attorney and president of the Bar Association, gave the evidence to Mr. Adlerman on Sunday evening at a dinner in the Schnorer Club of the Bronx. The investigating committee of the association also was present.

The principal abuse charged against the notaries and commissioners of deeds by Mr. Tierney was that they had made a practice of drawing up legal documents, many of which caused their clients much trouble because they were improperly prepared. Mr. Tierney pointed out that it is not a violation of the law for a layman to execute these documents, but it is unlawful for any unqualified person to pose as an attorney to solicit and collect fees for such work.

Edward J. Connolly, chairman of the Brooklyn Bar Association's Committee on Unlawful Practice of Law, said yesterday that he had written to Mr. Tierney asking him to give the Brooklyn Bar Association any evidence he has of illegal practices by notaries in Brooklyn.

DURBANS REACH CANADA.

Husband of New York Heiress Has Offers of Several Places.

ST. JOHN, N. B., April 21 (AP).—Coming to Canada to make their fortune, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cecil Durban, he a former newsboy, she an American heiress, arrived today aboard the liner Montrose.

They were married in London April 10, despite the objections of Mrs. Durban's mother. Mrs. Durban is the former Vivienne Maud Huntington, daughter of the late Charles Pratt Huntington of New York.

Durban has an offer of a job with an electrical firm in Toronto and they planned to go there first to look the field over.

In the mail received when they arrived were offers of several other jobs, an invitation from the Newsboys' Foundation of Boston to speak at its tercentenary celebration, many letters from charitable organizations and one from a girl in England asking Mrs. Durban to pick out a Canadian husband for her.

Will Rogers a Flier, Too, But He Bows to the Lindberghs

To the Editor of The New York Times:

PONCA CITY, Okla., April 21.—Going to have the biggest celebration the State ever had here tomorrow—unveiling a statue to "The Pioneer Woman." It's to the West what erecting one to Washington was to the East. Tell you all about it tomorrow.

Had breakfast in Beverly Hills and dinner here in Ponca. That's not a Lindbergh, but it's pretty good for me. I didn't have any wife to do the navigating for me. You know, a wife can be either a big help or a hindrance to a man in his business. The way that little woman has taken that fellow and made an aviator out of him is wonderful. It used to take him two days to get across this country. If she had been with him going to Paris, they would have got there for lunch.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

MAY BUILD SHIPPING DEPOT

Deal Marks One of Largest Transfers of Waterfront Property in Recent Years.

After nearly a year of negotiations the French Government has sold 24.4 acres of waterfront property on the East River at the mouth of Newtown Creek, in Brooklyn, to a New York syndicate headed by Charles W. Groll, attorney, and Jacques R. Haas, real estate dealer.

The price is reported to have been $2,000,000, and it is understood that the new owners plan to build a large shipping terminal and warehouses.

The sale marks one of the largest transactions in waterfront realty in the metropolitan area in recent years. It was announced through R. Lacour-Gayet, French financial attaché, and Leonce Arnaud, formerly secretary of the French High Commission, now president of the Newtown Creek Realty Corporation, American holding company for the French Government. S Stanley Sogg & Co. acted as brokers. White & Case were attorneys for the seller and Mortimer Lanzit for the purchasers.

The property consists of 19.4 acres of land and five acres of land under water, the latter covered by State land grants. It is in the shape of an irregular V, with 401 feet frontage on the East River and 1,147 feet on Newtown Creek, surrounding the State Barge Canal Terminal. The land was bought by France during the World War for a shipping and storage depot. The improvements include an uncovered pier, several old brick buildings and about ten acres of temporary frame warehouses. The East River part is opposite Thirty-fourth Street, Manhattan. It runs to Commercial, Franklin, Eagle and West Streets.

PLANES AND DIRIGIBLES TO 'ATTACK' NEW YORK

Blimps and Balloons Will Join in Five-Day Campaign During Air Show Next Month.

The crack pursuit and attack groups of the army and naval air services, the dirigible Los Angeles and the metal dirigible ZMC-2 will stage a tactical aerial attack on New York over a five-day period during the New York Air Show, which opens at Madison Square Garden on May 3, it was announced yesterday by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

The manoeuvres will be novel to residents of this city and will afford the officers of the air service accurate data on the vulnerability of the famous skyline from the air. More than seventy planes, with the two dirigibles, a squadron of semi-rigid airships and a whole fleet of blimps and free balloons will take part in the huge aerial demonstration, according to the present plan.

As a climax the entire aerial force will join in a spectacular tribute to those in government military aviation whose achievements have built up confidence in flying and helped the aviation industry. The display will include long power dives at the roof of the Garden under which the collection of aircraft of prominent manufacturers will be assembled. Eighteen of the naval planes will be from the deck of the aircraft carrier Saratoga, which is scheduled to be at anchor in the Hudson at the time.

31,901 IN NASHUA, N. H.

First New England City to Report Complete Returns Shows Gain.

NASHUA, N. H., April 21 (AP)—This city today won the distinction of being the first city in New England to make complete census returns.

The population was shown to be 31,901, as compared with 28,379 in 1920.

Battle Creek, Mich.—43,301, increase of 5,892, or 15.7 per cent.
Ithaca, N. Y.—20,560, increase of 3,556, or 21 per cent.
Barre, Vt.—11,188, increase 1,180, or 11.7 per cent.
Montpelier, Vt.—7,633, increase 508, or 7 per cent.
Cortland, N. Y.—14,989, increase 1,695, or 12.7 per cent.
Fall River, Mass.—114,348, decrease 6,137, or 5 per cent.
Lewes, Del.—1,890, decrease of 184.
Georgetown, Del.—1,755, increase of 45.
Provo, Utah—14,612, increase 4,309 or 41.8 per cent.
Vancouver, Wash.—15,756, increase 3,119 or about 25 per cent.
Wenatchee, Wash.—11,620, increase 5,296 or 83 per cent.

SUTTON PL. EVADERS OF CENSUS WARNED

"Delinquents" Whose Servants Bar Enumerators Face Court Action.

FAIL TO FILL IN BLANKS

Officials Ask Them to Avoid "Drastic" Consequences Before It Is Too Late.

OTHERS HEED JAIL THREATS

Supervisors Say Cooperation of the Public Is Better Since Plan to Prosecute Was Announced.

Final warning was served yesterday on 157 residents in Sutton Place that prosecution in the Federal courts will result unless the necessary census information is promptly furnished to the enumerator, who reported that he met with rebuffs every time he called.

The names of the recalcitrant Sutton Place dwellers will be turned over to United States Attorney Tuttle, who will be asked to send Deputy Marshals into the district and take the offenders to the Federal Building. This action is planned as a result of a complaint by Martin Schaefer, census enumerator, to Federal District Supervisor Edward F. Corsi, in whose territory Sutton Place is located, that he is not permitted to enter the apartments and that census blanks he has left there are not filled in and returned to him.

Mr. Schaefer complained that every time he called he was informed by maids and butlers that their employers were not at home. He said he had received these reports despite the fact that he could see that those he wanted to enumerate were at home.

Lindberghs Not Listed Here.

Mr. Corsi instructed Mr. Schaefer to warn "the delinquents" that prosecution would follow. Mr. Corsi said he hoped this drastic action would not be necessary and that the Sutton Place dwellers would cooperate with the census officials. He also announced that he had received a letter from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh informing him that the flier had already been listed in St. Louis, where he maintains his legal residence. Mr. Corsi wanted to list Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh from here, as the Lindberghs have an apartment here.

In response to the warnings of United States Attorney Tuttle and the census officials that prosecution would follow failure to cooperate with the enumerators, there has been a noticeable speeding up in the returns. Most of the supervisors reported yesterday that the enumerators were having better luck on their calls.

Mr. Corsi said he thought the official census figures for the Eighteenth Assembly District, in East Harlem, would be available today or tomorrow. This area is regarded as probably the most densely populated area in the city.

Population Shift Shown.

Statistics obtained in the Seventeenth Assembly District, which is bounded by 110th and 120th Streets and Third and Eighth Avenues, indicates that the population there has changed almost entirely in the last ten years. Ten years ago the area had a Jewish population. Now it is populated almost exclusively by Latin Americans. Enumerators reported they found as many as three or four families living in one apartment in this neighborhood.

Because he received so many requests to help find missing persons, Mr. Corsi issued the following circular yesterday:

"Although the statistics resulting from each census are published as soon as possible, these facts registered about individuals are stored away for the use of historians and genealogists in future years; so no person needs to expect his or her name to be found in any publication of the census bureau. Names and tales are not told at the same time. We shall soon know from the 1930 census how many people in the nation are fifty years old, but we shall not be told who they are. About fifty years from now, the records for 1930 will be thrown open to the public."

ROCKEFELLER GREETS CENSUS ENUMERATOR

He Tells Lakewood Teacher He Is Sorry He Is a Non-Resident and Cannot Fill Out Her Blank.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 21.—A census enumerator's credentials were the open sesame today for the massive gates which guard the entrance to the Rockefeller estate here. Reporters and photographers have daily assaulted the portals in vain ever since John D. Rockefeller returned here last Friday from his Florida estate. Ensconced in privacy on his 500-acre estate, Mr. Rockefeller greeted the census enumerator, Mrs. Auguste Montulet, a teacher in the local schools, with a smile and explained that while he would be pleased indeed to be numbered in the citizenry of Lakewood, he counted New York City as his residence and would be reported by his son there. The local enumerator left the blanks for a non-resident and these will be filled out and forwarded to New York City by Mr. Rockefeller.

Ormond Beach, Fla., as well as Tarrytown, N. Y., both vied with Lakewood in an effort to have Mr. Rockefeller numbered among their citizens. New York City, however, is his legal residence.

May Head Civil Service Board.

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP).—Representative Bowman, Republican, of West Virginia, said today that President Hoover had offered to H. C. Greer of Morgantown, W. Va., the chairmanship of the Civil Service Commission, from which William C. Deming has resigned to be a candidate for Senator from Wyoming. Mr. Bowman and Senator Hatfield had recommended Mr. Greer for a diplomatic post.

OLAYA SAYS PRESS FOSTERS GOOD-WILL

HE URGES PAN-AMERICANISM

100 Newspaper Executives Attend Dinner Given to Him by Karl A. Bickel.

Dr. Enrique Olaya Herrera, President-elect of Colombia and Minister to the United States, pointed to his own country last night as proof that the Latin-American republics have traveled far along the road to genuine liberty and democracy in an address at a dinner at the Biltmore tendered to him by Karl A. Bickel, president of The United Press.

The guests included a hundred of the foremost newspaper executives of the country, and in their presence Dr. Olaya paid a tribute to the press for fostering the international understanding that is the basis of harmony and cooperation.

Dr. Olaya, who is recuperating from an attack of bronchitis, did not deliver his prepared address, which was read for him by James H. Furay, vice president of The United Press. On the advice of his physician Dr. Olaya made only a brief informal speech, in which he praised the work of the press and spoke of President Hoover as "a great citizen of the world, a man whose name is pronounced everywhere with feelings of great admiration."

Mr. Bickel, in introducting the guest of honor, told of the distinction Dr. Olaya had achieved in the field of journalism as well as statesmanship, and complimented him on his dashing campaign by airplane. Mr. Bickel characterized him as a man who would be known in the future as "the 'flying President,' a newspaper man, a student of national economy, and a great friend of America."

Says Press Fosters Harmony.

Dr. Olaya's prepared address was as follows:

Gentlemen:

I consider it a great honor to be with you on this occasion and to have the opportunity of discussing matters which are of interest to our continent and which constitute one of the most vital points upon which a beneficial influence may be brought to bear by all publicists of America. Among the material and intellectual means of communication conquered by modern civilization for the rapprochment of men the press occupies one of the fundamental positions, and frequently it constitutes a decisive factor in behalf of world peace.

Referring especially to relations among American countries, our journalists have a great mission to fulfill, inasmuch as their words, day after day, shape the sentiments and opinions of our respective citizens. If their activities are rightly directed they will create among peoples new points of understanding and will make daily progress in facilitating and fostering international harmony, upon which should be based every foreign policy seeking to accomplish high and generous ideals.

The services of the United States press have attained wonderful development in Latin-American countries during recent years. Through the complete reports of the great publicity services such as The United Press and The Associated Press our entire continent is kept fully informed, day after day, of the great happenings which take place in each of our republics, thus creating a complete understanding of our political, economic and cultural activities. Those of us who are aware of this fact acknowledge with pleasure that such understanding enhances the harmony existing between the interests and aspirations of the various nations of America which, far from being subject to animosity, have before them an ample field of common ideals that will be attained to the evident benefit of all. This magnificent and commendable work of continental publicity has been supplemented of late by Pan-American Journalists's Congresses where professional men have had an opportunity to assemble and, through mutual and personal acquaintance, create new ties between themselves, thus strengthening and extending their good-fellowship.

For many years the statesmen of the American continents have been seeking very wisely the means to facilitate solidarity among our countries. In this undertaking the effort of the press is one of the most powerful elements, and if we guide our writers in the sense of strengthening the harmony of interests and ideals to which I just referred we may feel assured that a task of paramount importance will have been accomplished.

100 Years of Progress.

The last hundred years marked constant progress in the republics of Latin America in the perfecting of their political institutions, in the increase of their economic power and in the cooperation which they contribute toward peace, democracy and internal harmony. I hope that it will not be out of place if I illusrate such tendency by referring, as an example, to one of the recent chapters of the political history of Latin America. I wish to speak of what occurred in the Republic of Colombia on the occasion of the Presidential election just held there, which is a refutation of the idea of skepticism and hopelessness to which allusions are made occasionally as to the possibility of solid political progress toward real liberty and democracy in the Hispanic countries of the New Continent. The elections that have just passed in Colombia were greatly influenced, as never before, by the strong support of the sound business elements of the country. The most prominent business men, without any political interest whatsoever, came forward to support a policy of efficient governmental administration with the whole object of faithfully serving the best interests of our country. These elections show a strong aspiration to convert these high ideals into realities and an evident purpose to translate into facts the aspirations proclaimed by Lincoln in his testimonial phrase: "Government of the people, for the people and by the people."

My compatriots, the Colombian people, did honor to my name recently by presenting it to the electoral arena as that of a candidate for the Presidency of the Republic. The presentation was made by political elements which for a long time had been constituting the parties of the Opposition, but they were joined later by very worthy exponents of other political groups. They all knew that my ideas on public administration differ in several fundamental points from those which have been prevalent in Colombia for more than half a century.

Here is where the first political progress to which I wish to call your attention appears: It is this—the electoral campaign developed in the midst of perfect decorum and the public authorities granted the parties the most complete liberty to carry on their campaigns in the press and to determine at the polls their choice of candidates. All who witnessed that campaign agree in acknowledging that such intense popular enthusiasm in taking part in the elections has seldom been seen, in such a peaceful atmosphere of complete respect for law and for the rights of the citizens who supported the various candidates. The government remained impartial in the struggle and when the election showed as a result that the person who now has the honor of addressing you had been elected as President of the Republic of Colombia all political parties hastened to declare their acceptance of the popular verdict and, with perfect frankness and without hesitancy, expressed their willingness to abide by the results obtained at the polls.

Colombia a Law-Abiding Nation.

The idea of ignoring these results did not, for a single moment, enter the mind of anybody, thus proving obviously that the Latin-American republics are not disorganized countries which resort to the insane remedy of civil wars, but communities who live in peace and for peace, deeply concerned with such problems as will serve to promote the general welfare. As far as Colombia is concerned, it has been a source of pride to show that we have a government of law and not of men; that public peace is the foundation of the activities of all parties and that obedience to law and respect for the right are its supreme rules of conduct.

Let me add a few words on the three fundamental planks which formed the platform of my electoral campaign, a campaign which was made in a period of not more than forty days, and wherein, due to the shortness of the time available, the most rapid means of communication, namely, the airplane and the radio, played a most important part. Together with a group of supporters of my program, I went by airplane from the tropical regions on the Caribbean coast to the mountains in the interior of the country, where a pleasant and cold climate resembles more that of the places of the temperate zone than those near the Equator.

One of the most interesting impressions of the campaign was to leave cities lying at sea level and in a few hours to be on high and far-off mountains 10,000 and 12,000 feet in elevation. The aid obtained from the radio was likewise marvelous and, for the first time, the most remote hamlet of Colombia heard the speeches which were being delivered in the principal cities of the country.

The three planks of the platform which won over Colombian public opinion during the last Presidential election were as follows:

First: As regards the internal organization of the country, a policy of national conciliation, in accord with the various political parties, in order to put the country's interest above personal interest or the interest of mere groups and to give as the fundamental basis of public administration efficiency and honesty on the part of officials. As a means for obtaining such a state of efficiency to as perfect a degree as possible, I advocated, and was favorably supported in my opinion, the advisability of taking advantage of the technical cooperation of such countries having greater administrative experience as may give us advice or an opinion on the organization of finances and its economic and commercial development.

Called in Money Doctor.

The most fruitful of these missions was called after the world depression of 1920-21, in which Colombia suffered severely. In the month of January, 1923, realizing that we were sick financially, we called in the international money doctor, Professor E. W. Kemmerer of Princeton University. At the request of the government he formed a Mission of Financial Advisers. They arrived in Bogota on the 10th of March of that year and set to work on a scientific investigation of the financial needs of the country. They completed their work in the latter part of June and by that time, through their efforts and the splendid national spirit of the Congress, the government had placed upon the statute books new laws for a central bank, a general banking law, a negotiable instrument law, a law governing the creation and method of passing the national budget and a law creating and prescribing the administration of the office of the Controller General.

Then a dramatic thing happened. One of our large importing and general merchandising houses failed suddenly and carried down with it one of the large banks. A panic began to develop and like all panics, it spread like wildfire and for forty-eight hours it almost seemed that a moratorium would be declared and that the country would suffer the results of such a drastic measure. The government declared the day preceding and the one following our Independence Day as national holidays, and adding these to the succeeding Sunday gave them four days in which all the details necessary to open the Bank of the Republic were arranged. Banknotes were obtained from a distant point by airplane and printed as provisional notes, applications for loans were taken and granted. On Monday morning, the 17th of July, 1923, the Bank of the Republic of Colombia opened for business and paid out gold for its notes. It has stood like the Rock of Gibraltar for sound money and credit in Colombia even through the recent trying period.

Almost immediately thereafter the general banking law was put into effect, including rigid bank supervision and inspection. The first job of the new superintendent was to liquidate the large bank which by its failure precipitated the panic. In about two years the superintendent had paid every creditor in full and at the request of the stockholders, continued the liquidation on their behalf.

Weak Credit Spots Eliminated.

In 1923 Colombia had a number of small and weak banks. Some of the larger banks were none too liquid. Every one of these danger spots in the credit structure of the country has long since been eliminated. At this time, at the end, I hope, of a period of depression, the banks of Colombia are in a condition to continue to transact the credit of the country, of course under restricted operations, but nevertheless to conduct it safely and soundly.

Prior to 1924 it was an unheard-of thing for a bank to ask a borrower to submit a statement of his condition on which the bank might decide whether or not it would grant the request for credit. Today, under the leadership of the Bank of the Republic and the Superintendent for Banks, it is fast becoming the rule of the banks to demand such statements and to analyze them and to base their credit extensions upon the facts in the case rather than upon acquaintance and friendship. Boards of directors are receiving analyses of the portfolios of the banks, and new lines of credit and extensions of existing credit are being based upon these vital facts. This policy of the banks has been reflected very generally in the practices of the merchants and manufacturers of Colombia and they, too, at this time are in liquid position.

It is this fundamental soundness of the credit and banking structure of Colombia, supported by the oft-repeated experience of the people in sinking sectional and local desires, that makes me look to the immediate future with the security that we shall again rise to the occasion in splendid form.

The international policy of the republic was the second important plank of the electoral platform. For such policy I favored the adoption of Pan-Americanism, that is, a sincere and cordial understanding among all the republics of the Western Hemisphere. Everything that refers to our relations with the United States occupies a prominent place under this head, which has assumed enormous importance during recent years in view of increasing commercial, scientific, financial and educational relations, for the purpose of finding friendly, brotherly and equitable solutions that will eliminate every difficulty or difference and facilitate in each case a satisfactory solution that will terminate them are the most solid foundations for such relations. This cordiality in political, economic and cultural relations between the United States and the countries of Latin America—and in the particular case to which I refer, between the United States and Colombia—is a profound conviction with me, strengthened during the years that I have borne the diplomatic representation of my country in Washington. I believe it my duty to state in all frankness that during the eight years in which, as the Minister of Colombia to the United States, I have had to discuss matters of various character with the Department of State I have found uniformly a sincere purpose of good-will, of true friendship which has permitted us in every instance to reach equitable solutions, favorably received by both parties. The daily increase of such understanding will result, in my opinion, in considerable mutual benefit for both countries.

The third plank of the platform which was successful in the Presidential elections held in Colombia last February was that referring to our policy toward foreign capital. The policy which I upheld was that of the open door; that is, the foreign capital must come to submit to the laws of the country and that it must find protection in such laws, and that the officials of the country respect the rights of capital in a generally favorable atmosphere, so that the interest of the country and of its inhabitants may progress jointly and harmoniously in the task of utilizing the natural resources of the country profitably for the State within whose territory they lie, as well as for the companies which devote their labor and capital to that purpose.

Raw Materials for Use Here.

The countries of tropical America contain a large quantity of products of great value for use in the great industries of the United States. The tropics are a source of supply of raw materials for the production of manufactures and their utilization does not involve competitive interests, but, on the contrary, such interests complement each other and are parallel. Furthermore, a country such as Colombia, situated in an admirable geographical position, with coasts on the Atlantic and on the Pacific Oceans, and almost adjoining the Panama Canal, is generously endowed with such precious fuel as petroleum, the exploitation of which has given rise to juridical discussions that have at times retarded the utilization of such great resources more than they should.

Whatever difficulties may have arisen in such matters, I believe, and it is my firm conviction, that everything will be settled satisfactorily and promptly, if we adopt and practice as a general principle that legislation on this matter, by safeguarding the legitimate rights the State, must give the latter an equitable profit and at the same time give an adequate remuneration to the capital of the companies interest in the utilization of that fuel which is so precious in modern industrial life. Instead of finding it impossible or extremely difficult to solve these questions, I think that if we approach them with the definite purpose of reaching an understanding and an agreement, we will solve them in a satisfactory manner that will permit of giving an immediate value to this potential wealth.

Since the United States appeared on this Continent as a great democracy, its statesmen considered the countries of Latin America as groups of friends and brothers with whom they have many ideals and interests in common. That conviction induced the founders of the great American nation to express words of genuine solidarity toward the new countries which were fighting to attain their independence at the beginning of the nineteenth century. The same thought has served as a guide to many of the leaders of the United States and it has found an echo and clear comprehension in many of the most capable men in Latin America. In this work of continental civilization and understanding among all the nations of the Western Hemisphere, the present generations have before them a great task to accomplish. We must perform it successfully on the basis of sincere confidence and with the definite will to bring a closer friendship founded on sincerity and justice. For this task you, gentlemen of the press, are a decisive factor. With your aid the United States and the republics of Latin America will crown a great cooperative effort, worthy of the great ideals of modern civilization.

Although Shakespeare described it as "Romeo and Juliet" the Civic Repertory performance, which was acted in Fourteenth Street last evening, is Juliet. For Miss Le Gallienne gives the finest and most elastic performance of her career in that rôle. During the last two or three years the superstition has grown up that Miss Le Gallienne is a better director than actress—a superstition largely fostered by her choice of occupations in her theatre. But her Juliet reveals her as an actress, not merely of intelligence which she has always been, but of scope and resilience, which she has become this season. Ardently girlish in the balcony scene, her Juliet grows steadily in dignity and command as the tragedy unfolds, and takes the terrors and resolutions of the potion scene with a new fullness of emotion. Miss Le Gallienne has always been mistress of fundamental details in acting. In this production, which is sometimes inaudible in the other parts, the clarity and sing of her diction are particularly enjoyable. But her greatest achievement is the acting of a romantic rôle with latitude and fluid grace.

Although the production as a whole is a work of mixed values it is the most ambitious venture that the Civic Repertory has made on the side of unalloyed beauty. Aline Bernstein, whose work is also steadily increasing in its imaginative authority, has designed a remarkable series of settings. One expansive device of several flights of stairs climbing into a blue background introduces the tragedy with three major acting levels. For the rest, a triangular structure, easily turned about, serves to suggest beautifully the balcony, the interior of Juliet's chamber and Friar Lawrence's cell. Splendidly lighted, especially for the balcony scene, these units of scenery make an ingenious compromise between concrete representation and conventional background, and they give the production an idealized splendor quite in harmony with the spirit of the play.

In these circumstances you might expect the performance to move briskly, but, particularly in the beginning, it is sluggish, and the long waits between the acts break the spell. There is, moreover, an overpowering suggestion of stair-climbing during the pageantry of the opening scenes. Part of the fault may be ascribed to Shakespeare, who got well into "Romeo and Juliet" before he touched on the essential problem of the drama, and whose poetry is here so sublimated that it forces little substance out of the characters. But part of the fault lies also in the amorphous staging which, for example, places the first meeting of Juliet and Romeo far in the background, where it is lost behind the ceremony of the dancing.

The performance improves steadily all through the evening. When it comes to the street brawl which is fatal to Mercutio it has pace and attack. What has seemed to be unsifted becomes lucid in this scene. And J. Edward Bromberg's Mercutio, which lacked character in the beginning, turns this duel and death into a species of clear-cut gallantry that is thoroughly moving. It is one of the best parts in Shakespeare, honored here in the observance of its valorous humor.

If Donald Cameron's Romeo had that much character, the performance of the tragedy might realize more consistently the beauties latent in it. But Mr. Cameron's portrait is hardly more than perfunctory. As the youth who falls in love with Juliet on the rebound from Rosaline this Romeo is a dull swain whose speaking of the lines is monotonous recitation. As the young man in the last act who suddenly comes through the mist of romance to the hard facts of reality Mr. Cameron takes a more tangible position in the performance.

Leona Roberts is capital as the bawdy nurse—plodding in her walk, mischievous in her humors and craftily amusing altogether. As Friar Lawrence, Sayre Crawley, who is still cursed with that tedious introductory speech, catches the fatherliness in that part. The other parts are variously played—some of them well, none of them badly. And although the performance as a whole is not perfect in its patterning, it has a fine texture and sometimes it resolves itself into scenes of living beauty. And Miss Le Gallienne's Juliet is no idle ornament hanging on the cheek of night, but a characterization in terms of imaginative acting.

"Little Orchid Annie," by Hadley Waters and Charles Beahan, bustled into the Eltinge last night like something intent upon getting out of the rain, and, having got there, set up an assiduous hue and cry the while it turned itself into a squalling farce and attempted a pale salacity. The farce was not funny and the salacity was an almost continuous yawn.

In the meantime what is now on view on Forty-second Street is a fable of life among the manikins, or the models at Madame Elaine's. A droll set of girls, with a gift for snappy speech and no opportunity to use it, they chide the wide-eyed Annie Westlake for a gold-digging Lorelei, or turn their jibes at the effiminate designer, a Mr. Reynolds. Annie has cooed ingenuous words at Mr. Graham, a customer, and parted him from some steel stock; she has whispered soft nothings to a Mr. Kuppenheimer, and a Rolls-Royce will be along in a couple of weeks. It is about 9:30 P. M. when this has happened—time for a first-act curtain.

From that Messrs. Waters and Beahan proceed to worse, if it is possible, and stage a party at Annie's apartment. It is a chattering little carnival which finds every one dressed up in Mother Goose costumes, the farcical point being that every one who should not meet his rival does encounter him at the party, dressed probably as Little Boy Blue. Mr. Graham and young Master Flynn (there is a Mr. Flynn, from Yale, on the Lorelei string) engage in fisticuffs and are packed off to jail. It is now about 10:13 o'clock.

In the face of reasonably close scrutiny what happens after that is chiefly incoherent, giving rise to the suspicion that the authors themselves never quite knew, or that if they did they cheerfully turned their backs upon it all, calling it a day if hardly a play.

Entrusted with this business of a sultry and generally crude evening are, principally, Betty Lawrence as Annie Westlake, and Kitty Kelly and Leona Maricle as her less orchidaceous companions in a vacuum. Miss Lawrence is as Dulcy as you please, and Miss Kelly and Miss Maricle can turn a phrase with impeccable style. There is about one for each of them.

SIR HARRY LAUDER WINS WITH HIS OLD SONGS

He Opens Last Week of '60,000-Mile' Tour With Sixth Annual Farewell at Jolson's Theatre.

Sir Harry Lauder began last night at Jolson's Fifty-ninth Street Theatre the week in New York which puts the crown on what is described as his "latest tour of 60,000 miles by land and sea." Sir Harry himself described it as his sixth annual farewell tour and invited everybody present to his next and seventh. So far as appeared, not a whit of the veteran's spirit and not a drop of his rich Scottish quality has evaporated with the years or with the miles of being what the press agent calls a "singing comedian."

Comedian he is by native gift and practised accomplishment out of a race and nation which nurtures the gift and prizes the accomplishment. Singing he makes both merry and sad—as is the way of Scots. Last night he sang the old songs—the same, he boasted, that he had sung to the parents and the grandparents of many in that large and cheerful audience—and he made the grandchildren of those grandparents join in the choruses. Just two years more (he reminded us) and he will have been "before the public for fifty years."

His kilts and sporrans and plaids are more splendid than ever, his face and his laugh as ready to command, his legs as able, whether he dances or staggers after he treats MacKaye and MacKaye treats him.

In short, it is the old Harry Lauder. Judging from the rippling laughter about the house last night the old Harry is as able to amuse the youngsters as ever he was the likes of the rest of us. He sings his song, "To the End of the Road," as if he meant to go on with it—to his seven and seventieth farewell tour.

The earlier part of the evening was consumed in various entertainment: the Uyeno Japanese troupe, the Arnaut Brothers, who have been pefecting their "Two Loving Birds" for so many years; Don Julian, cartoonist, and others contributing. But the show is Harry Lauder. Because it is, it is every bit worth going to, even in a town which has so much else to offer that is not the least like Harry.

THE SCREEN

By MORDAUNT HALL.

Bright Dialogue.

HE KNEW WOMEN, with Lowell Sherman, Alice Joyce, David Manners and Frances Dade, based on the play, "The Second Man," by S. N. Behrman, directed by Hugh Herbert. At the Globe Theatre.

Amusing epigrams, tossed here and there in "He Knew Women," an audible pictorial version of S. N. Behrman's play, "The Second Man," compensate for the lack of action in this screen contribution. It is an audible offering which is recorded with exceptional verity. The incidental sounds are natural and the making of them is not forced. The voices are marvelously natural and the performances are praiseworthy, particularly that of Lowell Sherman.

The narrative may be a thread about as strong as a strand of a spider's web, but it is engaging, and whether one is listening to the cynical, slothful writer, the impetuous maiden, the wealthy matron or the love-smitten youthful scientist, what they have to say is always interesting. It is an intelligent piece of work that is well directed, for although it can boast of no far-flung journeying via the camera, Hugh Herbert, the director, glides from one room to another in a house and winds up his tale on the deck of a steamship bound for Italy. It is gratifying to note that Mr. Herbert has avoided the pitfalls into which so many producers fall in their overzealous efforts to make a good play move on the screen.

Mr. Sherman is seen as Goeffrey Clarke, an indolent writer, who, while he is willing to accept checks from the charming Mrs. Frayne, admits to having a conscience, one that strives to do something with him. He calls this conscience "second man," and telling of his experiences gives Clarke a chance for sparkling words. Mrs. Frayne is quite willing to become Clarke's wife, but Monica Grey, a dainty young blonde is much smitten with the smooth-spoken author of sorts. Austin Lowe, who is presumed to be a young scientist with pots of gold, is desperately in love with Monica.

At the opening of the sketchy chronicle Monica has returned Austin's ring, but at the end she thinks better of it. During the various episodes, Monica leads the others to believe that "Clarke must marry her," but after Austin shows what a bad shot he is with a pistol when he fires at Clarke the discussion settles down to righting matters, virtually according to the dictates of the "second man."

Alice Joyce fills the rôle of Mrs. Frayne. Her work is highly commendable. Frances Dade lends charm and youth to the part of the impressionable Monica. David Manners, who figures as Raleigh in the film of "Journey's End," appears in this new picture as Austin Lowe. He can chalk up another good performance to his credit.

Summer Camp Benefit Sunday.

Babe Ruth, Harry Richman, S. J. Kaufman, Jans and Whalen, Texas Guinan, Irving Ceasar and Jack Pearl are announced to appear on Sunday night at the Broadhurst Theatre at a benefit performance to be given by the University Settlement for East Side Children. Proceeds from the entertainment will go to a fund for a Summer camp at Beacon, N. Y.

Theatre League's Foes to Meet.

The theatrical managers opposed to the New York Theatre League will meet in the office of George White, 229 West Forty-second Street, tonight at 9 o'clock, it was said yesterday by B. F. Holzman, Mr. White's representative. Mr. Holzman would not reveal the names of those who had promised to attend. Besides Mr. White, those announced as opposing the league's plan are Jed Harris and Herman Shumlin.

"THE TAVERN" HERE MAY 19

Revival by George M. Cohan to Be Presented at the Fulton.

George M. Cohan's revival of "The Tavern," first produced on Broadway in 1920, will be presented at the Fulton Theatre on May 19, with Mr. Cohan in the part first played by the late Arnold Daly. Besides Mr. Cohan the players will include Joseph Allen, Robert Middlemass, Mary Philips, Edwin F. Nannary and Harold Healy.

It was reported yesterday that during the engagement at the Fulton Mr. Cohan may also revive "The Song and Dance Man" for special performances. His part in "The Tavern," it is said, has proved to be too great a strain on his voice during the Boston run which closed Saturday night to allow him to play the rôle continuously.

TO OPEN NEW THEATRE.

Warners Present 'Hold Everything" Tonight at the Hollywood.

Warner Brothers' new Hollywood Theatre, Broadway and Fifty-first Street, will be opened this evening with the presentation of the audible film version of the musical comedy "Hold Everything," in which Joe E. Brown, Winnie Lightner, Georges Carpentier and Sally O'Neil head the cast.

Harry M. Warner will make a short address. Albert Conway will represent Governor Roosevelt. Mayor Walker is also expected to speak.

The theatre has been built in memory of Sam Warner and as a tribute to him several stage and screen stars will appear. Many notables have accepted invitations to be present at this first night of a picture and a theatre.

Plautus Comedy Given at Hamilton.

Special to The New York Times.

CLINTON, N. Y., April 21.— Plautus's comedy, "The Menaechmi," was presented in Latin at Hamilton College tonight. Previous performances have been given at Hunter College and at Princeton University. Professor Cleveland K. Chase coached the production. The cast was William A. Jarrett, Shepherdstown, W. Va.; Latimer Senior, Utica; Francis Crowley, Williamstown, Mass.; Herbert Know, New York; Chauncey D. Cowlas Jr., Buffalo; Samuel A. Ives, Brooklyn; Robert Kerr, Cortland, and Francis O. Schue, Rome, N. Y.

"Hash" at Wallack's Saturday.

An entertainment entitled "Hash, a Little Bit of Everything Left Over From Yesterday," is announced to open at Wallack's Theatre on Saturday night of this week. The first part of the show will consist of a feminine minstrel show and will be followed by a negro minstrel olio. The producer is Ted Reilly.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

There will be two premières tonight. "Room 349" will open at the National Theatre and "Stepping Sisters" will come to the Waldorf.

"The Infinite Shoeblack" will end its engagement at Maxine Elliott's this week. Leslie Banks will return to London for a new play, and Helen Menken will also be seen in a new play soon.

"They Never Grow Up" will be withdrawn from the Theatre Masque this week.

Earl Carroll's new "Vanities" will open in Atlantic City the last week in June.

"The Last Mile" will shortly be published by Samuel French, with an introduction by Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing.

Marcel Pagnol, author of "Topaze," will come to this country in July. His "Marius" will be produced by Gilbert Miller in the Fall.

A play called "Times Square" is announced for production by Sam Orange. It is the work of Mr. Orange and G. Miriam Burton.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's Sarazen II Captures Paumonok Handicap at Jamaica Opening

SARAZEN II, 10 TO 1, WINS THE PAUMONOK

JUDGE SCHILLING IS SECOND

POLYDOR, FAVORITE, TIRES

High Strung's Chances Ruined by Start—Cochran's Polygamous Triumphs in First Race.

By BRYAN FIELD.

For the third successive year a 3-year-old captured the Paumonok Handicap when Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Sarazen II smashed on yesterday in the manner of his great namesake and won by five lengths in a field of eleven of the greatest sprinters the East could muster at the opening of the season at the Jamaica track. It was his first race since last year's Hopeful, and he paid 10 to 1.

Judge Schilling, running in the colors of Rudolph Spreckels, was second, just lasting to save off by a head the great stretch rush of the Wheatley Stable's Distraction.

Polydor, the favorite, finished fifth, half a length back of Eddie Ahearn, thus being out of the money for the first time since 1928. High Strung, juvenile champion of 1928 and the horse counted on to stop Polydor, had scant chance with the start and finished seventh, three lengths back of Son o' Battle. After High Strung came Crack Brigade, Sweep Out, Simba and Tripping Toe.

Candidate for Derby.

In 1928, when Polydor was a 3-year-old and won the Paumonok, he did not go on to the Kentucky Derby. Neither did Mei Foo, last year's winner. But Sarazen II seems sure to run at Churchill Downs even though Mrs. Vanderbilt has in his stable companion Desert Light a horse which now is one of the choices for the Kentucky classic. For Sarazen II ran and won in a manner to indicate that he can go on, as could Sarazen, which brought fame to the Fair Stable silks, before him.

The perverseness of several of the horses delayed the start for more than two minutes, and when the break finally came it found Tripping Toe unready and High Strung very tardy. Polydor did not get off with his usual jump, but he had his chance.

Eddie Ahearn was the first to show in front, with Crack Brigade and Judge Schilling the next fastest to begin. Son o' Battle and Polydor were right alongside of them, with Sarazen II close up.

Polydor Is Rushed Up.

In the run to the far turn Mack Garner tried to get to the front with Polydor and rushed him up on the outside, as the close bunching of the others prevented his finding any space on the rail. Eddie Ahearn was going well under his light weight of 100 pounds, and Judge Schilling and Crack Brigade maintained their places. So did Sarazen II.

At the far turn Polydor was abreast on the outside and seemed about to go to the front despite the extra distance he was covering and the top weight of 128 pounds he was carrying. But the swing around the bend gave Polydor the worst of it on distance, of course, and when the leaders reached the top of the stretch the big son of Golden Broom was used up from his efforts and flattened.

Meantime, Crack Brigade and Sarazen II had saved ground right back of Eddie Ahearn and Judge Schilling, and when the former stopped, Mrs. Vanderbilt's horse passed Crack Brigade and challenged Judge Schilling for the lead. Despite the calibre of Judge Schilling, and it is reasonably high, he was no match for the High Time colt.

On came Sarazen II, and the further he went the easier it was. Pete Walls was just sitting tight at the end, and the time was 1:13 over a track that was fast, but not at its best. The winner's share of the purse was $6,700 and he carried 112 pounds.

Cochran Silks in Front.

Another horse to run six furlongs in 1:13 and also a 3-year-old which may be counted on to do something in the 3-year-old stakes this year was Gifford A. Cochran's Polygamous. He scored almost as easily as did Sarazen II, but there were thirteen others running against him. This proved hard luck for all the others, but not for the fourteenth, as Bill Kelsay took him up carefully half way through the race and then went to the front.

From that point on it was a procession, with Polygamous winning by four lengths over Gold Brook, which beat First Lady a head. The order of finish was a reversal of the last meeting between Polygamous and First Lady. Polygamous carried 119 pounds and ran to the 2-year-old form which made him a highly considered juvenile. As this was in the opening contest, Mr. Cochran had the distinction of having his colors in front in the first race of the season.

The other four races were keenly contested, three of them being claiming events. The fourth was a test for 2-year-olds over the five-furlong route, and High Day, owned by Mrs. Victor Emanuel, was the winner. Mack Garner rode him, and this made it two during the day for High Time, as High Day is by High Time out of Tiuna. Sarazen 2d is out of Talisman.

High Day beat his stable mate, Golden Legend, by a length, while Chouette was a nose back to be third.

It was in the last race that the closest finish of the day was witnessed, for George Ellis lanced a horse called Dabster along the rail and won by a nose from Sun Forward, the odds-on favorite.

Rain or Shine was beaten three lengths by Sun Forward, but finished fifteen lengths ahead of Bright Steel, the only other starter. Dabster trailed the field in the early stages, but moved up strongly when called upon, and put on a gallant rush in the last furlong to overhaul the public choice.

Cacao at Odds of 100 to 6 Wins Queen's Prize Handicap

Cacao, owned by Lord Woolavington, started at odds of 100 to 6 against. Sir Joshua, owned by Major F. B. Sneyd, was at 6 to 1, and Rubicon, owned by Victor Emanuel, 25 to 1. The distance was two miles.

BATTLING ON FIRST AT HAVRE DE GRACE

Leads From Start and Defeats Mucker by Two Lengths in the Lansdowne.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 21 (AP).—The Lansdowne Purse, a sprint of six furlongs for 3-year-olds, was the feature of the seventh day of racing at Havre de Grace today. From a field of six that sported silks in the test that had decision over a fast track, Battling On, from the Glen Riddle Stable, carried off the main division of the prize money and incidentally earned his second triumph of the meeting when he led his small but formidable field throughout the dash to defeat his nearest pursuer, Mucker, from the Dixiana, by two lengths. Third went to Miss Blanche Watson's Chattering, while G. D. Widener's Shady Lady easily bested the two others.

SARAZEN II WINNING THE PAUMONOK HANDICAP AT JAMAICA OPENING YESTERDAY.

MIKE HALL TAKES LEXINGTON FEATURE

Making Second Start Since Return From England, He Wins by 3 Lengths.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 21 (AP).—Mike Hall, the 6-year-old gelded son by Hourless-Clonakilty from R. East-Wentsell's stable, was second, with start since his return from England, easily captured the Richmond Purse, the feature event on today's card. It was a run of a mile for 3-year-olds and upward. Low Gear, from A. W. Wentsell's Stable, was second, with Fiddler, from Gallagher & Combs's stable, third. Ashtabula was the only other starter. Mike Hall negotiated the distance in 1:39 3-5.

Away fast, Mike Hall, under the steadying restraint of C. McCrossen, went into the lead from the rise of the barrier, and, increasing his advantage at every pole, won easily by three lengths. Low Gear, away slow, improved his position gradually and was up to take the place by a neck. Fiddler, used up in forcing the pace, tired badly in the stretch drive, but finished third.

Mike Hall, heavily played favorite, paid his backers $3.02 for a $2 mutuel.

LA BARBA DEFEATS TAYLOR.

Featherweight Title Contender Gets Decision in Chicago Bout.

CHICAGO, April 21 (AP).—Fidel La Barba of Los Angeles, challenger for the featherweight championship, won from Bud Taylor, Terre Haute, in ten rounds in the Coliseum tonight.

The Los Angeles fighter was floored for a count of eight at the start of the first round and was knocked staggering across the ring with another right hander in the second. La Barba then rallied and from the fifth round on he had the edge, his speed being too much for Taylor.

It was Jack Dempsey's first successful promotional enterprise with gate net receipts of $25,000 and the attendance at 7,000. Taylor weighed 125 pounds with La Barba 124.

Scratched—Moonstruck, Taos, Sara Burdon and St. Marco.

Polygamous got away well, was under restraint to the middle of the turn, where he ran into the lead and, drawing away, won nicely in hand. Gold Brook broke a bit slowly, but went up very fast on the outside, moved up to the leader on the turn, but weakened in the last sixteenth. First Lady, away on her toes, displayed excellent speed and ran a good race. Wu, badly outrun for the first half mile, closed a big gap.

Saratoga Maje got away fast, rushed into the lead under weak handling, saved ground and held on gamely. Lindy broke fast, but was crowded back. He was taken to the outside and under strong handling closed with a rush and was up to take the place by a nose. Mint Sauce followed the fast early pace, but weakened in the last hundred yards. Oncora finished very fast. Talky had early speed, but tired badly in the stretch. As Fair is sure to improve. Irish suffered early interference and never had a chance to run. Cyrano was outrun.

aL. M. Shapoff entry.

Spantaft broke well, but was crowded back and repeatedly interfered with. She came fast, however, and closing gamely, won going away. Lakeland shot through a very narrow opening at the far turn, opened a wide lead, but weakened in the last sixteenth. Herb Ashby was in close quarters around the turn, but ran a good race. Mockery was on the outside all the way. Daffodil had plenty of speed for seven furlongs, then dropped back. Johnny Campbell raced with the pace for six furlongs, then stopped.

aW. R. Coe entry.
Scratched—Best Man.

Sarazen II broke well, was kept in back of the leaders to the middle of the turn, where he got through, and drawing away, won easily. Judge Schilling displayed good speed, set a fast pace and held on gamely. Distraction was outrun for the first half mile, then was taken to the outside in the stretch, where he closed with a rush. Eddie Ahearn broke fast on the outside, was kept right with the pace and ran a good race. Polydor was on the outside, and made a game effort. High Strung broke slowly and had no chance with the start. Sweep Out was away poorly. Tripping Toe was left at the post. Simba lacked speed. Crack Brigade was well up all the way.

aMrs. V. Emanuel-Dorwood Stable entry. bWheatley Stable-Belair Stud entry.

Scratched—Moonlit and General Toy.

High Day, a fine looking colt, broke a bit slowly, but worked his way up and, taking the lead in the stretch, won going away. Golden Legend displayed good speed, but hung badly at the end. Chouette was on the outside, swerved under the whip, but ran greenly. Queens Oak had plenty of speed, but tired as if short.

Owners—1, Mrs. V. Emanuel; 2, Dorwood Stable; 3, Fair Stable; 4, M. O'Connor; 5, T. M. Cassidy; 6, W. R. Coe; 7, Wheatley Stable; 8, Wheatley Stable; 9, Belair Stud; 10, E. F. Sanford.

9493 SIXTH RACE—Purse $1,000; claiming; 3-year-olds and upward; one mile and seventy yards. Start good; won driving; place easily. Winner, b. c., 3, by Waygood—Hurakan. Trainer, C. Phillips. Time—0:24, 0:49, 1:15⅗, 1:43⅕, 1:47.

SHOW IN BROOKLYN TO START TONIGHT

Five-Day Horse Competition at Riding and Driving Club to Close Saturday Night.

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.

The thirty-eighth annual Brooklyn Horse Show will open tonight in the arena of the Riding and Driving Club at Vanderbilt Avenue and Plaza Street, Brooklyn, and will continue through Saturday night, with a matinee listed for Saturday afternoon. With the largest entry list in the history of the organization, the exhibition will start the Spring Horse Show in a fitting manner.

Many notable events will make the week an interesting one in the big Riding Club arena, one of these being the first appearance at a Brooklyn show of a mounted police troop. A picked detail of twenty-four men from the mounted service of the Police Department of the city of New York will give the exhibition on Thursday night.

Police Commissioner Grover Whalen has been invited to review the mounted officers, who will give an exhibition similar to that which has been a feature of the National Horse Show for a number of years. It is expected that the troop will be made up of men who have had experience in the exhibitions in Madison Square Garden.

The presence of the United States Army horse show team is certain to arouse keen interest among the spectators, as many of the officers have ridden here at the National and have competed in the Olympic games and other famous European exhibitions. Many old favorites will be in the army show string. They will compete in the military and jumping competitions and in the later events they will meet the sternest kind of competition from civilian timber-toppers.

RITZ GETS VERDICT OVER CARAGLIANO

Brownsville Lightweight Scores an Upset in Feature Bout at the St. Nicholas.

ARAGON AND ROSSI DRAW

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

Tony Caragliano, sturdy young Yorkville Italian whose record of thirty-four bouts includes twenty-four knockout triumphs, came back to New York boxing last night and went down to defeat. His conqueror was Solly Ritz, young Brownsville lightweight who carried off the decision over Caragliano in ten bitterly fought rounds at the St. Nicholas Arena.

The result was an upset. Caragliano entered the ring a favorite in the betting over Ritz who was substituted a few days ago for Willie Siegal, originally signed as the opponent of Caragliano.

Ritz Wins Six Rounds.

The decision was popular and was justified, for Ritz outboxed and outfought his opponent in six of the ten rounds. Boxing cleverly and fighting in spurts against an opponent whose consistent work on the attack was nullified through his wildness and awkward style, Ritz won the first, third, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth rounds. Caragliano's most effective work was accomplished in the second and fourth rounds and in a spectacular, sustained rally through the ninth and tenth. Caragliano weighed 135½ pounds and Ritz 138.

A rally over the last two rounds of his journey earned Emil Rossi, Harlem welterweight, a draw last night with Mel Aragon, Peruvian boxer, in their eight-round semi-final.

Referee Johnny Marto and Judges Walter Kendall and Herman Kahn voted the bout even at the finish, although many in the crowd thought the decision was complimentary to Rossi. Aragon appeared to have an advantage at the final bell.

Rossi weighed 141½ pounds, Aragon 135½.

Kreiger Scores Quickly.

Solly Kreiger, Williamsburg middleweight, made short work of Freddy Kelly of Atlanta, Ga., in their bout scheduled for six rounds. After dropping his opponent twice for counts of nine Kreiger sent Kelly down for the third time with a right to the jaw and Referee Marto, dispensing with the count, waved Kreiger to his corner the victor by a knockout. The finish came after 2 minutes and 54 seconds. Kreiger weighed 153½ pounds and Kelly 152.

Rocco Vigna, Italian lightweight, knocked out Louis (Kid) Perez of Havana in the fourth round of their scheduled six-round bout. Vigna floored his opponent twice in the third round. He weighed 132 pounds and Perez 132¾.

Eddie McKenna, west side welterweight, won the decision over Tommy Syracuse of Yorkville in the first six-round bout. McKenna weighed 138¾ pounds and Syracuse 136¾. In the opening bout of four rounds Manny Kammissar, east side lightweight, won the decision over Joe Pasquale of Harlem.

FICUCELLO BOXES TONIGHT

Ralph Ficucello, former amateur boxing champion, who has been undefeated since embarking on a professional career, will seek to add Leo (One Punch) Williams to his list of vanquished rivals tonight at the Broadway Arena, Brooklyn. They will clash in the principal bout of six rounds on a card of three other six-round events and four four-round contests. The principals in the other six-round matches will be Herman Waters vs. Sammy Cherin, Marty Roth vs. Charley Rauch and Eddie Burl vs. Al Peters.

Two ten-round bouts feature the boxing card to be offered patrons of the Twenty-second Engineer Regiment Armory tonight. The principals will be Tommy Dorr vs. Charley Boyette and Quintin Romero-Rojas vs. Mickey Taylor.

VELOUCREME WINS ON TURF

LONGCHAMPS, France, April 21 (AP).—Baron de Rothschild's Veloucreme won the Prix Greffule, first of the season's classics for 3-year-olds, today. The race was worth 180,000 francs (about $7,200) to the winner.

Baron de Rothschild's other entry, Ginger Ale, romped home in third place. Count Derivaud's Chauteau Bouscaut was second.

King Tut Outpoints Kaufman.

ST. LOUIS, April 21 (AP).—King Tut of Milwaukee outpointed Pinkey Kaufman of Hartford, Conn., in a ten-round bout at the Arena tonight. Tut led all the way. Kaufman weighed 141 pounds to Tut's 140.

CLINKSTOCK LOSES TO SHIKAT IN 51:05

Champion Scores Fall With Body Hold Before 6,000 at 71st Armory.

LONDOS THROWS ROMANO

After being subjected to severe body punishment for the greater part of the match, Richard Shikat of Philadelphia, recognized in New York and Pennsylvania as world's heavyweight wrestling champion, rallied to throw Jim Clinkstock, Oklahoma Indian, with a body and crotch hold after 51:05 at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory last night before a crowd of 6,000.

The massive Clinkstock, who weighed 238 pounds, bothered the champion considerably in the early stages of the contest, much to the delight of the spectators who booed Shikat from start to finish. The Indian clamped a series of head and body scissor holds on the title-holder, and on many occasions seemed to have him ready for a fall.

Shikat finally broke loose from a grueling scissors hold and tossed Clinkstock around the ring with a succession of flying mares. He weakened the challenger by this method and had little difficulty in picking him up with a body and crotch hold to slam him to the canvas and win the match. Shikat weighed 218 pounds.

In the opening thirty-minute bout Gino Garibaldi, 210 pounds, Italy, and Matros Kirilenko, 217, Russia, wrestled to a draw.

Hans Steinke, 240, of Germany, made short work of Ned McGuire, 239, in a bout scheduled to a finish by vanquishing his adversary with a body squeeze after 6:56. In a 30-minute encounter, Rudy Dusek, 210, threw George Manich, 205, with a body hold after 26:14.

BELLO STOPS ROOD IN 2D.

Scores Knockout in Main Bout at Jamaica—Saviola Beats Hines.

Larry Bello, East New York heavyweight, knocked out Al Rood of Jamaica in the second round of the feature eight-round bout at the Jamaica Arena last night, Referee Brooks halting the contest. Bello weighed 217 pounds, Rood 183.

GORMAN DEFEATS GALENTO.

Summit (N. J.) Boxer Wins Decision at Newark—Shupack Victor.

Bud Gorman, Summit (N. J.) heavyweight, boxed his way to a ten-round decision over Tony Galento of Orange at Laurel Garden, Newark, last night. Galento weighed 198 pounds, Gorman 199. Jacky Shupack, 142, Paterson, won the referee's decision over Mickey Jones, 140, Newark, in the ten-round semi-final.

In the six-round opener Solly Lafuria, 123, Newark, outpointed Mickey Greb, 123½, Nutley. Ralph Asquino, 133½, Newark, won the decision over Tommy McCarthy, 132, Norwich, Conn., in another six-rounder. Mario Campi, 171, knocked out Joe Longo, 170, in the fourth round.

FIELDS KNOCKS OUT GRACE.

Welterweight Champion Stops Rival in Third Round at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, April 21 (AP).—Jackie Fields, world's welterweight champion, knocked out Meyer Grace of Philadelphia in the third round of a ten-round bout tonight. Fields's title was not at stake.

Grace was down twice in the third round before he was counted out. A short right to the chin put him down first for the count of nine. He soon was floored again. Then another right and he was counted out.

Both fighters weighed in over the welterweight limit, Fields scaling 148 pounds and Grace 150.

FOUR GIANT HOMERS SUBDUE PHILS, 8-6

WALKER HURLS VICTORY

Starts Falteringly Because of Cold, but Regains Form—McGrawmen Keep Undefeated Record.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Riding magnificently above the frozen wastes of the Polo Grounds yesterday, the singularly inspired Giants of 1930 climbed still higher in what they fervently hope will establish a new altitude record for the take-off in the National League by again trouncing the Phils. The score was 8 to 6 and marked the fourth successive triumph—the third in a row over the Phils—for the forces of John McGraw, who have yet to sustain their first defeat of the championship season.

It was a bruising encounter, in which McGraw for the fourth time staked the chances of keeping the Giant craft aloft upon a left-handed moundsman and again saw success crown his selection as William Walker, making his second start of the campaign, survived three Philly hurlers, whom the Giants hammered for fifteen hits, including four homers.

Those homers, all mighty thumps, did the trick beyond a question. Two shot from the bat of Captain Travis Jackson and collided with terrific impact against the upper left field seats. Another was contributed by Fred Leach and found its lodging place in the upper right field tier, and the fourth was a clout inside the park by Bob O'Farrell.

Walker Affected by the Cold.

Walker, a biting wind numbing his fingers, began a bit wabbly and was thrown for a two-run loss right at the start when Klein and Friberg singled and Hurst doubled. This the Giants matched in the fourth with a fusillade of hits that routed Willoughby, though it yielded only two runs. First came Jackson's homer. It was followed by a triple by Roettger and a double by O'Farrell.

In the fifth the Phils annoyingly forged ahead again, as a double by Klein drove in another tally, but again the Giants drew abreast upon the wings of Leach's homer in the sixth.

Came another sharp retort from the Phils in the seventh, as a double by O'Doul, a single by Friberg and an error by Terry aided in the making of two more tallies, but it proved the Phils' last dash.

In the same round the Giants unfurled a violent offensive that yielded five runs and clinched the battle. Three came in on Jackson's second homer, which had been preceded by Terry's single and a pass to Ott, and the remaining two came in when O'Farrell, after Roettger had singled for his third hit of the day, pounded a ball past Sothern in centre and completed the circuit.

Yanks Visitors at Game.

It being their off day and being at the same time good little ball players, most of the Yanks spent their afternoon of leisure as might be expected. They sat and shivered in the Giant press box, doubtless trying to catch a little inspirational guidance from the McGraw forces, although catching anything more than a cold was a difficult job at the P. G. yesterday.

SENATORS REPULSE ATHLETICS, 6 TO 3

World's Champions Meet First Reverse This Season When Earnshaw Falters.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21 (AP).—The Athletics, world's champions, suffered their first defeat of the season today, losing to Washington, 6 to 3.

The Mackmen got off to a 2-to-0 lead by bunching their hits on Hadley in the first inning, but the Senators tied the score in the third inning and in the fourth Earnshaw's wildness forced two more runs over the plate.

Howard Ehmke, world's series hero, made his first appearance in the box this year as Earnshaw's rescuer in the fourth inning, but in the fifth Cronin hit Ehmke for a homer with one on base and clinched the game for the visitors.

PIRATES BEAT CARDS AND SWEEP SERIES

Comorosky's Homer Figures in 6-4 Victory—Bottomley Fans With Bases Filled.

ST. LOUIS, April 21 (AP).—The Pirates made better use of their hits today and defeated the Cardinals, 6 to 4, making a clean sweep of the series. The Cardinals outhit the Pirates 9 to 7.

Adam Comorosky hit a home run for the Pirates, his second in the series.

Hill, the Cardinals' starting pitcher, was wild and retired in the fifth inning, Haid taking his place. Brame hurled well for the Pirates until the ninth, when the Cardinals scored two runs. Brame fanned Bottomley in the eighth with the bases full.

YANKS OPEN SEASON AT STADIUM TODAY

Sherid Booked to Oppose Grove of Athletics as Shawkey Points for 1st Triumph.

PRACTICE HELD AT STADIUM

New Manager Hopes Team Will Hit Stride After Four-Game Slump—Walker to Toss Ball.

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

The Yankees, after one week's efforts away from home and nothing to show for them except three postponements and four defeats, will try to make today's event at their stadium a season-opening in a double sense. With the Philadelphia Athletics as the visiting team, the game will open the American League local schedule. In spite of the Athletics, the Yanks will try to make the game the beginning of their American League winning season.

Mayor Walker, rallying to the cause, is on the program to perform the usual specialty of throwing the first ball at precisely 3:15 o'clock. As prelude for this toss, melodies will be distilled during batting and fielding practice by the 7th Regiment Band.

Robert Moses Grove, the gaunt southpaw speed-ball specialist who confused the Yankees last Tuesday in Philadelphia's opening, is in line to face the Yankees. A repetition of the Grove-Pipgras duel which featured the Philadelphia opening is possible, but Bob Shawkey, new manager of the Yanks, last night planned to start Roy Sherid, tall young right-hander.

Shawkey marshaled his man-power at the Stadium yesterday for intensive practice, chiefly in batting. Starting at 11, the Yanks spent an hour and a half taking turns swinging bats at home plate. The four straight defeats in the season's first four games have imbued the Yankees with a spirit of desperation. Not since 1922 has a Yankee team lost its first four games of the season.

Failure of the batting order to produce long and loud hits, such as made up the Yankee barrages of their recent championship years, was what made their first week of the season a total loss, in the estimate of the new manager. Yesterday's routine on the practice field was by way of bringing the batting eye to time. Yankee teams, even in their best years, have suffered from frequent batting slumps and always have come out of them with thunder and acclaim.

With Graham McNamee announcing, the National Broadcasting Company will broadcast a play-by-play account of the game over station WEAF. The radio report of the opening will begin at 2:30 and will include the pre-game ceremonies.

INDIANS STOP TIGERS, 6-1.

DETROIT, April 21 (AP).—The Indians batted around in the first inning, accounting for four runs with five hits, two sacrifices and an error, then held the Tigers to a lone score and won the last game of their series today, 6 to 1.

Clinton Brown allowed the Tigers five hits. Two of them came in the opening inning when the only Detroit score was made.

NEWARK IS BEATEN BY TORONTO, 5 TO 4

Loses First Game of Season as 2-Run Rally in Ninth Falls One Score Short.

The Newark Bears fell one run short in a ninth inning rally at Newark yesterday and dropped a 5-to-4 decision to the Toronto Leafs for their first defeat of the season.

Newark outhit the Canadians, 8 to 7, but the visitors clouted more timely. Art Ruble led the Toronto attack with a single, triple and homer, supplying the circuit drive with one man on base in the sixth inning.

Clayland Touchstone went the route on the mound for Newark, while Toronto rushed Guy Cantrell and Clarence Fisher to the rescue when Kyle Graham faltered in the eighth.

ROBINS TURN BACK BRAVES BY 15 TO 8

Bissonette Gets a Homer and Triple, Each With Three On, in Brooklyn's First Victory.

FLOCK SCORES 8 IN SEVENTH

Thirteen Men Bat in Big Inning, With Flowers Recording Two Two-Baggers.

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

Choosing the most wintry and cheerless day of the current season, the Robins yesterday brought warmth and joy to the hearts of 6,000 shivering fans by beating the Boston Braves, 15 to 8, in the final game of their series and thus achieving their initial victory.

Del Bissonette demonstrated that his health is fully regained and his batting eye as keen as ever by twice clearing the loaded bases and driving in seven runs, first in the opening inning with a home run into the left-field seats and again in the seventh with a triple to the left-field corner of the park. His homer was made off Ed Brandt and the three-base blow off Bob Brown, a right-hander who failed to finish the seventh after replacing Brandt.

Practically everything that could happen in a ball game came to pass before the two hours and thirty minutes of activity in the chilled atmosphere had ended. Señor Adolfo Luque, the veteran Cuban, held the Braves to five hits and one run for seven innings and went into the eighth with a fourteen-run lead. Then he eased up a bit and the McKechnie men gathered two more runs on four hits.

Luque's Right Hand Injured.

When Luque again took the mound in the ninth the Boston manager sent George Sisler in to bat for Cunningham, third Brave pitcher. Sisler sent a bullet-like drive at Luque which caught the Robins' pitcher on the right thumb and put him out of the game.

Ray Moss, with little chance to warm up, was sent in and, like Brown for the Braves, went out again before the Braves were retired. Moss hit two batsmen, walked one, which, coupled with an error by Finn, put five runs across the plate before Robbie took him out and sent in Lefty Jim Faulkner. Sisler, facing Moss twice, achieved the perfect average of a single and being hit by a pitched ball. Faulkner retired the last batter, Dunlap.

Gets 2 Doubles in Same Inning.

In the Robins' seventh, thirteen came to bat against three pitchers and eight scored, Jake Flowers pulling the unique stunt of getting two doubles in the same inning, driving in one run and scoring one, while Hank DeBerry drew two bases on balls and scored once. Luque, who drove in two runs with a double on his first seventh inning appearance, ended the inning by striking out.

COCHRAN WINS 2 BLOCKS.

Scores Double Victory Over Cutler in 18.2 Cue Match.

Welker Cochran, former world's champion, scored victories over Albert Cutler in the first two blocks of their ten-block 18.2 balkline billiard match at Dwyer's Broadway Academy last night.

In the afternoon Cochran disposed of Cutler, 250 to 66, in six innings, having a high run of 68 to Cutler's 25. Cochran, in the evening, triumphed, 250 to 159, also in six innings, his high run being 128, Cutler's 100.

Matsuyama Cue Victor.

Kinrey Matsuyama defeated James Lawler, 250 to 67 in eight innings in an 18.2 balkline billiard exhibition staged at Lawler Brothers' Manhattan Academy last night. The winner had a high run of 72 to Lawler's 28.

JERSEY CITY BEATEN BY BUFFALO, 3 TO 2

Bisons Count Twice in Eighth to Gain Lead—Buchanan Effective for Victors.

The Buffalo Bisons staged a winning rally in the eighth inning and annexed the second game of the series with Jersey City, 3 to 2, yesterday at Jersey City.

Hugh Buchanan proved effective in the pinches for the Bisons, keeping the six Jersey City hits well scattered.

The home club scored twice in the second inning after the Bisons had tallied once in their half and held the advantage until the eighth, when Buffalo tallied twice.

60,000 SEE FRANCE LOSE TO WALES, 11-0

GAME BECOMES TURBULENT

Excitement Runs High Among Spectators and Players—10,000 Are Turned Away From Gates.

PARIS, April 21 (Canadian Press Cable).—England became international rugby champion when Wales defeated France today by 11 to 0 in a somewhat turbulent game. If the French could have brought off a victory the titular honor would have been theirs.

So rough did the game become in the second half that the referee stopped play and held a conference with the players, cautioning them to respect the rules.

Toward the end, with the crowd at fever heat, the referee disallowed what many thought was a try by the French back, Piquemal. Pandemonium broke loose and the Welsh players were vehemently booed.

The French did not display any of the great football which enabled them to beat Scotland and Ireland, but were apparently over-excited. The Welshmen scored an unconverted try in the first half and two dropped goals in the second.

A capacity crowd of 60,000 was on hand, 10,000 people, it was estimated, not being able to get into the grounds.

England's first score came in the middle of the first half, when Skym crawled out of a scrum, grabbed the ball and went across the line. In the second half, Morgan pulled off a spectacular play. He was facing his own goal in French territory and the ball came across to him. He connected with the pass, swung round, and made a perfect drop. A little later Davey picked up in a mêlée and dropped a high one through the French posts.

N. Y. U. NINE DEFEATS GEORGETOWN, 5 TO 4

LOSER'S STREAK OF 10 ENDS

Victors Get Decision Over Three Pitchers, While Follet Is Strong in Relief Work.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—New York University's nine smashed Georgetown's ten-game winning streak today by capturing a 5-to-4 decision in a ten-inning battle.

The Violets got the better of three Georgetown pitchers, all of whom had enjoyed easy sailing against previous foes, and scored the decisive run after two were out in their half of the tenth inning. The winning run, carried over by Bohl, came when Hal Poole, second Hilltop relief pitcher, uncorked a wild pitch.

White's Control Falters.

With the score tied at 4-4 and White in the box in place of Bill Lomax for Georgetown, N. Y. U. saw its first two batters go out rapidly in the tenth inning. Then White lost control. He tossed four wide balls to Bohl, the fourth eluding the catcher, and Bohl reached second. The Violet rightfielder stole third as White passed Sweeney.

White tossed one ball to Hoffman, N. Y. U. third baseman, before Poole came in. Poole's first pitch was a wild one and Bohl scampered home.

Beryl Follet, N. Y. U. pitcher who relieved Bill Clyde in the sixth inning, snuffed out a threatened Georgetown rally in the last of the tenth when he picked Mooney off first for the third out. Mooney had reached first on Captain Mayell's error after two were down.

Georgetown's winning streak was in danger from the second inning. In the second the Violets pushed over two runs. Georgetown tied matters in its half of the frame. N. Y. U. took a one run lead in the fourth when Bohl singled, Sweeney doubled and Hoffman singled, scoring Bohl. Only some fine fielding by Captain Ralph McCarthy, who cut off two prospective runs at the plate with rifle throws from the outfield, kept the visitors from drawing further away.

Score Again Tied in 6th.

The score was tied again in the sixth when Johnny Bozek, Georgetown right fielder, stole second, third and home.

N. Y. U. made it 4—3 in its half of the ninth. Mayell singled with two down to count Hoffman, who had opened the inning with a single.

Bohl's error enabled Georgetown to register its fourth run in the last of the ninth. On McCarthy's single, Bohl let the ball go through him and Morris, who was on first, scored.

GEORGE WASHINGTON WINS.

Administers First Defeat of Season to N. Y. U. Freshmen by 5 to 1.

Four runs in the fifth inning gave George Washington High School a 5-to-1 victory over New York University's freshman baseball team at Ohio Field yesterday. The defeat was the first for the Violet yearlings, who previously had played two tie games. Washington's triumph was its third in four starts.

Booma Is Named End Coach For Dartmouth Football Team

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., April 21.—Harold E. Booma of Swampscott, Mass., was officially confirmed as end coach of the Dartmouth football team next Fall, according to an announcement by Harry Heneage, supervisor of athletics, today. Booma for three years was an outstanding end, culminating his career by playing on the Eastern team which defeated the Western eleven last Fall. He is a nephew of Jackson L. Cannell, Dartmouth head coach.

PRINCETON'S NINE LOSES TWO GAMES

Bows to William and Mary, 4 to 2, in Opener and by 6 to 2 in the Nightcap.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., April 21.—Princeton's nine dropped two games to the William and Mary team today, 4-2 and 6-2.

Captain Wallace turned in his sixth victory of the year in the opener and Bill Scott in the nightcap held the visitors scoreless until the final frame.

Home runs by Engelbert and Scammon proved the margin of victory in the first game. Engelbert's came in the second frame and Scammon's in the seventh, each with the bases empty. Scott struck out eleven in the final game and yielded only five hits, two of which came in the last inning.

The fielding of Engelbert was a feature of both games. He accepted seven chances without a miscue.

The victors took advantage of an error in the first inning of the opener to score. Sauerbrun went to second when the Tiger shortstop threw wild to first and came home when Ryan singled.

William and Mary added a second tally in the third on Engelbert's home run, but Princeton came back in the sixth and seventh stanzas to knot the count. Errors were responsible for Princeton's first tally and in the seventh frame Bierhals scored from second on Waud's single. Scammon's home run placed the Indians ahead in this half of the frame and in the following inning William and Mary chalked up its final tally on a double by Engelbert and Ryan's single.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

THE Yankees started the season by sliding down the cellar door. Now they are faced with the task of climbing up the cellar steps. There are still a few Yankee fans who can hardly believe their eyes when they scan the standing of the clubs. It has been years since the Red Sox had a chance to look down on the Ruppert Rifles.

However, the fact that the Yankees are temporarily asleep in the deep need not be taken too seriously. They have too many good hitters to take a season's lease on the American League cellar. Nor has Bob Shawkey run up the white flag because the Yanks lost four games in a row. September is still far off. Between now and then it is fairly certain that Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Earle Combs will bang out a number of base hits.

It was Connie Mack who said when the Indians, Tigers and Browns were mentioned as possible menaces to Philadelphia supremacy: "Yes, and the White Sox may come along, too, but the Yankees are the ones we'll have to stop if we are to win again this year. They have the power."

Connie Mack knows baseball. The Yankees have the power, as he says, but they haven't turned it on yet. Give them time. They may turn it on this afternoon at the formal opening of the Stadium for the championship season. They may not turn it on until tomorrow or next week. But it won't remain turned off all season. Not even Philadelphia rooters expect that.

The Pitching Problem.

The Giants started with surprisingly good pitching. John McGraw said on that subject: "Our pitchers not only baffled the other teams but they baffled me, too." Bob Shawkey was baffled, but not exactly in the same pleasant way. The Yankee pitching of the past week didn't come up to expectations.

There's the danger point with the Yankees. If they don't get the pitching, they will not overhaul the Athletics even if the season is stretched out to Christmas. Hoyt and Pennock are veterans, and possibly Pipgras should now be rated as a veteran, too. For that reason it is expected that they will do better as the season goes along. That's the way with most veteran pitchers, though there are some exceptions. Jack Quinn, for one, is supposed to be better in the Spring and Fall than he is under a hot Summer sun. There are others.

But, on the whole, veteran pitchers improve as the weather warms up and they work the kinks out of their arms. The Yankees have made a bad start. It wasn't exactly what the doctor ordered. But they have 150 games to play, and the veteran pitchers will have plenty of opportunities to make up for the four games that have been placed in the debit column. If they take advantage of these opportunities, again there will be sound of revelry and great rejoicing on the east bank of the Harlem.

Across the River.

The Giant pitching in the first three games was so good it was almost uncanny, considering that the hitters are supposed to have the advantage over the pitchers at the start of the season. Inning after inning went by and enemy hitters were set down in order. It was all the more astonishing because pitching was supposed to be the Giant problem as well as the Yankee problem, and the White Sox, in exhibition games on the northward tour, had walloped the Giant pitchers with considerable gusto.

The pitching can slump off a few notches and still give the Polo Grounders an even chance for the pennant against the Cubs or any other contenders. The Giants have Mel Ott, Bill Terry, Travis Jackson and Freddy Lindstrom. Roettger looks to be a good man for centre field. The catching department is strong. Add in the fact that John McGraw is running the club and that a McGraw team is always a fighting team.

All these things should go to make a merry season under the lee of Coogan's Bluff. It's the opinion in this corner that the Cubs are certainly no stronger than they were last season, and perhaps not quite as strong. The Pirates have lost Burleigh Grimes. With fair pitching, the Giants are bound to be in the fight all the way.

Alex Smith.

Alex Smith died yesterday in Baltimore and veteran golfers of this country are in mourning. Though he dropped into the background in recent years, he was a famous figure in competitive golf for a full quarter of a century. He won the national open championship twice, tied for the honor on several occasions and always finished close to the top over a long stretch of years.

Alex was a native of Carnoustie and a member of a famous golfing family. There may have been more in the background, but the names that come to mind, in addition to Alex, are his brothers Macdonald, Willie and George. Willie Smith won the national open championship in 1899. Alex won it in 1906 and in 1910. Macdonald Smith tied Alex and Johnny McDermott in 1910, but Alex won the play-off. By and large, that's a notable family record in the national open championship.

A Picturesque Player.

There was always something flamboyant and picturesque about Alex. He played what one might almost call a dashing game on the links. He had a fairly fast swing and made few preliminary motions before whacking the ball from the tee or through the fairway. On the green he never bothered to sight along the line of putt. "Miss 'em quick" was his motto, except that he didn't miss many.

He was a great mashie player and, when pitching to the pin, would gouge out divots as big as an old-fashioned slab of pie. He was gifted with a keen wit and enlivened many a game and tournament with spontaneous quips in the heat of battle. He and Gil Nicholls teamed up and played many famous four-ball matches against Walter Hagen and Tommy McNamara, and later against Hagen and Mike Brady. It was the Scots against the homebreds, and there was more in the rivalry than the purses that were at stake.

With big purses and huge fields, open tournaments are no longer what they once were. Times have changed. But when the Old Guard gets together, the veteran pros who marched around the clubhouses behind Bob MacDonald with his bagpipes or listened to the gay tales of Gil Nicholls, there will be many anecdotes of Alex and the great golfing days of the past.

PENN NINE BEATS PENN STATE TWICE

Wins Postponed Double-Header by Scores of 7-5 and 9-0 at Atlantic City.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 21.—Two home runs by Outfielder Bill Graupner featured Penn's double-header victory over Penn State today, 7 to 5 and 9 to 0, in games that were postponed from last week on account of rain.

Graupner hit both circuit blows in the second game, the first coming in the third inning with Captain Mort Wilner on base. His other was in the ninth.

ST. JOHN'S RALLIES TO DEFEAT LEHIGH

Comes From Behind in Sixth Inning at Dexter Park—Passes Big Factor in 9-8 Victory.

St. John's College came from behind in the sixth inning and scored an impressive 9-to-8 victory over Lehigh University in a fast game at Dexter Park yesterday.

Each team made twelve hits, but St. John's managed to score one more run than the visitors on passes issued by Ware and Strauss after Zakorka had been knocked out of the box in the fifth.

Jack Fernandez, who relieved Austin McElroy on the mound for St. John's in the sixth inning, was the winning pitcher, checking the Lehigh batsmen at crucial moments.

Fernandez also was effective at bat, getting a triple and a single in three times up. His triple was the longest hit of the game.

COLUMBIA EIGHTS IN TWO WORKOUTS

Back on its home waters after its successful trip to Annapolis, the Columbia varsity crew began preparations yesterday for the Blackwell Cup regatta, which will be held at Derby, Conn., a week from Saturday, with Yale and Pennsylvania in the opposition rôles. The Lions took advantage of the last day of their Easter vacation yesterday by staging two workouts, rowing a total of eighteen miles.

No changes were made in any of the four Blue and White boats which rowed against M. I. T. and Navy last Saturday, and Coach Richard J. Glendon seems to be satisfied with the make-up of the crews. In the event of any changes they doubtless will not come for a day or two. The varsity victory over Navy and M. I. T. was quite gratifying to Columbia officials, and with the experience of that encounter the Morningside eight is expected to be in great trim for its invasion of the Housatonic River on May 3.

The workout yesterday morning was held on the Harlem River, the men covering ten miles. The boats were away early and Glendon spent a busy morning going over the races at Annapolis and telling the men just what was wrong with their oarsmanship. No heavy work was indulged in, but every stroke found the men attempting to correct faults that were evident last Saturday.

An eight-mile row on the Hudson in the afternoon took up the second part of the work. This session saw all of the crews rowing at a fast pace and trying to improve their racing form. The flotilla went four miles upstream and then coming back home, the crews took up the stroke and raced over the last two miles. The varsity eight showed to advantage in this part of the drill, beating the junior varsity eight by three lengths.

One practice session a day will be the rule from now until Derby Day, although two workouts may be ordered on Saturday if the crews fall behind in condition and form.

CREWS AT CORNELL ARE WELL ADVANCED

CONTEST FOR STROKE OAR

This is the seventh article of a series on rowing at the nine colleges in the East which have crews.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 21.—Two good-looking varsity crews are working out each night here on the inlet and, when weather permits, on the broad reaches of Cayuga Lake. The main trouble with Cornell's navy to date has been that the wind has not been too kind. The men are deprived of long conditioning rows, which cannot be held on the narrow waters of the inlet.

But Spring comes later to Cornell and to Syracuse, the two up-State rowing colleges, than to any of the others in the East, with the possible exception of the two rowing in Boston.

Cornell's first race is not until May 17, when the shells are shipped down to Princeton for the Carnegie Cup races with Yale and the Tigers. Today there was every indication that Cornell by the time of that first race will be well able to hold up her end.

May Spring a Surprise.

Beyond that feeling there is one that Cornell may even be prepared to spring something of a surprise in that opening regatta. There are real possibilities visible here to the observer.

In material, spirit and coaching Cornell is equipped this season to come back well toward the crest occupied for so long when the Old Man of Cayuga Lake was standing in the bow of Cornell coaching launches and the name of Courtney stood at the head of winning coaches.

Jim Wray, for many years coach at Harvard, and a good one, has been slowly heading back toward a winning stride. Last year he sent three good crews to Poughkeepsie, the freshmen to lose after a hard race, the juniors to win a brilliant struggle, and the varsity to make a good showing until the men joined the oarsmen of Tech, California and Syracuse in swimming on that rough, wild evening that saw only five of the nine starting crews reach the finish.

All Pupils of Wray.

This year, for the first time, Wray's varsity material in both boats consists of men fashioned by his own hand. Every man rowing here today was taught by the old Australian sculler. The stage is set for his crews to begin cashing in.

Wray is fairly well set on his boatings, though there is a chance for changes here and there in one or two of the crews before the opening regatta. J. L. Niles was stroking the varsity tonight as it went out for a brief spin on the inlet. Niles is the blond boy who looked so impressive in the freshman crew last year, but this year he is to have the fight of his life if he stays as stroke of the varsity crew.

Last year's junior varsity was not given much of a chance at Poughkeepsie, but it came through handsomely, and a large part of that was due to the fighting stroking of H. R. Shoemaker. Today Shoemaker was stroking the junior boat again, but he still is very much among the possibilities for the first boat.

Kept Out by Illness.

He was in the second boat this afternoon mainly because he has been back only for one week after a spell of grip that kept him from any rowing at all. Until the time that he fell ill Wray had him stroking the first boat, and when he has fully recovered there is a good chance of his going back there. Then Niles may go back further in the first boat or may set the pace for the juniors.

At 7 tonight was Parsons, who has not rowed before, but appears to be a good oarsman with staying qualities. B. B. Clark again is at 6, where he sat at Poughkeepsie. N. E. Scott, who was at 5 in the winning junior boat up the Hudson, is now in the same varsity seat, and R. J. Heidleberger, at 4, is the last of the varsity veterans left from 1929. He is still in the same seat.

At 3 and 2 are men from last year's juniors, J. R. Shallcross, who rowed 7 in 1929, and A. B. Butler, who is in the same seat at 2. At bow is S. Y. Austin, who rowed in Navy's varsity two years ago. Jim Burke again is coxswain.

Veterans in Second Shell.

The same sort of seasoned material is in the second shell. Ireland, at bow, rowed with the combination at Poughkeepsie last year. Vanneman, at 2, was in the junior boat at 4 and Aigeltinger rowed two years ago in the junior boat.

Shomacher was in the combination boat, McManus is the freshman of 1929 and Martin and Falk in front of him were also in that good freshman boat. Shoemaker was stroking this afternoon. Mullestein, last year's freshman, was coxswain.

Wray tonight was unable to take the crews outside. He went down to the mouth of the inlet, but the wind was too strong and the eights had to turn around and content themselves with a paddle up and back in the sheltered waters inside. Only once did either crew carry the stroke up high.

There is a very good spirit here. Cornell men are working at their rowing and still having a good time with it. As the navy rowed today it was well along for this time of the year, considering the amount of outside lake rowing that has been possible. When warmer weather comes, this Cornell set of eights may come with a rush that will make them very hard to stop before Poughkeepsie comes along HANOVER, N. H., April 21.—The crack Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team continued its triumphal tour of the United States by soundly beating Dartmouth, 12 to 2, this afternoon.

It was Dartmouth's first game of the season, and although Captain Avery Gould scored the initial goal of the game the Green could not cope with the Britishers, who showed a clever passing game and had greater stamina during the contest. The English attack men passed the ball almost at will, and all five men had goals to their credit, Vernon-Astle leading the attack with four tallies.

The game was played in a steady drizzle, which made the footing uncertain, and several times men were unintentionally hurt by flying sticks.

Al Cornsweet, who gained some of his greatest triumphs as a Brown football player on the Hanover field, was outstanding at defense and played his usual rugged game. The goal-tending of Ricketts for the Britons was spectacular, and on several occasions he left the cage to enter into the passing game.

It marked the tenth victory that the British twelve has scored in its tour of this country.

ALEX SMITH DEAD; NOTED PRO GOLFER

CAPTURED U. S. OPEN TWICE

Gained National Honors in 1906 and 1910—Developed Travers and Miss Collett.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 21.—Alexander (Alex) Smith, 58, one of the best of the old-time golfers, died last night at a private hospital here. He had been undergoing treatment for more than a month. In later years Smith had been connected with the Westchester Country Club at Rye, N. Y., as professional.

He was national open champion in 1906 and 1910 and was runner-up to Freddie Herb in 1898 and to Willie Anderson in 1901 and 1905.

One of the many accomplishments of the veteran pro was that of teaching Miss Glenna Collett some of the golf which won her many championships.

Was Picturesque Figure.

In the death of Alex Smith, American golf has lost one of its most picturesque figures. One of the country's pioneer professionals, a great player himself and a maker of champions, possessed of abundant ready wit, Alex was known from coast to coast and his death marks the passing of a man whose life is an interesting chapter in the history of American golf.

Born in Carnoustie, Scotland—a town famous for the great golfers it has produced—Alex served his apprenticeship in the shop of Bob Simpson. When still a young man he heard and heeded the call that came from America, then in its infancy as a golfing centre. It was in 1897, three years after the first open championship was played here, that he came to this country to become the professional at the Washington Park Golf Club in Chicago.

His next move was to come to the Nassau Country Club at Glen Cove and it was here that he came into contact with Jerry Travers. Under Smith's instruction Travers became one of the greatest players in America, four-time winner of the amateur crown.

Next Post at Wykagyl.

From Nassau Alex went to Wykagyl, thence to the Shenecossett Club in New London and later, when the Westchester Biltmore Country Club was organized by John McEntee Bowman at Rye, he served as professional at both places. It was while professional at New London, Belleair, Fla., and Rye that he taught Miss Glenna Collett, the present women's champion and generally regarded as America's outstanding player.

Smith was one of five brothers, all of whom are renowned in the realm of golf. One of his brothers, Jim, died out on the Pacific Coast a year or so ago. Another, Willie, died in Mexico, where he served for many years as professional at the Mexico City Country Club. Two brothers survive—Macdonald, now professional at the Lakeville Club, and George.

The body arrived in New York last night and the funeral will be held from Campbell's Funeral Parlors at noon tomorrow. He will be buried in St. Mary's Cemetery in Glen Cove, L. I. Besides his two brothers, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. A. Claxton Cary of Rye, N. Y., and Mrs. C. F. Berg of Bethel, Conn.

Hunter Gains With Other Favorites as Mason and Dixon Title Tennis Starts

FAVORITES ADVANCE IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Hunter, Lott, Doeg and Others Win as Mason-Dixon Title Events Get Under Way.

CELEBRITIES AT THE SCENE

Presence of Wear, Chairman of Davis Cup Committee, Expected to Spur Competitors.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 21.—With the same eight members of the first ten entered in the lists that competed at Pinehurst last week, the tenth annual Mason and Dixon tennis championship got under way on the clay courts of the Greenbrier Golf and Tennis Club today.

In view of the fact that ever more importance is attached to this tournament, from a Davis Cup standpoint, than was invested in the North and South championship, all of the candidates for the team here are expected to bend every effort to make their best showing under the watchful eyes of Joseph W. Wear of Philadelphia, chairman of the Davis Cup committee, who is on the scene, and Captain Fitz-Eugene Dixon, who will arrive tomorrow.

Those who were included among the victims of the epidemic of upsets at Pinehurst will be all the keener to redeem themselves, including G. Martin Lott 2d of Chicago, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, and John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., while John Doeg of California, winner of the North and South; Gregory Mangin of Newark, runner up; Berkeley Bell of Austin and Emmett Pare of Chicago are determined to add to the good impression they made last week.

Special Incentive for Hunter.

For Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, second in the national ranking, there will be a special incentive to make amends for his defeat in last year's final here by Allison, as well as for his downfall at the hands of J. Gilbert Hall at Pinehurst, regardless of whether or not he stands by his decision not to play any more Davis Cup tennis. Then there is also the additional rivalry between Hunter and Lott for the Plaza Bowl, upon which each of them holds two legs.

In spite of adverse weather conditions, which forced a suspension of activity several times during the day, more than twenty-five matches were run off in the men's singles and a full round of play was completed in women's singles under the direction of S. Howard Voshell of New York. Every one of the seeded players among the fifty-seven entrants came through the opening tests successfully without being in jeopardy, so the start was far more auspicious for them than it was at Pinehurst.

Hunter, seeded at the top of the upper half, disposed of S. C. Allen at 6—0, 6—1; Doeg, at the head of the lower section, made short shift of A. Kieles at 6—2, 6—1, in spite of the fact that Kieles was very active and got in some pretty forehand drives, while Lott, opposed to the veteran chopper, Fred C. Baggs, on a wet court, yielded only three games.

Lott, Doeg, Bell, Mangin, Van Ryn and Allison all arrived today by automobile from Pinehurst and went into action sooner than was expected. Mangin played two rounds with the loss of only six games, Bell won his long match in summary fashion, while Van Ryn and Allison both profited by defaults.

A. W. Jones a Competitor.

Among the players in this tournament who did not compete at Pinehurst are Arnold W. Jones of Providence, R. I., member of the 1928 Davis Cup team; Herbert L. Bowman of New York, winner of the Bermuda tournament, and Tom Mangan of Washington. Marcel Rainville of the Canadian Davis Cup squad, Craig Biddle of Philadelphia, Ted Burwell, who defeated Fritz Mercur at Pinehurst, and Donald Cram of Nashville, Tenn., are also in the lists. All of these were numbered among the survivors at the end of the opening day of competition, while Mercur and Pare are scheduled to play their opening matches tomorrow.

The field in the women's singles is headed by Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del., runner up in the North and South, and Miss Marjorie Morrill of Dedham, Mass. Miss Virginia Rice of Boston and Miss Virginia Hilleary of Philadelphia are the other two seeded players.

C. C. N. Y. Relay Entries Cut.

City College will have no distance medley relay team competing at the Penn relay carnival this week-end, despite the fact that such a Lavender team is listed on the program. Coach McKenzie announced yesterday that C. C. N. Y.'s only relay entries would be a mile event and a sprint relay.

Borotra Beaten at Biarritz By Rodel, 16th Ranking Player

BIARRITZ, France, April 21 (AP).—Jean Borotra, French Davis Cup tennis veteran, was beaten, 3—6, 6—4, 8—6, in the semi-finals of the Biarritz tournament today by Raoul Rodel, No. 16 in the French ranking.

With Henri Cochet out of the French championships May 19 and perhaps absent from Wimbledon, and Rene Lacoste out of tennis altogether, the defeat of Borotra increased the gloom which has been settling around French tennis headquarters the last few weeks.

SARAZEN IS SIGNED AS LAKEVILLE PRO

Will Succeed Mac Smith Next January at Great Neck (L. I.) Golf Club.

Formal announcement was made yesterday that Gene Sarazen, winner of the $25,000 Agua Caliente open this year, will take over the professional's post at the Lakeville Golf and Country Club at Great Neck, L. I., starting on January 1.

Lakeville has been known as Macdonald Smith's home club for a number of years and, although it was stated several months ago that Smith would leave when his contract expired at the end of December, there were still some who thought he would retain some connection with Lakeville, where he has served since the organization of the club in 1924. Strangely enough, announcement of Sarazen's succession to Mac Smith's post came at the time word was received from the south of Alex Smith's death.

The Women's Metropolitan Golf Association has supplemented the schedule announced last week with the dates of two additional competitions. The intersectional team match for the Golf Illustrated Trophy will be held at the Engineers Country Club, Roslyn, L. I., on May 15, while the Fall intersectional contest for the Myra D. Paterson Trophy will be played at the Arcola Country Club, Arcola, N. J.

A correction was also made in the schedule, the mother-and-daughter tournament being set for June 30 at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club, while the sister-and-brother tournament will be held on July 2 at the Bonnie Briar Golf Club instead of June 30. These dates were reversed in the former schedule released.

Sixty-one tournaments, including district championships, one-day tournaments and invitation events, comprise a schedule compiled by the Metropolitan Golf Association and announced by Stacey Bender, the secretary, yesterday. The events have all been announced during the course of the past two months, but are assembled to help the golfer planning his tournament activities from the beginning of May on through to Oct. 15.

U. S. WOMEN'S GOLF TEAM BEFORE PRACTICING AT THE KNOLLWOOD COUNTRY CLUB YESTERDAY.

WOMEN GOLF STARS TO SAIL TONIGHT

Miss Collett and Members of Team to Depart for Tests in England and France.

By LINCOLN A. WERDEN.

There is one golfing crown that an American-born woman golfer has not won and nineteen of the country's best players are sailing tonight for the British championship with the hope of bringing it back with them.

Heretofore, Miss Glenna Collett, the present national champion, has been the outstanding challenger, but when the championship begins at Formby on May 12 there will be many others from the United States who will be counted upon to carry on the battle for the historic trophy.

Two Team Matches Planned.

Besides the championship this year, there are two team matches which Miss Collett and her squad have arranged between representatives of Great Britain and France. The first of these against the English players will be played at Sunningdale on May 1, while the match against the French team will be held at the St. Germain links on May 27.

Thirteen of the party who leave at midnight on the Berengaria were guests of the Knollwood Country Club at White Plains, N. Y., at a luncheon yesterday. During the afternoon all took part in the Scotch foursome play, hitting alternate shots, the method of procedure in this type of competition and the style of combat to be followed in the team matches abroad.

Miss Collett and the youthful Miss Marian Bennett were partners in the first foursome along with Miss Bernice Wall and Miss Fritzi Stifel. If the players anticipate wind and cold in England they had a sample of bad weather yesterday at what served as a final practice in this country.

Miss Collett Drives Well.

Miss Collett was hitting her drives and irons well. Miss Wall almost holed a shot from a bunker at the fourteenth hole, and the others here and there had a shot worth remembering. Besides the first foursome there were Mrs. Leo Federman and Miss Virginia Holzderber with Mrs. Stewart Hanley and Mrs. H. A. Martelle, while Mrs. Lee Mida joined the group and made it a fivesome. The other four players present were Miss Peggy Wattles, Miss Rosalie Knapp, Mrs. O. S. Hill and Miss Louise Fordyce.

The absentees were Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago and Miss Edith Quier of Reading, Pa., who are expected to reach here this morning; Miss Helen Hicks, the metropolitan star, and Maureen Orcutt, who preceded the group to England last week.

In addition to these, Mrs. Earl Ross, Mrs. Burch Foraker and Mrs. I. J. Morris will also sail tonight, together with a number of chaperons and friends.

MRS. MOODY TO SAIL FOR ENGLAND TONIGHT

Former Helen Wills Loses in Two Practice Sets to McNeal at Heights Casino.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, who will sail tonight for England on the Berengaria to defend her English and French women's tennis singles titles, played two sets with Harry McNeal, Heights Casino professional, in an indoor practice match at the Heights Casino in Brooklyn yesterday.

Throughout the practice, Mrs. Moody was forced to speed up her footwork a little, as the canvas surface of the Heights Casino court makes it faster than an outdoor clay court. The practice marked Mrs. Moody's third appearance indoors since she arrived in New York City from California a week ago last Sunday. McNeal took the practice sets, 6—3, 6—1.

In addition to defending her English and French championships, Mrs. Moody will also captain the American women's team in the Wightman Cup matches. She plans to return to New York the third week in July and will remain here until it is time for her to defend her national women's single crown at Forest Hills the third week in August. Mrs. Moody has won the national title six times in the last seven years. She did not play in the 1926 competition.

PHILLIPS IS VICTOR IN 21-HOLE STRUGGLE

Defeats Hyatt in First Round of Mid-April Golf—Dunlap and Wilson Also Win.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 21.—The 21-hole struggle between Howard G. Phillips of New York and Walter D. Hyatt of Toledo featured the first-round matches of the twentieth annual mid-April golf tournament today. Phillips came through to victory over Hyatt.

In other first division matches George T. Dunlap Jr. of New York, Princeton undergraduate, and Richard Wilson of Southern Pines, N. C., Georgetown player, won handily. Dunlap defeated Baird Young of Pittsburgh by 6 and 5 and Wilson beat George A. Law Jr. of Boston by 5 and 4. In the fourth match H. C. Buckminster of Boston defeated William Hyde of Ridgeway, Pa., 2 and 1.

Both the college stars were on their way to rounds in the low 70's. Wilson meets Buckminster tomorrow, while Dunlap plays Phillips.

Wilson went out in 38 to stand 1 up on Law, who played steadily to score a 39. Law had a birdie 2 on the seventh but had a 6 on the long eighth, where he took three putts. He was erratic coming in, losing the 10th when he drove the woods, the 11th when he drove a bad spot, and the 12th when he took three putts after being trapped.

The cards:

Out—
Wilson	5	4	3	4	5	5	3	5	4—38
Law	5	5	4	4	4	5	2	6	4—39
In—
Wilson	4	4	4	5	5

THE SUMMARIES.

First Division.

Richard Wilson, Southern Pines, defeated George A. Law Jr., Boston, 5 and 4; H. C. Buckminster, Boston, defeated William Hyde, Ridgeway, Pa., 2 and 1; George T. Dunlap Jr., New York, defeated Baird Young, Pittsburgh, 6 and 5; H. G. Phillips, New York, defeated W. D. Hyatt, Toledo, 21 holes.

Second Division.

Robert Lowry, Shamokin, Pa., won from E. H. Batson, Washington, by default; O. C. Hutchinson, Detroit, defeated T. M. Bourke, Detroit, 5 and 4; C. S. Strout, Biddeford, Me., defeated H. P. Hotchkiss, New Haven, 5 and 3; G. W. Statzell Jr., Philadelphia, won from A. P. Dysart, Pittsburgh, by default.

Third Division.

J. P. Williamson, Wilkes-Barre, defeated R. C. Steese, Youngstown, Ohio, 4 and 3; H. R. Somer, Rockville, L. I., won from D. J. Kiley, Boston, by default; G. W. Statzell, Philadelphia, defeated J. V. Hurd, Pittsburgh, 3 and 2; W. Sargent, Syracuse, defeated W. G. Power, Quebec, 4 and 2.

Fourth Division.

D. J. Whittlesey, Babylon, L. I., defeated W. R. Roberts, Norristown, Pa., 19 holes; J. G. Power, Quebec, won from J. B. Marker, Detroit, by default; J. S. Brown, Montclair, won from Lawrence Barr, New York, by default; Edson Van Brunt, New York, defeated P. G. Merrifield, Bangor, Me., 7 and 6.

LEAHY IS HIGH GUN AT PINEHURST TRAPS

Wins Introductory Event in 2d Shoot-Off After 3 Tie at 97—Doubles Title to Wetmore.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 21.—Brilliant shooting, especially in the doubles, marked the opening performances in the twelfth annual United North and South target tournament, which began at the Pinehurst Gun Club today with the introductory shoot and the doubles championship events. Nationally-noted trap shots from mid-West States and as far west as California are competing.

David T. Leahy of New York won the introductory shoot after a double shoot-off. Leahy, Robert Lowry of Shamokin, Pa., and Charles Sheren of North Haledon, N. J., all broke 97 out of the 100 targets, the distance being sixteen yards. In the first shoot-off Lowry and Leahy broke 24 out of 25 and Sheron 22. In the second shoot-off Leahy again broke 24, with one target still to go, but Lowry finished with 21 to take second prize.

In the doubles championship E. B. Wetmore of Moonstown, N. J., and W. E. Gladstone of Winston-Salem, N. C., tied with 89 each after Wetmore's gun had jammed three times. In the shoot-off of 24 targets, they tied again with 21. In the second shoot-off Wetmore broke 22 targets to 18 by Gladstone.

The North and South sixteen-yard championship will be decided tomorrow. It is a 200-target event. The field will be divided into North and South divisions for the purpose of a team prize in addition to the individual trophies, the five leading scores to count for the team event.

Georgia Lacrosse Victor.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 21.—University of Georgia lacrosse team defeated Virginia's twelve today, 5 to 3. The Bulldogs made all of their points in the first period.

MISS JACOBS LOSES IN FRENCH TOURNEY

America's Second Ranking Player Is Beaten by Mrs. Satterthwaite, 2-6, 8-6, 6-4.

BEAULIEU, France, April 21 (AP).—Miss Helen Jacobs, America's second ranking woman tennis player, was defeated, 2—6, 8—6, 6—4, in the final of the Beaulieu tournament today by Mrs. Phyllis Satterthwaite of England.

The victory was won more easily than the scores indicate. The California player has appeared unable to strike her real stride during her campaign on the Riviera and her performance today was only mediocre.

Mrs. Satterthwaite, a steady player of considerable tournament experience, took full advantage of her American opponent's mistakes and misplays.

Wilbur Coen's default against Bill Tilden in the men's singles final raised a row similar to that of several days ago when Tilden refused to play Coen in the final at St. Raphael because of their friendship.

Coen's word that he had injured a leg so badly he would not be able to meet Tilden here came too late for officials to change their press notices and a large crowd gathered. The fans expressed keen disappointment when informed the match would not take place.

M. I. T. CREWS ROW 7 MILES.

Four Shells in Drill for Meeting With Harvard Saturday.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 21.—The M. I. T. crews returned to the Charles today and Coach Bill Haines sent his men through a seven-mile spin. Four shells were watched by Haines—the varsity, junior varsity, 150-pound and freshmen eights, who are tuning up for their meeting with Harvard on Saturday.

Due to the fine showing of the M. I. T. Jayvees on the Severn last Saturday, they are being highly rated. No changes were made in the boatings.

SIX SHIFTS MADE IN YALE BOATINGS

Leader Sends Garnsey to No. 4 and Goodbody to No. 2 in First Varsity.

Special to The New York Times.

DERBY, Conn., April 21.—Six changes in the three Yale varsity shells ordered today by Head Coach Ed Leader indicated the unsettled outlook for the Columbia-Pennsylvania-Yale regatta, which is scheduled for the Housatonic a week from Saturday.

As the shifts were equally divided among the three shells, the final order in the first and second crews, which will represent Yale in the senior and junior varsity events, is about equally involved.

In the first shell today the veteran Johnny Garnsey returned to 4, the seat he occupied last season in the second eight. He has alternated between the first and second shell this Spring.

From 4 Lyman Goodbody went to 2, displacing Everett Esselstyn, who has had a two-week tryout in the first shell. Esselstyn went to the third shell at 4. His promotion the past month from the third to the second and finally to the first has been phenomenal, because he had only three weeks of rowing before this season.

His lack of experience resulted in the elevation of Goodbody, who formerly stroked the Kent School eight and who has rowed on Yale freshman and second varsity crews.

Dave Manuel this afternoon went from 4 in the third shell to the same seat in the second, succeeding Garnsey. Cussler was promoted from 2 in the third to the same position in the second, replacing Jimmy Hunt.

Coach Leader said this evening that he had hoped to be able to announce the permanent rowing order, at least in the first varsity shell, today, but that he could not now state plans for giving a definite announcement.

Because only ten days of active rowing remain before the triangular regatta, it is believed that the coach will be forced to retain the line-up tried out the next few days for the sake of completing time trials.

The second eight situation is far more complicated than the first. The present first eight contains three of last season's veterans, Captain Gus Blagden, Sam McCalmont and Garnsey. Tappan and Ladd, however, rowed in the first shell two seasons ago.

THE BOATINGS.

First Varsity Crew.

Bow, Anthony; 2, Goodbody; 3, McCalmont; 4, Garnsey; 5, Ladd; 6, Rogers; 7, Captain Blagden; stroke, Tappen.

Second Varsity Crew.

Third Varsity Crew.

Bow, Storrs; 2, Hunt; 3, Williams; 4, Esselstyn; 5, Childs; 6, Brewster; 7, J. Blagden; stroke, Auchincloss.

PENN WINS AT TENNIS, 9-0.

Makes Clean Sweep of Postponed Meet With Haverford.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Penn made a clean sweep of its postponed tennis meet with Haverford College today, winning, 9 to 0.

Captain Gabriel Levine, the Red and Blue's No. 1 player, was extended to three sets by Jack Gray, while Lavine and Emanuel Kardon, Penn's indoor intercollegiate doubles champions, also had to play three sets before disposing of Gray and Hogenauer.

The summaries:

Yale Continues Football Work.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 21.—Adam Walsh, Yale rush line coach, today set a football squad at work for the present week, because of the cool weather conditions. The Spring work was formally closed last week, but the coaches decided to allow a small group to meet Walsh daily for individual instruction.

Japan Defeats Austria, 6 to 2, In Tennis Series at Vienna

VIENNA, April 21 (AP).—Japan's tennis team defeated Austria in a three-day international competition decided today, winning a total of six matches to two. The invaders captured two of today's three contests. Takeichi Harada and Tamio Abe won in doubles from Herbert Kinzel Jr. and Heinrich Effermann, 6—2, 6—3, 8—6. In the singles Yoshiro Ohta downed Hermann Artens, 6—2, 5—7, 8—6, 7—5, and Franz Matejka scored for Austria over Harada, 8—6, 8—6, 3—6, 4—6, 7—5.

4 HARVARD CREWS DEFINITELY PICKED

Whiteside Names Varsity, Jayvee, 150-Pound and Freshman Boats to Face M. I. T.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 21.—The four Harvard crews, varsity, junior varsity, freshman and 150-pound, which will race against M. I. T. here on Saturday, were named at the completion of practice this afternoon.

Charles Whiteside, varsity coach, selected the entire B crew for his first varsity eight, and the boat, which has been labeled Crew A and stroked by John Lawrence, has been selected as the junior varsity entry. The third eight, designated as C, will continue to practice with the first two varsity boats.

Today's workout consisted of a five-mile paddle downstream and a smooth drive upstream. All of the boats were lined up in the order named for the M. I. T. races.

In the final selections for the varsity and junior varsity boats neither boat was changed from its line-up of the past month of practice. Coach Whiteside selected his boats about a week after the oarsmen went outdoors, and after trying out four strokes in the B crew he put Franz F. Colloredo-Mansfeld at stroke of what is now the varsity shell, and it has been kept intact since then.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN PRINCETON CREW

Return of Captain Pease to No. 7 in First Varsity Results in Shifts.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 21.—Drastic changes in the boatings of the two Princeton varsity crews were announced today by Coach Chuck Logg. With the return of Captain Badger Pease, shifts were made which affected almost every man in the first two eights.

Pease, who has been unable to do anything but light work for more than ten days because of an infected hand, returned to his old position at 7 in the varsity. Shennan, who had been rowing at this post, moved to bow in the first boat, replacing Wolfe, who was sent to bow in the jayvee boat.

Harold Jones took the seat left vacant by Al Uihlein, as the latter was changed from the 3 oar in the varsity to the same position in the jayvee eight. The others in the first-string line-up retained their seats.

In the jayvee eight Coach Logg removed Crane from bow to make room for Wolfe. Yerkes and Bauer, rowing last week at 4 and 6 respectively, exchanged positions this afternoon in an endeavor to balance the shell, and Botzow was at 2, in place of Hawkey.

There were also several shifts in the freshman eight, with Logg trying out various combinations. Campbell went to 2 in place of Richardson, and Pell took Campbell's place at 6.

Four boats took the water in the double workout which will characterize the holiday training for this week. The lake was roughened by a strong wind which blew across the boats as they went up to the dam.

10.5% Gain in Electric Consumption

The average annual electric consumption per customer, for the twelve months ended February 28, 1930, was 513 kilowatt hours against 464 kilowatt hours for the corresponding previous twelve-months period. This represents a gain of 10.5%.

We recommend the senior securities of ably-managed electric light and power companies for conservative investment, and will be pleased to submit our current list of recommendations upon request.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

General Decline in Stocks, Trading Larger—Call Money 3½%, Sterling Lower.

The stock market and the grain market both declined somewhat emphatically yesterday. Wheat for May delivery fell 1⅛ cents, making a fall of 6 cents in a week; at yesterday's lowest, $1.04 per bushel, it was only 1¼ cents above the low price of the year, touched on the February date when "March wheat" went to 98¾ cents. On the Stock Exchange the mood of the speculative fraternity was plainly altered. The day's declines in active shares ranged generally between 3 and 5 points; but the marking-down process affected practically the whole list, the great number of stocks ended at or near the day's lowest, and the half-dozen instances of bidding-up of prices were not impressive.

It did not appear that the grain market's weakness was a dominant influence on the Stock Exchange, as it was in February. The stock market had more the appearance of readjustment after the illusions of a few weeks ago. Possibly the weakness in the copper-mining shares had its effect, but that had been plainly enough foreshadowed by the copper-market incident of last week. The day's decline in wheat did not seem to result in any degree from forecasts of the new crop; apparently it reflected rather a somewhat nervous reversion of the grain trade's attention to the magnitude of unsold supplies of wheat as the season's end approaches. Sterling hardly moved, but franc exchange was distinctly strong again; this divergence of movement showing what the London dispatches mean by citing uneasiness over a possible resumed movement of gold to Paris.

Since motor-car production, in the last ten years, has come to be one important weather-sign of popular purchasing capacity and industrial activity generally, the Department of Commerce monthly compilations never lack interest. The March production figures, published yesterday, show substantial progressive increase over February, January and December. This of itself proves little, however, because March in every previous year of the trade's history has made exactly the same comparison; even the "deflation year" 1921 reporting monthly output more than doubled in March as compared with January. Comparison with 1929 shows that March production was smaller this year by 31⅝ per cent, and the three-months' output is reduced in about the same percentage. Comparison with earlier years is not so bad. The March out-turn is smaller than 1928 or 1926 also, but the difference is less and it runs beyond the same month in all other years.

The remarks of the United States Steel Corporation's finance chairman, at yesterday's annual shareholders' meeting, pointed both backward and forward. Frankly admitting that the activities of a year ago could not continue, Mr. Taylor speaks of the readjustment which had to come, "in keeping with the economic rules which man cannot defy"; but he adds that, "in a general way," the readjustment "has been accomplished." This conclusion is apparently based on the well-known absence of large inventories of unsold products, but it does not wholly clear up the question, what pace of activity the industry will strike hereafter. On this point the president of the company also had no further light to throw. He expressed hope that the present rate of output would be sustained, but made no definite prediction.

UNITED STATES SHARES ORGANIZES TRUST UNIT

Securities of 14 Companies in Portfolio of New Short-Term Trust Shares.

Formation of a new investment trust of fixed type was announced yesterday by the United States Shares Corporation. The trust will be known as Short Term Trust Shares; its portfolio contains securities of fourteen companies. Its capitalization is limited to 100,000 shares of $10 par.

Stocks in the portfolio are deposited under a trust fund agreement with a trustee and stock of the Short Term Trust Shares are issued against them, thus representing participating interest in the group as a whole. No substitutions may be made in the portfolio. Stock dividends and split-ups are kept in the trust. Rights are to be sold and the proceeds added to distributions.

The maximum length of the trust is ten years but the depositor may terminate it at any time. To bring about appreciation of the constituent stocks at favorable times the depositor may sell the stock of any company held, but reinvestment of the proceeds is limited to stocks of one or more companies already in the trust portfolio.

Stocks composing the portfolio are:

Atlantic Coast Line, Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Fairbanks, Morse & Co., Lackawanna Securities, New York Air Brake, New York Transit, Northern Pacific, Pepperell Manufacturing, Plymouth Cordage, Southern Railway, Thermoid, convertible preferred, United States Smelting, Corroon & Reynolds preferred A, and Porto Rican-American Tobacco A common.

Markets in Montreal Closed.

MONTREAL, Que., April 21 (Canadian Press).—The Montreal Stock Exchange and the Curb Exchange were closed today, Easter Monday. The day was observed also by the banks and other institutions.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

A bad sinking spell in the late dealings on the Stock Exchange yesterday left the general list behind minus signs at the close, with the net losses in active issues ranging from 2 to 7 points. Wall Street did not agree as to the reasons for the unsettlement, but it was the general opinion that a fresh break in the copper issues did more than anything else to release the waves of liquidation. Using the averages of THE NEW YORK TIMES as a yardstick, the decline was the second widest of the year. Stocks which fell sharply included most of the market leaders, such as United States Steel, American Telephone and Telegraph, Houston Oil, Electric Power and Light, International Harvester, Allied Chemical and Air Reduction. Some of the brokerage houses in their circulars referred to the break as a "corrective reaction." In only a few spots was there any exhibition of strength in the afternoon.

The Copper Situation.

Many of the copper stocks showed weakness early in the day, when the market's tone was fairly firm. Declines in them ranged from 1 to 7 points and nearly all of the issues reached the lowest levels in more than eighteen months. High cost producers were the hardest hit, owing to the effect which the recent reduction in the price of copper to 14 cents a pound is expected to have upon the dividend payments of these companies. News from the copper industry was bearish; local consumers were reported to have placed relatively few orders since the new prices were put into effect, while foreign business was at a standstill yesterday owing to the observance of Easter holidays abroad.

Not Helping Stocks.

Discussions in Washington about the railroads are not helping their stocks, it was remarked in trading circles yesterday. "Debate as to whether the railroads should be left as they are, moved forward, knocked sideways, merged, dissolved, left alone or be copper lined throughout has caused a natural uncertainty among investors," was the comment of one commentator. "Their stocks have survived the market break and also the maximum of business depression, but the Washingtonian crisis is still with us."

The Utility Decline.

The action of utility stocks yesterday, apparently affected by heavy profit-taking, drew attention to the fact that the average price for the group for the last two weeks has hovered over the range of mid-June last year, whereas June 1, 1929, was the starting point for the bull movement in these shares. The group has recovered considerably more than the industrials since the November lows, and, excepting for one pause in the middle of March, has advanced almost uniformly this year.

An Actual Control.

Light on the extent to which the Van Sweringen interests intend to exercise their control in Missouri Pacific was afforded by the belief expressed in railroad circles yesterday that they would offer a plan for payment of arrears of dividends on the preferred stock of the road radically differing from the one proposed by the present management. How far in addition the Van Sweringens are prepared to go will be shown more definitely at the forthcoming annual meeting of the Missouri Pacific. It is accepted that they will elect their directors to the board, but it is thought that changes in the executives will depend largely on the attitude of the executives themselves.

Death of the Rumors.

The recent sogginess on the stock market has extended to the over-the-counter market for bank shares, and with it has come an abrupt death to lively merger rumors that have abounded since the Chase-Equitable-Interstate consolidation became known. A wealth of experience with merger rumors in recent years has taught leading bankers a technic in handling such gossip. Two methods are generally employed. One is to frankly and without delay deny the report, another is to adopt a fixed policy of denying nothing. On the whole, the former method seems to produce the best results and has been extensively adopted this season. There have been scores of bank merger rumors running about the Street during the last few weeks that never have found their way into print, having met with an official, but private, denial before they could gain great currency.

Strength in the Guilder.

One explanation of the recent strength in Dutch guilders in the foreign exchange market that has been advanced by bankers is that British capitalists are sending funds to Amsterdam as well as New York. The interesting possibility has been suggested that some of this money is being used to purchase American securities in Holland. A large number of important American stocks have for years been listed on the Amsterdam Stock Exchange. The closer proximity of that market to London, as compared with the New York market, might lead some investors to prefer to buy there. The Dutch securities market is one of the most important in Europe and is a logical centre for British capital to seek in going outside the home market, as it appears at present inclined to do.

Westchester County Financing.

Officials of Westchester County have guarded for years the credit of their bailiwick as jealously as the finances of New York State have been watched. Last week the State sold an issue of 4s at a large premium, and yesterday it became known the county plans to offer a major issue with the same rating. However, the county officials have seen fit to leave a loophole for the bankers in case of a decline in the municipal market between now and the date of sale, May 7, whereby a portion of the issue may be sold as 4¼s. Thus the wishes of the officials are made clear and the position of the bankers is clarified, so that in no case will the county face the situation of not receiving a bid for 4s.

MONEY.

Monday, April 21, 1930.

Resumption of business in the money market after the extended week-end found rates and conditions in all sections much the same as those which governed trading last week. On the Stock Exchange renewals went at 4, followed by cut to 3½, for new funds, while street money was down as low as 3. There was an abundant supply of money on offer, but inquiry was light. Time money market was dull over a range of 4 to 4½, unchanged. Acceptances were moderately active, the bulk of the buying coming from the Federal Reserve for foreign account, it was believed, with a fair outside demand.

	Common Stock, authorized 7,500,000 shares, reserved for conversion of Debentures 660,000 shares, outstanding	5,513,019 shares

Against certain property acquired subject to existing mortgages there are outstanding $504,879 real estate mortgages.

From his letter, Jacob F. Schoellkopf, Jr., Esq., President, further summarizes as follows:

BUSINESS: Under its charter, Niagara Share Corporation of Maryland has broad powers including the right to acquire, hold and sell securities of any character and to participate in syndicates and underwritings.

Holdings of the Corporation consist of a diversified list of public utility, industrial, railroad, bank and insurance company securities. It is the policy of the Corporation to confine its larger investments to favorable situations with which the management is closely affiliated. At present the largest single investment comprises more than 3,500,000 shares of Common Stock and 1,000,000 Class "A" Warrants of Niagara Hudson Power Corporation.

Niagara Hudson Power Corporation and its subsidiaries constitute one of the largest electric power systems in the world, serving a large part of the highly industrialized areas of New York State outside of New York City. The system reports that sales of electricity in 1929 exceeded 6,499,000,000 k.w.h., equivalent to approximately 8.5% of total sales of electric power in the United States.

EARNINGS: Consolidated net earnings (of the Corporation from the date of incorporation, June 18, 1929, to December 31, 1929 and of such acquired and subsidiary companies as were under control or direction of Niagara Share interests prior to acquisition, for the entire year 1929) before interest and taxes, amounted to $3,751,666, more than $2,000,000 of which consisted of interest and cash dividends on securities owned. At current rates, the interest and cash dividends on securities now owned yield an annual income in excess of $2,500,000. Annual requirement for interest on these Debentures is $825,000.

ASSETS: Based on the December 31, 1929 consolidated balance sheet adjusted to give effect to this financing, total net assets, after deducting all liabilities other than these Debentures, amount to more than $122,000,000, or over 800% of this $15,000,000 issue.

No major changes have been made in the investment account since the close of 1929 and the total present market value of securities now owned is substantially in excess of the total book value.

EQUITY: The Preferred and Common Stocks, representing the equity junior to these Debentures, have an indicated market valuation, at present quotations, of more than $100,000,000.

Application will be made to list these Debentures on the New York Stock Exchange.

A
$5,000 a year man asked us—

CAN I BE INDEPENDENT AT 55?

We said yes: if you invest 10% of your income in the FRENCH PLAN every year you can have a substantial estate at middle age. Your money will be working at double speed in a safe and profitable investment field—Manhattan real estate. This is what happens to your $500 a year—

[1]—You get 6% while your money is invested. [2]—Your principal is returned to you. [3]—You reinvest your principal in a second French building. [4]—You continue to get profit from the first French building. [5]—You will continue to get a profit from the second French building after the principal has been returned to you—and you invest this principal in a third French building.

This rapid growth of your money is no accident—it is simply the working out of a plan whereby the small investor can take advantage of the large profits and safety of Manhattan real estate. The Plan works very simply—The right building in the right place can make a profit. The Fred F. French Companies use your money to build the building—pay you 6% while using it—return your money and give you a permanent share of the profits from the building thereafter.

The 74-page booklet "THE FRENCH PLAN" tells the whole story and how it has built up equities for many other French investors. Your copy is ready—mail the coupon now.

U. S. STEEL EXPECTS GOOD AVERAGE YEAR

Taylor Tells Annual Meeting That Trade Basis Is Sound—To Spend $200,000,000 in 1930.

HOUSTON ADDED TO BOARD

Business in 1929 Reached Total of $1,496,000,000—Plant Operations Now at 80%.

COSTS OF OUTPUT LOWERED

Economies Not Obtained Any More by Depressing Wages, but by Better Machinery.

Officials of the United States Steel Corporation told stockholders at the annual meeting in Hoboken yesterday that they were satisfied with conditions as they are and that they were looking forward to a good average year of business. Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee, said that the inevitable readjustment made necessary by the abnormal activities of last year had been completed and that the promise for the future was unqualified.

"Today we might say the inevitable adjustment has taken place," said Mr. Taylor. "We feel the foundation we are standing upon today is basically sound and we can face the future with a feeling of assurance, confidence and safety. This is a very healthy and wholesome condition.

"We could hardly continue the great activities of last year. There must be adjustments in keeping with economic rules which man cannot defy. That readjustment in a general way has been accomplished."

Touching upon the affairs of the company itself, Mr. Taylor announced that appropriations aggregating $200,000,000 had been made to be spent during this year on plant expansion, improvement, rehabilitation and other matters as outlined in the budget plan adopted after a survey of the properties of the corporation had been completed.

James A. Farrell, president of the company, declared that the company had operated at about 82 per cent of capacity for the first quarter of this year, that indications were that the same pace could be maintained in the present quarter and that he was looking forward to a good average year.

Farrell's Guess $4,000,000 High.

"Last year," he said, "I was asked to make a forecast as to the amount of business we would do during 1929. At that time I said it would be about $1,500,000,000. Today I must apologize for that statement. We fell $4,000,000 short of it. I am making no forecast for the present year. We are going to get all the business that we can.

"It will be recalled that in 1929 we had the largest year in our history with the exception of 1916, a war year.

"Our cost of production has been lowered in an orderly manner and we feel that with the improvements we are making and the increased efficiency to be gained out of the electrification contemplated the steel company will hold its own in this country or in any foreign market. We do not effect these economies any more by the lowering of wages; we get them through better machinery and equipment."

The meeting was the twenty-ninth annual one of the corporation. Mr. Taylor presided and in calling the meeting to order said that it was the policy of the company, and one which each officer of the corporation was sworn to uphold, to conduct the business for the benefit of the community at large as well as for the benefit of the employes and stockholders. He then spoke of the stock market break of last Fall and continued:

"In times like that it is important for an industry like ourselves to assert itself, to hold the public from reaction.

"The readjustment was largely confined to security prices. In 1922 we had a violent shrinkage in commodity values. Since last Fall certain commodity values witnessed readjustment, chiefly in those which are known as crop commodities."

Mr. Taylor then expressed his opinion that the readjustment had been accomplished.

Speaking of the death of Robert Winsor, a director of the corporation, Mr. Taylor asked for a moment of silence in Mr. Winsor's memory and in memory of other valued officers and employes who had passed away during the last year. Following the memorial silence it was announced that 2,020,286 shares of preferred stock and 3,353,610 shares of common stock were represented by proxies at the meeting. Stockholders present in person increased to 5,356,635 the number of common shares represented.

David F. Houston, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, Secretary of Agriculture from 1913 to 1920 and Secretary of the Treasury from February, 1920, to March, 1921, was nominated as a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Winsor, and was elected. Other directors whose terms expired were elected to succeed themselves. They are Walter S. Gifford, Nathan L. Miller, Percival Roberts Jr. and Myron C. Taylor.

Junius S. Morgan Jr., who has been a director of the corporation for the last year, was introduced to the stockholders by Mr. Taylor. In addition to Messrs. Taylor, Farrell and Morgan, other directors of the corporation who were present were W. J. Filbert and Nathan L. Miller.

Mr. Farrell was greeted with applause after he had been asked to talk about the operations of the company by Mr. Taylor, who said that the president had been with the same company in various positions for forty-eight years and was therefore eminently qualified to discuss the affairs of the corporation.

Officers Inspect Properties.

Mr. Farrell said that in the last year Mr. Taylor and some other officers of the company and himself had made a personal visit to all the properties of the corporation with the exception of some mines, which would be visited this year. He said the object was to get first-hand information in regard to the properties and to establish a more personal contact with the 240,000 employes of the corporation. In his belief the trip had disclosed that the personnel of the company is enthusiastic and well coordinated and well fitted to carry the company forward.

Mr. Taylor commented upon this survey and said that the company's policy in regard to expansion of operations had been based upon a survey regarding the fitness of the buildings for the work they were expected to do, and that the locations of the plants in regard to their proximity to markets and to the supply of raw material had been a large factor in determining future policy. He said that a program covering three years' progress in regard to the properties had been laid out and that each January a report was filed with the finance committee by Mr. Farrell and his staff for the ensuing three years, and then the finance committee would make the necessary appropriation.

"Such appropriations entail considerable money. This year the sum is about $200,000,000. The effect has been to spread a closer coordination throughout the organization of the company and to insure not only the near future but the far future for steady, successful operation."

In response to a question from a stockholder Mr. Taylor said the company maintained a research laboratory in Kearny, N. J., for consideration of problems outside the ordinary routine of business.

"We have twenty-eight scientists there of many different nationalities. We have gathered them there for the purpose of considering special problems. In addition, at the various plants of the company we have about 2,000 other scientists who are daily considering those problems which develop in the ordinary routine of business. In Kearny the scientists are devoting their attention to matters which would not ordinarily occur to the plant staffs and I can assure you that the work which they will acomplish will be of great benefit to the company."

Mr. Taylor referred also to the purchase of the Columbia Steel Corporation and the Atlas Portland Cement Company by the corporation during the last year. He said that establishment of plants on the West Coast had become desirable and was accomplished through the purchase of the Columbia properties, which he announced would be the nucleus of the future operations of the corporation on the Pacific Coast. The Atlas Portland Cement properties, he said, generally operated in territories that were not covered by the cement activities of the corporation and its acquisition had rounded out cement operations.

Mr. Taylor called upon stockholders for remarks, and a proposal to give Mr. Taylor, Mr. Farrell and the other officers of the corporation a standing vote of thanks for "their efficient work on behalf of the stockholders" was carried unanimously. The result of the election was then given out, and Mr. Taylor in adjourning the meeting announced that the plan decided upon at the last annual meeting for retirement of the funded debt had been consummated and that he felt the capitalization of the corporation had been more firmly fixed and that the benefits of it would be felt through the coming years.

Changes in Holdings of Directors.

Opening of the stock registry books of the corporation for scrutiny disclosed some changes in the holdings of the directors. George F. Baker increased his holdings of common stock since the meeting last year from 76,000 to 90,000 shares. Mr. Baker holds also 500 shares of the preferred stock. George F. Baker Jr. also increased his share holdings, having now 17,421 shares of common stock, compared with 10,001 a year ago. William J. Filbert's holdings of preferred stock were unchanged at 1,904 shares, but his common shares had increased from 1,869 last year to 2,210 this year.

The other directors and their holdings follow:

$1,000,000

California Water Service Company

First Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds, Series A

Previous issues of these Bonds have been certified as legal investment for California Savings Banks by the Superintendent of Banks of the State of California. Application has been made to have this additional issue of Bonds certified as a legal investment for California Savings Banks.

Dated April 1, 1928 Due April 1, 1958

The Issuance of these Bonds has been Authorized by the Railroad Commission of the State of California.

California Water Service Company, a subsidiary of Federal Water Service Corporation, supplies water service without competition for domestic and industrial purposes in numerous cities and communities in California. The aggregate population of the territory served is estimated to be approximately 350,000.

The First Mortgage Bonds are secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on all the physical properties owned by the Company consisting principally of land, water mains, reservoirs, pumping stations and other equipment. The value of these properties on the basis of reproduction cost new, less depreciation, including additions and betterments at cost to February 28, 1930, is over $18,600,000.

Gross revenues of the Company for the twelve months ended February 28, 1930, were officially reported as $2,148,524 and the balance available for interest amounted to $1,071,855, which compares with total annual interest requirements of $424,100 on the entire funded indebtedness of the Company amounting to $8,482,000 principal amount now and presently to be outstanding.

The above information is summarized from and is subject to a letter from E. C. Elliott, Esq., President of the Company, to G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Incorporated. These Bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to change in price and prior sale. Delivery may be made in the first instance in temporary or definitive Bonds or in interim certificates of a New York City bank or trust company.

Price 98 and Accrued Interest, to Yield 5.14%

INDUSTRY SAYS . . . AMERICA MUST SAIL THE SEAS!

American industry's prosperity at home depends in no small measure on its ability to market abroad its surplus products. To do this, industry must be able to meet competitive merchandise prices. Dependable transatlantic shipping rates, therefore, become a vital factor in foreign trade. Without the large and efficient all-American transatlantic fleet of the United States Lines, Inc., as most representative of our American Merchant Marine, on the traffic lanes . . . we would ever be confronted with unstable rates. No one realizes this more than American industrialists.

Able, efficient management . . . wisely administered . . . scientifically organized . . . United States Lines, Inc., is an outstanding established American carrier, certain ever to expand its facilities. Its Participating Preference Stock offers a sound and profitable investment for you.

What has been happening in Commodity Prices?

When the general commodity price index is broken down into its chief components, considerable light is thrown upon the movement of prices in the last few years. This method is employed with interesting results in the article entitled "The Commodity Price Trend" in our current Investment Bulletin.

Another article of general interest discusses the outlook for probable European financing in the American market. Germany's needs are appraised and the important role to be played by France in the world market is indicated. The Investment Bulletin is just off the press. We shall be glad to send you a copy, without charge, upon request. Ask for T-4.

GROWING

On March 31, 1926, Power & Light Securities Trust shares were offered at $40, or approximately liquidating value. On March 31, 1930, their liquidating value was $70.21. (Current liquidating value higher.) Adding to this gain the value of cash and stock dividends and rights issued during this four-year period gives a total gain of 125.5% or a yearly average of 31.4%. Yielding approximately 7%, and affording the safety of wide diversification, we consider the shares of this trust a very attractive investment. Details on request for Review N. T. 101.

Expansion Ahead For Natural Gas

Natural gas is the fastest growing utility. Sales last year grew twice as fast as sales of electricity and five times as fast as sales of manufactured gas.

Missouri Kansas Pipe Line produces, transports, and markets natural gas. Earnings for the first quarter of 1930 were greater than earnings for the entire year 1929.

Is listed on the New York Curb and pays 10% in stock.

OFFER BONDS TODAY FOR NIAGARA SHARE

Bankers to Market $15,000,000 Issue of 20-Year 5½% Convertibles at Price of 99.

NET ASSETS $122,000,000

New public financing totaling $15,000,000 is announced for today for the Niagara Share Corpcration, which holds as its principal investment 3,500,000 shares of common stock and 1,000,000 Class A warrants of the Niagara Hudson Power Corporation. The financing will consist of the offering of an issue of twenty-year 5½ per cent convertible debentures, which will be priced at 99, to yield more than 5.55 per cent. The offering will be made by a syndicate comprising Lee, Higginson & Co., the Guaranty Company of New York, Schoellkopf, Hutton & Pomeroy, Inc., and the Marine Trust Company of Buffalo.

The issue will be convertible up to May 1, 1932, into forty-four shares of common stock of the corporation for each $1,000 debenture, and during the succeeding four years into forty shares of stock. The Niagara Share Corporation reports assets, as of Dec. 31, 1929, of more than $109,000,000, and its net assets, after giving effect to this financing and after deducting all liabilities other than these debentures, amount to more than $122,000,000.

Approximately 80 per cent of the company's assets consist of its holdings in Niagara Hudson Power Corporation, which is rated as one of the largest electric power systems in the world. Consolidated net earnings of the Niagara Share Corporation from the date of incorporation, June 18, 1929, to Dec. 31, 1929, and of such acquired and subsidiary companies as were under control or direction of the Niagara Share interests prior to acquisition, for the entire year 1929, amounted to $3,751,666, more than half of which consisted of interest and cash dividends on securities owned.

According to the bankers, the interest and cash dividends on securities now owned yield, at current rates, an annual income in excess of $2,500,000. The indicated market valuation, at present quotations, of the preferred and common stocks of the company is more than $100,000,000.

ABRAHAM & STRAUS CHANGE

A reorganization of the management board of Abraham & Straus, Inc., of Brooklyn, whereby Walter N. Rothschild and Hugh Grant Straus will no longer sit with the board, was announced yesterday. It was explained that the purpose was to place the responsibility in the hands of the chief executives of the several operating divisions of the store.

Mr. Rothschild and Mr. Straus, in addition to being vice president and general manager and vice president and treasurer, respectively, will continue as members of the executive committee.

Public utility	1,000,000
Municipal	170,000

BOND PRICES LOWER, WITH TRADING DULL

Domestic Issues on the Stock Exchange Continue to Drop—Foreign Loans Weak.

DECLINE IN CONVERTIBLES

Sharp Losses Shown in Sympathy With the Shares—Government Securities Firmer.

Bond prices moved moderately lower on the average yesterday to the accompaniment of dull trading. Domestic issues continued to give ground, foreign loans were slightly lower. Convertibles, in sympathy with the weakness in the stock market, were sharply down in some cases, while United States Government issues were, on the whole, firmer.

Trading, even in the convertibles, was at a slow pace. The latter group, however, showed recessions ranging from 7 points for American Telephone and Telegraph 4½s to three-quarters of a point for the International Telephone and Telegraph 4½s. Between these extremes were losses of 1¾ for Alleghany Corporation 5s, 1⅜ for Santa Fe 4½s, and 2½ for New Haven 6s.

Rails and utilities were generally lower. A few special issues stood out against the trend. These included Gulf, Mobile and Northern 5s of 1950, which advanced 4 points; Indiana Limestone 6s of 1941, and Porto Rican American Tobacco 6s of 1942.

Elkhorn Coal 7s of 1931 dropped more than 5 points and other soft spots were found in Botany Mills 6½s of 1934, Havana Electric 5½s of 1951, and Manati Sugar 7½s of 1942.

The Treasury issues were up from 9-32 to 6-32, while Liberty bonds were generally softer, the Fourth Liberty 4¼s being the only ones to advance.

Among the foreign bonds losses of a point or more were sustained by Antioqua first 7s of 1957, Argentine 5s of 1945, Berlin 6½s of 1950, Poland 6s of 1940, and Rio de Janeiro 6½s of 1953.

Dardelet Threadlock Votes Rights.

Directors of the Dardelet Threadlock Corporation have authorized the issuance of rights to stockholders entitling them to subscribe, on or before June 25, at $100 a share for additional shares, at the rate of one-half share for each share held. Rights will acrue to stockholders of record May 10, subject to the approval of stockholders to the increase in authorized capital from 10,000 shares of no par common stock to 20,000 such shares. Proceeds of the sales of the shares to be offered to stockholders will be used in extending the corporation's business.

WESTCHESTER SEEKS $19,775,000 LOAN

County Reduces Size of Bond Issue and Will Award the Securities on May 7.

OPTION IN INTEREST RATES

$10,500,000 to Carry Coupon of 4% or 4¼%—Remainder to Be at 4%.

Westchester County has set May 7 as the date for the sale of a new issue of $19,775,000 of various improvement bonds, it was learned yesterday. Originally it was planned to market an issue of $19,838,000 on May 15. The new financing will be made up of ten issues, of which $10,500,000 will consist of park bonds on which the interest rate is to be named by the bidders as 4 or 4¼ per cent, with the balance of the loan to carry a 4 per cent interest rate.

The new financing as revised, will consist of the following: $10,500,000 park bonds, due from 1939 to 1980; $3,500,000 Mamaroneck Valley sanitary sewer, due from 1933 to 1980; $1,900,000 Hutchinson Valley sanitary sewer, due from 1933 to 1975; $1,615,000 county hospital, due from 1931 to 1960; $948,000 additional court house property, due from 1931 to 1952; $512,000 highway, due from 1931 to 1943; $360,000 Blind Brook sanitary sewer, due from 1937 to 1978; $205,000 bridge, due from 1931 to 1944; $135,000 court house building, due from 1931 to 1939, and $100,000 South Yonkers sewer bonds, due from 1932 to 1952.

Bankers, in bidding for the issue, will have the option of naming a 4¼ per cent rate on more than 50 per cent of the issue. However, in view of the fact that the issue of $21,550,000 State of New York 4 per cent bonds sold last week was not reoffered to the public, it is believed that the chances of the county receiving a bid of par or more for the entire issue as 4s are much greater than if the issue had to face the competition of the State's bonds.

The last long-term issue sold by the county bore a 4 per cent interest rate, when on May 2, 1928 an issue of $15,511,000 was sold to a syndicate headed by the Chase Securities Corporation. It has been customary for the county to do its long-term financing only at long intervals, so that one issue is always distributed before the next one is offered.

The International Trust Company has been appointed certification agent for the issue, it was announced yesterday.

MUNICIPAL LOANS.

New Offerings of Bonds to Investment Bankers and the Public Announced.

Hudson County, N. J.

Details of the issue of $3,196,000 of bonds of Hudson County, N. J., to be sold on May 8, were announced yesterday. The new issue, which will bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent, will consist of the following: $1,505,000 maternity hospital bonds, due May 15, 1931 to 1970; $700,000 park, due 1931 to 1979; $355,000 hospital for contagious diseases, due 1931 to 1960; $205,000 boulevard widening, due 1931 to 1959; $166,000 school, due 1931 to 1960; $140,000 jail, due 1931 to 1970; $125,000 boulevard construction bonds, due May 15, 1931 to 1944.

Province of Alberta.

The Province of Alberta, Canada, will be in the market on April 30 with a new issue of $2,900,000 4½ per cent bonds, maturing on May 1, 1960. Proceeds from this financing will be used for public works and for other public improvement projects.

Providence, R. I.

The city of Providence, R. I., will open bids on May 8 on a new issue of $2,000,000 4 per cent bonds, maturing serially on June 1, 1931 to 1950. The issue will consist of $500,000 each of highway, public improvement, sewer and hospital bonds. On Nov. 20 last the city awarded an issue of $3,000,000 4¼s at a price of 99.11, equivalent to a 4.35 per cent basis.

Rye, N. Y.

Rye (N. Y.) Central High School District No. 1 plans to sell on April 29 a new issue of $750,000 of bonds, due on May 1, 1931 to 1960. Bidders are asked to name the rate of interest in multiples of one-quarter of 1 per cent at not to exceed 6 per cent.

Municipal Trust Certificates.

Offering will be made today of a new issue of $170,000 first participating municipal trust 6 per cent certificates, due $17,000 annually on April 15, 1931 to 1940, by V. W. Mills & Co. of Philadelphia. The issue will be secured by deposit with the trustee of $170,000 in bonds of special assessments on real estate having an actual value in excess of ten times that amount issued by Oklahoma City, Chickasha and Stilwell, Okla., and Evergreen, Ala. The bonds are issued for paving and sewer construction.

BOND FLOTATION.

California Water Service.

An additional issue of $1,000,000 California Water Service Company first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, Series A, dated April 1, 1928, and due on April 1, 1958, will be offered today by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc. The bonds are priced at 98 and accrued interest, to yield 5.14 per cent. Their issuance has been authorized by the Railroad Commission of California.

Natural Gas Markets are constantly expanding

IN NATURAL GAS is inherent a great force of nature which is being put to ever-widening uses as a superior fuel. That superiority is completely established by both geological and economic findings, while competition for natural gas reserves becomes increasingly keen. Long-distance pipe lines are constantly opening up new markets. Few communities are without the pale of this development.

Significantly, this competition benefits both the industry and the consumer, for the potential demand is seen to be far greater than the present distribution. Good management, location of properties, stable consumer demand, and prudent financing, are the distinguishing characteristics of sound natural gas companies.

The illustrated booklet, "Natural Gas, the Modern Fuel," tells the part which this corporation is playing in this thriving industry. A copy will be mailed to you upon request.

REPORTS HOLDINGS IN NIAGARA HUDSON

St. Regis Paper Company Issues Statement for 1929 With Power Company.

LATTER EARNS $15,588,539

Net Equal to 61 Cents on Common Shares—Paper Company's Income $4,664,873.

The annual reports of the Niagara Hudson Power Corporation and of the St. Regis Paper Company, its principal stockholder, show that on Dec. 31, 1929, St. Regis owned 16.6 per cent of the 25,595,132 shares of Niagara Hudson Power outstanding and that this holding of 4,250,366 shares was equivalent to 1.06 shares of Niagara Hudson for each share of St. Regis Paper common stock outstanding. In addition, St. Regis owns 1,025,566 Niagara Hudson Class A warrants, or .25 of a warrant for each share.

At yesterday's closing prices of Niagara Hudson securities the common stock holdings of St. Regis in that company were worth $97,758,418 and the Class A warrant holdings were worth $5,897,004, or an aggregate of $103,655,422. These holdings are carried on the St. Regis books at $27,979,956 as investments. They were worth $55,650,000 as of Dec. 31, 1929, market prices. These holdings were equal to $25.91 a share on 4,000,000 St. Regis common shares at yesterday's market, when St. Regis sold at 29⅝.

Companies of the Niagara Hudson system sold 6,499,329,000 kilowatt hours of electricity and 8,243,150,000 cubic feet of gas during 1929. At the end of the year there were 640,817 electric and 241,185 gas customers.

Niagara Hudson's Income.

Operating revenues of the Niagara Hudson system were $79,722,803 in 1929, while the net income of $15,588,539 was equal to 61 cents a share on the common stock outstanding. Sales of electricity increased 10 per cent over sales by constituent companies in 1928, and represented about one-half of all electricity sold in New York State in 1929, and 8.5 per cent of all sold in the United States. While 71.3 per cent of electric output was produced by hydroelectric plants, the steam-electric output last year nearly trebled, due to the increasing use of electric power and present limitations on economical development of large water power in Niagara Hudson territory, the report says.

The electric capacity of the system totals 1,784,000 horsepower, of which 1,266,000 horsepower is hydroelectric and 518,000 horsepower is steam electric. Construction now under way will add 87,000 horsepower of hydro and 314,000 horsepower of steam to this total. Gas plants of the system have a daily capacity of 37,500,000 cubic feet. Rate reductions in the system during 1929 saved customers over $1,463,000, while $10,055,072 was paid in taxes.

Paper Company Reports.

The St. Regis Paper Company reports consolidated net income for the year of $4,664,873, equal to $1.29 a share, earned on 3,355,616 average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the year. After preferred dividends of $329,497 and common dividends of $2,788,750, there was a balance for surplus of $1,546,626.

The company's investments increased during the year from $23,379,342 to $32,050,791, the increase in book value of its holdings in Niagara Hudson over its investment in Northeastern Power accounting for nearly $6,000,000 of this gain. The property account, representing land, buildings, machinery, equipment, timber lands, waterpower rights, patents and licenses, is stated at $41,104,964, an increase of more than 100 per cent over the value of $20,164,049 assigned as of Dec. 31, 1928. This increase is due chiefly to the acquisition during the year of the assets of the Bates Valve Bag Corporation and subsidiaries.

Current assets of $11,011,604 including $4,739,223 cash, compared with current liabilities of $2,448,619, while total assets rose from $54,031,732 to $86,447,999. The company has $8,376,000 funded debt and $4,626,800 preferred stock. Preferred stock of subsidiary is $1,381,800 and minority interest in common stock and surplus of subsidiaries is $97,227. Surplus was $25,978,425 at the end of the year, against $12,028,083 the year before.

Income Not Included.

The net income of St. Regis for 1929 does not take into consideration the undistributed earnings of Niagara Hudson Power Corporation applicable to the company's holdings, which, if included, would add 27 cents a share, bringing the total up to $1.56 a share on the average number of St. Regis common shares outstanding during the year.

With respect to St. Lawrence River power development, the report of Niagara Hudson Power says:

"This development would be of great benefit to the State of New York and should be undertaken as soon as possible. If this power were developed 85 per cent of it would necessarily be used in manufacturing plants, for only 15 per cent of the time do the householder and farmer use electricity; if this power were sold only for residential and farm use, its cost would be so great that people would return to candles and kerosene lamps.

"Your company desires to see this water power developed as quickly as possible and put to use. While it would itself undertake such development upon fair and generous terms, yet it will consider any and all other plans, particularly that of having the development made by a State-owned corporation, the power to be marketed under contract by our operating companies."

Peruvian Gold Shipment Of $2,392,100 Arrives

A consignment of $2,392,100 of gold from Peru was received yesterday by the Guaranty Trust Company. The shipment, which had been announced as on its way here, is the first large shipment of gold to come to this market from Peru this year.

Gold shipments aggregating $25,000,000 are en route from Brazil to the Guaranty. The first of these, one of $15,000,000, is due to arrive tomorrow. In all $35,000,000 is on the way here, a shipment of $10,000,000 from Brazil to Dillon, Read & Co., having been announced also.

The daily gold statement of the Federal Reserve Bank yesterday listed the receipt of the Peruvian gold, but showed no other changes.

YOUNGSTOWN SHEET REPORTS DECLINE

$1.93 a Share Earned in Quarter, Against $3.52 Year Ago—Net Totaled $2,516,705.

NO ACTION TODAY ON SALE

But Eaton-Bethlehem Compromise Election to Board Is Held Possible at Meeting.

Special to The New York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, April 21.—On the eve of its thirtieth annual meeting, scheduled for 10:30 A. M. tomorrow, the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company today issued its financial statement for the first quarter of 1930, showing net profits of $2,516,705, equivalent to $1.93 a share on outstanding common stock. This compares with net of $3.52 a share of the first quarter of 1929 on the same number of outstanding shares, 1,200,000

No action can be taken at tomorrow's meeting to affect the vote on the sale of the company to Bethlehem Steel. Fixing of the number of directors and election of directors are scheduled for the meeting unless it should be adjourned without action. An election may be held, it is indicated, on a compromise basis, giving additional representation on the board of the C. S. Eaton group, and to Bethlehem.

The proxy committee for the meeting includes James A. Campbell, Newton D. Baker and Harold T. Clark, the latter a Cleveland attorney representing Mr. Eaton. Stockholders as of April 5 are entitled to vote.

After paying $1.25 a share in common dividends for the first quarter, the company was able to add 68 cents a share to surplus from the quarter's earnings.

For the first three months, Sheet and Tube shows net earnings from operation, after deducting all expenses, charges for repairs and maintenance of plants and provision for estimated Federal income tax, at $5,434,450, and other income at $529,721. Gross income was $5,964,171. Miscellaneous charges of $556,908.26 were deducted.

Net income was $5,407,263 after deducting provision for depreciation of plants and equipment and depletion of minerals at $1,991,707. Net earnings were $3,415,556 after deducting interest on funded debt at $898,850.

SOUTHERN ICE HOLDERS ORGANIZE FOR MERGER

Committee Will Act in Exchange of Securities Into Associated Gas Certificates.

A committee has been formed to represent holders of Southern Ice and Utilities Company under a plan that provides for the exchange of the company's securities for $1.60 interest-bearing allotment certificates of the Associated Gas and Electric Company.

The committee is composed of Charles P. Couch, Chester A. Fullinwider, John Nickerson, John A. Kerwin, Charles A. Dougherty and Joseph F. McKenna. To consummate the plan the committee has executed a deposit agreement with the Chase National Bank, the First National Bank in Dallas, Texas, and the Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust Company of St. Louis, as subdepositories.

The offer, which will expire May 15 but may be extended to not later than June 14, is for $1.60 interest-bearing allotment certificates of the Associated Gas and Electric Company at $27 each plus accrued interest to holders of Southern Ice and Utilities Company in securities on the following bases: $7 dividend preferred stock, at $99 plus accrued dividends; $7 participating preferred stock, at $93 plus accrued dividends; 6 per cent convertible first mortgage bonds, due 1946, at 99 and accrued interest; five-year 6½ per cent convertible notes, due 1932, at 108 plus accrued interest, and Southern Cities Ice and Utilities allotment certificates at 198 for each unit, plus accrued dividends on the shares of preferred stock represented thereby.

GAS AND ELECTRIC GAINS.

Public Service of New Jersey Reports Demand Holding Up.

"Notwithstanding the let-down in industry generally toward the close of last year, Public Service Electric and Gas Company operations showed satisfactory results for 1929," Thomas N. McCarter, president, said yesterday at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey in describing the outlook as encouraging, based on demands for electric current and gas.

"In both the gas and electric field the company is continuing to do exceptionally well, better in fact than seems to be the case in other sections of the country. Demand for electric energy and gas for industrial and domestic purposes is holding up well.

"As to the transportation end of the business, the company is confronted with a situation which needs adjustment. The transportation problem is one that vitally affects the interest of all New Jersey people, and for its solution the cooperation of the State and municipal authorities, as well as those who use the service, is essential. In this way a permanent result founded upon sound and economic lines can be worked out and the problem settled."

UNITED AIRCRAFT SUES IN N. A. T. FIGHT

Annual Meeting of Keys Interests Charged as Illegal Because of Lack of Quorum.

SPECIAL SESSION CALLED

Reynolds, Former President of the National Air Transport, Reported Aiding Rentschler.

Two new moves were made yesterday by the United Aircraft and Transport Corporation in its fight to wrest control of the National Air Transport Corporation from the C. M. Keys aviation interests.

In Wilmington, Del., where are the offices of National Air Transport, United Aircraft filed a suit in the Court of Chancery asking that the annual meeting of N. A. T., which was held on April 10, be declared void on the ground that the meeting was illegally conducted owing to the alleged failure of a quorum of stockholders to be present. The court issued a rule requiring the defendant company to file an answer by May 9.

The second move of United Aircraft, which was made by its president, F. B. Rentschler, was the issuance of a call for a special meeting of N. A. T. stockholders for May 7. Under the by-laws of N. A. T., any stockholder holding one-fifth or more of the outstanding stock of the company may call a special meeting. Mr. Rentschler said his company owned "far in excess" of the amount required.

At the proposed meeting several changes in by-laws of N. A. T. will be submitted to the stockholders. Approval of these changes, United Aircraft interests believe, would pave the way for ousting the present board of directors of N. A. T., which recently declined to recommend the acceptance of United's offer to exchange one of its shares for each three and one-half shares of N. A. T. stock.

One change proposed by Mr. Rentschler in the N. A. T. by-laws would make it possible to remove any director at any time by the affirmative vote of a majority of the outstanding stock. Another would make all changes in the by-laws not subject to the board of directors, but to action by the stockholders. A third would prevent issuance of additional capital stock subject to the affirmative vote of a majority of the stockholders.

These proposed changes are a defense against the steps taken by the N. A. T. board in recently changing the by-laws so that a two-thirds vote of stockholders is required for the removal of a director. Another change, making one-third of the outstanding stock constitute a quorum, instead of one-half, was also made by the present board. United's action is directed also against the issuance of additional shares of N. A. T. in exchange for certain assets of North American Aviation, a company identified with the C. M. Keys group of corporations.

In his letter to N. A. T. stockholders, Mr. Rentschler revealed that E. H. Reynolds, former president of N. A. T., who was succeeded by Mr. Keys on April 15, had agreed to exchange his personal holdings of N. A. T. stock for United's stock and had endeavored to urge directors of N. A. T. to recommend that other stockholders accept the exchange offer.

Reporter Becomes Partner in Firm.

Peter J. Murphy, connected for several years with The Wall Street Journal, will become a partner on May 1 in the New York Stock Exchange firm of E. S. Smithers & Co. Mr. Murphy has been referred to as the "millionaire reporter." He is reputed to have made a large fortune in the stock market, largely in the shares of Montgomery Ward & Co., in which concern he is a large stockholder. He has been in charge of the oil department of The Wall Street Journal.

CORPORATION REPORTS

United Biscuit Company.

The United Biscuit Company of America and subsidiaries report for the quarter ended on March 31 a net profit of $487,747 after charges and Federal taxes, equivalent, after dividend requirements on 7 per cent preferred stock, to 94 cents a share on 486,230 shares of no-par common stock. This compares with $399,822, or 80 cents a share on 458,054 common shares, in the first quarter of 1929.

Hudson Motor Car.

The Hudson Motor Car Company reports for the quarter ended on March 31 a net income of $2,316,945 after depreciation, Federal taxes and other charges, equivalent to $1.45 a share on 1,596,660 no-par shares of stock. This compares with $4,567,783, or $2.86 a share, in the first quarter of 1929.

Scott Paper Company.

The report of the Scott Paper Company for the quarter ended on March 30 shows a net profit of $284,564 after depreciation, Federal taxes and other charges, equivalent after dividend requirements on the preferred shares to $1.57 a share on 155,998 common shares. This compares with $219,964, $1.16 a share on 153,000 common shares, in the corresponding quarter of 1929.

Edison Brothers Stores.

Edison Brothers Stores, Inc., report for the year ended on Jan. 31 net profits of $230,223 after depreciation and Federal taxes, a new high record for the company. After allowing for preferred dividends, the profits were equal to $1.70 a share earned on 110,000 shares of common stock outstanding. Sales for the year aggregated $3,778,460.

Continental-Diamond Fibre.

Net consolidated income of the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company for 1929 was $1,917,887 after all charges, including depreciation and provision for income taxes, equivalent to $4.26 a share on 450,000 shares of capital stock. Sales, less returns, allowances, &c., amounted to $10,597,441, while gross profit after deducting the cost of sales, depreciation of buildings, machinery and equipment, was $3,432,551.

Trans-Lux Daylight Picture Screen.

The Trans-Lux Daylight Picture Screen Corporation reports for the quarter ended on March 31 a net profit of $121,844, against $88,071 for the corresponding quarter of last year, an increase of nearly 40 per cent.

Jordan Motor Car.

The Jordan Motor Car Company alone reports for 1929 a net loss of $385,066, while Jordan Distributors, Inc., a subsidiary, reports one of $298,342, making a consolidated net loss of $652,408 for the year. Consolidated current assets amounted to $1,262,880 and current liabilities to $369,014, against $1,831,538 and $231,873, respectively, at the end of 1928.

In his remarks to stockholders, Edward S. Jordan, president, said: "For six consecutive months, from February to July inclusive, our factory operated at a net profit. Our business in 1929 followed general business conditions in the country, but decline in business occasioned by the stock market slump in the Fall resulted in operating losses which offset these earnings."

Penn-Mex Fuel Company.

The Penn-Mex Fuel Company, controlled by the South Penn Oil Company, reports for 1929 a net profit of $283,510 after expenses, depreciation, depletion, taxes and other charges, equivalent to 71 cents a share on 400,000 shares of stock. This compares with $1,965,701, or $4.91 a share, in 1928.

Intertype Corporation.

The Intertype Corporation reports for the three months ended on March 31 a net income of $175,489 after depreciation and reserve for taxes, equivalent to 77 cents a share. This compares with $195,698, equivalent to 86 cents a share, in the first three months of 1928.

Addressograph International.

The Addressograph International Corporation reports for 1929 a net income of $1,730,380, excluding the profit of European subsidiaries and before Federal taxes but after depreciation, development, patent expense, interest and discounts. This compares with a net income of $815,408 in 1928. Share earnings in 1929 were equivalent to $3.03 a share and in 1928 to $1.38.

Current assets on Dec. 31, 1929, were $4,394,849 and current liabilities $934,258. Total assets were $10,176,239.

Foundation Company.

The Foundation Company reports for 1929 a net profit of $195,019, including non-recurring profit from the sale of its stock in the Foundation Company of Canada, Ltd. This profit is after expenses, depreciation and other charges and is equivalent to $1.95 a share on the no-par stock. It compares with a net profit of $310,206, equivalent to $3.10 a share, in 1928. The balance sheet of Dec. 31, 1929, shows assets of $6,983,291.

Safety Car Heating and Lighting.

The Safety Car Heating and Lighting Company reports for 1929 a net profit of $1,186,365 after charges, depreciation and taxes, equivalent to $12.03 a share on the no-par capital stock. This compares with $1,045,375, equivalent to $10.60 a share, in 1928.

Warner-Quinlan Company.

The Warner-Quinlan Company reports for 1929 a net profit of $1,722,955, including net interest in earnings of the Municipal Service Corporation from April 1 to Dec. 31, 1929, and after depreciation, depletion, interest and Federal taxes. This is equivalent to $2.96 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year and to $2.72 a share on the number outstanding at the end of the year. The company charged out of these earnings $358,000 to adjust the inventory of storage of crude oil valued at the market on Dec. 31 to give effect to the reduction in price on Jan. 15, 1930. After this deduction the earnings were equivalent to $2.34 a share on the average number outstanding during the year, or $2.15 a share on the number outstanding at the end of the year. In 1928 earnings were $1,413,735, equivalent, after preferred dividend requirements, to $3.68 on the average number of shares outstanding during the year, or to $2.69 a share on the number outstanding at the end of it.

British Empire Steel.

MONTREAL, Que., April 21 (Canadian Press).—The British Empire Steel Corporation's consolidated statement for 1929 shows an operating profit of $6,046,647, compared with $4,187,403 in 1928. The net profit after depreciation, depletion and bond interest was $2,226,635, against $855,938.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED BY CORPORATIONS

Wade Fetzer on Fidelity-Phenix Fire Insurance Board—New Investment Banking Firm.

Several companies announced changes in their directorates and personnel yesterday.

The Chemical Bank and Trust Company announced the election of John H. Towne, secretary and director of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company, as a member of the advisory board of the Forty-sixth Street and Madison Avenue Branch of the bank.

Ernest Sturm, chairman of the board of the Fidelity-Phenix Fire Insurance Company, announced the election of Wade Fetzer, president of the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York, as a member of the Fidelity-Phenix board.

The appointment of W. C. Billings to the position of assistant to the president of the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York was announced by Mr. Fetzer.

Announcement has been made of the formation of a new investment banking firm, Lyon, Pruyn & Co., which will transact a general investment business, including the originating and underwriting of securities. The new partnership will succeed to the securities business of Weber, Lyon & Co., Inc.

Avery D. Byler, vice president and general manager of the Edison Electric Appliance Corporation, was elected yesterday chairman of the board of the Walker Dishwasher Corporation to succeed H. P. Wickes. Other officers of the corporation were re-elected.

The election of two new directors of the Calumet and Arizona Mining Company to succeed Chester Hoatson and J. E. Fisher, who recently resigned, was announced yesterday. The new directors are Henry De Witt Smith and Henry Krumb, both of whom are connected with the Newmont Mining Company, Mr. Smith as vice president and Mr. Krumb as engineer. Newmont Mining, a holding and investing company which specializes in mining shares, is reported to have acquired a large interest in Calumet and Arizona, ranging from 60,000 to 100,000 shares.

NEW DIVIDEND PLAN IN MISSOURI PACIFIC

Van Sweringens Expected to Oppose It to Board's Project for Arrears on Preferred.

TO GUARD COMMON STOCK

Reported in Favor of Settling Back Payments With Preferred—May Name Directors.

A belief that O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen will oppose the plan of the Missouri Pacific for the payment of arrears of dividends on its preferred stock, and will put forward a different plan was expressed in railroad circles yesterday. Disclosure that the Alleghany Corporation, a Van Sweringen holding company, controlled Missouri Pacific through holdings of 47.8 per cent of voting stock was recently made. Since that time speculation has been rife as to what extent the Van Sweringens would assert their voice in the management of the road. The statement made yesterday indicates they will exercise control in definite fashion.

The plan said to be under consideration by the Van Sweringens calls for the payment of both dividends on preferred stock with a new class of preferred instead of by common stock, as has been suggested to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Missouri Pacific management. The plan attributed to the Van Sweringens would prevent dilution of the common stock which would result from operation of the management's plan.

Arrears on Missouri Pacific 5 per cent convertible cumulative preferred $100 par stock total $48.25 a share. These arrears would be defrayed in the reported Van Sweringen plan by the issuance of a new $100 par non-convertible preferred stock. Since the present preferred has sold as high as 149 and now sells around 135, the terms of the offering would be adjusted either in the exchange rate or the interest rate or both. Eventually, when all the present preferred was converted into common, there would be only two classes of stock in the road's capital structure. The new preferred would probably be callable and might in turn eventually be eliminated.

Directors of the Missouri Pacific have asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve the issuance of common stock to pay preferred dividend arrears. The plan contemplates the offering, in compliance with the law, of $38,659,900 additional common stock in the ratio of one share for four held to holders of preferred and common stock, at par, the lowest price at which it is issuable. The $34,643,548 proceeds from this transaction would be used to pay preferred accumulations. The effect of the plan would be the distribution of $48.25 a share in common stock to preferred stockholders, except that they would receive in place of stock whatever cash was received through subscriptions under the offer by common stockholders.

The present plan was approved by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers for the Missouri Pacific, before its submission to the commission. It is believed, however, that the reported new plan will meet the approval of the bankers. J. P. Morgan & Co. have been bankers for the Van Sweringens throughout their railroad career, but the Clevelanders have shown a disposition to leave the banking arrangements of the Missouri Pacific unchanged.

The Alleghany Corporation is understood to have bought control of the Missouri Pacific in the open market and not to have purchased it from individuals. For this reason the Gould interests still remain. At the annual meeting on May 13 the Van Sweringens are due to elect representatives on the Missouri Pacific board who will replace several of the present incumbents.

OPEN 'MOP' STOCK HEARING

Missouri Commissioners Considers Van Sweringen Plea.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 21 (AP).—Hearing of the application by the Alleghany Corporation of Cleveland, holding company controlled by the Van Sweringen interests, for authority to acquire in excess of 10 per cent of the stock of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company as one of their moves in forming a transcontinental railway system, was begun before the Missouri Public Service Commission today.

The case is important in that should the commission sanction the transfer of control of the capital stock, the transfer would not be affected by any future legislation by Congress to regulate railroad mergers or holding companies, such as now being advocated in Washington.

The Van Sweringens are reported to have acquired or negotiated the purchase of about 53 per cent of the Missouri Pacific stock.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway is expected to show for March a decrease of $1,000,000 from the $12,016,000 gross earned in March, 1929. The surplus after charges last month is expected to be about $200,000 below the $861,000 reported in March, 1929.

Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie.

Net loss of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway in March was $625,000 after taxes and charges, against a net loss of $298,000 in March, 1929.

Phone Calls From Mexico City Cut $1.50 to Cities Here

Telephone calls from Mexico City to New York City will be reduced from $12.25 to $10.75 for a three-minute conversation, effective on Thursday, it was announced yesterday, as a result of reductions by the Mexican Telephone and Telegraph Company on its rates for international calls. This decrease follows three reductions on calls to Mexico made by the Bell System in the last three years.

International calls to all United States points from Mexico City will be reduced $1.50 in station-to-station rate for three-minute conversations.

SCHULTE MINORITY HITS MANAGEMENT

Criticism at Annual Meeting Brings Reply, Revealing Big Cut in Officers' Pay.

OTHER ECONOMIES RELATED

Eisner Blames Cigarette Price War for Income Showing—Tells of Competition.

Minority stockholders of the Schulte Retail Stores Corporation sharply criticized the management at the annual meeting of the stockholders yesterday, but made little headway when the vote was taken. The management held proxies for 513,527 shares, against 6,900 by the minority, and re-elected officers and directors for the ensuing year. D. A. Schulte, president of the nation-wide tobacco chain, was not present at the meeting. Jerome Eisner, a director of the corporation, presided in his stead.

Challenged by a minority stockholder on the question of economies effected, Mr. Eisner disclosed that a drastic cut in officers' salaries for 1930 had been made, staffs of employes had been reduced, the system of bonuses for employes involving $180,000 annually had been discontinued, and the tobacco coupon system abolished.

He announced that the salary of D. A. Schulte, president, had been reduced from $104,000 to $45,000; that of L. Goldfogle, vice president, from $50,000 to $33,000; J. M. Schulte, vice president, from $33,000 to $15,000; Arthur S. Meyer, vice president in charge of real estate, from $50,000 to $24,000; Harry Goldfogle, vice president, from $33,000 to $24,000, and Ugo M. Reinach, from $33,000 to nothing. Mr. Eisner estimated total economies effected at $500,000.

Mr. Eisner laid the blame for the poor showing of the company in 1929 to the door of the cigarette price war. The earnings of the company for 1929, which were recently announced, showed the net profit as $1,072,211, equivalent to $1.49 a share on the common stock, compared with $5,243,711, or $3.96 a share, in 1928. Mr. Eisner explained that the popular-priced cigarettes cost the company 11.3 cents a package, or $1.13 a carton, and by selling two packages for 25 cents the gross profit amounted to only 9 per cent and the net profit to 4 per cent. When the cigarettes are retailed by the carton at $1.20 the gross profit is only 5 per cent.

The inroads made by the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company with its chain of some 15,000 stores have been such, said Mr. Eisner, that it has become the most active factor operating against an increase in retail cigarette prices. He estimated that the Schulte and United Cigar Store chains combined did only about 7 per cent of the total cigarette business of the country. He pointed out that grocery chains and department stores could afford to take losses on cigarettes for advertising purposes, whereas the tobacco chain depended largely on the sale of cigarettes for its revenues.

Continental Can's English Deal.

The Continental Can Company, Inc., has acquired an interest in the Metal Box and Printing Industries, Ltd., the largest group in the English container industry, it was announced yesterday.

MALTBIE SUGGESTS STEAM STOCK PLAN

New York Corporation Would Market Issue by Public Letting and Tender of Bids.

IDEA HELD 'REVOLUTIONARY'

Public Service Board Head Offers It in Form of Question at Hearing—Not Favorably Received.

A stock sale plan called 'revolutionary'' by one of the witnesses was suggested yesterday in questions asked by Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the Public Service Commission, at a continuation of hearings on the application of the New York Steam Corporation to issue 112,000 new shares of common stock. Commissioner Maltbie asked witnesses whether they had considered marketing the stock by public letting and a sealed tender of bids.

Frederick R. Bauer, of the brokerage firm of Bauer, Pogue, Pond and Vivian, terming the idea "revolutionary," said he knew of no case in this country in which a similar issue of additional common stock by a public utility had been so disposed of, and expressed the opinion that the plan would be prejudicial to the pre-emptive rights of the stockholders to subscribe to additional stock. Allen G. Hoyt, vice president of the National City Bank and director of the New York Steam Corporation, declared that this method would "depopularize" the issuing of stock and make it more costly for public utilities to obtain capital.

Commissioner Maltbie made the suggestion only in the form of a question, and did not indicate his own view, but he asked both witnesses their opinion of the plan and questioned them as to their knowledge of the financing methods of the Toronto Gas and Electric Company and certain English utilities. He also referred to the methods by which municipalities obtain capital, and the Interstate Commerce Commission's policies as to the issuance of equipment trust certificates.

The commissioner indicated a possible reason for his questions when, after the testimony of Mr. Bauer, he referred to the "troublesome" matter of fixing a basis for the subscription value of a new issue of a stock on which the market value fluctuates widely.

A large part of the testimony concerned the question of whether the rights issued to stockholders would be completely taken up by them, or whether some would be left unpurchased, and the fixing of a fair basis upon which to issue the new stock. The petition originally provided for issuing $5,600,000 worth of common stock in 14,000 shares of no-par value at $400 each. Because of objections by minority stockholders, the petition was amended to provide for 112,000 shares of no-par value, issued at $50 each.

The corporation has outstanding 30,000 shares of common stock of no-par value, of which the Consolidated Gas Company is a principal holder, it was testified. The stock is now quoted at between $500 and $600 a share, but there is little trading in it, according to Mr. Bauer.

Have You a Sales Problem?

A nationally known sales manager and sales consultant, having just completed assignments in the Middle West, offers his services to some individual, group, or corporation now being faced with an unusually difficult sales situation for which general direction or assistance of a high type is required.

He has a rich background of well diversified experience acquired as general sales manager or sales consultant for corporations—well known because of their size or importance as national advertisers. His record of accomplishment is substantial and will justify his confidence in his ability to handle any work in which definite knowledge of the essentials of business-getting is necessary.

He is keen minded, of balanced judgment, and analytical in his methods. He is a student of modern trends and appreciates today's need for more advanced selling and marketing methods. Being a progressive of high initiative and originality of thought, he is capable of taking a business out of routine channels into high ground.

Altho now interested primarily in securing a permanent connection, he will consider, under certain conditions, a temporary assignment as a sales consultant. He is not a low-priced man and prefers part of compensation on some contingent basis. He is 40 years of age.

Inquiries for further information or suggesting interview will be regarded as confidential.

Please address "ADVERTISER." Box R 30, Times.

COTTON PRICES SAG IN LIGHT OPERATIONS

Nearness of Notice Day and Easter Closing in Liverpool Act as Brakes on Trading.

DROP IN SPINNERS' TAKINGS

Grade and Staple Report Shows Increase in Amount of Crop Below Contract Basis.

With the Liverpool market still closed for the Easter holiday and only three more trading sessions before notices on Friday, the volume of business on the Cotton Exchange yesterday was the smallest in several weeks' time. Further evening up of outstanding obligations in May supplied enough contracts to cause a lower range of prices, and after opening about unchanged the list declined a dollar a bale.

Breaks in the grain and stock markets helped to close the cotton list at the bottom, 15 to 23 points off on the day. May sold 13 to 15 points under July and 60 points or more above October. During the month of April the May delivery has ruled under October only once in the last ten years.

A Washington official report showed that, while the crop of 1929 was 250,000 bales above that of 1928, the deliverable cotton on contract was 726,000 bales under those of the previous year. It was brought out that 75.5 per cent of the crop, or 10,995,000 bales, was tenderable on contract, compared with 52.2 per cent, or 11,724,000 bales, in 1928. There were 3,521,000 bales below contract requirements, against 2,544,000 in the previous crop. The Department of Agriculture reported also the world's cotton production as 26,200,000, against 25,900,000 in the previous year.

As the drought in the Southwest has been only partly relieved, interest was centred in weather developments. Virtually no moisture was reported in Texas for four days. In Oklahoma twenty-three stations received moisture, with five showing a half inch or more, the first general precipitation in that State in several weeks.

Week-end figures showed spinners' takings were 38,000 bales under those of the corresponding week last year and for the season 1,280,000 below. The world's visible supply of American cotton decreased 135,000 bales, compared with 143,000 last year, and the supply of all kinds lost 33,000 bales, against a decrease of 110,000 a year ago.

COTTON SPINNING IS LOWER.

Decline Shown From January and February.

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP).—Cotton spinning in March showed a decline, as compared with February and January this year and also from March last year. On a single-shift basis, the Census Bureau today reported, the average number of spindles were operated at 92.8 per cent capacity, as compared with 97.7 per cent capacity in February and 100.3 per cent in January this year and 109.3 per cent in March last year.

Active spindle hours in March totaled 7,350,377,700, or an average of 214 hours per spindle in place, compared with 7,091,385,449 and 205 in February this year and 8,909,996,339 and 252 in March last year.

Spinning spindles in place March 31 totaled 34,317,498, of which 28,898,464 were operated at some time during the month, compared with 35,305,908 and 31,103,998 in March last year.

The average number of spindles operated during March was 31,836,355, compared with 33,742,793 in February this year and 38,591,460 in March last year.

COTTON EXCHANGE PLANS WOOL DEALS

Broader Business, Fewer Risks and Less Capital Tied Up Are Advantages Outlined.

TO HOLD BOSTON MEETING

Clearing House Here, Arbitration Board and Standard Contract Are Proposed.

Declaring that establishment of a wool futures market will enable the wool trade to do a broader business, with less capital tied up and with a minimum of risk, the special committee on wool of the New York Cotton Exchange, of which John J. Pflieger is chairman, submitted yesterday a report outlining a preliminary plan for trading in wool for future delivery on the Exchange. Should the proposal meet with sufficient approval of the wool trade, it is planned to hold a general meeting with the wool trade in Boston to discuss the proposed contract.

"Perhaps the wool trade does not fully appreciate the stabilizing influence on prices of the trading operations of the investing public, which by its purchases at times of overproduction and sales at times of scarcity confines fluctuations within more reasonable limits," the report says.

The committee suggests the establishment of a clearing house in New York to facilitate the adjustment of contracts entered into between members; an arbitration board, to be located permanently in Boston, and a standard type contract of as unalterable a character as possible.

It is suggested that the differentials should be as narrow as practicable and that the contract should allow the delivery of the highest percentage of American and foreign tops, wool in a semi-manufactured State. An oil-combed average domestic 64's top of average length and average color is proposed as a standard. The unit of trading the committee names.

"The New York Cotton Exchange proposes the use of its facilities for trading in a wool top contract and dissemination of appropriate statistical information. It invites the cooperation of the wool trade in establishing just and equitable rules to govern trading, to maintain a committee of experts in Boston which will determine the exact value of the tops offered for tender and to license suitable combers as well as warehouses as proper depositors for tenderable stocks. It proposes also that to the trade will be offered such inducements that its association with us will be assured."

LATE SELLING LOWERS COUNTER STOCK PRICES

Bank and Insurance Shares and Industrials Weaker at Close —Bonds Quiet.

Selling pressure at the close brought a decline in over-the-counter securities trading yesterday after a comparatively quiet opening. Bank stocks shared in the general movement, losses appearing in County, Brooklyn Trust, Bank of New York and Trust, Commercial National, Guaranty, Lefcourt, City, Central Hanover, Corn Exchange, Bankers, Bank of U. S., Manhattan, Irving, Equitable, Continental, New York Trust and Interstate.

Insurance shares were also weak, but were quiet until late in the day. Globe and Rutgers, United States Merchants and Shippers, Aetna Casualty and Surety, Northern, National Casualty and others weakened, while Automobile, Home Fire and Marine and Firemen's Fund were strong.

The industrial group was lower. Chain stores, communications and bonds were quiet, showing little change. Investment trust common stocks weakened, while preferred issues remained in good demand.

Decrease in Loans and Investments Reported by Member Banks to Board

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Federal Reserve Board's condition statement of weekly reporting member banks in leading cities on April 16 shows increases for the week of $32,000,000 in loans and investments and $175,000,000 in net demand deposits and decreases of $34,000,000 in time deposits, $32,000,000 in government deposits and $10,000,000 in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks.

Loans on securities increased $75,000,000 at all reporting banks, the principal increases being $36,000,000 in the New York district, $21,000,000 in the Chicago district, $19,000,000 in the Boston district and $13,000,000 in the San Francisco district. "All other" loans declined $27,000,000 in the New York district, $7,000,000 in the Boston district, $6,000,000 in the San Francisco district, $5,000,000 each in the Cleveland and Atlanta districts and $59,000,000 at all reporting banks.

Holdings of United States Government securities increased $13,000,000 in the New York district and $11,000,000 at all reporting banks, while holdings of other securities increased $5,000,000.

The principal changes in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks for the week were a decline of $16,000,000 at New York and an increase of $6,000,000 at Chicago.

Harbison-Walker Reports.

The Harbison-Walker Refractories Company reports for the quarter ended on March 31 a net profit of $1,436,000 after depreciation, depletion and Federal taxes, equivalent, after dividend requirements on 6 per cent preferred stock, to 96 cents a share of 1,440,000 no-par shares of common stock. This compares with $1,190,000, or 80 cents a share, in the first quarter of 1929.

SALES DROP WHEAT AS SUPPORT FADES

Late Rally Fails to Last Long, With Finish ⅜ to ⅞ Cent Lower, Led by May.

BREAK IN CORN IS HEAVY

Cash Purchases Offset Pressure, Lessening Decline in Oats—Rye Also Is Down.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 21.—While most traders here lean toward the selling side of wheat, there is sufficient in the news to cause them to buy on the breaks. A decline of about 1½ cents at one time today resulted from local and commission house pressure which found support lacking, but when the selling subsided the market rallied quickly and closed ⅜ to ⅞ cent lower, with May leading.

Scattered liquidation appeared in the latter on all minor upturns, and pit observers said much of it represented selling by longs, who were gradually getting out. At the same time there was not the replacing in the deferred futures that had been so much in evidence of late.

The situation, taken as a whole, is not such as to be reflected in aggressive operations on the bull side, as the dry area in Kansas and Oklahoma has been materially reduced and only about 10 per cent of the total acreage for the country will need any rain for several days. Deterioration is reported in sections that have failed to receive moisture so far, but improvement is shown elsewhere. Spring wheat seeding is progressing, messages from South Dakota expressing the belief that the anticipated reduction in the area would fail to materialize.

End of $1.20 Farm Board Loans.

Minneapolis reported that the government would cease lending money to farmers at the Farm Board level of $1.20. Many loans were made earlier in the season at $1.25 but the basis was reduced later.

At the finish today No. 1 Northern in Minneapolis was as much as 24 cents under the basis, and as the loans mature on June 30 it is expected that the ownership of the grain will pass from farmers to the government. How much loss will be taken by the government cannot be determined, as no statement regarding the amount has ever been given out, but it is understood that a substantial sum was given to the cooperatives.

A decrease of 3,925,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply suggested that millers are having a fair flour trade as relatively small quantities are going for export. Total stocks are down to 139,504,000 bushels, against 143,519,000 the previous week and 118,246,000 in the week last year. The reductions had little effect on the market. The trade has become reconciled to the prospect that the carryover at the end of the season will be approximately that of a year ago, 245,000,000 bushels.

Aside from short covering or a marked revival in foreign demand, there appears little in the news to bring in aggressive buying. Forecasts for frost tonight in Kansas and Nebraska met statements that the crop is not far enough advanced in growth to be materially damaged.

European markets were closed today and the foreign demand for cash wheat was slow. Winnipeg closed 1½ cents lower than on Thursday, while Buenos Aires was 1½ to 1⅝ cents lower than Wednesday's finish.

Primary receipts were 717,000 bushels; a week ago, 685,000, and the week last year, 855,000. Shipments were 522,000 bushels; a week ago, 443,000, and a year ago, 407,000.

Liquidation Active in Corn.

Liquidation has been hanging over the corn market for several days and the uncovering today of stop-loss orders resulted in a break of 2½ to 3 cents, with the finish at net losses of 2¼ to 2½ cents. A slow cash demand from the East had some effect, but this is not surprising, as part of the 800,000 bushels put afloat from here remains unsold. Plowing and planting are making rapid progress, with indications of a good increase in acreage.

The visible supply of corn increased 261,000 bushels for the week to 23,641,000, against 23,380,000 the previous week and 30,853,000 in the week last year.

Primary receipts were 819,000 bushels; a week ago, 1,843,000, and the week last year, 725,000. Shipments were 1,408,000 bushels; a week ago, 723,000, and the week last year, 620,000.

Oats were dull and averaged lower with corn, but buying by cash interests offset largely the pressure from local operators and the finish was at net losses of ⅛ to ½ cent.

Rye finished ⅜ to ⅝ cent lower, with scattered liquidation in the May. Buying of rye against sales of corn helped to support the former.

Prices for the principal grains were as follows:

EARNINGS REPORTED BY WESTINGHOUSE

RADIO LINES NOT INCLUDED

Orders for Other Products Were Greater Than a Year Ago, It Is Announced.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company announced yesterday that its net profit for the first quarter of 1930, after interest charges, depreciation, taxes and reserves, was $4,546,618, equivalent to $1.75 a share on 2,587,226 common shares. This compares with $5,631,700, or $2.21 on 2,666,315 shares in the corresponding period of 1929, and with $3,958,344 in the first quarter of 1928.

Orders received during the first three months of 1930 totaled $47,150,196, compared with $59,852,029 in 1929 and $47,847,477 in 1928. Sales billed in the quarter amounted to $45,043,934, compared with $45,680,249 last year and $45,449,794 in 1928.

The orders received and the statement of income for the three months ended on March 31 include none of the company's radio business, it was announced. The following explanation of this new policy was issued by the company:

"As announced in the last annual report to the stockholders, the manufacture and sale of radio receiving sets and radio tubes was transferred as of Jan. 1, 1930, to separate corporations, in exchange for an appropriate stock interest in those corporations. The orders received during the quarter ended March 31, 1930, for products other than radio products exceed the value of orders for similar products booked during the first quarter of the previous year."

DIGIORGIO FRUIT SELLS AMERICAN FRUIT STOCK

Vaccaro Interests, Purchasers, Will Furnish Ships to Bring Company's Products North.

With the issuance of its annual report yesterday the DiGiorgio Fruit Corporation announced that it had disposed of its stock interest in the American Fruit and Steamship Corporation to the Vaccaro interests but had retained its contract with the Jamaica Banana Producers Association, Ltd., and the business comprehended under it, including a half interest engaged in the passenger and freight business between Jamaica and European ports. The Vaccaro interests will supply the boats necessary to transport the bananas of the DiGiorgio company to the United States and will provide the supplementary source of bananas in connection with the European operations.

The proceeds will be used for the retirement of the following capital liabilities of the DiGiorgio company and its subsidiaries: $2,250,000 par value of outstanding preferred stock of DiGiorgio company; $4,214,200 par value, the entire amount, of outstanding preferred stock of International Fruit Corporation; $1,000,000 of five-year 7 per cent notes of International Fruit Corporation and approximately $2,250,000 of funded debt of subsidiaries.

The company and its subsidiaries in 1929 showed a profit of $696,915. Current assets at the end of the year were $3,591,972, current liabilities $1,488,124 and total assets $30,449,201.

Terms for Famous Players Deal.

TORONTO, Ont., April 21 (Canadian Press).—Four shares of Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation of New York for five shares of Famous Players Canadian Corporation is the basis of the offer made by the United States interests for the purchase of the Canadian corporation, the directors of which have recommended acceptance of the offer by the shareholders. In a dispatch from Toronto on April 17 it was stated erroneously that the terms of the offer were five shares of the United States corporation for four shares of the Canadian.

Baird Television Development Co., Ltd. and Baird International Television, Ltd.

Scheme of Amalgamation Approved.

Sir Mark Jenkinson's Difficult Task

Sir Edward Manville on Progress of Television

A series of meetings of the shareholders in Baird Television Development Company, Ltd., and Baird International Television, Ltd., was held on April 7th, at River Plate House, Finsbury-circus, E.C., to consider resolutions approving a scheme of amalgamation of the interests of the two undertakings.

Sir Edward Manville, the Chairman, presided at the meetings of the Baird Television Development Co., Ltd., and in moving the necessary resolutions at the meeting of the shareholders, said: Gentlemen, when the annual meeting of the company was held on December 19th last, the meeting was adjourned to enable a considered scheme of fusion between the two companies to be placed before the shareholders, which it was hoped might be done before the end of February. When the scheme was finally produced, as special resolutions are required to be passed by both companies, it involved three weeks' notice to the shareholders. In addition, certain legal formalities before the Court had to be complied with, which will explain why this meeting has been held at least a month later than had been hoped.

NOTEWORTHY SCIENTIFIC ACHIEVEMENT

Since the last annual meeting the energies of the companies had been chiefly concentrated on the perfection of Television. A successful demonstration was given before the Postmaster-General and a representative committee, which the Postmaster-General justly, I think, described as a noteworthy scientific achievement. We started regular vision transmission on the 30th September last, and on the occasion of the first public broadcast on that date we received from the President of the Board of Trade a message in the course of which he stated:—

"I look to this new applied science to encourage and provide a new industry, not only for Britain and the British Empire, but for the whole world.

"This new industry will provide employment for large numbers of our people, and will prove the prestige of British creative energy.

"In this first public broadcast we have a beginning which will be historic in the evolution not only of a science but of an art which will encourage closer relations between communities at home and abroad, and provide a new avenue for educational development."

BROADCASTS FROM BROOKMAN'S PARK

That these transmissions even at the beginning were very successful may be gauged by the fact that within a very short time we were granted two extra half-hours per week, and the second circuit at Brookman's Park having come into public use during the last few weeks we were granted the use of the second wave length at that station, enabling us to transmit a programme of combined vision and speech, which took place for the first time only a week ago, on March 31 last. This marks an epoch in the development of our system. Now that the company's "Televisors" are on sale, we hope that the public demand for these transmissions will be such as shortly to justify the B.B.C. in the inclusion of them during the ordinary broadcasting hours. A "Televisor" was installed at 10, Downing-st., London, on March 31, to receive the first public transmission of Television combined with speech and music, which was witnessed by members of the Prime Minister's family and others. A demonstration was given to the Prime Minister and several members of the Naval Delegation on April 1. During the reception favourable comments were made by all present on the clarity of the transmission.

Mr. MacDonald made reference to possible applications in relation to broadcasting of vision with sound coincident with events of national and international importance.

At the conclusion of the transmission, the Prime Minister expressed his appreciation, and asked that a message of thanks be conveyed to Mr. Baird for the facilities afforded, together with his best wishes for the continued success of the experiments.

"TELEVISORS" ON SALE

I have already mentioned that "Televisors" are now available for purchase by the public. A large number are now coming into our hands from the manufacturers, which are being placed on the market by various prominent dealers in radio apparatus, and, whilst these are being sold by us in order to satisfy the first demands of the public, it is our intention, if possible, to work in close cooperation with the manufacturers engaged in the radio industry. In this connection not only will complete "Televisors" be marketed, but also kits of parts for these sets, which are so much in demand by the amateur constructor.

We are constructing a short-wave transmission station outside London, which will, it is anticipated, enable us to transmit vision at all times of the day, without interference with the B.B.C., and indeed it is possible that we may come to an arrangement with that body to televise some of those singing or speaking in their studio.

WORLD LEADERSHIP

It is very gratifying to us that in this way we have maintained our leadership in the world of television. Not only were we the first to demonstrate television, but we were the first to transmit an image across the Atlantic, to transmit to a liner in mid-ocean, to demonstrate television in colour and in stereoscopic relief, television without the aid of artificial light, television without visible light, and we have now maintained our leadership by the first regular public dual-broadcasting service of vision and speech. In almost every direction we have been first in the field, and, indeed, our claim to priority in the practical achievement of television is recognised throughout the world.

In Germany we have formed a company in partnership with three concerns of first-class importance to develop the Baird system in that country. The firms are the Bosch Magneto Company, the Zeiss-Ikon Company and the Loewe Radio Company. Television in Germany is at present being broadcast from one of the Government broadcasting stations, but so far has been limited to the transmission of cinema films.

We recognise that the success we believe we are achieving in this country in the broadcasting of television proper will be the keystone to the progress which we trust will take place in other countries in Europe, and in the meantime we have laid foundations for progress following on the public success which we hope to achieve here.

SCHEME FOR FUSION

The chairman then explained the capitalisation proposed for the new company and the contemplated allocation of the shares respectively to the shareholders of the combining companies, and continuing said: The fusion of interests automatically gives the shareholders of the Development Company a proportional use of the cash resources of the International Company, and the "B" shareholders are to relinquish their rights of control, a matter which I regard as being of the greatest importance for the future development of your company. I have no hesitation in recommending the scheme to you for your approval

When the joint boards invited Sir Mark Jenkinson to suggest a basis for fusion their object was to obtain an unbiased opinion of the terms upon which an amalgamation could be effected. The two boards are extremely grateful to him for undertaking this difficult and troublesome task, and for the care and ability which he has devoted to the formulation of the scheme. This scheme has been considered most carefully by your board in consultation with certain representative shareholders, and as a result has been adopted in its entirety as a fair and equitable solution of a difficult problem.

The result of the voting will be announced later.

THE "INTERNATIONAL" MEETINGS

At an extraordinary general meeting of Baird International Television, Ltd., and also at a meeting of the holders of "A" shares, held later in the day, the scheme was approved.

The Rt. Hon. Lord Ampthill, G.C.S.I., G.C.I.E. (the Chairman), presided, and, addressing the shareholders, repeated, in substance, the remarks of Sir Edward Manville at the earlier meetings of the Baird Television Development Company.

The adjourned annual general meeting followed, at which the report and account were adopted and the formal business was transacted.

Plan for Exchange of Southern Ice and Utilities Company Securities

In connection with a Plan which has been formed for the exchange of securities, including those of the classes hereinafter mentioned, of Southern Ice and Utilities Company for $1.60 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates of Associated Gas and Electric Company, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, the undersigned have consented to act as a Committee representing the holders of such securities of the Southern Company with respect to the consummation of such Plan.

The Plan offers to each holder of securities of the Southern Company, of the several classes hereinbelow mentioned, an opportunity of receiving, upon the consummation of the Plan in respect to the securities comprised in such class, $1.60 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates (hereinafter called "$1.60 Allotment Certificates") of the Associated Company upon the following bases, respectively:

For Preferred Stock, $7 Dividend Series, at $99 per share, plus accrued dividends, $1.60 Allotment Certificates, at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

For Preferred Stock, Participating $7 Series, at the rate of $93 per share, plus accrued dividends, $1.60 Allotment Certificates, at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

For First Mortgage Gold Bonds Convertible 6% Series, due February 1, 1946, at 99% of the principal amount thereof, plus accrued interest, $1.60 Allotment Certificates, at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

For Five-Year 6½% Convertible Gold Notes, due December 1, 1932 at 108% of the principal amount thereof, plus accrued interest, $1.60 Allotment Certificates at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

For Allotment Certificates for shares of Preferred Stock, Participating $7 Series and Class A Common Stock, having attached Class A Common Stock Purchase Warrants, at the rate of $198 for each unit of 2 shares of Preferred Stock and 1 share of Class A Common Stock represented by any such Allotment Certificate, plus accrued dividends on the shares of Preferred Stock represented thereby, $1.60 Allotment Certificates, at the rate of $27 per certificate, plus accrued interest.

Accrued interest on $1.60 Allotment Certificates and accrued dividends and/or interest on deposited securities of any class shall be computed as of the date that the Plan shall become or have been declared operative as to any such class of deposited securities.

The Plan shall become effective with respect to the securities of any one of said classes, but only with respect to the particular class, if and when, but only in the event that, there shall be deposited with the Depositaries hereinafter named, prior to May 15, 1930 or by such later date, if any, as the Committee and the Associated Company may mutually approve, but in any event not later than June 14, 1930), such number or amount of the securities of the particular class as shall, when added to the number or amount of the securities of such class then owned by the Associated Company, constitute at least 80% of the total number or amount of the securities of such class then outstanding, provided, however, that in the event that a lesser number or amount than that so specified of the securities of such class, shall be so deposited prior to May 15, 1930, the Associated Company, may at its option, but shall not be required to, accept such lesser number or amount, and thereupon the Plan shall become operative with respect to the securities of such class so deposited.

To consummate the Plan, the undersigned Committee has executed a Deposit Agreement with The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, as Depositary, dated as of even date herewith, copies of which may be obtained on application to the Secretary of the Committee or to any of the Depositaries of the Committee.

Each holder of said securities of the Southern Company desiring to participate in the Plan, should deposit his securities with the undersigned Committee by delivering the same to the Depositaries indicated below, within the time prescribed for such deposit, namely, by the close of business on May 14th, 1930. On depositing his securities, each holder thereof will receive a certificate of deposit, issued by the Depositary or by the Sub-Depositary with which the same are deposited, for the securities so deposited, exchangeable on consummation of the Plan with respect to the securities of such class, for $1.60 Allotment Certificates on the respective bases hereinabove set forth. As provided in the Deposit Agreement, in case the Plan shall not have been consummated with respect to any particular class of securities by the close of business on May 14th, 1930 (or by such later date, if any, as the Committee and the Associated Company may mutually approve, but in any event not later than June 14th, 1930), the securities of such class, deposited by each holder, will be returned to him on the surrender of his certificate of deposit therefor, without expense to the depositing holder.

The Committee and the Board of Directors of the Southern Company believe that the consummation of the Plan is for the best interests of such security holders, and recommend that they take prompt action in depositing their securities under the Plan.

UNITED GAS COMPANY
HOUSTON GULF GAS COMPANY
SOUTHERN GAS COMPANY
DIXIE GULF GAS COMPANY
DIXIE GAS AND UTILITIES COMPANY
SOUTHERN GAS UTILITIES, INC.
SOUTH TEXAS GAS COMPANY
THE PALMER CORPORATION OF LOUISIANA

Your attention is called to the fact that deposits of securities to be exchanged for securities of the new United Gas Corporation under the announced Plan and Agreement of Reorganization should be made on or before May 1.

Copies of the Plan setting forth in detail the terms of exchange of securities and giving other information may be obtained at the offices of the Depositaries.

The New Corporation at the time the Plan becomes, or is declared, operative will have a corporate structure under which it will be entitled initially to issue:

(a) A Series of $7 Preferred Stock, cumulative, non-voting, callable at $110;

(b) $7 Second Preferred Stock, cumulative, each share to be entitled to three votes, callable at $110;

(c) Common Stock, each share to be entitled to one vote;

(d) Option Warrants, unlimited as to time, each such warrant entitling the holder thereof to purchase one share of Common Stock of the New Corporation at the price of $33.33⅓ per share cash; the New Corporation to accept one share of its $7 Second Preferred Stock at $100 in making such payment for three shares of its Common Stock.

All stocks are to be without par value.

Electric Power & Light Corporation agrees that as and when the Plan by its terms becomes, or is by the New Corporation declared, operative, it will deliver or cause the other holders to deliver to the New Corporation all of the outstanding securities of Louisiana Gas & Fuel Company, transfer to the New Corporation loans payable of Louisiana Gas & Fuel Company to the extent of $3,468,000 principal amount, and pay to the New Corporation $30,000,000 in cash. It will in addition furnish the New Corporation with a subscription for at least 200,000 units of securities of the New Corporation at $100 per unit (aggregating at least $20,000,000), each unit to consist of one share of $7 Second Preferred Stock, two shares of Common Stock and three Option Warrants and to be represented by an allotment certificate. This subscription will provide for the payment on such units at the time of subscription of 20% of the subscription price, the remainder of the subscription price to be paid when and as called by the New Corporation at any time on thirty days' notice. Certificates for $7 Second Preferred Stock covered by the units so subscribed are to be delivered as and when and to the extent that payments for integral shares are made, but shares of Common Stock and Option Warrants covered thereby are to be delivered only upon payment of the subscription price in full.

For the securities, cash and subscription, all as referred to above, the New Corporation will issue to or upon the order of Electric Power & Light Corporation securities of the New Corporation, as follows: 584,680 shares of $7 Second Preferred Stock, 3,809,680 shares of Common Stock and 2,700,250 Option Warrants.

The obligations of Electric Power & Light Corporation, as stated above, are subject to there being deposited with the Depositaries at least 75% of the Common Stock and at least 51% of the Preferred Stock, $7 Cumulative Dividend, Series A, of United Gas Company and at least 90% in the aggregate number of all shares of stock without par value and 90% of the aggregate par value and principal amount of all securities having a par value or principal amount to be deposited by holders of securities of The Palmer Corporation of Louisiana and United Gas Company and certain securities of certain subsidiaries of United Gas Company, or to the Plan being declared operative by the New Corporation.

The Bank of America N.A., 44 Wall Street, New York City, is the depositary for all securities which, under the Plan, are exchangeable for $7 Preferred Stock of the New Corporation.

The Equitable Trust Company of New York, 11 Broad Street, New York City, is the depositary for all securities which, under the Plan, are exchangeable for Common Stock and/or Option Warrants of the New Corporation.

Arrangements have been made by the Depositaries whereby any of the securities may be deposited with Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company, Chicago, Old Colony Trust Company, Boston, or Bank of Italy National Trust & Savings Association, San Francisco.

STORES CITE GAINS FOR EASTER SALES

March-April Figures This Year May Exceed Last Year's in Many Cases.

INCREASES NOT GENERAL

Varied by Stores and Departments With Weather Conditions the Chief Handicap.

Figures compiled here yesterday by leading stores on the volume of Easter business afford a basis for estimating that the March-April figures, which allow for the lateness of Easter this year, will in a number of instances exceed the sales totals for the same months last year. This was indicated yesterday in the comments of retail executives here who said that the sales figures proved better than was expected in view of the adverse weather conditions last week.

Gains were not reported generally, however, and the comments made indicate that the Easter business was notably spotty as between individual stores and the various departments. Ready-to-wear and accessories did well, it was agreed, with some lines, particularly home furnishings, rather slow.

Philip Le Boutillier, president of Best & Co., stated that substantial gains were made in Easter volume. He indicated that both March and April would show totals ahead of last year and described consumer shopping as quite general in nature at the Best stores.

Michael Schaap, president of Bloomingdale Brothers, Inc., said: "Our Easter business went substantially ahead, the gain being at least 10 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The increase was notable, considering the bad weather during much of last week."

Franklin Simon, president of Franklin Simon & Co., said: "The Easter business was good despite the unsatisfactory weather conditions, and total April sales will exceed those of the same month last year by a good margin."

James A. Hearn & Son, Inc., according to an executive of the store, showed increases for Easter week and for April. The figures also showed that Hearn's will show gains for both March and April over the same months in 1929, he said.

FOR RESIDENT BUYER BILL.

Plea for Reconsideration of Measure by Governor Proposed.

Following consultation with executives of trade associations which sponsored the Williams-Peters bill for licensing resident buyers, which was vetoed on last Friday by Gov- counsel for the Merchants' Ladies' Garment Association, announced yesterday that he had been "requested to confer with the Governor with a view toward reconsideration of the desirability and merits of the bill."

"All of the facts were not presented to the Governor," Mr. Blumberg said. "Since the commission buyer does not fall within the definition of resident buyer as given in the measure, he is not subject to its regulations and would not be required, if the bill were enacted into law, to procure a license to operate. Commission buyers are not excluded from doing business, except in so far as misuse of the name 'buyer' is concerned.

"Any one inquiring into conditions prevailing in the needle industry would be forced to the conclusion that legislation of the kind proposed is essential for the protection of all factors engaged in this very involved and very complex seasonal industry."

CALLS MEETING ON RULES.

Trade Practice Changes to Be Put Before Conference.

Trade association executives and others who have participated in the trade practice conferences held by approximately 100 industries since 1919 have been invited to attend a meeting called by the Federal Trade Commission at Washington on May 2.

Topics listed for discussion at the meeting, according to the notices received here, include: Proposed improvement in the procedure for amending, reclassifying and rescinding rules, and for reconvening conferences; suggested means of clarifying the effect of the approval of trade practice conference rules by the commission; means of preventing possible abuses of conferences and improper uses of trade practice rules; suggestions for expediting and strengthening the work of the Federal Trade Commission in disposition of complaints by the commission, and the promulgation of official rules and regulations, clarifying the relations between the commission and the conferences.

COMMISSIONS ON EXPORTS.

Majority of Producers Paying Them, Association Reports.

The majority of manufacturers who receive unsolicited orders from export commission houses pay commissions to such houses only when the orders are destined for foreign markets where the producer has no agent, according to replies received by the American Manufacturers' Export Association in a survey conducted among 100 manufacturers in a variety of industries. Results of the survey were made public at the organization's offices yesterday.

THE CUSTOMS COURT.

A protest by the University of Michigan against payment of 65 per cent duty on glass parts for spectrographs, imported for use in studying the structure of atoms and molecules, was denied in a decision handed down yesterday by the United States Customs Court. The shipment had been assessed for duty under Paragraph 213 of the tariff act, which applies to scientific articles. According to the decision, the glass parts should have been classed as parts of cameras under Paragraph 1,453 and subjected to 20 per cent duty, but the university's failure to claim that classification in the protest left the court powerless to grant relief.

Naturally dried statice was held to be dutiable as cut flowers in another decision handed down by the court. J. E. Bernard & Co. and the H. P. Hanson Company, importers of the herbs, claimed their shipments were entitled to free entry as grasses or fibres. The customs ruling upheld by the court makes the importations subject to a tax of 40 per cent.

BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday—3¾ per cent for the best names.
Saturday—3¾ per cent for the best names.
The quotations are for four to six months' paper.

Dress Men Had Fair Season.

Business done by the dress trade during the last two weeks before Easter brought volume for the Spring season up to a fair point, inquiry here yesterday developed. Buying by retailers was more "selective" than ever before, with the result that sales throughout the market were very irregular. Compared with the pre-Easter business done last year, the current season's volume averaged from 10 to 12 per cent higher to 10 per cent lower. The specialists did much better than houses making a general range of merchandise. This was apparently true of all price classes. A feature was the relatively large business done in cotton frocks, principaly for the Pacific Coast and Southern trade.

Food Jobbers Protest on Tariff.

Protests against the trade-mark provisions of the proposed new tariff bill were sent Senator Smoot and Representative Hawley yesterday by the National Wholesale Grocers' Association. The food jobbers, it is claimed, import many food products which are not produced in quantity in this country and will face heavy rehandling costs if forced to put on labels after the goods have been brought through customs. Sardines, olive oil, caviar and a number of other products, which are packed abroad and labeled for food merchants in this country, would be barred from entry under provisions of the trade-mark section of the proposed law.

Few Desirable Coat "Jobs."

Buyers of women's coats in this market yesterday for post-Easter "jobs" found their work cut out for them in locating really desirable merchandise. The principal reason for this is the difficulty which manufacturers have had in getting deliveries of wanted materials from the mills. Supplies of novelty tweeds, tricolettes and other popular cloths have been so light in first hands of late that the goods have commanded premiums in some cases running up to 50 cents a yard. Tweeds in such shades as French blue, tan, &c., and tricolettes in greens, reds and navy are particularly scarce. Even black tricolette is hard to get. In fur trimmings galyak has been very scarce lately, and the current price is about 200 per cent above that of Jan. 1.

Recommends Normal Fall Buying.

Recommendations to make normal purchases of men's clothing and furnishings for Fall featured the initial session yesterday of the Fall buying convention of the Affiliated Clothiers, Inc., attended by representatives of sixty-five stores throughout the country. Yesterday's sessions were given over to purchase of goods for immediate needs, particularly furnishings. Buying for Fall will begin today, following a dinner meeting last night at the Hotel Pennsylvania at which style trends, colors and fabrics for the new season were discussed. Commenting on the policy for Fall, Arthur Ellner, head of the buying office, said there was no reason why merchants should not prepare courageously for the new season.

Stripes Lead Fancy Worsteds.

Stripes gained in orders placed for men's wear fancy worsted suitings during March, rising 7 per cent to 62, according to figures issued yesterday by the Wool Institute. Plaids and plain effects ranked next, having 15 per cent each. In fancy wollens suitings under $1.50 a yard, stripes dropped from 60 to 38 per cent of the total, while plain and small weaves jumped from 26 to 43 per cent. Stripes receded in the case of higher price fancy woolen suitings, moving from 28 to 23 per cent, while plain and small weaves rose from 61 to 66 per cent. Grays, browns and tans led in color preference in all of the fabric divisions.

See Early Action on Design Bill.

Reports from Washington that early action can be expected on the Vestal bill extending copyright privileges to designs were current among manufacturers of textiles here yesterday. A conference of the House committee on patents, which has the measure under consideration, is slated for today or tomorrow, it was claimed, and the committee has indicated its intention of reporting favorably on the bill. Lengthy hearings on the measure were held in Washington some time ago and textile interests appeared then to urge its passage.

Saleswomen Held Back Suits.

Several reasons were advanced here yesterday for the failure of business in women's suits to fulfill its early season promise, particularly in medium-priced lines. The most logical were that the many styles offered made it difficult for the average woman to make a selection, which took up a great deal of the saleswomen's time, and that complicated alterations were frequently necessary to insure proper fit. This was especially so where three-piece models were concerned. The result was in many cases that saleswomen, seeing their "books" suffer, tried to push coats wherever possible. To this was attributed much of the increased demand for inexpensive coats in recent weeks. From all accounts, the department managers were not averse to this procedure.

Expect Fall Curtain Activity.

Certain buyers representing several of the large jobbing houses are expected in the market this week to outline their Fall requirements in low-end and drapery materials. They are expected to clear up some of the uncertainty which manufacturers now feel in regard to style trends for the coming season. So far no definite indications regarding Fall preferences have been given by either jobbers or retailers and, as a result, producers have delayed in making up their lines. Current business has been showing a steady improvement and prices have become firmer. Increased demand has been noted in all large centres, except New York and Philadelphia, its claimed.

Gray Goods Start Week Quietly.

Gray goods trading in this market was light yesterday and for the most part featureless. Sales of printcloths included 39-inch 80-squares at 8⅝ to 8¾ cents, 39-inch 68-72s at 6⅞ cents, and 38½-inch 64-60s at 6 cents. In the sheetings there was trading in 37-inch 48-square, four-yard goods at 6¾ cents and in 40-inch 2.85s at 9 to 9⅛. Thirty-inch 3.25-yard drills sold at 8 cents, and 10⅛ cents, with terms, was paid for 30-inch 2.85-yard, four-leaf twills. The rest of the market was dull.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Jesse E. Langsdorf has been elected president of the Associated Men's Neckwear Industries, Inc. Other officers chosen were O. H. Heumann, first vice president; Herman Cohn, second vice president; Otto A. Haenichen, secretary; William K. Meyer, treasurer, and Leo Herz, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Fifty-four samples of new cotton fabrics suitable for a wide range of apparel are included in the Summer issue of the Cotton-Textile Institute swatching service to be published today.

A STATEMENT BY MORRIS WHITE ABOUT HANDBAG PROMOTION

THEY talk about general depression and a great deal of unemployment in America. Statesmen, Economists, Bankers and Industrialists have tried to solve the problem, and seemingly, with some measure of success. The handbag industry has been no exception to this general condition. I couldn't and didn't wait for a miracle to happen in the handbag business. I solved the problem of depression for my own organization. My answer to slackness, under-employment and unemployment is—what it always has been . . . greater employment . . . bigger volume . . . greater turn-over . . . intensified selling . . . promotion!

I am offering the world the biggest values in quality handbags. I am continuously reproducing exact replicas of the best Couturier Creations, to retail at $2.95, $4.95 and $7.50 while the originals are retailing in this country at $12.50, $15.00, $19.50, $25.00 and more. These values are without competition and are made possible because of mass purchases of raw materials, mass production of handbags and world-wide distribution of my product.

Marshall Field and Co. of Chicago recently placed the largest handbag order in the history of Morris White, Inc.

Advance orders taken in my 19 showrooms and by sales representatives on the road on my new Smart Handbags for special after-Easter promotions amounted, in one week's time, to $310,000.00.

What can be done in handbag promotion by merchants of vision is expressed clearly in the following statement which appeared Friday, April 11, 1930 in Women's Wear, N.Y.

Three Stores Sell 100,000 Handbags

> Gimbel Brothers report that since the launching of this special event, featuring the price of $1.69, over 40,000 handbags have been sold. Saks-34th Street is featuring bags at $2.95 and Saks-Fifth Avenue at $6.95. Altogether, it is estimated that these three stores have sold an aggregate in excess of 100,000 handbags.
> The Gimbel ad says 'These bags are without competition. We believe they are unmatched and unmatchable.'"

We are grateful for that tribute. The public is the final judge of every manufacturer's product. Its verdict in our favor is both gratifying and inspiring. I am going to work my factories day and night to give the public the kind of handbags it wants in the belief that the consumers of America appreciate it, and that the retailers of the country will merchandise and promote these handbags in a manner that will be a credit to the Industry and an aid to prosperity.

It seems to me that the time has come for all of us to talk less about better times coming . . . because better times are here!

Morris White.

LIVE STOCK IN CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 21.—Despite relatively small receipts, hog prices declined today 5 to 25 cents, heavy kinds showing the most loss, with the close at the bottom. Light hogs were offered sparingly and there will be difficulty in filling shipping orders for 160- to 210 pound kinds. The top was 10 cents higher, at $10.50, while the day's average was 10 cents lower, at $10.05. Most sales were at $9.85 to $10.35, with 250 to 350-pound butchers $9.60 to $10.20, 200 to 250-pound kinds $9.75 to $10.50 and 160 to 200-pound averages $9.85 to $10.50. Packers bought 27,200 and shippers 7,000, with 6,000 left over. Receipts were 40,000, with 24,000 estimated for tomorrow.

The five leading markets expect 61,000 tomorrow, against 73,400 a week ago.

Cattle prices were generally steady. Quality was the highest in two weeks, with best steers selling at $15, while the bulk of beef cattle brought $10.50 to $13.50. Receipts were 15,000.

Lambs weer in good demand and 25 to 50 cents higher. Most wooled sold at $9.75 to $10, with a top of $10.25. Shorn sold largely at $8.25 to $8.75. Sheep were steady at $4.50 to $5.75.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—The disturbance that was central over Illinois Sunday night has moved northeastward to Lake Huron and the Manitoba disturbance has moved eastward to Northern Ontario. Pressure remains low over and near Newfoundland, and it is low and falling from British Columbia southward to Arizona.

The indications are for rain in the North Atlantic States and light rain probably changing to snow flurries in the lower lake region, the extreme upper Ohio Valley and the northern Appalachian region Tuesday and for showers in the lower Ohio Valley and Western Tennessee Wednesday. Otherwise generally fair weather will prevail Tuesday and Wednesday in the Washington forecast district.

Colder weather will overspread middle and northern sections east of the Mississippi River within the next twenty-four hours, and the temperature will be considerably below normal Tuesday night from the Ohio Valley and lower lake region eastward to the Atlantic Coast. The temperature will rise Wednesday, however, in the upper Ohio Valley and the lower lake region.

COUNTRY-WIDE WEATHER CONDITIONS.

In the following record of observations at United States Weather Bureau stations yesterday the temperatures given are the highest during the twelve hours from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M. and the lowest during the preceding twelve hours, from 8 P. M. to 8 A. M.; the barometer reading and condition of weather are those recorded at 8 P. M. and the rainfall is for the twenty-four hours ended at 8 P. M.

United States Supreme Court.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—In the Supreme Court of the United States today, Edwin S. Murphy and Thomas A. Kane of New York City, were admitted to practice. Attorney General Mitchell presented Thomas D. Thacher Solicitor General of the United States, and it was ordered that his commission be recorded.

Justice Holmes announced the following order of the court:

12—Original. State of New York, et al., complainant, v. same.—Decree entered pursuant to the opinion announced April 14, 1930, and order entered fixing compensation and awarding expenses of special master. The Chief Justice took no part in the consideration of the matters involved in this order.

The Chief Justice announced the following orders of the court:

98—William J. Stratton, Secretary of State of the State of Illinois, applt., v. St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company.—It is ordered that this case be restored to the docket for reargument.

10—Powers-Kennedy Contracting Corp., et al., petrs., v. Concrete Mixing and Conveying Company; and 11—Concrete Mixing & Conveying Company, petr., v. R. C. Storrie and Company.—The motion to advance these cases is denied.

528—Broad River Power Company, et al., petrs., v. State of South Carolina, ex rel., John M. Daniel, Attorney General.—The motion to advance this case is granted and the case assigned for argument on Friday, May 2, next, at the head of the call for that day.

554—Charles H. Stange, petr., v. the United States.—The motion to set aside part of limitation of order granting writ of cert is denied.

Original. Ex parte, Jehudah Benjamin, Petr.—The motion for leave to file petn. for writ of habeas corpus is denied.

770—Olive S. McGrew, petr., v. John L. McGrew and Catherine D. McGrew; and 771—Same v. same—On petitions for writs of cert. to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals. Per curiam: The motion for leave to proceed further herein in forma pauperis is denied, for the reason that the court finds no grounds upon which writs of cert. should be issued. The petition for writs of cert. is also denied.

799—William W. Middleton, petr., v. The People of the State of California—On petn. for writ of cert. to the Third Appellate District Court of Appeals of California. Per curiam: The motion for leave to proceed further herein in forma pauperis is denied. The petn. for writ of cert. is also denied.

524—Harvey Cox, applt., v. The People of the State of Colorado et al.—Further consideration of the question of jurisdiction in this case is postponed to the hearing of the case on the merits.

525—Harvey Cox, applt., v. The People of the State of Colorado, the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Colorado et al., &c., and 526—Same v. same—Appeals from the District Court of the United States for the District of Colorado. Per curiam: Appeals dismissed for the want of jurisdiction.

REVIEW OF THE DAY IN REALTY MARKET

GREENWICH VILLAGE DEAL

Quiet conditions continued to prevail in the metropolitan realty field yesterday, but if negotiations which have been pending for some time are closed within a day or two involving three or four transactions in and around the Grand Central area the week will close with a measurable degree of activity.

Steady interest in the downtown section was shown in the sale of the five-story loft structure at 197 Water Street, plot 20 by 80, between Fulton Street and Burling Slip, by Frederick H. Cone to the Maritime Electric Company for occupancy. The Charles F. Noyes Company acted as brokers.

In the westerly Greenwich Village area, the four-story building at 403-404 West Street, southeast corner of Charles Street, plot 45 by 82 feet, was purchased by the Arcade Motor Transportation Corporation of Philadelphia from William H. Heller. The sale was made through the Charles F. Noyes Company, as brokers, and the latter also sold the two five-story tenements at 413-415 West Seventeenth Street, between Ninth and Tenth Avenues, a plot 50 by 92 feet, for Alexander Bush to David Gold.

In the Dyckman section, at the upper end of Manhattan Island, a large plot 105 by 100 feet, on the east side of Elwood Street, 139.96 feet south of Sherman Avenue, was transferred by Florence Asowsky to Frank Blasi and others. It is a section which has been well developed with apartment houses. Another transfer record in the same locality was the property at 121 Vermilyea Avenue, between 204th and 207th Street, 25 by 150, by John Donner to Frederick Plump of Scarsdale, subject to a mortgage of $37,000.

The six-story apartment house at 425 West 114th Street, northeast corner of Amsterda mAvenue, 40.11 on the avenue by 100 on the street, was transferred by Isaac Schiller to the Cassi Realty Company, subject to a mortgage of $91,000.

In the upper Washington Heights section a fifty-year leasehold was taken by the F. & W. Grand 5-10-25 Cent Stores, Inc., Harold F. Stone, vice president, on the plot on the southeast corner of Broadway and 145th Street. The lease was made by the Lime Investing Company, Emil Mosbacher, president, and it involves the building to be erected on the property by the latter.

The plot has half a block frontage on Broadway, about 100 feet, with a 100-foot frontage on the street. Excavations for the new structure are in progress. Before the war the late Thomas Healy erected a three-story building on the immediate corner and opened an uptown Healy's restaurant, which was a popular eating place for many years. Recently the property has been used for small stores and lunchrooms.

The lease, as recorded, shows that it will be subordinate to the lien of mortgages not exceeding $400,000, or a sum equal to two-thirds of the assessed valuation.

Furniture House Rents in Flushing.

A two-story building recently erected by Paul Roth at 132-25 Northern Boulevard, Flushing, has been leased for twenty-one years to the King Furniture Stores, Joseph S. King, president, operating in New Jersey.

Borough Park Houses Sold.

John Timoney has sold a two-family brick house at 1,117 Fiftieth Street, in the Borough Park section of Brooklyn, to Louis Iodice. Kilcoyne Brothers, the brokers, also sold for C. Weiss a two-family frame house at 1,261 Forty-first Street, Brooklyn, to John De Nirso.

AUCTION RESULTS.

By SIDNEY SALOMON.

West 128th Street, 215, 16.8x99.11; three-story dwelling; due, $7,889; taxes, &c., $975; to Louis Hirschberg for $9,585.

By I. LINCOLN SEIDE.

Kennelworth Place, 1,555, 50x100; due, $5,041; taxes &c., $75; to Franklin Society for Home Building and Savings, plaintiff, for $500.

By A. JOSEPH & CO.

East 233d Street, north side, 50 feet west of Oneida Avenue, 126.6x101.5; three three-story dwellings; due, $15,818; taxes &c., $200; mortgages, $51,000; to Morton M. Green, plaintiff, for $52,000.

La Salle Street, 3,031-33, 25.2x100.6; due, $11,730; taxes, &c., $42,500; to Bonded Capital Corporation, plaintiff, for $1,000.

Universal Atlas Cement Co. Leases in Chrysler Building

The Universal Atlas Cement Company, an amalgamation of the Universal Portland Cement Company and the Atlas Portland Cement Company, which recently became a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation has leased more than half the fourteenth floor in the Chrysler Building at Lexington Avenue and Forty-second Street, Walter P. Chrysler reported yesterday. The lessee is said to be the largest cement company in the world, with a capacity of 36,500,000 barrels a year, enough for one-tenth of the world's annual requirements.

The former Universal offices at 30 Church Street and the Atlas executive offices at 25 Broadway and sales offices at 41 East Forty-second Street are to be combined in the Chrysler Building.

The Northampton & Bath Railroad Company alo rented space on the fourteenth floor. The leases, said to involve about $500,000, were arranged by Brown, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co. and F. E. Sittenham.

MORTGAGES RECORDED.

Realty Foundation, Inc., lent $37,500, due in five years, at 6 per cent, to the Lispay Realty Corporation, Willis J. Payne, president, on the southeast corner of Broadway and 219th Street, 77.74 by 188.56 feet. The First National Bank and Trust Company of Yonkers holds a first mortgage for $125,000, at 6 per cent, on this plot.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has agreed with the Charlemont Building Corporation, John E. Veasey, vice president, to extend an $80,000 mortgage on 514 West 188th Street to Nov. 1, 1935, at 5½ per cent.

The Central Savings Bank lent $5,000 additional to Kathryn Lowe on 962 St. Nicholas Avenue. This is combined with another mortgage held by the bank to make a single first lien of $25,000 on these premises, due April 14, 1935, at 6 per cent.

The General Theological Seminary has consolidated the three mortgages which it holds from the East Seventy-seventh Street Holding Corporation, A. Abramowitz, president, to make a single lien of $53,000, due April 15, 1933, at 6 per cent. The lien is spread over 439, 441 and 443 East Seventy-seventh Street.

The Bowery Savings Bank lent $350,000 to the Jerrold Holding Corporation, Harris H. Uris, president, on 241 West Forty-second Street, 20 feet wide, and the abutting property at 250-62 West Forty-third Street, having a frontage of 145 feet. The principal will be due June 1, 1935, at 6 per cent, and will be reduced at the rate of $3,500 semi-annually. This mortgage and four others held by the bank are consolidated to make a single lien of $1,850,000 on these premises.

On the southwest corner of Broadway and Thirty-seventh Street, 43 feet 4½ inches by 71 feet 8¼ inches, the City Bank Farmers Trust Company lent $40,000 additional to Mary B. Averill of Lake Mahopac, N. Y. This is combined with another mortgage held by the trust company to make one first lien of $290,000 on the property, due May 8, 1932, at 5½ per cent.

On 31 West Sixteenth Street, a lot 25 feet wide, the Citizens' Savings Bank lent $4,750 additional to Claruth Realties, Inc., Rose Aiervaiss, president. This loan due in five years, at 6 per cent, is consolidated with another mortgage to make one lien of $26,000 on the premises.

The New York Savings Bank took a $50,000 mortgage from The 254 West Fourteenth Street Corporation, Paul Morfogen, president, on the southeast corner of Eighth Avenue and Fourteenth Street, 46 by 102 feet on the street. This is consolidated with four other mortgages held by the bank on this property to make a single first lien of $15,000, due according to the bond.

TO LAY CORNERSTONE FOR BLOOMINGDALE'S

City Officials Will Take Part in Exercises Tomorrow at New Building.

Two cornerstones in the new building being erected by Bloomingdale Brothers in the easterly block front of Lexington Avenue between Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Streets will be laid at 4 P. M. tomorrow with exercises in which city officials and members of the firm will participate.

In addition to the usual cornerstone containing copies of current daily newspapers, coins and bank notes, there will be a stone with a much larger compartment whose contents will be kept sealed until April 23, 2130. Specialists in art, literature, politics, sports and other fields have written predictions of conditions which will prevail two hundreds years from now, to be placed in the compartment. Three savings bank books, each recording a $25 deposit, also will be placed in the stone, these accounts to run for 200 years with compound interest, the total sum at the end of that time, about $614,400, to be distributed among three charitable institutions. A radio set, cocktail shaker, a current phonograph record and other articles of modern times will be included.

S. J. and H. C. Bloomingdale, Michael Schaap, Harry A. Hatry and Herman Weis of the Bloomingdale organization will be among the speakers at the ceremonies.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new building, which will be nine stories in height, covering 200 feet frontage on Lexington Avenue, 60 feet on Fifty-ninth Street and 220 feet on Sixtieth Street. Structural steel in the unit at Fifty-ninth Street and Lexington Avenue has reached the sixth floor. The architects are Starrett and Van Vleck and the builders the Turner Construction Company.

Takes Over Newark Building.

A three-story building at the southeast corner of Broad and East Kenney Streets, Newark, has been leased by Jersey State Distributers, Inc., Nathaniel Elin, president, for the sale of Atwater Kent radios. The structure, which contains 25,000 square feet, was built by the Fireston Tire and Rubber Company, now in larger quarters. The present lease was arranged for the Federal Holding Company, Emil Zucker, president, by Feist & Feist, Inc.

Rents Tokeneke Residence.

Arthur C. Garrison has rented furnished for the Summer the Arthur Bates house in Tokeneke, Conn., through Wm. A. White & Sons. Mrs. Geritt Smith acted as agent for the owner.

A New Way to Buy A Park Avenue Apartment Out of Income

The apartments in 1220 Park Avenue at 95th Street, facing east on Park Avenue and south overlooking Squadron "A" Armory, are now offered for sale under a new plan of payments out of income, giving full ownership at the end of five years with only maintenance to pay thereafter.

One third of purchase price payable in three installments during construction.

Balance payable over a period of five years from completion at 5% interest. No finance charge.

After paying the estimated maintenance, plus interest on the entire purchase price, there is a real saving over rental, in addition to the convenience of buying a very delightful and well planned apartment out of income.

SALESMEN.

A Message to Salesmen Who Seek Something More Than Just "Another Deal."

This is addressed to security salesmen—beginners or experienced men—who realize the advantages and opportunities afforded by securities that stay good even in times of stress like the present—salesmen interested in establishing a list of customers that can be sold year after year.

A company whose securities we are offering transacted last year a total of over 58 million dollars, representing an increase of 25%. Business has increased every year for the past five years and every month during the current depression has shown an increase in volume over the same month of the previous year.

The securities of this company pay an excellent income. The house itself is well seasoned—over 30 years in business with no security ever having defaulted.

Salesmen interested in a permanent connection—on a liberal commission and bonus—selling investment securities offering the combination of safety and good income should arrange for an appointment. Call or write Mr. Cox, 165 Broadway, Room 1625.

SALESMEN, TO SELL
A LISTED INSURANCE STOCK.

An unusual opportunity is offered a few high-class salesmen in New York and other Eastern States to sell the stock of a successful life insurance company to a selected class of investors. This company occupies a unique position in the insurance field and its shares readily appeal to those who are afforded an opportunity to become stockholders. The stock is now being traded on a recognized Exchange.

Compensation is arranged on a liberal commission basis with drawing account after ability to produce is established.

Call or address Room 1206,
29 Broadway. New York.

SALESMEN,

OPPORTUNITY.

AT THE THRESHOLD OF OUR BIGGEST SELLING SEASON.

The country today is fully awake to the value of electric refrigeration.

We have created the demand through the daily newspapers, magazines and national advertising; due to the new features incorporated in our 1930 models, sales resistance is now almost null.

We can use several men in our metropolitan territory who have had successful outside sales experience.

Drawing account arranged.
See personnel director.

KELVINATOR SALES CORP.,
1 WEST 47TH ST., 4TH FLOOR.

SALESMEN.

Ours is a big proposition—presented to business executives—offering ample immediate earnings. Backed by a million-dollar advertising campaign in national and local papers, augmented by weekly radio broadcasts and direct mail circularization.

Our product—Corozone—the electrical creator of ozone, is recognized as a necessity in modern business, hospitals and institutions, and has the unqualified endorsement of its users.

Your earnings on commissions start in the first few hours of your field activities and are only limited by your ability.

We are a new organization; there are tremendous opportunities for potential executives and our men are making real money. Come in and see their accounts.

BUNNELL COROZONE CORP.,
215 Fulton St., Bunnell Bldg., New York.

Sales Help Wanted—Male.

AN ORGANIZATION of national scope will be interested in a seasoned salesman with specialty selling background; a gentleman under 40 who has mastered the art of closing under a one-call system being most eligible.

He will be afforded an opportunity to demonstrate in the advertising field under a most liberal commission arrangement, and proven ability will enable him to effect a permanent tie-up as a sales executive.

Experience in our line is not requisite; but a conviction that you are a salesman above the average is indispensable.

For appointment call Mr. Hastings, Whitehall 4859, or write giving full particulars to V 979 Times Downtown.

WILL LAY KEEL IN MAY FOR NEW ITALIAN SHIP

Lloyd Sabondo Line Announces Plans for Conte di Savoia in Mussolini's Program.

The keel of the 45,000-ton steamship Conte Di Savoia, which will be built for the Lloyd Sabaudo Line for service between New York and the Mediterranean ports, will be laid early in May in the shipyards of Contiere Tecnico Triestino, at Trieste, Italy, according to announcement made here by Colonel M. Serrati, general manager of the line in New York.

The ship will be 850 feet long and built to maintain a speed of 27½ knots, which will make possible the crossing from New York to Gibraltar in five days and completion of the trip to Italy in seven days. She will accommodate 1,900 passengers and will be ready to enter the service in the Fall of 1932. Her accommodations will be divided among 500 first class, 300 second, 300 tourist and 800 third cabin.

A photo received from Italy and designed from plans as completed by the architects shows that the third or dummy funnel which is usually built into a vessel of this size has been eliminated, thus permitting an unusually large sun deck and giving the ship the appearance of a giant yacht.

This new ship is one item in the shipbuilding program fostered by the Mussolini government in its attempt to build up a strong Italian merchant marine. The quarterly report of Lloyd's Register of Shipping released last week for the period ended March 31 showed that Italy had made the greatest advance, proportionately, among the nations of the world. Whereas her shipyards were building 77,919 tons of merchant ships Dec. 31, they were building 144,358 tons at the close of March.

The Conte Di Savoia is one of the important contributions to world shipbuilding about to be started, although smaller than the ships proposed by the United States and Cunard lines. The Italian trade has become very popular in the past year and the demand for larger and more modern ships has increased. The Winter trade is especially large, while travel to the ports of England, France and Germany is reported to have decreased seriously.

GREAT LAKES REOPEN; THOUSANDS GET JOBS

First Vessel Enters New Welland Canal—Transatlantic Ship Reaches Montreal.

TORONTO, April 21 (Canadian Press).—With whistles screeching and flags flying, vessels on 1,700 miles of the Great Lakes today welcomed the 1930 navigation season, and thousands of unemployed are flocking to lake ports in readiness to assist in the unloading of first cargoes.

Economically, the opening of navigation each year is greatly welcomed by many who have struggled through a jobless Winter. The Fall lay-off throws approximately 30,000 men out of work, and, when it happens that the Summer season has been a slow one, as was the case last year, many sailors are in an unusually sorry plight.

Today 2,000 lighthouse-keepers have gone to their posts, boats which did not leave their moorings at least have their crews fitting out and at coal docks, freight sheds, elevators and other mooring points many thousands are at work, directly and indirectly.

There is still much ice in Lake Superior.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 21 (Canadian Press).—Flag-bedecked, to the accompaniment of a siren chorus blown by six other vessels in the new harbor at Port Weller, the steamer Georgian of the Northwest Transportation Company's fleet, with Captain Hudson on the bridge, unofficially opened the northerly section of the new Welland Canal when it entered Lock 1.

Above Lock 3 the boats will revert to the fourteen-foot channel of the old canal until July 1.

MONTREAL, April 21 (Canadian Press).—The steamship Wentworth, first transatlantic ship to enter the port of Montreal this season, reached Windmill Point this afternoon after a voyage of forty-one days from Durban, South Africa. The vessel carried a cargo of 7,800 tons of sugar.

HOOVER SIGNS BILL FOR SALE OF PIERS

Government Will Restore to Private Hands Old German Terminal at Hoboken.

PAID 7 MILLION DURING WAR

Lehlbach, Sponsor of Bill in House, Says the Piers Are Worth That Much Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The bill directing the Shipping Board to sell the former Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd piers at Hoboken was signed by President Hoover today. As a result, the government will relinquish ownership of the piers, which it has held since it took them over during the World War.

Through the Alien Property Custodian the United States paid $7,146,583 for the property, and Representative Lehlbach, who handled the bill in the House, considers the tract worth that much at present.

The bill specifies that the sale must be made to an American citizen, with not less than 25 per cent of the purchase price paid down, and the balance, at 5 per cent interest, deferred not more than five years.

The property extends along the Hudson River for about 1,800 feet. Originally it contained six piers, but a few years ago one was destroyed by fire and another partially destroyed. A tract of some 25,000 square feet has been taken from the property and used for a postoffice site.

At present the property is used partly by the Shipping Board as a terminus for the United States Lines, the America-France Line and the American Diamond Line. Some ships of the Munson Line also use the piers.

According to Mr. Lehlbach, the past failure of the Shipping Board to dispose of the property has meant a tax loss of about $4,000,000 to Hoboken in the past eleven years. He asserts that there has also been a loss to the community by withdrawing the purchasing power of 2,500 employed men, deducting this from the fact that, whereas 3,000 men worked on the piers before the war, there are now only about 500 there.

PUSH SHIP COST PLANS.

Committees Will Urge Cuts in Building at Conference Tomorrow.

Seven prominent shipping men left here last night to attend the third national conference on the merchant marine, to be held tomorrow and Thursday at the United States Chamber of Commerce Building in Washington, D. C. They are members of two committees which have studied the problems of reduction of differentials between shipbuilding costs here and abroad and methods of providing government aid to American ships which are not benefited by mail contracts under the Jones-White bill. They are:

HOMER L. FERGUSON, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.
H. B. WALKER, president of the American Steamship Owners' Association.
FRANK C. MUNSON, president of the Munson Steamship Company.
FRANKLIN B. MOONEY, president of the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies Company.
EMMETT C. McCORMICK, vice president of Moore & McCormick.
IRA A. CAMPBELL, counsel for the American Steamship Owners' Association.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Ferguson, representing the shipbuilding interests, will urge that standards of cargo ships be established in the United States as a means of reducing the cost of their construction. The differential in cost of ships in American yards over foreign yards is said to reach 40 per cent, and at present the American yards are without an order for the construction of any ships of this type. The committee will recommend the adoption at sea of the methods of mass production used by industries ashore.

The committee on government aid to American ships not already favored by mail contracts has not yet completed its report. It will meet this morning in Washington to draft its proposals, the members said.

A WEEK OF SOLID COMFORT TO EUROPE
Comfort implies not only the material adjuncts of the crossing—commodious ships, luxurious appointments, delicious food, anti-rolling devices and the like. The express steamers
HAMBURG • NEW YORK
have all these, and to spare. But, they have also that indefinable something we call atmosphere—an atmosphere that makes for congeniality, good times, "solid comfort" throughout the 7-day ocean voyage.
Every Wednesday midnight, one of these liners sails from New York for Cherbourg, Southampton and Hamburg—Also a distinguished Cabin Service to Ireland, France, Germany.

M'MANAMY BACKS RAIL HOLDING CURB

Commission Chairman Tells Senators He Endorses Amendment to Couzen's Resolution.

TRUST LAW WOULD BE BASIS

Common Control by a Holding Company Not Officially Approved Would Become a Misdemeanor.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Members of the Interstate Commerce Commission today discussed with the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee modification of the Couzens resolution proposing to halt all railroad mergers pending new regulatory legislation by making it apply specifically to those consolidations which, in the commission's opinion, would violate the anti-trust laws.

Frank McManamy, chairman of the commission, appearing as a proponent of the Couzens resolution, agreed in principle to the amendment as suggested by Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman, who last week criticized the Couzens resolution for its lack of restraint on holding companies.

Mr. Eastman's proposed amendment, as made public today, not only would qualify the resolution to make it apply specifically to consolidations which the commission believes would violate the anti-trust laws, but contains the following provision regarding holding companies:

"That any consolidation or unification or common control of carriers by railroad properties engaged in interstate commerce, or the properties thereof, however accomplished, whether directly or indirectly, through a holding company or holding companies, by a voting trust, or in any manner whatsoever, and which the commission is not empowered to approve and authorize, is hereby declared unlawful."

Violation Is Made a Misdemeanor.

Violation of the law would be made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment for not more than three years or both.

Regulation of holding companies is essential, Mr. McManamy testified.

"If the holding companies continue their present progress for another year," he said, "it won't make much difference what laws are passed. Then it will be a question of unscrambling their activities."

The Couzens resolution, Mr. McManamy said, is in line with recommendations the commission has been advancing for five years, adding that there is need for legislation which empowers the commission to force railroads to preserve existing routes.

Pointing out that there is a legal difference between "consolidations" and "acquisitions" of small railroads, the witness said that through the latter process 155 short-line railroads had been acquired and abandoned for the protection of trunk lines, which sometimes haul freight over considerably longer distances than previously was necessary when a series of short lines was used.

The testimony of Mr. McManamy and that of Commissioner Ezra Brainerd Jr., another witness today, revolved partially around the proposed consolidation of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern systems, against which the Couzens resolution was said to have been aimed.

Senator Pittman of Nevada referred to the Northern Securities decision by the Supreme Court, which revoked a similar application for consolidation. "Conditions have changed considerably since that time," Mr. Brainerd replied.

Hawes Explains Opposition.

Senator Hawes of Missouri, one of the principal opponents of the Couzens resolution, stated his position.

"I opposed this resolution," he said, "on the principle that it proposes to direct the commission without changing the law, and I claim that if Congress can suspend the commission's action in one matter it can in another. If Congress wishes to pass a law against consolidations of competitive lines, it may do it. If we pass this resolution, it suspends the commission's authority on all matters, although the evidence here has regarded only one consolidation."

"This is not a fact," stated Senator Couzens. "We had witnesses here opposed to the Baltimore & Ohio-Reading and Lackawanna-Erie mergers."

"Wouldn't it be unfortunate," Senator Pittmann asked Mr. McManamy, "if while we were waiting for legislation regarding consolidations the commission was forced to permit many to go through?"

"It would," agreed the witness.

"But certain consolidations now pending are meritorious," Senator Hawes stated. "Is it fair to stop them all?"

"So far as the short lines are concerned," Mr. McManamy stated, "I see no harm in relieving them from the provisions of this resolution. In fact, they are specifically excepted in the Clayton act."

HOOVER JR. TO RADIO AIR WAR DESCRIPTION

President's Son, in Plane, Among Broadcasters of Manoeuvres Over San Francisco.

Word pictures of the United States Army air manoeuvres on Thursday over San Francisco are to be heard throughout the country over two nation-wide networks beginning at 3 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, with Herbert Hoover Jr., as one of the narrators from the air.

The manoeuvres are scheduled as "The Defense of San Francisco and the Golden Gate." The President's son will be heard over WABC's network between 3 and 4 o'clock as he flies in the vicinity of the manoeuvres. Short-wave radio apparatus is to transmit the description to a station on the earth at Crissy Field, whence it will be wired to the radio chain.

For a half hour over WJZ's network beginning at 3:15 o'clock, Eastern Time, alternate descriptions will be given by announcers in an airplane and others on the ground. One will speak before microphones in an airplane, his words being conveyed by short-waves to the earth, while the other will be stationed before microphones installed near the Golden Gate, on a gun parapet.

A selection by an army band, playing at the Presidio in San Francisco, will be heard before the air description begins.

TO SETTLE PRESS ROW.

Mexican News Union Agrees to Arbitration.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—The Mexican union of newspaper reporters submitted its grievances against The Associated Press to a board of conciliation and arbitration today, and it is expected that the news service will be invited to explain its side of the controversy that has cut off Mexico City's cable news.

In consequence of this step it is rumored that the union may withdraw at any moment its objections to the publication by Excelsior and El Universal of cable news received from other sources.

ON TRIAL IN GEM THEFT.

Mrs. Leslie, Accused in $480,000 Case, in Court Here.

Two jurors were selected in Judge Koenig's part of General Sessions yesterday for the trial of Mrs. Maria Joseph Leslie, former housekeeper for Mrs. Isaac Emerson, wife of the Philadelphia manufacturer of bromo seltzer, for the theft of $480,000 in jewels from Wanamaker's in June, 1928, when, it is alleged, she was posing as Mrs. Emerson. The trial was adjourned until tomorrow, Assistant District Attorney McGuire explaining that he was engaged in another trial when the Leslie case was called.

Mrs. Leslie is accused of having sold the jewels to Frank Winston, a jeweler, at 527 Fifth Avenue, receiving in part payment $63,600 before the alleged fraud was uncovered. Wanamaker's instituted a replevin action against the jeweler and soon after two grand larceny indictments were returned against Mrs. Leslie.

Mrs. Leslie is defended by Alexander I. Rorke, former Assistant District Attorney. She was taken to the Harlem Prison, in default of $10,000 bail, after she had entered a plea of not guilty last September.

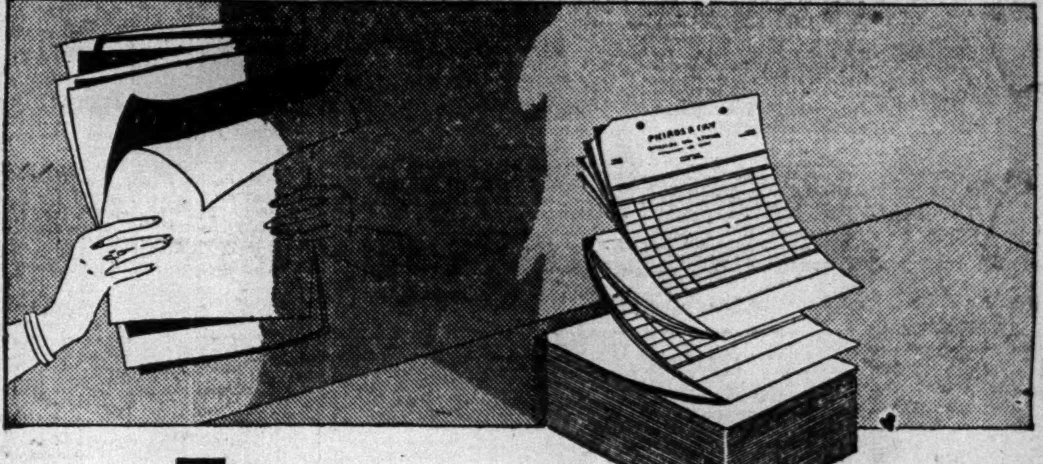
LOOSE FORMS AND LOOSE CARBONS ARE LOOSE OFFICE PRACTICE



The day of the loose form is past

FORMS that have to be picked up a sheet at a time shuffled together with loose carbon sheets jogged placed in the machine and adjusted for typing have been overshadowed by a new time-saver—Rediform Interleaved Speed Stationery

Intermittent typing of multi-copy forms is now obsolete. Continuous typing with Rediform Interleaved is the modern way

From 25 to 50 per cent of the cost of writing invoices purchase orders production tickets bills of lading and similar forms is being saved by nationally known concerns using Rediform Interleaved for typewriters billing machines and other high-speed writing machines. This improvement is helping to clip heavy percentages from the labor costs that form most of office expense today
